Swinging Into Autumn

The Golden Lion has gathered from the world's best looms, a world's wealth of beauty in Elegant Fall Goods.

From England come rich and beautiful cloths as well as serviceable fabrics from the Fatherland; from Germany and America others equally as charming.

Some of the newest European novelties that can now be seen are :—

New Suitings and Costume Cloths,
Priestley's Black and Coloured Suitings,
Priestley's Dress Goods and Rainproof Cloths,
New Autumn Dress Trimmings,
New Autumn Style in Dress Skirts,
New Rainproof Coats,
New Autumn Cloaks and Suits,
Ready-to-wear Hats, etc.

There is not a loop-hole for question as to the supremacy of Fair's Dress Goods this season—not a point upon which they can be "Port Arthured." Quality, tastefulness and value gainsay comparison at every turn.

DRESS-MAKING

This Department was re-opened for the season on Monday, August 29th, under the capable management of MISS NEILD who has recently returned from an extended visit to the leading fashion centres.

MISS ARMSTRONG, head of the Millinery Department, returned recently from New York, after a visit to the wholesale markets. She is now attending the Toronto Wholesale Millinery Openings, where we have a large staff of trimmers preparing for the Autumn Season.

A New Dressmaking Department

During the past month we have secured the first floor over Mr. Shortly's Store, which has been the scene of much activity in the way of Carpenters, Plasterers, Paper-hangers and Painters, tearing down walls and partitions, papering, painting and remodelling the premises generally.

Now we are prepared for business.

The entrance to this Department will be from our Millinery Parlours where it will be entirely separated from other departments, and comprises Two Large Fitting Rooms, a Cosy Reception Room and a Large Bright Workroom.

This New Department will be under the able management of Miss Hazzard, who comes to us highly recommended, having been in charge of some of the best Dressmaking Establishments in Ontario, where her work has been of the very best. She is thoroughly competent in every detail and the Ladies of Peterborough can rely on having their garments well made and finished on the date appointed.

Special attention will be given to Shirt Waist Suits and Tailored Costumes.

ANOTHER DAY'S SEVERE FIGHTING

No Official News of the Battle at Liaoyang yet to Hand.

SOME HEAVY RUSSIAN LOSSES

Many Japanese Guns Said to Have Been Taken on Tuesday—Report From Lt.-Gen. Sakharoff Admits the Loss of 3,000 Russians During First Day's Battle—Japs Use Baloons.

Liaoyang, Sept. 1.—The second day's battle commenced at dawn. The Russians made repeated bayonet charges on the road directly south of Liaoyang, where the Japanese approached from Sanquaiship and Tao, shelling the positions in the Russian lines until 4 in the afternoon, when the engagement, which was general throughout the south and southeast, narrowed to the main line. The Japanese advance on the southeast was by way of the Fangwangcheng road.

Immediately in front of Chiaofantum the Japanese stubbornly attempted to occupy a round-top hill, which was literally shaved by Russian shells, making repeated attempts the entire day, where apparently it was impossible for anything to live. The cannonading continued from this point to the vicinity of Wangpaoti until last evening without apparent advantage to either side. The Japanese dropped shells within two or three miles of the railroad station and in the plain of Wentshu Mountain, which is the most important eminence around Liaoyang, but the Japanese abandoned aggression there on account of the resistance they met.

There was cannon fire last night, and this is expected nightly. The varied casualties here include one Russian war correspondent and 25 Chinese women from Chiaofantum, whom Dr. Westwater, the distinguished missionary, is caring for in the Chinese Red Cross refuge.

The day's developments seem to show that the Russians are prepared for all emergencies. Slow rain began to fall at noon, gradually transforming the plain into a wilderness, through which the wounded, in carts and walking, were last night making their way to the hospitals. Considering the scale of the day's operations, the number of Russians wounded is apparently small, while the Japanese losses are believed to be great, especially where they were repulsed on the south road. Chinese graves with trees are being leveled about Liaoyang in order not to interfere with the east and west. Developments are expected west and northeast.

The Japanese are using balloons to locate the Russian guns and trenches. One of the Russian correspondents of the Associated Press points but that the Japanese sent up a balloon shortly after daylight to the southeast of Liaoyang. The Japanese are said to be using mortars to drop shells in the Russian positions. These are probably the high-angle fire howitzers, which were reported in action earlier in the week.

Russians Claim Victory.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1.—Some interesting details of Tuesday's battle are furnished by Russian correspondents, from which it appears that two regiments of Japanese at daybreak attempted to capture the batteries of the sixth artillery brigade, located on the extreme left flank of the Russian army. The attempt was only discovered in the nick of time. Some of the Russian troops fought continuously for 36 hours. The concussion and the roaring of the guns shook the windows of Liaoyang, though the artillery were six to eight miles away.

Memirovich Danchenko, the famous Russian war correspondent, describing the battle, says: "The enemy, drunk with their former successes, attacked from three sides like madmen. When they were forced back, fresh troops, of which they seemed to have an inexhaustible supply, were sent forward." M. Danchenko says the combatants had about 600 guns on each side, and adds: "It was our first victory. The enemy was beaten back everywhere, many of his batteries were destroyed and in some cases his infantry was put to rout."

Over 200 Japanese captured at the battle of Liaoyang Tuesday passed through Mukden yesterday

Further despatches from Liaoyang confirm the report of the capture of 46 Japanese guns, which were brought up to the railroad station where Gen. Kuropatkin's train was standing.

Russians Lose 3,000.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1.—Lieut.-General Sakharoff, telegraphing to the general staff on the conclusion of Tuesday's 10 hours' fighting around Liaoyang, estimates that the Russian casualties throughout the day were 3,000. The battle ended at 5 o'clock Tuesday night when many positions occupied by the Japanese were retaken and again held by the Russians.

The report from Lieut.-Gen. Sakharoff is as follows:

"From 5 o'clock this morning until 9 o'clock to-night, the Japanese forces attacked our frontal position before Liaoyang, and on the left bank of the Taitse River. Both their artillery and rifle fire were intense. Their main efforts were directed against our centre positions, and the left flank, but numerous attacks were repulsed along the whole line. Our troops made several counter attacks, culminating in bayonet fighting.

"Many positions, which had been occupied by the Japanese, were retaken at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. During the artillery attack our batteries did very effective work. About four this afternoon the enemy was observed attempting to turn our right flank with considerable forces, but several battalions of reserves advanced, and, after a fierce engagement checked the Japanese and compelled them to retire. The battle continued until after dark and only ended at 10 o'clock.

"Our casualties to-day have been considerable, reaching about 3,000. The Japanese losses must have been heavier."

MAHAFFY MUST APPEAR.

Additional Particulars in Muskoka Cross-Petition.

Toronto, Sept. 1.—H. Beaton, solicitor for Dr. Hart, Huntsville, filed additional particulars yesterday in the cross-petition against A. A. Mahaffy and charges personal bribery against Mr. Mahaffy, namely, that Mr. Mahaffy canvassed an Indian and promised him money. Also that he promised Robt. Hewitt $4 for going to Gravenhurst to vote. It is further charged that one Richards of Baysville, a supporter of Mr. Mahaffy, had his hotel open on election day. Agents are charged with hiring a steam launch to take voters to the polls.

Mahaffy Must Appear.

Mr. Justice Osler yesterday granted an order for the reattendance of Mr. A. A. Mahaffy on the first day of the election trial, Sept. 6th, at Bracebridge for further examination for discovery. Mr. A. H. Beaton made the application at Osgoode Hall on behalf of the Liberals of Muskoka, on the ground that further information was necessary concerning entries in respondent's bank book and his bank vouchers. Mr. Mahaffy ignored the adjournment made by the special examiner, hence the motion for an order of the court.

Examined For Discovery.

Sault Ste. Marie, Sept. 1.—In connection with the petition against C. N. Smith, sitting as member of the Legislature for the Soo, the respondent was yesterday examined for discovery before Judge Johnston. Upon the advice of counsel Mr. Smith refused to answer a number of questions regarding the campaign fund, though Judge Johnston ruled he should. Counsel for petitioners therefore announced his intention of making a motion that he be jailed for contempt of court.

Found Home in Ruins.

Whitby, Aug. 31.—George Johnston, the man who has been in jail for the past two or three weeks, as a result of the beating he gave his helpless little child, was released Monday and took the afternoon train home. On arriving there he found his old house had been burned to the ground. As no one had been living there for several days, incendiarism is suspected. County Crown Attorney Farwell and High Constable Calverley have gone out to investigate, and they will probably hold a fire inquest.

Judging from what they have to show for it, some people's time must counterfeit money.

NEWS OF TO-DAY.

An Index to Prominent Paragraphs in this Issue.

Very severe fighting took place about Liaoyang yesterday.

The local Board of Health held a short session this morning.

Many of the Japanese guns are said to have been taken on Tuesday.

Some good scores were made in the D.R.A. matches at Ottawa yesterday.

Dr. John Cascaden, ex-M.P.P., for West Elgin, died at Dutton yesterday.

The high and public schools opened this morning with a fair attendance.

The Russians were reported to be retreating from Liao Yang this morning.

Forest fires in Newfoundland rendered three hundred families homeless.

The Anglican Synod of Nova Scotia selected Rev. Dr. Worrell as their new Bishop.

Nine persons were killed in a railway wreck near Richmond, Que., yesterday.

The total losses in the fighting about Liaoyang are estimated at 10,000 on each side.

The month of August was quite cool in comparison with the same month in former years.

The Trades and Labour Council met last night and discussed plans for the celebration on Monday.

At Port Hope yesterday, the home team played a ten-innings tie game with Peterborough in the Midland League.

From information of a semi-official character it is more than likely that Earl Grey will be the next Governor-General.

FAREWELL TO QUEBEC.

Archbishop of Canterbury Uses Heliograph to Send Message of Greeting.

Quebec, Que., Sept. 1.—The Archbishop of Canterbury and party visited the citadel yesterday morning. They were received by the commander of the fortress, Colonel Wilson and Mrs. Wilson, and were shown all over the fort and its outwork. While in the citadel His Grace sent the following heliograph message to the artillery camp at the Island of Orleans, nine miles distant: "The Archbishop of Canterbury sends greetings to the artillery camp."

In a very few minutes the following reply was received: "The camp commandant and officers, Royal Canadian Artillery, thank His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury for his message and sincerely return his greetings. (Signed) Camp Commandant."

On leaving the citadel the party drove to Spencerwood, where they were received by the Lieutenant-Governor and Lady Jette. After luncheon they were shown over the grounds, and had a splendid view of the St. Lawrence, stretching for miles both eastward and westward.

On taking leave of the Lieutenant-Governor and Lady Jette, the party entered their carriages and drove to the C.P.R. Station, where Mr. Morgan's special train was in readiness to receive them. All having embarked on the train at 8 p.m. precisely, it left for Montreal. Quite a large crowd had assembled to see the distinguished party off, and, as the train left the station, the Archbishop was loudly cheered.

His Grace and Mrs. Davidson speak enthusiastically of the warm reception they received in the first Canadian city they ever had the pleasure of visiting.

Archbishop in Montreal.

Montreal, Sept. 1.—The Primate of All England reached here last evening from Quebec. His Grace was met at the Windsor station by Archbishop Carmichael, Sir Geo. Drummond and others.

Blake's Work For Irish.

New York, Sept. 1.—At the convention of the United Irish League held here yesterday, a resolution commending the work of Edward Blake in the cause of Ireland was passed.

RUSSIAN FORCES ARE RETREATING

Special Despatch Received This Morning Says the Japs are in Pursuit.

(Special G. N. W. Dispatch to the Examiner.)

Tokio, Sept. 1.—The Russian right and centre, defending Liao Yang, southward, are retreating this Thursday morning. The Japanese are pursuing the Russians.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1.—Gen. Kuroki's forces are crossing the Taitse River on pontoons. One division is already across and others are following.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1., 3.50 p.m.—The battle at Liao Yang last night continued until midnight with frightful slaughter. The Japanese at last succeeded in getting a column across the Taitse River, north-east of Liao Yang, and Gen. Kuropatkin gave the order to fall back on the main works, but owing to the Japanese pressure, this movement was not executed. The armies slept in their positions. Official advice this morning till 6 a.m. says the battle had not been resumed at that hour.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1904.

THE LONELY HUSBAND IN SUMMERTIME.

Something About the "Old Man's" Trials in the Hot Weather.

This is the time of year when the paragraphers and those who write heart-to-heart articles for ladies' home magazines begin to sympathize with the poor father and husband, toiling and sweltering in the city, that his wife may display her finery on the summer resort piazzas and his daughter may dance the Louis Quinze heels off her satin slippers.

He is pictured as working all day in a hot, stuffy office, eating a dismal meal in a downtown restaurant and going to his home to spend a dreary evening, all by his lonesome.

Alas, poor husband! poor father! Ha, ha! Oh, fudge!

Don't you worry about the old man. He will manage to take pretty good care of himself and sit up and look pleasant while waiting the return of his loved ones.

Of course, every day or so he writes a really heart-rending letter to his folks, telling them that life is a desert in their absence; that he has been nowhere and has seen no one and counts the days until they return. That's all right.

He never forgets to inclose a good fat check and tell them to stay a fortnight longer or take a run up to the mountains or down to the shore, as the case may be. Wise old fox!

It's a fearful responsibility to be the head of a family, particularly if that family be all of the female gender. Just think what it means for a man to be eternally at the beck and call of four or five women. Think of how many times he has to climb into his evening clothes during the winter. Think of the many nights he is deprived of sleep by the late tarrying of Gwendolen's beau! Think of his bills! Think of the gabble he is forced to endure!

And then think what a rest, what a calm, a sublime peace, must steal over him when the train actually glides out of the depot, carrying his load of women, and leaving him standing on the platform waving his handkerchief and earnestly striving to look sad.

Consider the quiet of the house when he lets himself in that night. No dressing for dinner, no beaux, no chatter, no demand for money. Why, I should think it would seem like heaven to him.

He can wear his old clothes, smoke a pipe, go to bed as early as he pleases and not be awakened by giggling at the foot of the stairs and a smothered, "oh, don't, Harold," and feel that it is his duty as a father to arise and cough in the upper hall.

He goes to business next morning with a singular feeling of lightheartedness. He whistles over his papers and desk. He taps his confidential man on the shoulder and he smiles at the stenographer. He realizes that he ought to be shrouded in gloom. But he isn't.

During the day he meets four or five friends similarly afflicted. Condolences are exchanged and preliminaries settled. And that evening the rattle of ivory chips on the library table is heard in the land.

As time goes on he comes to know where cooling drinks are served; that there is an oasis in the desert of life, and that palm trees grow on roof gardens.

Then he finds solace in box parties at the latest musical extravaganza and smiles genially at the show girls as they come promenading and peacocking over in his neighbourhood. Oh, don't you worry about papa being lonely.

The man whose wife leaves him for the summer is usually very fortunate in one respect. There is always some kind and philanthropic lady to sympathize with him and take pity on his desolation. It is amazing how many women of broad sympathy and generous impulse remain in town for the summer, and if by taking a quiet drive or by dining out at a French restaurant they can relieve papa's tedium by diverse little they are willing and anxious to console him.

And so while daughter is having the time of her life in the ballroom at the springs and mamma is discreetly flirting on the piazza and telling her escort that really she is not as old as one might think with a grown-up daughter, papa is sipping his iced champagne in a cool corner near an open window and a pink frock.

It's all right. He is having his vacation too. He grows young again or fancies he does. You have seen, have you not, an old, over-worked, tired-out horse turned suddenly and unexpectedly into a field of sweet clover?

For a little while the poor creature is too dazed to move. It is too good to be true. First, he sniffs at the fragrant pink and white blossoms to see if they are real. Then he rolls over and over and springs up and cavorts and prances clumsily about, kicking up his stiff legs and making believe he is a colt.

But he isn't. After all, he's only a poor old overworked dray-horse out on a vacation. But let him enjoy the clover and fancy himself a colt again. It will do him good.

When Mrs. Sapphire Up-to-Date goes to the seashore with a very short bathing dress and very low evening gowns; then, despite the fact that she is flirting with Jack Tabasco and Billy Cayenne and Dick Curry, she writes hubby back in the hot, stifling city that she is having an awfully slow time, she ought not to expect that her lord is turning in at 8.30 every night.

However, she doubtless would be a trifle disturbed could she see him with a wet towel round his head feverishly clutching the ice pitcher early in the morning. It would not be quite the picture of her fancy painted of her beloved toiling early and late to pay her board at the shore.

As for Anaemia Up-to-date:—When he sits down and writes his birdie that he is desperately lonely and life without her is a dreary waste he says nothing of the little red-headed widow he took out to supper the night before, nor does he mention that tired feeling and the dark brown taste in his mouth. And when he shaves himself with shaking hand, wondering whether he will cut his throat before he finishes, he murmurs to himself with a dreamy, far away look in his eyes: "Lucky thing for you, old man, that mountains and seashores were invented."—Edith Sessions Tupper, in Chicago Chronicle.

SOME HAPPENINGS IN THE NORTHERN TOWN.

Personal Mention and Other Items of Interest at Lakefield.

The McBain party passed through the village on their way from their cottage at Stony Lake on Friday last.

Mr. R. Morrison has secured a position with Mr. Sutcliffe, of Peterborough and starts his duties on September first.

Mr. Irwin Hambly and Mr. C. Grylls left last week for Winnipeg where they intend spending the winter.

Miss Halpin, of Peterborough, who has been visiting Mrs. Kenneally, has returned to her home.

Quite a jolly party of young folks from the village drove to Young's Point on Friday evening last and were entertained at the Carlton House. The feature of the evening was the music supplied by the Russ Hunting and Fishing Club, of Pittsburg, who were camped at Sandy Point. These talented singers were very liberal with their songs, which were much enjoyed by those present.

A number of the young folks from the village drove to Peterborough last Friday evening to hear the band in the park.

Mr. and Mrs. James Edwards and family who have been visiting Mrs. Edwards' sister, Miss Tanner, of the village, left on Tuesday for their home in Montreal.

Mr. F. A. Kilbourn, who has been travelling in the interests of the Lakefield Portland Cement Company, arrived home Saturday.

Mr. Swaits, of Toronto, has been visiting Mr. Walter Bates of the village.

Mr. Harry Simpson is becoming expert with the use of a canoe, and can trip it across as quickly as any you read about.

Miss Madill, of Peterborough, spent a couple of days in Lakefield this week, visiting her sister, Mrs. Wm. Edwards.

Mrs. Sam Henderson, of Toronto, who has been at Stony Lake for a couple of weeks, was the guest of her brother, Mr. J. H. Sherin, of Regent street, on Sunday.

Mr. Newman has resigned his position with the Traders Bank and is going into business with his father in Ridgetown. His position in the bank has been filled by Mr. Strathy of Toronto, who arrived in the village on Monday.

The J. Russ Hunting and Fishing Club of Pittsburg left on Tuesday morning by their private car after spending a very jolly time at Sandy Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson of Pittsburg, are visiting in the village the guests of Mrs. Wm. Harper.

Miss Smith of Millbrook is the guest of Miss Bettis of Queen street.

Mr. and Mrs. Lingwood of Kingston, who have been summering at Stony Lake returned home.

Miss L. Lefevre left on Tuesday evening for China where she intends spending some time with her brother Mr. Fred La Fevre.

Miss Thompson of New York City, is the guest of Mrs. H. G. Fitzgerald of Queen street.

NO MORE SCOTS "GREYS."

Something like consternation has been caused in the ranks of the Scots Greys by the announcement that there are to be no more grey horses supplied to the regiment, and that in future it will be mounted like other cavalry regiments.

The reason for the abolition of the grey horses is that in these days of long-range arms they offer an excellent mark for the enemy's sharpshooters, a fact that was clearly demonstrated in South Africa. But it is proposed that the grey horses should be retained for the band.

It is also rumoured, says the Military Mail, that the bearskin helmet is also to be replaced by more modern headgear.—Exchange.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE CHAMPION TROTTER.

Interesting Article Regarding Lou Dillon and Her Racing.

Lou Dillon, the swiftest trotter that the world has ever seen, is as kind and gentle as she is beautiful and great," says M. F. Sanders in the Independent. "She is very feminine. She has pride, but it is a gracious pride. She is notional, but her notions are pretty; she wants to do things her own way, but then her own way is just the way for her.

"Lou, in her races, comes to the starting point, with a hop, skip and a jump, dance, a little gallop, all wrong from the orthodox point of view, but all right for Lou Dillon. She is so high strung, so eager, so full of go and strength that she simply can't hold herself; she must dance and prance.

"But once in the race no horse ever went truer than Lou. The word 'driver' though the proper technical term, conveys a false impression concerning the person who sits behind Lou in the races. She knows nothing of the whip and little of the bit. She is given her own way, with the rein slack on her back and the man behind simply giving a word of advice at critical points.

"When harness was first put on her she showed her nervousness and impatience, and she wanted her own way. The farm trainer, a very experienced man, but a stickler for orthodox, insisted on her doing things as other horses did them. Mildly but firmly she refused, and when he still persisted they quarrelled.

"Three years ago I found Lou in disgrace on account of what was supposed to be invincible frivolity. I made her acquaintance, and liked her at once. She took to me, too, and from that day to this, though I have driven her in all her miles, we have never had a quarrel.

"As acquaintance with Lou ripened I became more and more convinced that she was worthy of a higher education, and so the following season I brought her with my stable on the Grand Circuit.

"This is an opportunity that few young horses get, and it is most improving. After a time a horse becomes tired of racing on the same track against the same competitors. It feels the monotony just as a man would. I am sure that wild animals that are caged suffer from this purely mental effect in the same way, and that the reason so many of these die is that all interest and excitement have been taken out of their lives.

"On the Grand Circuit there is constant change and excitement, and Lou Dillon tried all sorts of tracks and had all sorts of brushes with all kinds of rivals, and all the same she was gaining in experience and confidence. She had all the benefits of racing and none of the strain.

"One advantage that Lou has over most horses arises largely from the fact that in spite of her dainty airs and grace she is so gentle and so true. We can give her the utmost freedom. She wears no check-rein or martingale. Her head is not forced away up like the heads of other horses, and she goes easy herself, with the rein slack on her back.

"Then, again, her legs are not swathed like those of other horses. She wears only a light pair of shin boots, and a very light pair of parter boots, and her shoes are the lightest ever worn by a fast trotter, her front shoes wearing four and one-quarter ounces each, and the hind shoes two and one-half ounces each.

"Lou, who has her own personal attendants, to whom she is much attached, sleeps soundly in blankets till 6.30 o'clock every morning, and then gets up and has breakfast, which consists of two and one-half quarts of oats and some carrots.

"After breakfast she is brushed off, and the night dress of bandages and cotton removed from her limbs. Then follows her morning exercise, hitched to a sulky or waggon when intended to go fast, or to a Payne cart when going slowly.

"At the end of this work she is rubbed with alcohol, getting regular massage treatment all over. Then she is bandaged and blanketed again and walked for about two hours, and an hour and a half later comes her dinner, exactly the same as her breakfast, and after that she rests till four o'clock, when she is walked about an hour.

"When she returns to the stable her bandages are put back on her and she is given her hay, which costs $50 a ton. It is California hay, brought on specially for her, as we find it is better for her than the ordinary timothy hay. At six o'clock she gets carrots and oats again, and another feast of the same sort at 9.30 o'clock, after which Queen Lou goes to bed, well wrapped in blankets, from which only her fine head protrudes."

TEST FOR OLD EGGS.

New Method for Ascertaining Whether Eggs are Ancient or not.

U. S. Consul-General Guenther writes from Frankfort, Germany, as follows:—

"A new and simple method for testing eggs is based upon the fact that the air chamber in the flat end of the egg increases with age. If the egg is placed in a saturated solution of common salt it will show an increasing inclination to float with the long axis vertical. A scale is attached to the vessel containing the salt solution so that the inclination of the floating egg toward the horizontal can be measured. In this way the age of the egg can be determined almost to a day.

A fresh egg lies in a horizontal position at the bottom of the vessel; an egg from three to five days old shows an elevation of the flat end, so that its long axis forms an angle of 20 degrees. With an egg eight days old the angle increases to 45 degrees; with an egg fourteen days old to 60 degrees, while an egg a month old floats vertically upon the pointed end.

CANADA AND THE BLACK WATCH BAND

The Famous Highland Regiment's First Visit to This Country.

The coming of the famous brass and pipe bands of the Black Watch, or 42nd Royal Highlanders to Canada, is not the first time that this Regiment will have been in this country. One has to go back to the middle of the eighteenth century, one hundred and fifty years ago to recall their previous visit, and the glorious part they bore in securing Canada for the British Empire. It is a very interesting co-incidence also, that the famous name of the Royal Highland Regiment was conferred upon the Black Watch on account of their magnificent services at Fort Ticonderoga. The story of their magnificent struggle there, will be of great interest.

After taking part in several minor engagements in the spring of 1758, the 42nd was ordered to join a body of troops selected to attack Ticonderoga, under General Abercromby. The fort could could only be approached from one side, which was strongly entrenched, the garrison numbering some five thousand men. The assaulting columns were unable to force themselves through the abattis, on account of the many obstacles which had been placed in their way, and suffered heavily from artillery and musketry fire, whereupon the Black Watch rushed forward from the reserve, hewed their way through the obstacles with their broad swords, and, no ladders having been provided, made strenuous efforts to carry the breastworks, partly by mounting on each others' shoulders, and partly by placing their feet in holes which they dug with their swords and bayonets.

After a desperate struggle of four hours duration, General Abercromby ordered retreat, an order which had to be thrice repeated before the Highlanders would withdraw.

As an eye witness described it em, "They appeared like lions breaking from their chains, and, though they were unable to carry the fort, they earned immortal glory."

In this one engagement they lost eight officers, nine sergeants, and 297 men killed; 17 officers, ten sergeants and 336 men wounded.

His Majesty, George the Second, recognizing their splendid bravery and sacrifice, conferred upon the "Black Watch" the title of "The Royal Highland Regiment".

In July 1759, the second battalion joined the first at Ticonderoga, which, along with Crown Point and Isle aux Noix was evacuated by the French.

In the campaign of 1760, the first and second battalions were largely instrumental in conquering Canada for the British, taking a leading part in the capture of Montreal.

OUTLOOK FOR GRAIN CROP.

The recent wild speculations in grain—the experiences that have suddenly ruined some speculators and made others rich—have led to the conclusion that there may be a wheat famine, and that the speculation is a premonition of it.

Our own Northwest, including Manitoba, will not yield as much as in 1902 and 1903. That is quite apparent. A late spring, a consequently late harvest, the presence of rust to some extent and the prospect of frost, have suggested serious indications. The crop has been variously estimated—from 35,000,000 bushels to 44,000,000 and even 60,000,000 bushels. Last year it was 52,000,000 bushels. It will be less this year, by general accounts, but the extent cannot be calculated now. It may be 10,000,000 bushels, and it may be more.

The New York Journal of Commerce estimates that the United States' crop will be 40,000,000 to 80,000,000 less than in 1903. Great Britain's crop is a failure. The empire, which has always been the largest importer of wheat stuffs, will want an increased supply. "It is generally assumed," says the Journal, "that the European yield will be considerably less than that of last year, but there is a wide variation in the estimates. A good deal depends upon Russia. The Argentine and Australian figures are altogether uncertain. There is a practical certainty that the yield of this country will be less than last year, "and Canada may fail to make the anticipated gain. But there is no sign of anything like a wheat famine anywhere, and no likelihood of a serious deficiency in the world's supply."

The world's crop will be less, will show a marked decrease, but it will be an average crop. Will prices be higher? In all probability. The export of it will be to the limit of what America can spare, and the demand being active the ruling prices will be good. Manitoba No. 1 hard, is the best wheat produced, and will get the benefit of any preference in value. Ontario has not this season a lower wheat average; her farmers are only growing the wheat they want for their own use—for flour, for feeding purposes, and for seed. The decrease in the crop in this province may not indicate a shortage so much as a desire to raise a larger percentage of fodder for the dairying trade.

Pandora Range

Easy to Shake Down.

Shaking down common ranges is heavy enough work for a man—it is altogether too heavy for most women.

The "Pandora" range grates are composed of three bars, and each bar bears an equal portion of the coal and ashes, and are "low geared."

The weight thus distributed makes the grates work easily, and the shaking is so light that a child can do it.

Easy management is only one of the strong features of the "Pandora" range. You can know all about it by sending for a free booklet.

Sold by all enterprising dealers.

A BISHOP ELECTED

Anglican Synod of Nova Scotia Selects Rev. Dr. Worrell.

SKETCH OF THE NEW BISHOP

Archdeacon Worrell of Kingston Accepts the Charge—Rev. Dr. Tucker of Toronto and the Bishop-Elect Were the Only Names Balloted For at Halifax—The Votes Given the Candidates.

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 1.—The Synod of the Church of England in Nova Scotia met yesterday for the purpose of electing a bishop to succeed Rev. Dr. Courtney, resigned, and on the third ballot the choice fell on the Ven. Clare L. Worrell, M.A., LL.D., Archdeacon of Ontario. Only two candidates were put in nomination, the Rev. L. Norman Tucker, M.A., D.C.L., and the successful candidate.

BISHOP WORRELL.

The lay men were at first favorable to Mr. Tucker.

On the first ballot the lay vote stood 67 to 48 in his favor, while the clerical vote stood at 25 to 58 in Mr. Worrell's favor.

On the second ballot Mr. Tucker lost 6 on the lay vote, while Mr. Worrell gained 5; at the same time on the clerical side Mr. Tucker lost 2 votes, while Mr. Worrell gained 3, the total vote standing at 61 to 23 in Mr. Worrell's favor and the lay side 61 to 53 in Mr. Tucker's favor.

The third and last ballot resulted in a substantial gain for Mr. Worrell on the lay side, giving him a majority of 6. The vote stood on the clerical side 63 to 21 and on the lay side 60 to 54. The election was afterwards made unanimous.

Rev. Mr. Worrell was notified and accepted in the following telegram:

"I accept election as the will of God. Ask for Church's prayers. Will write to-night."

The consecration will take place at St. Luke's Cathedral and an effort will be made to get the Archbishop of Canterbury to officiate.

Sketch of the New Bishop.

The Rev. Clarendon Lamb Worrell was born at Smith's Falls, Ontario, on July 20, 1853, and was educated at Trinity School, Port Hope, and at Trinity University, Toronto, where he was Wellington and Dickson scholar and Prince of Wales prizeman for mathematics. Ordained to the ministry in 1881 he served as curate at Gananoque and at Trinity Church, Brockville, and afterwards became rector at Morrisburg and Barriefield. He also held the mathematical and scientific mastership in Cobourg Collegiate Institute, the headmastership of Gananoque High School and the principalship of Brockville Collegiate Institute. In 1891 he was appointed Professor of English in the Royal Military College, Kingston. In 1900 Archdeacon Worrell lacked one vote of being appointed Bishop of Ontario. In 1901 he was made Archdeacon of Ontario Diocese and in 1903 the degree of D. C.L., was conferred on him by Trinity University, Toronto. His consecration will probably take place at the meeting of bishops in Montreal in October. His brother is John A. Worrell, K.C., the Toronto barrister.

CONSIDERABLE FIRES.

Serious Conflagration in Business Part of Emerson, Man.

Emerson, Man., Sept. 1.—At one o'clock yesterday morning fire started in the rear of a blacksmith shop owned by William Templeton, and took in a building on the west side owned by George Christie and one on the east side owned by W. J. Scarfe & Son, harness dealers. It then leaped a lane and caught Charles Aimes' implement warehouse, and completely demolished a block, and only by persistent and determined efforts were buildings on the opposite side of the street saved. The loss is $10,000.

Karn's Store Damaged.

Woodstock, Sept. 1.—Fire in Fred W. Karn's hardware store here yesterday morning did $10,000 damage to stock and property. The cause was an explosion of oil in the basement; loss covered by insurance.

Mill Burned.

Winnipeg, Sept. 1.—Knittle & Co.'s mill at Boissevain was destroyed by fire Tuesday night. Loss, $15,000.

Surprise For Bartlett.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 1.—When Melvin Bartlett, clerk of vital statistics in the Provincial Department of Agriculture, Winnipeg, stepped up to his private mail-box Tuesday night, he was surprised to find a detective waiting for him. Bartlett at first denied that he had left Winnipeg under a cloud. It is alleged that for eight or ten years Bartlett has been embezzling money received from the sale of marriage licenses, and that, during all that time, he has been falsifying entries. The shortage is alleged to amount to several thousand

APPREHEND INVASION.

Congo Free State Is Constructing Concealed Forts.

Cape Town, Sept. 1.—Official information from British Central Africa says that the Congo Free State is constructing concealed forts of considerable magnitude on the west shore of Lake Tanganyika, and that one of these forts, which is equipped with 20 guns, is within two hours of the German frontier. It is believed that the Belgians apprehend a German invasion. A number of natives who are German subjects have been expelled from the Congo Free State.

It is understood that negotiations regarding the matter are now proceeding between Berlin and Brussels.

The west shore of Lake Tanganyika belongs to the Congo Free State, the south shore to British Central Africa and the east shore to German East Africa. The area of the lake is estimated at 14,000 square miles.

Earl Grey For Governor.

Ottawa, Sept. 1.—From information of a semi-official character which has reached here there now seems little doubt that Earl Grey, and not the Duke of Marlborough, will be the next Governor-General. Official notification is awaited.

Only Did His Duty as He Saw It

"I deem it my duty to add a word of praise for Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy," says J. Wiley Perk, the well known merchant and post master at Wiley, Ky. "I have been selling it for three or four years, and it gives complete satisfaction. Several of my customers tell me they would not be without it for anything. Very often to my knowledge, one single dose has cured a severe attack of diarrhoea, and I positively know that it will cure the flux (dysentery.) You are at liberty to use this testimonial as you please." For sale by All druggists.

DEATH OF DR. CASCADEN.

Former Member of the Legislature For West Elgin Passes.

Dutton, Sept. 1.—After an illness of over three months Dr. John Cascaden, ex-M.P.P. for West Elgin, and one of the oldest practicing physicians in Ontario, died at his residence here yesterday morning. Dr. Cascaden was born at Ballyshannon, County Donegal, Ireland, in 1840. In politics he was a strong Liberal and at the general elections of 1879 and 1883 he was elected to the Legislature, retiring from active politics at the end of his second term.

Children's Day at the Ex.

Toronto, Sept. 1.—Every department was in full swing at the Canadian National Exhibition yesterday. It was children's day and swarms of juvenile Canadians made things lively. The directors luncheon was in honor of the Press, and the speeches, which were short, dealt with this topic as well as education. Goldwin Smith was the chief speaker. A small fire in the grand stand during the afternoon nearly created a panic, but the police averted what might have been a dreadful catastrophe.

In Praise of Chamberlian's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"Allow me to give you a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and diarrhoea remedy," says Mr. John Hamlett, of Eagle Pass, Texas. "I suffered one week with bowel trouble and took all kinds of medicine without getting any relief, when my friend, Mr. C. Johnson, a merchant here, advised me to take this remedy. After taking one dose I felt greatly relieved and when I had taken the third dose was entirely cured. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for putting this great remedy in the hands of mankind." For sale by all druggists.

Latest Harvest in Years.

Winnipeg, Aug. 31.—Harvest operations are now well under way in all the early districts, but the rain and the cool nights of the last two days have proved another set-back. The harvest is now later than it has been for several years, and by every experience of the past all wheat uncut by the end of the second week in September is liable to be frozen. It is difficult at present to estimate the acreage that will be left uncut by then, but if fine weather holds out this week it should be not more than 15 to 20 per cent.

Montreal, Aug. 31.—About 700 head of butchers' cattle, 150 calves, 50 milch cows, 1200 sheep and lambs and 300 fat hogs were offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. There were no really prime cattle on the market, and good medimme were not plentiful, and higher prices were asked for these, but trade was very slow, as the butchers did not require much meat, having bought so largely on Monday. The highest priced pork to-day was 4¼c per lb., and from that to 3¾c for good mediums; ordinary mediums, 3c to 3½c; the common stock, 2½c to 3c. Canning stock and small bulls, 1¾c to 2¼c per lb. A lot of 15 good calves were sold at $9 each; other calves sold at $2.50 to $10 each. Shipping sheep are 3½c, and the others 3c to 3¼c per lb. Lambs sold at $2.25 to $4.25 each, or 4c to 4¾c per lb. Fat hogs sold at 5c to a little over 5½c per lb. Milch cows are from $20 to $50 each.

Hear Simpson on Sunday.

Mr. James Simpson, the famous Labour orator, of Toronto, will deliver an interesting lecture on Labour topics, in the Sons of England Hall, on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Remember the big Labour Day excursion on Monday to Jubilee Point.

Primary and Junior Union.

The weekly meeting of the Primary and Junior Union will be held in the Y.M.C.A. at eight o'clock on Friday evening. The Sunday School lesson for Sept. 4th will be in charge of Miss A. Williamson and Rev. J. G. Potter. All interested are cordially invited.

That Watch Stealing Case.

The local bartender who was arrested on Wednesday charged with the theft of a watch from a Lakefield citizen, came up for hearing Wednesday at four o'clock. The accused was defended by Mr. F. D. Kerr and the case was enlarged until Saturday afternoon at four o'clock.

PUBLIC AND HIGH SCHOOLS OPENED TO-DAY.

Pupils Returned to Their Studies After the Vacation.

The summer vacation for the teachers and pupils of the High and Public Schools came to an end yesterday, and to-day the schools opened again for the fall term. The record of the local school's last year was a most creditable one, the standing in the Collegiate examinations being high, and the teachers look for another successful year's work. That the staff is a competent one has been proved in the past.

There will be four new teachers on the Public School staff and one on the Collegiate staff. On the former are, Miss Laura Lochead, of Centreville; Miss D. L. Ellison, of Brampton; Miss Mina Rose, of Allandale, and Miss Lexa Howson, of town. On the Collegiate staff, Mr. W. E. McPherson, of St. Mary's, will teach English and Mathematics.

The new system of free school books for pupils in the public schools went into force to-day. The fees according to this system are payable monthly as follows:—Junior Part I, five cents; Junior and Senior Part II, ten cents; second book fifteen cents; third and fourth books, twenty cents. This system has been tried in other places with satisfactory results and it will no doubt be well received in Peterborough.

The attendance at the High and Public Schools this morning was only fairly large and it will be next week before the pupils all return, as many are still up the lakes or out of town at other places. The Central School will not be opened until Tuesday as the repairs there are not as yet completed. All the schools were dismissed about 10 o'clock this morning for the day.

NEW PHYSICAL DIRECTOR ARRIVES.

Mr. P. K. Homes of Yarmouth N. S. to Take Charge of Y. M. C. A. Athletics.

Last evening Mr. Percy K. Holmes of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, arrived in town. Mr. Holmes will take charge of the physical department of the local Y.M.C.A. He has had much experience in this work and he is evidently a man of much athletic ability and will no doubt prove of great assistance to the association not only in the physical but to the other departments of the Y.M.C.A. The senior gymnasium classes open on September 19th and the boy's classes on September 12th. Mr. Holmes will be assisted in the gymnasium work by Mr. T. H. Hutchinson, the assistant secretary. A record year in the gymnasium is anticipated this season.

A SIX MONTHS SENTENCE IN CENTRAL PRISON.

For the Theft of Forty Dollars From a Chandos Citizen.

The adjourned theft case in which a local hotel employee was charged with the theft of $40 from a resident of Chandos, came up for hearing at four o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Several additional witnesses were examined, but no evidence was put forward by the defence, and the magistrate after carefully reviewing the evidence imposed a sentence of six months in Central Prison.

SOLD AN AIR GUN TO YOUNG SHEARER.

Which was Contrary to Section 106 of the Criminial Code.

At this morning's session of the Police Court, a clerk in a local hardware store was charged with selling an air gun to a minor contrary to Section 106, of the Criminal Code, which reads:—

"Everyone is guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding fifty dollars, who sells, or gives any pistol or air gun or any ammunition therefor, to a minor under the age of 16 years, unless he establishes to the satisfaction of the Justices of the Peace before whom he is charged, that he used reasonable diligence in endeavouring to ascertain the age of the minor before making such sale or gift, and that he had good reason to believe that such minor was not under the age of 16 years."

This case was the outcome of the thieving depredations of the youth Shearer, who purchased the gun with a portion of the money he purloined, and who was the chief witness in the case.

The Magistrate imposed a fine of $8.85 and the charge against the proprietor of failing to register the sale was not pressed.

TRADES AND LABOUR COUNCIL'S MEETING.

Completed Arrangements Last Night for Labour Day and Sundays Meeting.

A meeting of the Trades and Labour Council was held last evening when arrangements were completed for the big celebration at Jubilee Point next Monday. The reports of the committees all showed that good progress had been made along every line and the prospects for a record crowd were promising. All that is required now is fine weather and a successful day is assured.

Sunday's meeting in the S. O. E. Hall was also discussed and a most helpful meeting is anticipated. Mr. Jas. Simpson, the labour orator is coming down from Toronto at a great deal of inconvenience to himself to address Sunday's meeting and also speak on Monday. His address on Sunday will be in perfect keeping with the Sabbath Day and all, including the ladies are invited to attend as there will be no admission fee. Mr. Simpson is an excellent speaker and no one should miss the opportunity of hearing him.

THE NEW PRINCIPAL FOR SEPARATE SCHOOL.

A Young Resident of Smith Township Fills This Position.

The Murray Street Separate School has secured the services of a new principal in the person of Mr. M. McDonald, a well known young resident of Smith Township.

Mr. McDonald has been highly successful as a teacher, having taught for a number of years in the Glengarry district, and his record is a creditable one, having brought the different schools in which he was engaged to a high state of efficiency.

The local Separate School Board has been fortunate in securing the services of such a successful teacher, and the school is certain to not only maintain but also increase the excellent reputation it now enjoys as a successful educational institution.

THAT ASSAULT CASE AT CORDOVA MINES.

Those Implicated Were Fined Ten Dollars Each.

Messrs. Pitt and Morrison were tried at Pembroke on Tuesday in the notorious assault case upon one Welsh. From the stories heard everyone thought it would go hard for the accused. They were fined $10 each. The evidence showed Welsh was drunk, had torn a collar from one of the men, and in other ways acted offensively. Instead of his injuries being so terrible he had gone to work ten days afterwards. There were a number of witnesses present from Marmora.

AUGUST WAS COOL

In Comparison With the Same Month In Other Years.

The month of August was cool compared with the same month in other years. The thermometer only went above 80 degrees in the shade on two days. On the nights of the 9th and 30th, 39 degrees was marked — not very far from frost. There were four thunder-storms during the month, that of the 20th being a particularly heavy one, the rainfall amounting to 1.72 inches; the total for the month being 3.80 inches. The present summer has been much like that of last year in the absence of oppressively hot days. The hottest day of this summer was July 19th, with a temperature of 89 in the shade.

Who Was He?

A young man on board the 10.20 train last night had imbibed too much of the fluid that intoxicates and as a result became rather muddled. He was on his way to Peterborough and got off at the station all O.K. but just as the train started he got on board again. He had a large bottle with him and when the train pulled into Millbrook he was dead to the world. He was in such a helpless condition that it took three men to remove him from the car.—Guide.

MEETING OF LOCAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

A Short Session of the Board Held This Morning.

A meeting of the Board of Health was held this morning with Mr. R. Neill in the chair and the following members present. Dr. McNulty, Dr. Burnham, and Messrs G. Schneider and Wm. Eyres.

The communications of Mr. Guthrie re accumulation of water near her residence and Mrs. Birdsall, in reference to closing of well on her Commercial Hotel property, were considered. The latter complained that other wells ordered to be closed, were still open. The Chief was was instructed to look into these matters.

The application of the Barnardo Home authorities for sewer connection was also considered, and the board will visit the home this afternoon in reference to the matter.

A number of accounts were presented, and on motion were referred to the council with the exception of the accounts of Jas. Lynch and Ormond & Walsh, which were ordered to be paid.

Dr. Bingham referred to the case of two charity patients who had been removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, suffering from quinsy. The case was afterwards diagnosed as diphtheria, and the patients placed in the infectious wards. Dr. McNulty will bring in a report on the above at the next meeting.

Board adjourned until Wednesday morning at nine o'clock.

CHANGE IN NAMES OF TWO POST OFFICES.

Otonabee P. O. Will be Called Indian River, and Indian River Will be Geurin.

On September 1st there is to be a change in the name of two post offices in this vicinity. Otonabee post office which is situated at Indian River Station on the C.P.R. is to be called Indian River the same name as the station.

What is now known as Indian River post office will hereafter be called Geurin. This will stop a great deal of confusion which was caused by the station and post office not being the same name.

TEMPORARY OFFICES IN CURLING RINK.

Canadian Machine Telephone Company Will do Business There for the Present.

The temporary offices of the Canadian Machine Telephone Company have been removed to the Curling Rink, Charlotte Street, where one of the rooms has been suitably fitted for office purposes and the ground floor of the rink is being used as a store room for supplies which are coming in rapidly.

The work outside is being pushed forward as rapidly as possible in order to have the construction work well advanced before winter. The wiring can be carried on during the winter weather.

The underground work will likely be commenced early next week.

Mr. R. P. Watt has been appointed to take charge of the office duties and will look after matters in the office in the absence of Mr. Mackay.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The Horicultural Society Appeals to the Citizens of the Town.

The next Horticultural Show will be in the Drill Shed on Thursday and Friday, 8th and 9th, September. It is intended to make it a great success but to effect this your help is required. Every year as you go to the show you say as you look at the specimens, well, I could beat this or that. Why didn't you? Why did you not send that specimen plant or root or vegetable? Now please help us this year! Send word to Mr. Beal the secretary and on the morning of the 8th a wagon will call for your exhibit and all the exhibits will be safely returned. The society is working for you; help us. Any plant, flower, root or vegetable that you think good send it; the result will astonish and you will have the pleasure of a good deed besides such prizes as you may win.

There will be a band in the evening and a promenade concert.

GREAT GAME OF BALL RETULTS IN A TIE.

Peterborough and Port Hope Played a Ten Innings Game Yesterday.

On the Latter Ground—Score was 5-5—Fast Ball's From Start to Finish—Locals Batted Hard—Return Game Here on Saturday.

The Peterborough baseball team played in Port Hope yesterday afternoon and the best they could do was to break even with the Ontario town. The game was called in the last half of the tenth to allow the Peterborough players to catch the train. It was one of the fastest and most exciting games ever played in Port Hope. McCorry was on the rubber for the locals and had everything with him that a pitcher requires. He was touched up in the 4th for four hits, a base on balls, which with a stolen base and Sheridan's error netted four runs, and for the remainder of the game had the Port Hopers at his mercy, striking out twelve of the Ontario sluggers.

For Peterborough Sheridan and Lamont carried off the batting honours, the former with four and the latter with three hits. Graham and Whiteroft fielded their positions in grand style, the former caught one of the best games of his career yesterday, his throwing being a feature. Taking the game on the whole it was the best game of the season. There were several accidents in the game but everything will be patched up ready for Saturday's struggle, which promises to be the best of the season. The winners will be credited with two victories.

The Peterboroughs outbatted Port Hope, but they could not hit when hits meant runs. The game went along for four innings with the score 4—0 in favour of Peterborough, but in the 4th Port Hope landed on McCorry, and before the smoke cleared had 4 runs across the pan, and the score was tied. Neither team could score till the tenth when Peterborough started in to do business. Sheridan walloped the first one for two sacks. Chris Graham made a pretty bunt, which he nearly beat out, Sheridan going to third on the play. Lamont was next up and bunted the first one safely, Sheridan scoring. Lamont stole second and went to third on an infield out, but died there as the next two up were easy outs. In Port Hope's half of the tenth Bonady hit to Trainor, who lost the ball which bounded badly the rough ground, and on the next ball, Edmonds who ran for him, stole second, Graham making a high throw over second, which Lamont pulled down with his bare hand. Hobbs hit to McCorry and Edmonds went to third but over-ran the base and he was caught between home and third, Hobbs kept going and landed on third. Henderson hit to McCorry who let the ball get away from him and Hobbs brought in the tieing run. Henderson stole second, but was caught going to third by Lamont to Sheridan, ending one of the best games ever played in Port Hope. The game was fast and gingerly throughout and was closely contested all the way.

The same teams meet in Peterborough on Saturday, when one of the best games of the season should result.

HEARD ON THE LINE.

Yesterday's was the only extra innings game played in the League this season.

Whiteroft and Trainor figured in the only double play seen in Port Hope this year.

Lamont saved the game in the ninth by a one-handed catch of a high throw.

Sheridan, Graham and Lamont did the best hitting of the game.

Lamont drove in four of the five runs by timely hits.

McWain was badly "spiked" by Lamont while sliding to third base, and had to retire from the game.

The same teams meet here on Saturday. Everybody should see it. The boys are playing fast ball now.

Jack Rosevear, of Port Hope gave the best of satisfaction as umpire, his rulings being fair and impartial.

Ten innings in one hour and fifty minutes is pretty fast playing for amateurs.

The Port Hope grounds were badly cut up; the circus pitched their tents there and the grounds are in bad condition as a result.

McCorry pitched a good game and was ably supported by Chris Graham behind the bat.

The winners of Saturday's game between the same teams will take both games.

Whiteroft made a pretty catch of a fine drive in the sixth, throwing to first for a double.

Yesterday was a half holiday in Port Hope and a good crowd turned out to see the game.

Port Hope has no mean team. They beat Oshawa last week and if they worked in harmony as they did yesterday, they would be up "rapping at the door" for the championship.

Two games are under way for Labour Day here with a crack Toronto team, likely the Crescents, champions of Toronto.

Peterborough's team yesterday was about the strongest that has as yet represented the club.

Manager Whiteroft has accepted 35 out of the last 36 chances he has had. "Whittie's" fielding has been a feature in the last two games.

McCorry struck out twelve men and except in one innings kept the hits well scattered.

Manager Whiteroft put McDonald in to bat in the eighth for Long, and he responded with a nice single; the right man in the right place.

A UNIQUE CONVENTION

GENERAL CONFERENCE OF SOCIETY OF FRIENDS IN TORONTO.

Distinguished Canadians of Other Faiths Took Part in the Proceedings, While Many World-Known Friends Were Present—Principal Graham Indicates the Views of the Body of Friends the Wide World Over.

From August 12 to August 19 Toronto had within its borders one of the most unique conventions in Canadian history. This was the General Conference of the Society of Friends, which is held every two years, and all sorts and conditions of Toronto people attended the sessions in Massey Hall, which were held three times daily. Welcomed on behalf of the city by Acting Mayor Jones, on behalf of the province by Premier Ross, at various times during the duration of the conference such distinguished citizens of Canada as Prof. Goldwin Smith, Prof. McCurdy of Toronto University, and Prof. Shortt of Queen's University, Dr. Courtice of Toronto, took part in the proceedings. Of the Friends themselves there were about 1,500 present, and the local chairman was William Greenwood Brown of the Queen City.

Among these were world-known Friends. John William Graham, principal of Dalton Hall, Manchester, England, and a member of the staff of Victoria University in that city; O. Howard Janney, M. D., Baltimore, a minister of the Friends' Society there, chairman of the conference; Florence Kelly, well known in New York, in connection with factory inspection, and the recently adopted childs' labor law. Miss Kelly was associated with Jane Adams of Hull House, Chicago, and is very prominent as a worker among the dependent classes, besides taking an active part in the Consumers' League. Some of the others present were Anna M. Jackson, of New York, Prof. Starbuck, of Erlham College, Indiana, Principal Rawson, of New York, Prof. Jones, Haverford College, and many others.

In a letter regretting inability to attend a special night meeting, Prof. Goldwin Smith said that he had grown up in England in the town of Reading, which was full of Quakers in their prim dresses. They were noted for their integrity, their benevolence, and not a little for their prosperity. The many years of intercourse which he had had later on with John Bright was a more memorable association in his mind with the fraternity. John Bright was a man of whom any church might be proud; he had lived a noble life, and was the enemy throughout of injustice, of war, of everything that was most hurtful to humanity.

It is, therefore, no wonder that not only Toronto but the province at large was much interested in these transient visitors and that during their stay they made many warm friends. Indeed it is not too much to say that there was almost no exception to the "glad hand" welcome they received in Canada.

Their organization which is unique is very simple. The congregations are designated weekly meetings, these are grouped in monthly meetings, these in half-yearly meetings, and these again in yearly meetings of which there are seven in America: Genesee, to which Toronto belongs; Baltimore, New York, Philadelphia, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. Among these seven there is no legislative union, but the general conference, held every two years, serves the purpose of a united assembly.

Principal Graham, of Manchester, England, in an interview indicated the views held by the body of Friends. As a prominent member of the society in England, and a special visitor to the conference, his words are deeply interesting.

"The Society of Friends in America," he said, "is unfortunately divided into three branches. The branch which is in conference in Toronto at present is one which permits the greatest variety in its dogmatic theology, whilst at the same time retaining in very vivid form the essential idea which underlies all branches of Quakerism, namely, that the work of the Holy Spirit is, or may become, an intimate reality in the heart of all men. It may be well expressed in the words of the Quaker poet, Whittier:

"Nor branda, nor clime, nor creed Thou know'st,
Wide as our need Thy favors fall;
The white wings of the Holy Ghost
Stoop green or unseen o'er the heads of all."

"This is doubtless the core of the rope for all Christians, whatever be its outward texture. But among Friends it is held with a quiet, practical confidence, which has led them to order their worship without the usual outward means of grace and relying solely on the working of the Divine Spirit upon the spirits of the congregation.

"Therefore there can be no fixed ministry, and no fixed paid preacher. This last point is true of Friends in England, and of two out of three bodies in America. The third body has succumbed to the practical convenience afforded by having a pastor whose life is entirely devoted to the work of the church. Friends distrust the sensuous effect of ritual, and believe that such ceremonies as the Lord's Supper and water baptism are non-essential and even weakening to a healthy soul, whilst not denying their usefulness to the spiritually invalided.

"They look, however, with comprehending charity upon the practice of those who have always associated a spiritual blessing with a particular ceremonial. They nevertheless exist to show experimentally that Christian communion is found in practice to be richly obtainable without bell, book or candle.

"The society's protest against war may be said to be a by-product, though it is to the public the most conspicuous of their principles. It has simply resulted from the fact that they try to look upon all things in the light of the Eternal, where the slain soldier is a temple of the Lord destroyed; where force is no remedy, and where the evil passions evoked by war are seen to have nothing in common with the spirit of Jesus Christ.

"Let it not be supposed that the Quaker's 'light within' is something fantastic, fanciful, or claiming to be infallible. Nor that the idea of the spirit moving him to ministry is a suitable cause for amusement at a harmless type of innocent fanaticism. The whole thing is a sober, tender, humble, but thankful realization of the strength of the Divine endowment of man. As the poet says:

'So night is grandeur to our dust,
So near to God is man.
When duty whispers, No, thou must,
The soul replies, I can.'

"They absolutely reject the authority of any church. The Bible can only be rightly interpreted by a measure of the spirit of the men who wrote it.

"To the secret chambers of the heart the Friend repairs when in need of guidance, and he finds again and again that to the faithful heart the guidance comes."

What Is "Horse Power."

How many folk who talk glibly about the "horse-power" of a motor-car know what the horse-power unit is? Even those who are aware that this unit represents the force that will raise 33,000 pounds one foot per minute, probably do not know that this considerably exceeds what the average horse can do, and that the figures were settled by James Watt, about a century ago, in a curious fashion. Watt, in his usual careful manner, had calculated what the average horse in his neighborhood could do, and he found that the raising of 22,000 pounds per foot per minute was about the actual horse-power. At the time he was engaged in the manufacture of engines, and had almost a monopoly of the engine building trade. Customers were so hard to find that all kinds of artificial encouragements were considered necessary to induce power users to buy steam engines. As a method of encouraging business, Watt offered to sell engines reckoning 33,000 foot pounds to a horse-power, or one-half more than the average. And thus what was intended as a temporary expedient to promote business was the means of giving a false unit of a very important measurement to the world.

Deceptive.

Appearances will often lie
And fool you, as a rule.
You're always kicked the hardest by

So Convenient.

Mrs. Urban—How you must enjoy living in the country! I suppose you can get all the fresh fruit and vegetables you want.

Mrs. Annex—Oh, yes. Such a nice peddler comes out from the city three times a week.

More Delicately Put.

The horse, when his bad race was done,
Exclaimed: "I wish I were a man.
They don't call me 'a favorite son,'
But only just an 'also ran.'"

It Would Seem So.

"What is the umpire for?" asked the girl who was new to the game.

"Oh, merely to give the losing team a chance to start something," explained the young man.

Our Friends' Failing.

In spite of love so strong,
Why should they every day

7 Sutherland Sisters' HAIR GROWER

Miss Ida Roadhouse, Peterboro' Ontario
Seven Sutherland Sisters' Hair Grower and Scalp Cleaner shows results from the very first. Here is more proof that we have the greatest hair grower science ever produced.

Seven Sutherland Sisters
Dear Ladies:—Having been benefited by the use of your Hair Grower and Scalp Cleaner, I take much pleasure in writing you the same. At the time of your visit to Peterboro' last October, I showed you my head, which, as you will remember, was a hopeless case, after looking at the bald spot on my head (think you then about the size of a silver dollar), my hair coming out more every day, you advised me to try your wonderful remedy, which is worthy of being termed so. I did, and to my surprise, before I had used one of your large sized bottles of Hair Grower and only half a package of Scalp Cleaner I could see a covering of a sort of cotton fed upon continuing to use it the scalp full of white and leaving a mark of any kind. My hair now on the bald spot is about three inches long and growing more and more every day to my delight. I cannot really recommend it enough and am thankful that such a remedy came to my notice.
Yours truly, IDA ROADHOUSE,
Peterboro' Ont., Box 333.

Two sizes, Hair Grower 50c and $1.00; Scalp Cleaner 25c. The only dandruff cure. For shampooing it has no equal. At all druggists.

THE WORD "HANDICAP."

It Comes From the Ancient Custom of Hand In the Cap.

In former days a "handicap" was conducted thus: A, wishing for something which belonged to B, say a horse, would offer his watch for it. If A agreed, C was chosen to fix the sum that should be given by one or the other to make the exchange fair.

The three then put down a stake, and A and B, each holding a piece of money, put their hands into a cap or hat, or into their pockets, while C, enlarging on the respective merits of the horse and watch, made his award in as rapid and complex a manner as possible, ending it with the words, "Draw, gentlemen!"

A and B instantly drew out and opened their hands. If money appeared in both the exchange was made; if in one only, or in neither, the award was off, and in every case C took the stakes.

The modern use of handicap has arisen from the employment of experts to make fair conditions for a race in which the competitors are of unequal age or power.

Intelligence In Monkeys.

A correspondent in the Field contributes an extraordinary instance of intelligence in the Royal park, Melbourne, Australia. He was watching some monkeys in a large cage when one of them came to the front and tried to reach a nut which had been thrown and was lying on the gravel path. Putting its arms through the bars and stretching as far as possible it found that the nut was just beyond its reach. There was straw on the floor of the cage and going to the back, where it evidently expected to find the straw less damaged, it tested straw after straw, discarding them one by one, not thinking them strong enough for the purpose. At last it found a satisfactory one, returned with it to the front of the cage and very quickly with this aid hooked the nut close enough to be picked up.

Her Sympathy.

Little Flora was complaining that her stomach felt bad, according to the Columbia Herald. "Perhaps it's because it's empty," said her mother. "It might feel better if you had something in it." Not long afterward the minister called. In reply to a question as to his health he said that he was well, but that his head felt rather bad that day. "Perhaps it's because it's empty," spoke up Flora. "It might feel better if you had something in it."

Genius.

Men give me some credit for genius. All the genius I have lies in this: When I have a subject in hand I study it profoundly. Day and night it is before me. I explore it in all its bearings. My mind becomes pervaded with it. Then the effort which I make the people are pleased to call the fruit of genius. It is the fruit of labor and thought.

Too Tame.

"Do you think that a young man ought to go into politics?"

"No," answered Broncho Bob. "There's nothing in it. I went to a political convention once. All they did was to holler and wave their hands. There wasn't a shot fired."

ANCIENT CURRENCY.

The Chinese Once Used Small Bronze Knives For Money.

Knife money, a species of ancient Chinese currency, was associated with the state of Ta'i, one of the most powerful of the early subdivisions of the Celestial Empire, which came into power B. C. 1122 and was subdued by the rival state of Te'in, B. C. 224. This quaint form of money consisted of small curved bronze knives, some seven inches in length, with inscribed blades and handles terminating in rings.

This knife money dropped out of use with the reduction of Ta'i, but was revived by the usurper Wang Mang, who was murdered A. D. 23. The issues of this potentate were half as long again as the earlier currency. They were also much thicker, and the ring at the end of the handle was replaced by a rim and central square hole resembling the hole in the modern "cash." Other Chinese currencies of great antiquity and of similar sort were adze money, or small hatchets, with such varieties of tool currency as chisels, spades and planes, all of which passed from hand to hand in the ordinary way as a circulating medium.

Bad Season for Salmon.

The salmon fishing season in Canada has been practically a failure this year. Not only have the fish caught with the rod been few, but the net fishermen have fared little better, so that salmon is selling in Canada almost at famine rates. The end of the season is Aug. 15.

The first fish enter the rivers almost as soon as the ice has disappeared, and the largest fish are usually the first to "run," as it is called. The run continues, at intervals, for two or three months.

But in approaching the mouth of their river, the fish invariably hug the shore. The net fishermen take advantage of this, and set series after series of nets extending out from the shore directly across the path of the ascending fish. These nets are only taken up to remove the fish captured, and for 36 hours each week, from 8 o'clock on Saturday night till 6 o'clock Monday morning.

It is not, therefore, very surprising that the bulk of the fish that leave the sea each season to ascend the rivers are captured in the nets. Those that are killed by anglers in fair fishing with rod and line are so few as compared with those taken by the commercial fishermen that they make no appreciable difference in the supply, but there is little doubt that unless more stringent measures are taken to protect the fish, not only will salmon fishing become a thing of the past in Canadian rivers, but there must also be a great falling off in the supply of the fish for commercial purposes.

ECZEMA ON LEG FOR TEN YEARS.
Would Scratch Till the Blood Flowed—Entirely Cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mrs. Hiram Frey, Norwood, Ont., states:—"I was troubled for ten years with eczema on one leg. The itching was terrible, and when scratched the blood would come. The doctors could not cure me. Fortunately I heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and its persistent use has completely cured me. There is now no trace of the disease left.

My little girl two years old, has also been cured of Eczema by Dr. Chase's Ointment. Her face was a mass of sores and we had to bandage her hands to keep her from scratching it. To-day her face is clear of even the scars which the ugly sores made, and she is thoroughly cured. I am glad of an opportunity to let people know what a blessing Dr. Chase's Ointment has proved itself to be."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS.

Historic Publishing House That Is About to Open a Branch in Canada—What Its Privilege Is.

Now that the Oxford University Press is about to open a Canadian branch in Toronto, some particulars of this historic publishing house will be read with interest. It is the only press in the world that can produce a list of its productions for upwards of 300 years. It has shown continuous activity from the year 1585, when one Joseph Barnes was appointed "Printer to the University," and granted £100 from the university chest. In 1586 Convocation elected delegates "to watch over the interests of the University and to control the Press." The output of the Press from 1486 to 1900 is estimated at 19,475 books, each separate edition, although it might consist of a million or more copies, being counted as a unit, and even this large total does not include two or three hundred issues of the Bible and Prayer Book.

The first book printed at Oxford was the treatise of Tyrannius Rufinus on the Apostles' Creed, ascribed to St. Jerome, and bearing the date, Dec. 17, MCCCCLXVIII, and copies have fetched upwards of $1,800 in the auction room. But it is generally believed nowadays that an X was omitted in the date, which should have been 1478. If the former figure were correct, Caxton could no longer be accorded the honor of having printed the first book in England (which, however, he nowhere claims), for it was not until 1477 that he set up his press at Westminster. In Henry VIII.'s reign Wolsey suppressed the Oxford Press, which was re-established during Elizabeth's sovereignty by the Earl of Leicester at his own cost.

The printing was carried on first in hired premises at Oxford; then in the famous church of St. Mary the Virgin; next, from 1669 to 1713, in the Sheldonian Theatre; then at the Clarendon Press near the theatre, until 1830; and since that date at the present fine and picturesque premises. It may be explained that the universities are entitled to the perpetual copyright of books presented to them. The copyright of the Earl of Clarendon's great History of the Rebellion was presented to the university, and with the profits gained therefrom for the most part the building called the Clarendon Press (out of compliment to the donor) was erected. Thus the familiar name was derived.

So far as England is concerned, only the University of Oxford and Cambridge and the King's Printers are authorized to print the Bible. As Prof. Goldwin Smith once said, the real privilege of the Oxford Press is "that which it secures for itself by the most scrupulous accuracy and by infinitesimal profits"—infinitesimal that is when spread over all the publications of the press. It is a curious fact that were it not for this Bible printing privilege (first granted to secure accuracy in the text) it would be impossible for the public to obtain Bibles so cheaply as now.

Suited for Agriculture.

Mr. Thomas W. Gibson, Director of the Bureau of Mines, Toronto, has received the first report from the party sent out by the Crown Lands Department to explore the Abitibi region, with a view to ascertaining its mineral and agricultural resources. The party has already traveled over the townships of Wark, Gowan, Proeser, Little, McCart, Tully and Newmarket. "Most of the land is quite flat and covered with a stratified clay," writes Mr. J. G. McMillan, who is in charge of the exploration. "Though somewhat wet on account of the level nature of the country, the streams have banks of sufficient height in most places to drain the land, with the exception of those parts which are covered with muskeg. These last mentioned are comprised in the district covered so far from one-tenth to one-fifth of the total area. Owing to the level nature of the country the peat deposit on them does not extend to any great depth. On most of them a sounding of from three to six feet encountered a clay bottom, though in some the sounding went from ten to twelve feet. With a system of draining much less extensive than that in parts of the Counties of Essex, Kent and Lambton, most of these muskegs could be changed into farming lands.

"The country explored was almost entirely Huronian, with very few outcroppings of rock. At only one point was the Laurentian encountered. In McCart Huronian greenstone, varying somewhat in appearance, and with some veinlets of serpentine, was seen, and in Tully there was found greenstone impregnated with pyrites. In Little township a blueish quartzose schist, bearing magnetite and pyrites, was encountered. In Wark and Gowan the only rock seen was in the locality of the three and four mile posts on Speight's base line, where a hard schist, with some stringers of quarts, was discovered.

"Glacial accumulations have not been met with to any great extent so far," says Mr. McMillan. "In McCart some morrains, one sixty or seventy feet high, heavily timbered with birch, were noticed, and in the southwest quarter of Little there are some sand ridges covered with jack pine."

Built the First Railway in Canada.

The death of Mr. Thomas B. Tait, a civil engineer who constructed the first line of railway in Canada, called the St. Lawrence & Lake Huron Railway, is reported at Ogdensburg, N. Y. Mr. Tait also supervised the construction of the G.T.R. between Toronto and Kingston, a work which was commenced as far back as 1852. At the time of his death deceased was 90 years of age. Mr. R. F. Taft, a son, is resident engineer for Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann at Toronto.

$500 REWARD! FOR WOMEN

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

The Vice-President Independent Order of Good Templars.

An experience which other women have was related by Miss Agnes Billings, of 231 East 26th Street, New York City as follows: "I had very poor health for a year until life looked dark and dreary to me. Had headaches, backache, also pain, my sleep was broken and fitful. I longed for health. Tried several medicines but none were of any lasting benefit until I took Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I soon realized that I had found the right remedy. It helped nature to throw off the poisons that saturated the system, removed all pains and strengthened the digestive organs, and brought the roses of health back to my cheeks. This medicine if taken occasionally keeps the system in perfect condition, helping it to throw off the disease and consequences of exposure to dampness. I am pleased to give it my endorsement."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

SALT AND ICE.

The Process That Begins When the Two Are Mixed.

It is not correct to say that salt dissolves ice, since real solution only takes place when a solid, liquid or gas is dissolved in a liquid.

The true explanation of the fact that ice melts when common salt is added to it depends upon the simple physical principle that when a salt is dissolved in water heat is absorbed, and its temperature is lowered. When salt and ice are mixed together some of the salt dissolves in the small amount of water which is always present, the temperature is thereby lowered, and a new freezing point is established.

The remainder of the ice—being at a temperature higher than this new freezing point—slowly melts, and more salt is dissolved until the solution is saturated. The temperature can in this way be lowered to 22 degrees C., which is the freezing point of a definite compound of salt and water.

The salts dissolved in sea waters serve a very important purpose, as it requires a greater degree of cold to cause the formation of ice on them than on fresh water.

Wonderful Sand Bank.

One of the historical spots of Prince Edward county is the West Lake sand banks. They are a curiosity, and where a large cedar swamp once stood is now entirely obscured from view by thousands of tons of sand. The sand banks are bounded by West Lake and Lake Ontario, and are about ten miles northwest of Picton. The main street of the latter place, with two rows of beautiful maple trees for several miles, takes the visitor to the sand banks, which the residents of Prince Edward County consider one of the wonders of the world. At the end of the road there is a turning point, at which is a huge maple tree, which stands in the centre of the driveway, familiarly known as the "wishing tree." Every time the visitors pass this odd tree they make a wish, and that they have scored luck at one time or another is quite evident, as they never fail to wish when they go that way. About 40 years ago the sand from the lake began to fill in the cedar swamp, and since that time a bar has formed across the mouth of West Lake some four miles long and about three-quarters of a mile wide, which is the great feature of the sand banks. But there is a still more marvellous feature. Some who recently visited the place had the pleasure of indulging in a snowball throwing contest. In the winter the ice and snow form in the banks, which are covered by sand in the spring, and, consequently, it has no chance to thaw out. By digging down about three feet, the visitor locates the snow, which remains there the year round. The sand banks are about 75 feet high in some places, and they pile up so quickly in some spots that it is necessary for drivers to dig out new roadways every year or so in order to get across to Wellington.

THE LOWER ANIMALS.

They Are Keen of Perception, but Are Incapable of Thought.

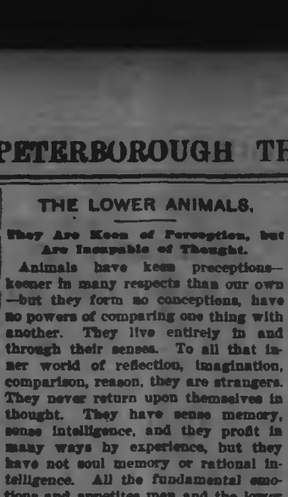
Animals have keen preceptions—keener in many respects than our own—but they form no conceptions, have no powers of comparing one thing with another. They live entirely in and through their senses. To all that inner world of reflection, imagination, comparison, reason, they are strangers. They never return upon themselves in thought. They have sense memory, sense intelligence, and they profit in many ways by experience, but they have not soul memory or rational intelligence. All the fundamental emotions and appetites men and the lower animals share in common, such as fear, anger, love, hunger, jealousy, cunning, pride, curiosity, play, but the world of thought and thought experience and the emotions that go with it belong to man alone.

It is as if the psychic world were divided into two planes, one above the other—the plane of sense and the plane of spirit. In the plane of sense live the lower animals, only now and then just breaking for a moment into the higher plane. In the world of sense man is immersed also; this is his start and foundation, but he rises into the plane of spirit, and here lives his proper life. He is emancipated from sense in a way that beasts are not.—John Burroughs in Harper's Magazine.

Papal Secretary of State.

Cardinal Merry del Val, Papal Secretary of State, who is in the public eye because of the present difficulties between the Vatican and the French Government, succeeded Cardinal Rampolla a short time after Pius X. became Pope.

Rafaele Merry del Val was the secretary of the conclave that elected



CARDINAL MERRY DEL VAL.

the present Pope and, in accordance with precedent, was made a Cardinal shortly afterward. His elevation over the heads of all the older Cardinals, first as Secretary of State and then as Prefect of the Sacred Palaces, soon followed. Cardinal del Val's mother is an Englishwoman and his father a Spanish marquis and distinguished diplomat. He inherited an aptitude and taste for diplomacy.

An Overcrowded Profession.

The two sportsmen looked at each other in the parlor of the village inn and at last entered into conversation in regard to the experiences of the day.

"And you say you have caught sixty trout in less than two hours," said one at last. "Well, I'm glad to have met you; I'm a professional myself."

"Fisherman?" inquired the other man.

"No—er—narrator," was the reply.

A PLAGUE RELIC.

The London Gazette Was One Result of the Great Epidemic.

A curious relic of the great plague survives still in the London Gazette. During the epidemic the autumn session of parliament was held at Oxford from Oct. 9 to 31, 1665, and Charles II. and his court went there to attend the session and to escape infection.

As it was essential that London should be kept informed of the proceedings, the king started an official journal, entitled the Oxford Gazette, the first number of which appeared on Wednesday, Nov. 15, 1665. It contained an account of what had been done in the way of appointments and gave some items of court news. About two months later the publication was transferred to the metropolis as the London Gazette.

The first Oxford issue does not appear to have reached London until Nov. 22, at least Pepys records under that date, very characteristically: "This day the first of the Oxford Gazettes come out; very pretty, full of news, and no folly in it. Wrote by Williamson. It pleased me to have it demonstrated that a purser without professed cheating is a professed loser, twice as much as he gets."

Candy.

"The talk about adulterated candies," said a manufacturer, "is nonsense. There is a national organization of confectionery manufacturers which makes a business of investigating all reports of poisoning from eating candy and has succeeded in exploding most of such rumors. When a child is hungry it will fill up on almost anything it can get hold of—green apples, for instance, or even gravel or grass. It gets sick, and the mother, knowing it had eaten candy that day, spreads the report that the sweets were poisoned. The organization looks into every such case it hears about and finds out the truth. Competition is too strong for any concern to try to sell adulterated goods. The firm's competitors would immediately analyze the piece which is sold suspiciously cheap, and if it contained injurious ingredients would not be slow in proclaiming the fact. Good business principles demand honesty in the manufacture of candies."

His Wish.

A wicked story is told about two partners who respected each other's business ability, but who hated each other cordially. To one of them came a fairy saying that he could have any boon he desired and whatever he had his partner should have in double portion. Naturally his first wish was for a barrel of money. "All right," said the fairy, "but your partner will get two barrels on that wish." "Stop a little," said the first. "Perhaps you'd better not give me a barrel of money. I'd rather you would make me totally blind in one eye."

Korean Customs.

According to the Rev. C. F. Collyer, an English missionary, the Korean "never cuts his hair or beard. To do so is considered a mark of dishonor to his parents, whom he strongly reverences. Any hairs that may happen to come out and even the parings of his finger nails are carefully saved and put into the coffin with him in order that he may go back to Mother Earth intact."

SINFUL HABITS IN YOUTH

MAKE NERVOUS, WEAK, DISEASED MEN.

THE RESULT of ignorance and folly in youth, overexertion of mind and body induced by lust and exposure are constantly wrecking the lives and future happiness of thousands of promising young men. Some fade and wither at an early age, at the blossom of manhood, while others are forced to drag out a weary, fruitless and melancholy existence. Others consult matrimony but find no solace or comfort there. The victims are found in all stations of life—the farm, the office, the workshop, the pulpit, the trades and the professions. Nervous Debility and Sexual Weakness are guaranteed cured by our New Method Treatment or its pay. You run no risk 25 years in Detroit. Bank security.

CURED WHEN ALL ELSE FAILED. No names used without written consent.

"I am 33 years of age and married. When young I led a gay life. Early indiscretions and later excesses made trouble for me. I became weak and nervous. My kidneys became affected and I feared Bright's Disease. Married Life was unsatisfactory and my home unhappy. I tried everything—all failed till I took treatment from Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. Their New Method built me up mentally, physically and sexually. I am and act like a man in every respect. They treated me six years ago. They are honest, skilful and responsible financially, so why patronize Quacks and Fakirs when you can be cured by reliable doctors."—W. A. Bolton.

BOWLING-ON-THE-GREEN.

Millbrook club wants three rinks to visit them next week, probably on Thursday—will those who wish to go notify the President to-night.—

The final games between the Bachelors and the Benedicts take place to-night. The latter will require to keep their eyes on "Kitty" for the former have blood in their eyes and are determined to redeem their lost prestige and prove themselves worthy to become Benedicts in due time.

The Bachelors have announced the following skips:—Armstrong, McIntyre, Medd and Waddell, while the Benedicts have detailed skips Frost, Kerr, Dixon, and Runnells to entertain them.

Games last night:—

A. Moore	W. J. Johnston
W. O'Brien	T. C. Pratt
R. Kerr	D. H. Moore
Dr. McKinnon, sk. 21.	W. Talbot, sk. 16.
J. Titterson	A. R. Kidd
W. J. Scott	G. R. Whiten
W. J. Green	E. Runnells
D. Bellegrem, sk. 8.	G. Lech, sk. 20.
R. Cottrell	Geo. Martin
G. A. Cox	W. Atkins
R. J. Frost	R. Sturgeon
Dr. Greer, sk. 17.	J. W. Brooks, sk. 5.
J. Titterson	W. J. Scott
R. J. Kidd	R. Cottrell
W. F. Talbot	W. Talbot
D. H. Moore	G. E. Whiten
W. O'Brien, sk. 12.	A. Moore, sk. 8.

There was another game played but they failed to hand in the score.

The club proposes to have an inter-rink competition between the President and Vice-President on Labour Day—the schedule will be announced later.

RUGBY.

It's no longer summer and the sports which characterize this season of the year are about over. Following the natural course of events rugby is the sport which should now occupy the attention of the local athletics. Peterborough produces good rugby players and the town stands high in the opinion of the rugby world generally and outside towns and cities are expecting to see Peterborough in line again this year. Although there have been no steps taken as yet, it seems practically certain that there will be a team and it is only a question of in which series it will be entered. Opinion on this matter is varied and there are many supporters of each series in town and a lively discussion is promised at the annual meeting on this subject.

• • •

Lindsay is going in for Association Football and already practices are being called.

• • •

As many as possible are asked to turn out for a light practice in rugby a the Oval on Saturday afternoon.

• • • •

The annual meeting of the Rugby Club is only a week away and its up to all those interested in the promotion of this sport to talk it up and have a large and enthusiastic meeting next Wednesday evening. Last year the club died at the first annual meeting called, but it afterwards by a struggle came to life again and a team was placed on the field. But the club must not die this year and from the start things must boom. There is nothing like having a good annual meeting to start things off and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance next Wednesday.

• • • •

There promises to be some surprises sprung in the rugby world when the players that are available in town are seen on the gridiron. Some college graduates and other men who are by no means green at the sport are employed in the town and will be in the game when the season for rehearsals is in full swing. Peterborough should have a much stronger team than last year judging from present appearances.

• • •

Though it is still somewhat early President Clarry is quite enthusiastic over the rugby prospects and is busy looking after the new players which have recently come to town.

LACROSSE.

Orillia, Aug. 31.—The first final game for the intermediate championship took place here to-day between Chatham and Orillia, and drew the largest crowd that ever witnessed a game on the local grounds. Nearly 2,000 spectators watched the match and saw the finest exhibition of lacrosse seen in Orillia for years. Although the score at the end was three all, Orillia had the best of the play, but the phenomenal work of Robinson in goal kept them from scoring. Again and again the local team took the ball right in on the flags, and had six or eight shots to one of their opponents'. The game was entirely free from roughness, very few players decorating the fence, and for trivial offences. Field Captain Babcock of Chatham was ruled off for two minutes for talking back to the referee. Chatham scored the first goal after ten minutes' play, and were leading at the end of the first quarter.

In the second period Orillia rallied in four minutes, but Chatham went ahead again in 11 1-2 minutes, and at the half were still in the lead. Orillia played hard in the third quarter, and shot after shot was rained on the Chatham goal, but Robinson only let two pass him. Orillia scoring in three and eleven and a half minutes. In the last quarter Chatham scored in five minutes, and although Orillia pressed hard they could not find the net. F. C. Waghorne referred the game to the satisfaction of all. The teams were:

Chatham. — Robinson, O'Doherty, Pickering, Elliott, McBride, Haydon, Grane, McLaren, Carter, Stewart, Dowling; F. C. Babcock, field captain.

Orillia. — Arans, Quinn, Hinds, O'Connor, Marshall, Hammond, Dunn, Curran, Wilkinson, Whitehead, Donaldson, Pennock; J. C. Miller, field captain.

Mr. T. E. Scriver, editor and proprietor of the Hastings Star, who met with an unfortunate action in a recent lacrosse match at Havelock has returned again to his desk after spending nearly a fortnight in a Toronto Hospital. He makes the following statement in the last issue of the Star in reference to the accident:—

Doubtless many of the readers of the Star know of my recent accident and just here I would like to correct the report that appeared in Peterborough, Havelock and other papers to the effect that Easterbrook's stick hit mine and glancing off, hit me in the face. He did not try to hit my stick, and besides the ball had been delivered and he could not reach stick from where he stood. I heard the same person (on July 13th) boisterously speak of the dirty work he had done at Tweed and what he would do when they met again; I learn from a reliable source that he threatened (at Havelock on August 6th) to lay a certain person out; and he left his position at one end of the field and deliberately slashed the writer in the face. I cannot believe that he intended to slash an eye out, but he certainly intended doing harm. I do not write this for spite or go begging for sympathy but to correct a report that upholds a person who does not try to play lacrosse as it should be played, and I intend at the next meeting of the T.V.L. Executive to make a request that this player be expelled.

To those who assisted me in my misfortune and those who expressed their sympathies, I wish to tender my sincerest thanks. I have found that, "a friend in need is a friend indeed," and my belief furthered that in every heart there is love for its brother.—Editor.

• • • •

There are no new developments in the T.A.S.-Havelock final game.

• • •

One of the men who assaulted Referee Chitty at Toronto was Lambe— What's in a name anyhow?

• • • •

Querrie and Lambe the two Tecumseh "sluggers" who disgraced themselves on Saturday by the cowardly assault upon Referee Chitty have been summoned to court to answer for their deeds.

• • • •

The Capitals will likely play in Brantford in the near future.

• • • •

The Chippewas are still in the running for the flag. They have to meet the Tecumsehs minus Querrie and Lambe Fergus and Brantford at the Island, while the Brantfords have to play in St. Kitts and the Tecumsehs in Brantford. A win for the Chipps against Brantford on Saturday will put the Indians on equal footing with the champions.

• • • •

There is nothing doing in Trent Valley League Circles at present and it does not look as if the T.A.S. Havelock final game will be pulled off this week. The total abstainers are ready for the game, but Havelock does not show any inclination to do battle. The locals are anxious to close this season, and only wait word from the railroad burg to go down and battle for the pennant.

BASEBALL.

The locals have been up against some rather hard luck this year. Lindsay beat them 2-1, Oshawa won by the same score, Bowmanville beat them 4-3 and now they play a ten innings tie. In three of these games, the winners were outbatted.

• • •

The interest in Saturday's game here with Port Hope has deepened considerably after the great game in Port Hope yesterday. It was shown that the teams are very evenly matched and another very close and interesting game is assured. The locals are confident of winning out and one of the fastest games of the year is assured.

• • • •

Yesterday's game at Port Hope was very interesting from the spectators' standpoint.

• • • •

The locals did some good hitting yesterday but could not bunch their safe swats.

• • • •

McCorry had one bad innings at Port Hope yesterday, but he pitched good ball and should win his game on Saturday.

• • • •

A fast Toronto team will likely play here next Monday.

The Galt Players are greatly taken with the work of "Pebble" Flaherty, formerly of town. The Reporter says:—"Flaherty is unquestionably the premier pitcher of the Canadian League. His record so far this season would be becoming of a National Leaguer. He has pitched in 16 games for a total of 136 innings. In that many innings he has had 186 strike-outs. Only 11 hits have been gathered off his delivery for a total of 27 runs. He has officiated in five shut outs. In only one game has a team reached double figures in the hit column. That was the game in Ingersoll on July 23, when Flaherty was ordered to foot and Ingersoll got 11 hits. Preston has the honour of gathering the fewest hits from him in the game. This was the game on August 20, when two hits was the total. The list of Flaherty's strike-outs is as follows:—Berlin, May 21—15; Berlin, June 11 (three innings)—4; Acton, June 18—10; Guelph, June 25—12; Ingersoll, June 28 (6 innings)—6; Guelph, July 1—14; Detroit, B. U., July 7—17; Acton, July 16—14; Ingersoll, July 23—4; Acton, July 30—10; Woodstock, August 1—6; Preston, August 6—8; Lindsay, August 10 (3 innings)—3; Waterloo, August 17—15; Preston, August 18—8; Berlin, August 25—10.

Teh Guide has the following to say of the recent Port Hope-Lindsay game:—"And for the Lindsay team they all played pretty snappy ball but that bad practice of grand stand playing is rapidly creeping in. They were throwing it on pretty thick yesterday, as was remarked by some of the Lindsay supporters. The Diamond should be arranged differently if possible, as Cinnamon during the game had to play with his back to the grand stand. The only chance "Bill" gets to rubber at the fans is when coming up to bat and he generally takes a side glance.

THE TRIGGER.

The D.R.A. matches were continued at Ottawa yesterday. The weather was all that could be desired and the shooting showed an improvement. Three local men figured in the scoring. Moore shot well in the H. L. Borden match, scoring 34 for a $6 prize. Moore has been doing good work in all the contests so far. Pentland scored 32 for a $4 prize in the Borden match. In the Ross contest Kidd scored 34 for $4 prize. The shooting is being continued to-day.

BASKET-BALL.

A meeting of the senior Arrow Basketball Team is called for this evening at eight o'clock.

SPRINTING

A telegram was received from Toronto to-day to the effect that Fred McGrath had won the quarter mile foot race at the Exhibition this morning. The time was 50 secodns. He ran under the colours of the Y. M.C.A.

• • • •

Dave Beland won the foot race at the Q.A.A.A. grounds Saturday from Sam Copeman. The first race was a dead heat, while Beland was given the decision in the next two, although the final was considered as close as the first. Beland got the best of the starts. It is likely that the men will meet again, as all are not satisfied with the result. Mr. R. Griffith acted as judge and Mr. Wm. Tobin as starter.—Quebec Daily Telegraph.

ATHLETICS.

The first annual championships of Athletic League of the Y.M.C.A. of Canada will be held in Toronto on Saturday, October 1st. The events which are open to all Canadian amateurs are as follows:—100 yard dash, 220 yard run, 440 yard run, 880 yard run, 1 mile run, 120 yard hurdle, high jump, pole vault, running broad jump, 16 pound hammer, 16 pound shot, discus, 3 mile walk. Gold and silver medals will be given for each event. A Dunlop trophy for five mile team road race open to all Harrier clubs in Canada, six men to constitute a team, four men of any team making highest number of points to hold trophy for one year, also to receive silver medals. Penman annual championship trophy to be held for one year by Y.M.C.A. making the highest number of points (not including five mile road race.) Spalding Gold Medal to be given to the individual making the highest number of points during the day. The entries close on Sept. 23.

It is likely that some of the local cracks will enter these contests and attempt to bring laurels to the local association.

TO-DAY'S NEWS ON STOCK MARKET

Features of Market as Told by Special Wires.

By private wire from Richmond & Co., Ind., Pittsburg and Buffalo to W. F. Nelson & Co., correspondents:—

New York, Sept. 1, Wednesday evening.—To-day's market showed further reactionary tendency, although the losses were confined to small fractions, while some of our bull favourites continued to climb to higher levels. Profits should have been taken around 63 on reading. If it reacts below 55 be sure to buy some. On the next move after this reaction. U.S.Q. should go to 67 and the common to about 17. Erie ought to go to 33 and the 1st pfd. should advance in proportion. Am Smelting will go to 75. Owing to the approaching holidays there was considerable profit taking which accounts for yesterday's and to-day's weakness, but barring unforseen accidents this reaction will not be very formidable and should not average more than 1 or 2 points from to-day's lowest. On any sharp set back would buy M. R. around 118; BRT below 54; Pa around 134; ACP near 85; Ill C around 138; Sug around 120 and SP around 98. We look for a traders' market for the balance of this wek, with more or less irregularity next week the balance ought to be resumed provided no further damage happens to the cotton and corn crops over the holidays. Leave wheat and cotton alone for the present.—Wall St. Inf. Bureau.

New York, Sept. 1st.— Developments over night point to a continuance of irregularity and trading market with specialties bullishly manipulated while realizing goes on.

We see no reason to change the bull stand on U.S.Q. There may be some pressure to-day on SP and Atch.

We continue bullish on RI. Small profits should be taken on either side.

1.30 p. m.—Liverpool wheat and corn 1-4 higher.

August 31.—The stock market while active only in spots had a strong undertone this morning and several issues including Rdg., Erie, Wab., pfd. and C & O sold at the top prices of the movement. Rdg and Erie were the spc. features and their action developed a decided feeling that higher prices are at hand. The irregularity of crop news together with heavy selling in the afternoon trading yesterday evidently restricted operations in the general railroad list, but there was renewed evidence that the strong interests in control of the market propose to maintain their position. There was good buying of U.S.Q. and London continued bullish on the stocks. News from Pittsburg indicated that further preparations for increased business is being made and this helped sentiment considerably. ACP was well supported and the tractions showed improvement despite a sharp decline in Interboro on the curb. Tips on Erie com and Wab. pfd. are becoming numerous and a strong upturn is predicted for these issues. Interesting developments are anticipated in Rdg the nature of which is being carefully guarded.—R. & Co.

LIAOYANG FALLS, JAPANESE VICTORY

Another Day of Desperate Fighting With Heavy Losses.

KUROKI FORCES THE TAITSE.

Kuropatkin is Striving to Retreat to the North, but the Line to Mukden May be Cut—Great Battle Won by the Japanese After Days of Desperate Fighting—Port Arthur's Fall.

Tokio, Sept. 2.—Tokio rings with shouts and cheers for the victory at Liaoyang. Lantern-bearing crowds swing through the streets and surge around the staff offices shouting "Banzai."

Japanese Occupy Liaoyang.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 2.—(1.26 a. m.)—The news of the occupation of Liaoyang and the withdrawal of the Russian army to the right bank of the Taitze River reached only a small section of the people of St. Petersburg at a late hour and caused intense excitement and disappointment. The majority of the inhabitants retired to rest believing that the Russian arms had again been successful and that the Japanese attacks had been repelled. Ugly suspicion, however, had been rife during the day, owing to the absence of press telegrams from Liaoyang, leading to the belief that the communications had been cut by Gen. Kuroki.

Part of Kuropatkin's Plan.

The following statement was obtained by the Associated Press from the War Office at 10 o'clock Thursday night:

"Gen. Kuroki's army crossed in force to the right bank of the Taitze River, and it therefore became necessary for the Russians to repel a blow in this direction. In view of this development in the operations Gen. Kuropatkin decided to abandon his position, on the left bank and to concentrate his whole army on the other side of the river. This position is of the strongest, both in character and in site. The great issue will be finally decided there.

"By withdrawing to this position the Russian army avoids the danger of being divided by the river, and enjoys the advantage of compactness. Gen. Kuropatkin's move, therefore, is not to be considered as a retreat, but rather as the carrying out of a well-defined idea. The withdrawal of the Russians to the right bank involved the abandonment of Liaoyang, which is situated on the left bank.

Stern Fighting Yet, It—

"The Japanese took advantage of this to occupy the city, but the sternest part of the fighting is still before them unless Gen. Kuropatkin decides at the last hour to again fall back to the northward. It is more than likely, however, that he will decide to fight to a finish. The cards are all in his favor, it is believed now, and he has the Japanese divided by the river, thus effectually turning the tables upon his foe.

"The determined pursuit by the Japanese of the Russian outposts when Gen. Kuropatkin gave the first order to withdraw was probably due to their anxiety to keep the Russians south of Liaoyang until Gen. Kuroki should be able to strike from the northeast. Gen. Kuropathin, however, saw the trap and cleverly avoided it."

Kuropatkin Defeated.

Tokio, Sept. 2.—At daybreak yesterday the Japanese army on the left delivered a fierce and successful assault against the heights to the west of Hainlingtun and the high ground to the west of Shoushanpao. It pierced the Russian lines and probably later forced the retirement of the Russian troops from their position on the right and centre. Marquis Oyama telegraphs that his losses in these assaults were heavy. It is believed here that Gen. Kuropatkin has been sweepingly defeated and that possession of Liaoyang is a matter of hours. Gen. Kuroki's casualties from Aug. 24 to 28 amounted to 2,255. The other casualties have not been reported.

Fierce Fighting Thursday.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1.—(1.26 a. m.)—Up to the hour of filing this despatch the War Office has not given out the details of the fighting of Sept. 1, but it is believed that this fighting exceeded in fierceness that of any previous day.

The Most Important News.

Mukden, Sept. 2.—The train service between Mukden and Liaoyang is interrupted. The roads are impassable.

London, Sept. 2.—This morning's newspapers comment upon the Associated Press despatch from Mukden, saying that the train service between Mukden and Liaoyang is interrupted, and that the roads are impassable, as the most important news from the Far East, and say that the only meaning of it is that the Japanese have seized the railroad between Liaoyang and Mukden.

Japs Lose 10,000.

Tokio, Sept. 2.—The Japanese left began pressing the Russians toward Taisho at dawn this (Friday) morning. The Japanese right is engaged in the neighborhood of Halyingtai. The Japanese casualties since Aug. 29 are officially estimated at 10,000.

Japs Will Rely on Gunboats.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 2.—A correspondent of the Associated Press at Vladivostock telegraphs that the Japanese are relying on the aid of the gunboat flotilla for future operations against Liaoyang and Mukden. The gunboats, the correspondent says, have not yet materialized, but in any case they would be in no position to render aid to a force on the right bank in time of need, because they would be unable to run the gauntlet of the forts at Liaoyang. The strongest forts are situated on the right bank, where the Russian army is now concentrated.

All Fighting Records Beaten.

The fighting at Liaoyang has beaten all records for the desperate valor of the assailants and the invincible stubbornness of the defenders. The whole history of the warfare tells of no such bombardments, no such carnage and no such persistency. Day after day the fight has been resumed at daybreak and kept up with scarce a moment's intermission until after nightfall.

The Japanese have invented new methods to incinerate the heaps of dead comrades, removing the ashes for the honors of burial in Japan. The wounded present a most serious problem, as they tax the transport capacity on either side to the utmost.

POPULAR JAP ESTIMATES.

That Port Arthur Will Fall to Them Last Week of September.

Tokio, Sept. 2.—Popular estimates of the date of the fall of Port Arthur incline to the last week in September.

Attack of Aug. 27.

Che Foo, Sept. 2.—Severe fighting occurred at Port Arthur Aug. 27, when the Japanese, moving from Shuishiying, attempted to capture Palungshan, which is south of Shuishiying and west of the railway. The Japanese made two assaults between 4 and 8 o'clock in the morning. They were repulsed both times. A prisoner, subsequently taken, places their loss at 1,045 killed and wounded. For one hour afterward shells were thrown from Shuishiying into Port Arthur.

The above information was brought here Wednesday by a Chinaman who speaks excellent Russian and who was employed at the police station in Port Arthur, which place he left in the evening of Aug 29. He adds that up to his departure no further attack had been made by the Japanese on Palungshan. He confirms previous reports that the Russians had re-occupied Itshan, where there has been but little fighting recently.

JAPANESE FOLLOW UP RETREATING RUSSIANS

Russian Retirement Across Taitse River Became a Rout—The City of Liaoyang in Flames.

(Special G. N. W. Dispatch to the Examiner.)

Tokio, Sept. 2.—The chief of the centre Japanese army, "Gen Nodzus" telegraphing early this morning reported that the Japanese centre was continuing to advance to-day with the object of taking a line from Shinchigen to Lio Yang and effecting a rejunction with the Japanese left, commanded by Gen Oku.

Tokio, Sept. 2, 10 a.m.—The Japanese forces have followed up the retreat of the army of Gen. Kuropatkin from Liao Yang and have seized and used Russian guns left there. According to news this morning, the Russian retreat, when the army was crossing the Taitse river, became a movement of great confusion, owing to the Japanese gun fire from their rear. At dawn to-day the Japanese on the left side of the Taitse river pressed forward toward the river bank, while Kuroki's forces on the right bank engaged the Russians in the neighbourhood of Hei Ying Tai.

Tokio, Sept. 2.—It is reported that the city of Liao Yang is in flames. If the report is true it is probable the Russians before retiring over the Taitse river, put the city to the torch to prevent the Japanese from obtaining the stores left behind.

Tokio, Sept. 2, 10 a.m.—Field Marshall Oyama's right attacked a heavy force of Russians in the vicinity of Leiyingtse, twelve miles north east of Liao Yang, at eleven o'clock Thursday. His left began at dawn to-day pressing the Russians toward Letzho. It is thought that he will severely punish the Russians. The Japanese casualties in the Liao Yang engagement will not exceed 10,000.

At 4.30 Aug. 31 the Japanese attacked Fort No. 6, on the northeast portion of the right flank. This fort is a new and strong one. After three hours' fierce fighting, during which the Japanese endured a cross fire from Fort No. 2, the Japanese succeeded in entering the fort. When the Russians were safely away from Fort No. 6, the Japanese flag waved over it, several forts concentrated their fire on it, but the Japanese were compelled to retire.

Heavy fighting was heard by the Chinese on the night of Aug. 29.

Can't Find the Steamers.

London, Sept. 2.—The British cruisers of the Cape of Good Hope squadron have failed thus far to communicate with the Russian volunteer fleet steamers Smolensk and St. Petersburg, although Admiral Durnford's cruisers are constantly calling by wireless telegraphy, "Smolensk" and "St. Petersburg." The Russian commanders, it is asserted, may suspect this procedure to be a part of a plan of the Japanese to lure them within reach of their guns.

Warships at the Canaries.

Madrid, Sept. 2.—A telegram from Las Palmas, Canary Islands, announces that the military governor has received news of the arrival at Lanserote Island (the most northeasterly of the Canary Islands) of several warships flying the Russian flag. The telegram says that the vessels coaled from steamers which were waiting there.

Miss Alice Bailey, of Atlanta, Ga., tells how she was permanently cured of inflammation of the ovaries, and escaped the surgeon's knife, by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The universal indications of the approach of woman's great enemy, inflammation and disease of the ovaries, are a dull throbbing pain, accompanied by a sense of tenderness and heat low down in the side, with occasional shooting pains. On examination it may be found that the region of pain will show some swelling. This is the first stage of inflammation of the ovaries.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to express my gratitude for the restored health and happiness Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought into my life.

"I had suffered for three years with terrible pains at the time of menstruation, and did not know what the trouble was until the doctor pronounced it inflammation of the ovaries, and proposed an operation.

"I felt so weak and sick that I felt sure that I could not survive the ordeal, and so I told him that I would not undergo it. The following week I read an advertisement in the paper of your Vegetable Compound in such an emergency, and so I decided to try it. Great was my joy to find that I actually improved after taking two bottles, so I kept taking it for ten weeks, and at the end of that time I was cured. I had gained eighteen pounds and was in excellent health, and am now.

"You surely deserve great success, and you have my very best wishes."—MISS ALICE BAILEY, 50 North Boulevard, Atlanta, Ga.

Another woman saved from a surgical operation by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Read what she says:—

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot thank you enough for what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. If it had not been for your medicine, I think I would have died.

"I will tell you how I suffered. I could hardly walk, was unable to sleep or eat. Menstruation was irregular. At last I had to stay in my bed, and flowed so badly that they sent for a doctor, who said I had inflammation of the ovaries, and must go through an operation, as no medicine could help me, but I could not do that.

"I received a little book of yours, and after reading it, I concluded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am now a well woman. I shall praise your medicine as long as I live, and also recommend the same to anyone suffering as I was."—MRS. MINNIE OTTOSON, Otho, Iowa.

All sick women would be wise if they would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and be well.

WOLOLEN MILLS AND THE PREFERENCE.

When a political party is influenced by principle, it is able to present a comparatively solid front and to maintain a fairly consistent attitude, but when it is governed by considerations of expediency, sooner or later its members must get at loggerheads. The Conservative party, of which Mr. Kendry is so proud and which can, to his mind, do nothing wrong politically, has been upholding and applauding Mr. Joseph Chamberlain in his efforts to fix upon Great Britain a sort of policy antagonistic to the high protection policy which the Conservatives want to fasten upon Canada. That this conduct is hypocritical and inconsistent doesn't seem to trouble them very much. When, however, a representative Conservative comes out flat-footed against the Chamberlain policy it is time for the Conservatives to consider where they are at, and how such a defection, hardly confined to one individual, can be made to dovetail with the idea of party solidarity in the matter of policy which Conservatives are so fond of boasting. Mr. James Kendry, of Peterborough, while a "member in good standing" of the Conservative party, evidently permits considerations of personal and business advantages to overcome the loyalty to his party, he is expected to show. While his party has been frantically embracing the Chamberlain policy for the sake of showing their affection for, and interest in, Imperial consolidation, Mr. Kendry is thus talking, in an interview with the Toronto News:—

"Mr. Kendry wished it distinctly understood that he was opposed to the preferential policy advanced by Mr. Chamberlain in every particular and said that as he understood it, the policy was briefly that the manufacturing should be done in England and that Canada should grow the wheat."

Of course Mr. Kendry denounces the preference given by the Liberal Government to British goods. He is quite willing to "keep both hands" on the flag and wave it on general principles, but he must have a tariff that will throttle British manufacturers, and give Canadian woollen men the monopoly of the Canadian market.

There seems to be a considerable distinction between a monopoly and reasonable protection. The Canadian woollen industry has now, against British woollen goods, a protection of 23 per cent. But Mr. Kendry and his associates are not satisfied with this. It does not absolutely shut out British woollens and it actually permits the Canadian consumer to purchase goods at a cheaper price. Mr. Kendry and his friends don't want protection; they seem to want monopoly—a tariff that will shut out British goods, that are worn by the Canadian people of ordinary means. The present tariff is high enough to protect the Canadian manufacturers of woollen goods of higher grade. Mr. Kendry says his woollen mills are running steadily because "they make only high grade goods, for which there is a better market than for the cheaper lines." That's a branch of woollen manufacture which the British preference has not "practically ruined." If there is a "better demand" for high grade woollens and he is now manufacturing them successfully why not keep at it. He can pay better wages and compete with the British in high grade goods. Let him then leave the making of the cheaper goods to the British maker and the people in Canada who have to buy the cheaper class of goods will get the benefit.

The Canadian woollen manufacturing industry is better off under the present tariff than it was under the Foster tariff. At least that is the opinion of Mr. Jonathan Hodgson senior partner in the wholesale dry goods house of Hodgson Sumner & Co., Montreal. He says that the Foster tariff induced over-competition a loss of profits and that many woolen mills under that tariff succumbed to the pressure induced by over-competition and stock watering and adds that we should guard against a repetition of these evils. Mr. Hodgson knows so much about the subject and speaks so frankly that it is worth while giving more fully what he says. Speaking to a reporter, Mr. Hodgson, who has for many years been largely interested in woollen manufacturing concerns, said that the present tariff affords ample protection for all woollen industries that are properly managed and that possess ample capital. The trouble with too many Canadian mills was, he said, that they were devoted to the making of low grade goods, on which the profit is small and the competition keen. The tariff gives all the protection that could be expected if mills were confined to specialties, if they are properly equipped with modern machinery, and if they have plenty of capital. He went on and instanced the Paton Mills at Sherbrooke:—

"Under the high tariff of the Conservatives in the early nineties the $100 shares of this company were selling as low as $12.50. To-day the company are paying a six per cent. dividend and improving their position steadily. In the case of the Almonte woollen mills, in which I am also interested, experience justifies the same conclusion. The concern is prospering because it is devoted to special lines, which it is thus enabled to produce at the minimum of cost. Were the tariff any higher I should be disposed to sell my woollen shares, for we would have the experience of former years repeated—over-competition and loss of profits. It is well to remember that under the Foster tariff many woollen mills succumbed to the pressure induced by competition and stock-watering. We should guard against any repetition of these evils."

Mr. Kendry in the main confirms what Mr. Hodgson says. The Auburn woollen mills are "running steadily because, as Mr. Kendry explains they make only high grade goods for which there is a better market than for the cheaper lines."

To suit some woollen manufacturers a tariff is wanted so high that no matter in how shiftshod a manner woollen mills are run, the people will have to pay high enough taxes to keep its mills in operation and bring dividends to the owners.

ECCLESIASTICAL CRISIS IN SCOTLAND.

Scotland suddenly finds itself in a graver ecclesiastical crisis than it has known since 1843, the memorable year of what is termed the disruption, and the crisis is as pathetic as it is grave. The body that till four years ago was known as the Free Church of Scotland had served nobly the cause of religion at home and abroad. It had been born amid the usual sneers. Men said that the ministers loved their assured stipends and their comfortable manses too well to obey what they vaunted as their consciences. A philosopher exhorted the impassioned divines and their heedless supporters not to be "martyrs by mistake." A leading Minister of the Crown believed the informant who told him that the ministers would not go out, and was surprised to find that the men he had expected to be cowards turned out to be heroes whose act made one of the coolest and most capable Scotsmen of the day exclaim "I am proud of my country." And if ever any church proved worthy of her heroic birth the Free Church of Scotland did. "Wisdom was justified of her children." The religious zeal of the country was more than doubled; a new church and manse were built in every parish; new missions were established in India and elsewhere, the educational agencies of the country were enormously increased, new colleges were founded, one being so equipped as to purpose to become a new University. And the Church was a learned as well as a zealous body, produced scholars of distinction and a change that could be described as, on the average, the best educated in Christendom. It stood for a peculiarly active type of evangelical religion—a type that was in Scotland distinctively national and historical, and neither Highland nor Lowland. And as a Church it had made for unity amid the much divided and pugnacious Presbyterians of the North. One of its acts in this direction was to reconcile to its larger being the body which Dr. Thomas McCrie so long and so honourably represented. Later it had incorporated the church which claimed to embody the ideal of Richard Cameron, and which had done so much to enrich Scottish character even while laboriously striving to help its people, apart from the national civil life. The last of its good deeds in this direction was done in 1900, when by union with the United Presbyterian Church a long step was taken towards healing the divisions of the past, it has been doomed to suffer at the hands of the highest judicial authority a wound which would have proved fatal had the body been less robust and lived amid a less robust people.

The remarkable feature in the situation is the serenity with which the United Free Church has received the judicial decision of the House of Lords. The circular the authorities have issued is as remarkable for its grace and courtesy as for its strength. It contains no word that can offend the most fastidious believer in legal infallibility, but it is quite clear as to the duty of obeying conscience at whatever cost. The colleges which were built up were remarkable alike as seats of light, and learning. In them had taught men with the massive mind of Principal Cunningham, the rich learning and genial spirit of Rabbi Duncan, the fine enthusiasm for Semitic knowledge and poetic insight of A. B. Davidson, the vivacity and encyclopaedic science of Robertson Smith, the elaborate and courteous scholarship of Patrick Fairbairn, the delicacy and geniality of thought of Henry Drummond, the critical sagacity and intellectual force of A. B. Bruce, and in them teach today men as well known and as influential as these in the region of theological thought and religious learning. To see these men abolished and their places attempted to be taken by men like the Moderator of the Free Church may be justified by a decision of impossible law, but it is too contrary to statesmanship and even to common sense to be tolerable in a country so devoted to education and religion as Scotland. The Church that suffers does not suffer alone; the nation suffers with it; and the Scottish people have had hitherto too much feeling for the reality of things to respect a legality which is a glaring outrage upon good and moral feeling.

WHAT A WOMAN COULD DO WITH SIX COWS.

We estimate that a cow to be profitable should give 6,000 lbs. of milk of average quality, or make 250 lbs. of butter during the year, It is fair to say that a cow may be kept well on $35 a year. This amount includes $1.00 a month per head for pasture. The food cost of keeping six cows is $210. We have five or six ways of disposing of the product of the cow, and it remains with the woman who has the six cows to choose the one most adapted to her locality, circumstances or home conditions. If near a thriving town or city, she might sell the whole milk or cream. If farther in the country, but near a good market or railway station, she might make butter or cheese, while if more isolated, add a cheese, butter or condensed-milk factory be in the neighbourhood, then send the milk to it. The main thing is to have plenty of milk of good quality, then the judicious disposing of it, no matter in what form, will bring the profit on the right side.

If milk is sold by the quart it now usually brings six cents per quart. We will allow three cents of this to go for expenses. 39,327 pounds of milk at three cents per quart,—$471.84. Subtract $210, cost of of food, and we have left as profit $261.84.

If it is more convenient to dispose of the cream, taking a cream testing 20 per cent. butter-fat, and selling it at twenty cents per quart, we would have $534.80. It is hard to estimate the cost of labour in securing the cream, but we will say $100, which leaves $224.80 as profit, after deducting cost of food.

Making the milk up into butter and getting an average price of 20 cents per pound, would bring in, after deducting cost of food, $109.20. In the latter case, all the skim milk and butter milk is left on the farm, and besides offsetting the labour part of the question, should materially help the financial part, for pig and poultry raising should be no small branch of the dairy industry. Then we must not forget the increase to the herd in the form of good calves, and also the fertilizing value of the manure.

Making cheese is carried on usually only part of the year, so I have not estimated the profit from it. In selling milk to a factory, the price differs so greatly with the season and district that I cannot compute the gain, but, taking one year with another, I think there is no better way of disposing of the milk, and it certainly relieves the woman of a lot of hard work on the farm.

I have not taken into consideration the capital invested, or the losses which always occur, but I do think it possible to secure a profit of from $30 to $50 apiece from cows which are properly fed and well cared for.—Laura Rose in September 1st, "Farmer's Advocate."

Kept Poor by Doctor's Bills.

Many a family is kept poor by doctors' bills when just as good and oftentimes better results could be obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills which sell at 25 cents a box of twenty-five doses. As one pill a day is the most frequent dose under any circumstances there is no treatment obtainable which costs so little and at the same time none which brings about such excellent results in derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels.

IN FRONT OF BORDEN.

"Behind Borden," as the Gazette so aptly phrases it,, are, says the Montreal Herald, the scattered remnants of the Conservative party, eager, no doubt, but utterly without leading other than he can himself find the time to give them.

But in front of Borden, what?

A Prime Minister whose personal prestige has had but one equal in Canadian history.

A Cabinet of strong men, any one of whom is a fair match for himself in ability.

A Government with a great record of legislation and administration.

A political prospect which brings him no hope from any quarter except Ontario, and there he stands to lose rather than to gain.

All that is in front of him when he looks to the side of his opponents. When he looks to the side of his friends, the prospect is not much brighter.

His tariff policy, which he refuses to define beyond the one word "adequate," is suspected by his followers in the West and some of the more powerful of them in the East. Certain manufacturers fear he will not make a tariff high enough to suit their demands; the West fears a tariff so high as to arrest progress, as the Foster tariff did.

His government ownership railway policy is repudiated by the most influential Conservatives, and nowhere gets more than a half-hearted support.

He goes into this election handicapped as never political leader was. Whether he looks in front, or whether he looks behind, there is nothing opt of which he can take comfort.

The most he can hope for is to be continued as head of the Opposition for four years more, during which period something may turn up.

PERILS OF A SUBMARINE.

The perils of the new submarine vessel are illustrated by an adventure of the torpedo boat Porpoise, in charge of Lieut. Charles P. Nelson, and a crew of eight men, recently at Newport, R. I. It was the intention on putting off to sea, to submerge the boat to a depth of twenty feet. Instead of stopping at twenty feet, however, the Porpoise despite all the efforts of the crew, kept on descending until it rested upon the bottom, 120 feet below the surface. Realizing that something serious was the matter, Lieutenant Nelson and his men set to work to force out the water in the submerging tanks, but when the valves provided for this purpose were opened, the pressure was so great that valves and pipes burst and became useless. In a moment or two it was discovered that water was seeping into the boat, coming in through the water tubes and through the seams in the sides. It was absolutely necessary to get the water out of the trimming tanks, and the only thing left to do was to use air pumps worked by hand. Pressure, that should have sent the boat at a normal status of flotation, upwards at the rate of 120 feet in a quarter of a minute, was brought upon the tanks, but the Porpoise refused to budge, and still the water forced its way through tube and seam. Greater efforts were put forth, and finally, after forty-five minutes of heavy work through what must have been horror unspeakable, buoyancy was noted. The boat began to rise, and, after passing the zone of heavy pressure, soon came to the surface. When she reached air and light, there were fifteen inches of water in the vessel water that for nearly an hour had been creeping around the feet of the crew, threatening them with one of the most terrible deaths the imagination can conceive. No possible escape offered itself, except by raising the boat, since to have opened the conning tower would have meant instant drowning.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, but by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Views and Comments on Appointment of Earl Grey.

THE NEWS' DISCORDANT NOTE

High Praise From the London Times.—Varied Estimates of the New Governor-General's Qualifications and Opportunities in the Greatest of the Self-Governing Colonies—King Approves.

London, Sept. 2.—King Edward has approved the appointment of Earl Grey as Governor-General of Canada, in succession to the Earl of Minto.

The Daily Chronicle, referring to the appointment of Earl Grey to succeed the Earl of Minto, says that in all Imperial problems he has a keen interest and his practical experience as Administrator of Rhodesia in its early days enables him to understand the colonial point of view. By rank, integrity and knowledge of affairs and devotion to the public welfare Earl Grey is thoroughly qualified for the great task imposed on him. Canada will be pleased with her new Governor-General.

The Daily News says the appointment of Earl Grey is another indication of the hold South African influences have obtained over the Government. As an administrator he will find himself pretty closely tethered, but, unfortunately for the Empire the Canadian constitution is not entirely proof against opportunities for mischief-making and as a jingo and a Chamberlainite Earl Grey may be trusted to make the most of them. "Short of the appointment of Lord Milner, we cannot imagine a selection more entirely disadvantageous to the Empire."

The Standard says: "We may assume that Earl Grey will go to his duties with that inborn capacity for managing men which must always be the most valuable asset of anyone on whom falls the lot of representing the Crown in the great self-governing colony. He may be taken as the typical representative of that cautious type of aristocratic politician which by no means opposed to extensions of the franchise has no sympathy whatever with surrenders to violent agitation. Such a disposition should prove of much service in Canada when delicate questions of constitutional propriety comes before him for review.

The Times says: Earl Grey combines the essential qualities of success; an earnest belief in the Empire and an eminently conciliatory temper. He will hold the balance between parties and we doubt not will be able to maintain with firmness the position he, as representative of the Crown, is bound to maintain. He will be liked by French-Canadians as well as by English and will maintain cordial relations with the United States, while at the same time he will know how to treat those petulant demonstrations of a separatistic spirit which now and then in a few obscure quarters claim a certain notice. His African experience will lead him to look with sympathy on the expansion of the Northwest. He has what the professed politician often lacks—the gift of imagination necessary in the case of regions as large as the States ready for the plough. No problem will more appeal to Earl Grey's mind than the development of Canada as a field for British immigrants.

Chamberlainism Denounced.

London, Sept. 2.—Allan Bright, M. P., speaking at the Liberal Association meeting at Tarporley said it was not only protection they had to fight, but Chamberlainism, which was far worse. Chamberlainism meant Imperialism, and Imperialism meant at home and abroad the exaltation and domination of the strong crushing the weak, the reign of brute force and the sacrifice of right.

Will of Late J.J. Long.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Although the solicitors for the estate of the late J. J. Long decline to give any information, it is said that the will disposes of an estate of from one to one and one-half millions. The executors are Thomas Long and J. M. Hopkins, bookkeeper for the firm for a great many years.

Preparing For Triennial.

Buffalo, Sept. 2.—At yesterday's session of the executive committee of the International Sunday School Association much of the time was taken up in framing plans for the triennial convention of the association, which is to be held at Toronto in July next.

Mother Also Succumbs.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Yesterday morning Mrs. Robert Funnell died from the burns and shock received in the accident at her home, 22 Mansfield avenue, on Monday night. Six children, the eldest aged 16, are left motherless.

Scores Phenomenally High.

Ottawa Rifle Range, Sept. 2.—The shooting yesterday in the first and second stage of the Governor-General's match was phenomenally high. Capt. Forrest, who made the top score, receives a D. A. R. silver medal.

Unknown Man Killed.

Port Arthur, Sept. 2.—The mangled remains of a man were found on the track at Murillo yesterday morning. There was found in his pocket $1.90, but nothing by which identification could be established.

Shot Through Heart.

Maxwell, Sept. 2.—Sandford Clemis, son of Robert Clemis, was found dead Wednesday near his home, shot through the heart. It is not known how it occurred, but it is thought to be a case of suicide.

French Business Men Present Address to Archbishop.

ON HIS VISIT TO THE CHAMBRE

Friends of All England Spends Busy Day in Montreal—The Business Men's Address Congratulated Country Upon Institutions Which Preserved the Amity of the Races—The Archbishop's Reply.

Montreal, Sept. 2.—Yesterday, after a call at the flower show, the Archbishop of Canterbury, accompanied by J. Pierpont Morgan, Sir George Drummond, Bishop Carmichael, President George E. Drummond of the Board of Trade and others paid a short visit to the Bank of Montreal, where they were received by General Manager Clouston. There the most interesting incident of the day took place.

His Grace arrived in the Chambre de Commerce, where the leading French-Canadian business men had gathered. These Roman Catholic gentlemen delighted the head of the Church of England with the following address, read by President H. A. A. Brault: "The Chambre de Commerce is happy to unite with your flock and the citizens of Canada to tender to Your Grace our profound respects and our most sincere thanks for the honor of a well-appreciated visit to our chambre. Will Your Grace allow me to say that although we French-Canadians do not belong to your own faith, we believe in the one God, who wishes all His people to live in peace. You well understand His command and the broadness of your mind, of which you have given proofs, not later than a few days ago, when, in Quebec, you extolled the virtues and heroism of our missionaries, as well as those of the men of your own race. You are welcome among us, and may God preserve you and when you return home will Your Grace assure His Majesty our King of the good results which the liberal institutions under which we live have obtained for this country and for the different races of our dear Dominion."

His Grace in reply said that he heartily thanked the members of the Chambre de Commerce for their very kind words, spoken through their president. This reception would live long in his memory as one of the most welcome features of his visit to Canada, and above all he prayed that God would bless the Dominion and its people, and it was his earnest prayer that all would live in harmony and peace.

The City Hall and Board of Trade were likewise visited, also Notre Dame Church, where the Rev. Sons of St. Sulphice cordially welcomed the Archbishop and his friends.

The party lunched at Sir George Drummond's.

Closed With Service.

The day's proceedings closed with a most impressive service at the English Cathedral, when the Archbishop delivered a very imposing address. His grace alluded to the fact that it was a strange thing to be 3,000 miles from home, but he met them here in their own field of work and could have a better appreciation of their labors. He also referred to the great resources and possibilities of Canada, which formed a support for the Empire and spoke of the great influence that the Church of England had in connection with the future of the Dominion.

Of Use Every Day.

Once you become acquainted with the merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment and the scores of ways in which it is useful in every home, you would not think of being without it. Eczema, salt rheum, scald head, tetter, chafting, chilblains, burns, scalds and every form of skin irritation and eruption soon yield to its extraordinary soothing, healing influence.

CROP ESTIMATES.

Dominion Millers' Association Pessimistic About Ontario's Wheat.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—The annual meeting of the Dominion Millers' Association, held in the Board of Trade Council Chamber yesterday afternoon, brought together about 75 members from all over the Province, and furnished an occasion for a general airing of pessimistic views regarding Ontario's crop outlook.

"The highest individual estimates given by any member of the 24 who have reported," said Mr. Shaw, "figures on three-quarters of a crop. Several went on but one-quarter, while most reports are on a basis of one-third."

Hedley Shaw President.

The election of officers for 1904 resulted: President, Hedley Shaw, Toronto; first vice-president, George Goldie, Ayr; second vice-president, S. W. Vogan, Walkerton; treasurer, William Galbraith, Toronto; Secretary, C. B. Watts, Toronto. W. B. Bailey (Hamilton), H. Barrett (Port Hope), J. I. A. Hunt (Toronto), M. M. Laughlin (Toronto), and H. N. Rice (St. Mary's), were chosen members of the executive.

On adjournment the members went to the fair grounds, where they were entertained by the directors.

RECEIVED LAST RITES.

Mr. Blanchet, M.P., Was Taken From Grand Trunk Wreck Alive.

Richmond, Sept. 2.—Two bodies of Grand Trunk wreck victims yet remain unidentified. The man Bisson, who was supposed to be from Belcell, is apparently from La France, Mass., or Manchester.

Mr. Blanchet, M.P., when taken out of the wreck was still alive. He was attended by a priest who, while he lay on the grass near the wreck, gave him the last rites of the church. He was conscious for about five minutes.

The people of Richmond have done all they can to render aid to the injured. It is a peculiar fact that no women were killed.

While everyone appears to blame Conductor Atkinson it should be said that he has for years been considered one of the company's most careful and experienced conductors.

Official Statement.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 2.—Grand Trunk officials are emphatic in their declarations that the fact that two trains running to Richmond from almost opposite directions were both numbered alike, did not contribute in the slightest degree to the accident.

Wash greasy dishes, pots or pans with Lever's Dry Soap a powder. It will remove the grease with the greatest ease. 26

Bacon—Cumberland cut, strong, 46s; long clear middles, light, strong, 46s 6d; clear middles, heavy, firm, 47s 0d; short clear backs, steady, 44s; short ribs, strong, 48s 6d. Lard—Prime western, in tierces, steady, 35s. Turpentine spirits, steady, 40s 9d.

NEW YORK DAIRY MARKET.

New York, Sept. 1.—Butter—Firm, unchanged; Receipts, 6588. Cheese—Quiet, unchanged; receipts, 3560. Eggs—Firmer; receipts, 6232; State, Pennsylvania and nearby fancy selected, white, 26c to 27.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Steady—Montreal Dull, With No Good Cattle Offering.

London, Sept. 1.—Cattle are steady at 10½c to 12¼c per lb.; refrigerator beef, 10¼c to 10½c per lb. Sheep, 10½c to 12½c, dressed weight.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Deliveries of live stock were large, 133 car loads, composed of 2000 cattle, 3986 sheep and lambs, 1000 hogs, and 100 calves.

In the shipping class of cattle, there was not a single good load of exporters at any price. There were a few odd lots picked out of some of the loads that sold for from $4.40 to $4.75.

As stated above, there were few good to choice lots offered, and for these the highest price quoted was $4.37½, which was paid by the Harris Abattoir Company. The other grades were much the same as on Tuesday, as will be seen by the sales quoted.

Deliveries of feeders and stockers were large. There were a few lots of good quality, and a large number of ill-bred mongrels from Eastern Ontario. The cattle of Ontario, judged by what is offered for sale on this market, are deteriorating during the past six years. It will be well for the Hon. John Dryden, minister of agriculture, to come and view the rubbish that is being offered on this market. Especially we would like him to see some of the bulls that have been used as sires, and are now being sold on this market at $1.75 per cwt.

There were a few lots of feeders, 800 to 900 pounds each, that sold at $3.50 to $3.75 per cwt; some medium, 700 to 800 pounds each, at $3.25 to $3.50, and common, 700 to 800 at $3.15 to $3.25.

Stockers, 500 pounds each, sold at $2.40 to $2.60, and some stock bulls at $1.80 to $1.75.

There were about 30 milch cows and springers offered, which sold from $30 to $51 each, the bulk going at $35 to $45 each.

Prices for veal calves have been firm all summer, with the exception of one or two markets. To-day they were firmer, as will be seen by the quotations of sales made.

The run was large but the demand was good, and notwithstanding the effort to lower prices, they were all wanted at quotations given below.

There was a fair delivery of hogs. Mr. Harris quotes selects at $5.80 and lights and fats at $5.25 per cwt.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Sept. 1.—100 cattle, 40 calves and 300 sheep and lambs were offered for sale at the east end abattoir to-day. Trade was very dull, there being very little demand for butchers' cattle, but calves were in more demand, but none of them were very good. The highest price paid for cattle was 4c per pound, but some of the best were held for more, and from that down to 1¾c per pound for a lot of hard-looking small bulls. Calves sold at $2.50 to $7.00. Sheep at 3c to 3½c per lb. Lambs sold at $2.50 to $4.00 each, or 4c to 4¾c per lb. Fat hogs sell at 5c to 5¾c per lb.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, Sept. 1.—Cattle—Receipts, 425 head; light demand; barely steady. Prime steers, $5.40 to $5.90; shipping, $4.65 to $5.25; butchers', $4.00 to $5.00; heifers, $3.50 to $4.75; cows, $2.75 to $4.25; bulls, $2.50 to $4.00; stockers and feeders, $2.75 to $3.85.

Veals—Receipts, 450 head; steady; $4.50 to $8.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 2800 head; active and steady; unchanged.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 2000 head; sheep steady; lambs 10c to 15c higher; lambs, $4.75 to $4.75; yearlings, $4.00 to $4.75; wethers, $4.25 to $4.50; ewes, $3.75; sheep, mixed, $2.00 to $4.00.

NEW YORK LIVE STOCK.

New York, Sept. 1.—Beeves—Receipts, 1078; no trade in live cattle. Nominally steady. Exports, 8 cattle.

Calves—Receipts, 270; steady to strong; veals, $8.50; tod calves, $5.00; buttermilks, $4.00; no westerns.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 3678; sheep quiet but steady; lambs slow but firm. Sheep, $3 to $4.25; culls, $1.50 to $2.50. Lambs, $5.25 to $7.00; culls, $5.00; Canada lambs, $6.85.

Hogs—Receipts, 1900; steady. Pennsylvania and state hogs, $6.00 to $6.25.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Madoc, Ont., Sept. 1.—Nine hundred boxes of cheese were boarded. All sold at 9⅝c.

Kingston, Ont., Sept. 1.—To-day 1060 boxes of cheese were boarded, and all the stock was cleared at 9c.

Tweed, Ont., Sept. 1.—Five hundred boxes cheese boarded here to-night. All sold at 9 1-16c.

Good Weather Needed.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 2.—A little warmer weather prevails, but it is unsettled and showery, though not at all prohibiting harvesting operations. Apparently there is no immediate danger of frost, the thermometer Wednesday night registering 34 at West Selkirk as the lowest point. But good weather is indispensable to save the bulk of the wheat crop.

700 Tinsmiths on Strike.

Philadelphia, Sept. 2.—Seven hundred tinsmiths and sheet metal workers struck here yesterday for an advance of five cents an hour. Fifty firms are affected by the strike.

Capt. A. E. Shaw's Duties.

Mr. E. S. Clarry has received a letter from Capt. A. E. Shaw, who about two months ago left Peterborough to accept a commission in the Northwest Mounted Police. Capt. Shaw, whose headquarters are at Regina, has been sent down to Wood Mountain, a settlement on the boundary between Montana and Assiniboia. There were a number of cases of horse stealing reported at this point and Capt. Shew with a detachment of men have been detailed to put a stop to the business. He will be there for a month or so, when he will return to his headquarters at Regina. Capt. Shaw likes his new duties very much and is well pleased with Western Canada life.

A MORNING FIRE AT ELECTRIC WORKS.

The Compounding Department Again Badly Gutted.

The Loss Will be Considerable—A Fierce Blaze While it Lasted—Loss Covered by Insurance.

This morning at 5 o'clock the ringing of the fire bell, coupled with the frantic, intermittent roar of the immense whistle of the Canadian General Electric Works aroused the citizens from their slumbers and called out the brigade to fight a fierce fire which threatened the destruction of the large building which contained the compounding department of the Canadian General Electric Works.

The Brigade responded promptly to the call, and on reaching the scene it was soon ascertained that a stiff fight was ahead of them as owing to the inflamable nature of the contents of the compounding department, the fire burned fiercely, and for a time baffled their best efforts in an attempt to extinguish it.

After an hour's fight the flames, which fortunately were confined to the compounding section, were finally subdued, but this portion of the structure was completely gutted and the contents destroyed.

The cause of the fire has not as yet been ascertained. It will be remembered that on another occasion, some years ago, this same department was badly gutted by fire. It is supposed, however, that the fire was the result of an explosion of some nature.

The officials have not as yet been able to estimate their loss, but it is understood it will amount to thousands of dollars. It is, however, pretty well covered by insurance.

About twenty-five hands will be thrown out of work, it is understood, for about a fortnight, when it is expected the interruption to the Company's operations in the burned department will be removed.

LETTER OF APPRECIATION.

Mr. E. G. Patterson Writes Concerning Prompt and Efficient Service of Fire Brigade.

September, 2nd, 1904.

The Examiner, Peterborough.

Gentlemen,—I desire on behalf of our Company to express our appreciation and thanks for the prompt and efficient services rendered by the local firemen at the fire in one of our buildings this morning; also to testify to the constant pressure maintained by the waterworks, which pressure is always maintained by them when a fire occurs.

I also desire to express on behalf of the Company our thanks to the kind friends and employees who assisted.

Yours truly,
E. G. PATTERSON,
General Superintendent,

USE OF FIRE ARMS AND SUNDAY QUOITS.

Two Evils the Police Intend to Stamp Out

Complaints have reached the police station from residents in different parts of the town regarding the use of firearms. This morning a complaint was received from Auburn at police headquarters, and frequent complaints have also been received from Jackson Park. The Chief wishes it understood that this is a serious violation of the law, and that the practice must cease, or trouble will surely follow.

Another complaint has also been lodged with the police. Young men, and older heads for that matter, gather on Sunday in Mayor Roger's field and indulge in playing quoits. This state of affairs must end or the police will swoop down on the culprits, so the Chief says.

Colour Sergt. W. H. Moore's High Aggregate Score.

Other Members of the 57th Regiment Who did Good Shooting.

Col.-Sergt. W. H. Moore of the 57th has shot himself into the running for selection for the Bisley team. In the Bisley aggregation, Sergt. Moore, compiled a score of 310 out of a possible 350 standing fifteenth on the list. The largest aggregate score was 316 and in the list of shots from whom the Bisley team was to be selected, there are about forty with lower standing than Sergt. Moore. He is to be congratulated on his steady shooting and should he be selected for Bisley he will, no doubt, make as steady and consistent a score as he has made at the Ontario and Dominion matches.

In the Governor General's match, P. C. Curtis scored 93 and Pte. G. Fitzgerald scored 98, by good shooting. In the Bisley Aggregate, Pte. Fitzgerald's score was 304.

SEPTEMBER WEDDING AT ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

Nuptials of Mr. John Beverley and Miss Edith Louise Pratley.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Luke's Church at five o'clock Thursday afternoon in the presence of a large number of guests and friends, when Edith Louise, eldest daughter of Mr. Geo. Pratley, of town, was united in wedlock to Mr. John Beverley, of Lawrence, Mass. The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, M.A., while the wedding march was capably rendered by Mr. John Armstrong.

The ushers for the occasion were Messrs. Henry Potter and Edwin Curtis.

The bride, who was gowned in a costume of white silk muslin, trimmed with white baby ribbon, valenciennes lace and chiffon, and carried a bouquet of white roses, was given away by her father. The bridesmaid was Miss Mary Pratley, sister of the bride, and was gowned in a dress of champagne voile trimmed with blue ribbon and lace and she carried a bouquet of pink roses. Little Queenie McIntyre acted as flower girl and carried a basket of flowers. Mr. G. G. Pratley assisted the groom.

After the wedding ceremony the bridal party and guests were driven to the home of the bride's father, No. 155 River Road, where a sumptuous wedding supper was served. The tables were artistically decorated with flowers and smilax and the other decorations consisted of ferns and flowers.

The wedding presents formed a large and handsome array and were eloquent tributes to the estimation by friends, of the many excellent qualities of the bride and groom. About forty-five guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Beverley left on the midnight C.P.R. train for their new home in Lawrence, Mass., accompanied by the best wishes of their many friends.

SIX WEEKS TRIP TO PACIFIC COAST.

Mr. Adam Hall has Returned After a Delightful Trip.

Vancouver and Western Cities are all Booming—The Lumbering Trade—Rust Reports Exaggerated.

Mr. Adam Hall returned on Wednesday evening from a six weeks trip to Vancouver and the Pacific Coast. He was highly delighted with the trip and to an Examiner representative this morning, said, that to anyone contemplating an extensive holiday trip he would recommend a trip to the Coast; it was not only a pleasure outing but an education as well to see the vast extent of territory which Canada possesses in Manitoba and the North-west territories.

Mr. Hall left Peterborough in company with Mr. R. R. Hall, on July 16, and on the way out stopped over night at Banff and Revelstoke, and spent four days at Arrowhead where he visited the two saw mills owned by the Big Bend Lumber Company and the Arrowhead Lumber Company. Both mills were doing an extensive business in shipping lumber to the territories and Manitoba. Owing to the convenient situation on the Arrowhead Lake, they can cut and bring the logs into the mill-pond which is a natural harbour, and ship the lumber at a mere nominal cost. The C.P.R. has a track into the yards where there is everything convenient for shipping. They kiln-dry all lumber which reduces the rate of shipping which is expensive in that country.

The Big Bend Lumber Company is now cutting between seventy and seventy-five thousand feet of lumber daily, and the Arrowhead about sixty-five thousand feet. They have an excellent quality of cedar, tamarack and fir with more or less pine in all limits. The millwrights and lumber dealers generally complain of the unfair opposition they are experiencing from American lumbermen bending in low grade lumber and also finished lumber. The lumbermen object seriously to the Government allowing finished lumber to come in free of duty. The American lumbermen should either erect planers in this country and employ Canadian labour to do the planing here or pay a heavy duty on finished lumber coming into the country.

During his stay in Arrowhead, Mr. Hall was greatly pleased at the general outlook in the lumbering business. Everything seemed to be in a prosperous condition around the mills.

The Big Bend Company have a new tug running which will be of great service to them in towing logs and supplies to the camp. It is 110 feet long with a 20 foot beam and twin screw, with a capacity of carrying about three carloads of freight. It will also be found useful on the Arrowhead Lake for many purposes. Other lumbermen said to Mr. Hall that they could give the tug a large amount of work in towing logs and lumber up the lake to the wharf.

After leaving Arrow Head, Mr. Hall went to Vancouver, where he spent three weeks visiting his daughter, Mrs. W. E. Burns. Vancouver is a very busy city, doing a great shipping trade to foreign countries and up the North Shore. There is also a large number of buildings in course of construction, there being about two hundred residences and several stores being built at the present. The Northern Railway is preparing to erect a new station and freight sheds. Its trains are now running over the new Westminster Bridge which has recently been completed and is a magnificent structure. Vancouver has a population of about 25,000 and has a great future before it. "In my opinion," said Mr. Hall, "it will be the Montreal and Winnipeg of the Pacific Coast as a supply to all ports on the coast."

During his stay in Vancouver, Mr. Hall took a trip to Victoria. It is a beautiful city with fine residential buildings and an excellent harbor. It is more of a residential city than Vancouver, there being a large number of wealthy residents there.

On their return trip Mr. Hall stopped at several points of interest through the territories and Manitoba. The outcry of rust in the American papers was largely exaggerated. This year as well as all previous ones there has been more or less rust, but it is the general opinion that there will be more than an average crop of No. 1 Wheat. The only two places to really suffer are in the vicinity of Edmonton, where they have had a dry season and around Morden where the rust was more severe than in any other part owing to the land lying low and the fact that the grain was late in being sown.

Winnipeg is growing very fast and a large amount of building is going on in that city. There is apparently no great boom but the growth is a steady one and every person seems to be in good spirits as to the future of the city. Though the people were greatly alarmed about the rust rumors, the report brought in by the inspecting parties was so encouraging that they feel it is safe for another year. Property is still advancing in price in the city and all appear to have great confidence that the population will soon reach the 100,000 mark. At present the population is 70,000.

On the return trip from Winnipeg Mr. Hall stopped at Rat Portage, Sudbury, North Bay and other places all of which were prospering.

SUCCESSFUL SOCIAL.

In Aid of Womans Auxiliary of St. Lukes Church Last Evening.

A very successful ice cream social was held yesterday afternoon and evening at the residence of Mr. George Browning, Elizabeth street, East Ward. There was a large number present and the event was in every way a most enjoyable one. The proceeds which amounted to a handsome sum were in aid of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Luke's church. Mrs. Browning was assisted by Mrs. Frederick and Miss Browning.

THE LIFT LOCK GIVES SATISFACTION

Mr. Collingwood Schreiber Reports on the Undertaking.

Alleged Improper Working Due to Use of Wrong Valve by an Employde.

A despatch from Ottawa says:—Mr. Schreiber reports the new lift lock at Peterborough to be working satisfactorily. The alleged improper working of the lock which occurred some time ago was due to one of the employees opening the wrong valve and letting a vessel down suddenly. The Peterborough dam is progressing rapidly, and is expected to be complete in four weeks. The plans for the new lift lock at Kirkfield, on the Lake Simcoe section of the Trent Canal, are not quite ready, but the department hopes to finish them soon, and then tenders will be called for.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The Horicultural Society Appeals to the Citizens of the Town.

The next Horticultural Show will be in the Drill Shed on Thursday and Friday, 8th and 9th, September. It is intended to make it a great success but to effect this your help is required. Every year as you go to the show you say as you look at the specimens, well, I could beat this or that. Why didn't you? Why did you not send that specimen plant or root or vegetable? Now please help us this year? Send word to Mr. Beal the secretary and on the morning of the 8th a wagon will call for your exhibit and all the exhibits will be safely returned. The society is working for you; help us. Any plant, flower, root or vegetable that you think good send it; the result will astonish and you will have the pleasure of a good deed besides such prizes as you may win. There will be a band in the evening and a promenade concert.

FIVE KILLED IN RAILWAY ACCIDENT

C. P. R. Express Train Crashes Into a Freight With Terrible Results.

Open Switch the Cause—Accident Occurred East of Indian Head.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Winnipeg, Sept. 2.—A terrible accident took place to the Imperial limited on the C.P.R. at Sintaluta, one station east of Indian Head, last night. The express ran into an open switch and crashed into a freight train which was standing there. Five were killed and five were injured. They were all women and were travelling in the tourists car. Only one body has so far been identified that of Mrs. Dossett, who was en route to Edmonton. The Governor-General, Lady Minto and party were on the train in their official car, but they escaped without injury and proceeded westward.

TRIP OF 57TH REGT. TO BEAUTIFUL BARRIE.

The Boys in Red Will Leave To-night for Simcoe's Capital.

The 5th Regiment will leave this evening for Barrie, where they will spend three days as the guests of the citizens of the pretty little town on Kempenfeldt Bay.

Indications point to the fact that the regiment will muster this evening in good strength and leave the drill shed about 8.30, will entrain at the G.T.R. station and be in readiness to depart at nine o'clock. The regiment will return from Barrie Monday evening leaving that town at 9.30.

One enthusiastic member of the 57th Regiment was noticed on the streets early this morning with all the accoutrements, ready for the trip. He was under the impression that the regiment would leave this morning at nine o'clock and was somewhat surprised when he learned his mistake.

A Lindsay Burglary.

Burglars entered the residence of Mr. Rich. Kylie, Kent-street, early this morning and made soundry investigations. They entered the room where Mr. Kylie was sleeping and abstructed whatever loose change that was in his pants pockets. Mr. Kylie heard the intruder but thought it might possibly be some of the household astir. An entrance was effected through a down stairs window. The screen doors were propped open with sticks of wood and everything went to show that they were not amateurs in the business. Mr. Kylie found his pants out in the hallway this morning minus the cash. He says he does not mind the loss he sustained inasmuch that it will learn him to take more precaution as to the fastenings on the doors and windows.—Post.

A High Opinion.

Rev. Mark Guy Pearse, whose visit to Peterborough some time ago is still pleasantly remembered, is reported to have said on his return to England that in Canada or the United States he never saw on any table, or even in the dining-cars, or in the hotels, a glass of beer, wine or spirits. "I never saw a drunken man until I reached an English port. I was deeply impressed with the self-respecting bearing of the people. They walked with a firm step, as if they knew whose world it is, and felt that they had a share in it. It is to be feared that this testimony is to be taken as an evidence of the noted divine's own careful conduct during his visit to this continent, rather than of his capacity for observation.

GREAT AMBITION OF YOUNG MEN.

They Desire to be Developed Physically and to Enjoy Good Health

The Y. M. C. A. Provides Excellent Means to Accomplish This.

The prospectus of the Y.M.C.A. physical department is about ready for publication. The booklet contains several cuts of the building and the interesting features of the physical department and has been gotten up in neat form. The following are some extracts taken from it:—

One of the greatest ambitions that a young man has is to become strong and possessed of a goodly sized and symmetrical body. He wants to grow tall and broad, to have good muscles and an abundance of life and health. He delights to excel in the gymnasium, in playing foot-ball, base-ball and cricket, in running faster, jumping higher, in swimming further, than somebody else.

In building up successful young manhood, a secure foundation must first be laid, and that foundation must be a sound and healthy body.

No institution has recognized this fact so clearly as has the Young Men's Christian Association. And no institution is doing more for the all-round development of young men than is this.

Success is what the young man of today is looking for, and with a sound body the pathway is bright and cheerful; without it success is almost impossible.

Psychologists to-day tell us that there is an intimate relation between the mind and body—that a better body means a better mind, and vice versa.

The city life of to-day makes it impossible to get the exercise that our forefathers got on the farm, and in the field. The great majority of the people in our cities are unable to get proper exercise between the months of September and May, hence the need of the gymnasium.

The knowledge as to how to properly care for the body is becoming to be recognised as one of the greatest of sciences.

We have one of the best gymnasiums in Canada for its size, supplied with a complete equipment for the education of the body.—We also have a trained director at the head of the department.

Some of the benefits derived from work in the gymnasium are: Better appetite, greater ability to sleep, less nervousness, better general body tone, increase in size and strength of muscles formulies, and a general feeling that life is worth living.

Home Exercise.—Those who have not sufficient time here, or who wish to take additional exercise at home, will be advised by the Physical Director.

Physical Examinations.—Every gymnasium member has the privilege of having a thorough examination, including measurements, strength and endurance tests, examination of vital organs, also the recording of any abnormalities, such as flat chest, spinal curvature, round and uneven shoulders, weak parts, etc.

After this examination a prescription of exercise will be given if necessary to remedy such weak parts and abnormalities. Those who desire it may have an anthropometric chart made for them, showing their condition at the first examination and also their improved condition at the end of six months, when a second examination will be made.

The Boy.—It's the boy that makes the man. The greatest gain in height and girth are obtained between the ages of twelve and seventeen. The physical condition of man depends upon the training received in these years. Careful attention will be given to boys.

The Young Man.—From seventeen to twenty-five years of age, or through adolescence to maturity, he will receive such exercise and plays as will increase strength and endurance. Exercises of an educational value will appeal to him.

The Mature Man.—The bulwark of our cities is made up of the business and professional men, and to them we intend to pay especial attention. There are many of these who have never been in a gymnasium, and thus think they can do nothing. Games, drills and exercises will be given—something that every man can do and enjoy.

Games.—A basket-ball league will be formed and championship games held. We endeavour to play the game strictly in accordance with the rules, and any roughness or ungentlemanly conduct will not be allowed.

Baseball, Football, Cricket and Tennis Clubs will be organized if there is a merited demand.

Recreative Games.—In the evening classes various recreative games will be introduced, such as "The Elephant", "Pin Ball", "Indian Club Circle", "Three Tier Deep", "Bucking Bronobo", "Skin The Snake", "Pass Ball", and others.

Indoor Athletics.—This should be a very attractive feature. Such events as Pole Vaulting, High Jumping, Broad Jumping, 10 yard dashes, and Shot Putting will be participated in.

Team Contest Work.—Contests will be held in gymnastics, athletics, and games, at various times, for which prizes will be given to the winners.

Cross Country Running.—This is an an exhilirating sport, and will be indulged in in the fall and spring.

Fencing.—This class will be continued under the able leadership of Sergt.-Major Britain.

First Aid.—First aid will be taught the members of the Leader's Corps.

Wrestling and Tumbling.—The gymnasium is supplied with a special mat for those who are interested in wrestling and tumbling.

Swimming.—This is one of the most attractive features. Many members have learned the art of swimming, which is systematically taught.

Baths.—The bathing facilities are unsurpassed. Three showers, a needle, tub and plunge are amply supplied with hot and cold water.

Lockers.—The dressing rooms have 212 lockers for the use of the senior members. The boys and intermediates have a separate dressing and locker room with 100 lockers, at a rental of $1.00 per annum. Arrange for same at Secretary's office.

Costume.—The regular blue jersey, with white knickerbockers and rubber solid shoes, will be worn by men in classes.

The Leader's Corps.—This organization is indispensible in a well regulated physical department. A great deal depends upon these volunteer leaders, and, therefore, the training of such a body will receive special attention.

The Skating Rink last season on George Street Lot was much enjoyed by the boys and intermediates. It will be a feature this season and will start as soon as there is ice. A small fee will be charged as last year and it will be open to members only.

The Annual Boys' Camp will be held at Clear Lake in July, 1905.

Gymnasium Bible Study Club.—The Club will meet every Tuesday at 6.30 and take tea together in the "Mikado." Conducted by Mr. P. K. Holmes, Physical Director.

Men's Meetings.—Meetings for men only are held every Sunday, beginning September 11th, in Association Hall. Timely Talks by manly men and good Music will be the features.

LOCAL CLERGYMAN SEES BURIAL AT SEA

Rev. J. G. Lewis Experience on an Ocean Trip.

The Body of a French Artist Committed to the Deep—Dirge by Black Watch Band.

Rev. J. G. Lewis, pastor of Mark Street Methodist Church, was a passenger on the S. S. Canada, on its voyage across the Atlantic, arriving in Montreal on Friday. A touching incident occurred durin gthe voyage, which is referred to as follows in the Montreal Witness:—

"Among the passengers on the steamer Canada, which arrived in Port on Friday, were the members of the new company of French artists who will entertain Montrealers during the coming season. During the voyage one of the members of the troupe, Mr. Montvallier, died of appendicitis, and his burial at sea was the occasion of a touching scene. There was no Catholic priest on board, but Chief Justice Sir Alexandre Lacoste, assisted by Ald. Marchand, Mr. D. Leduc, K. C., Mr. Deslauriers and other Canadian passengers, read the prayers for the dead over the body, wrapped up in canvas and covered with the Union Jack, all the other passengers being present in reverential attitude. As the corpse was being launched into the sea the band of the Black Watch struck up the Dead March, and the scene was most impressive.

On the following day Mr. Heurion, leader of the theatrical troupe, addressed a letter to Bandmaster Murray, of the Black Watch, thanking him and his men for their kind and brotherly sympathy. Mr. Heurion said, among other things:—"Thanks to you, a French artist, wrapped in a British Flag, went into the sea at the sound of your famous harmony."

At the beginning of the voyage all the English passengers had sent their card to the French artists, with the words, 'Bonne entente," and at the end of the journey Mr. Deslauriers took up a subscription for the presentation of a leader's baton to Bandmaster Murray. The presentation was made by Mayor Urquhart of Toronto."

To School Pupils.

Pupils attending the public school should not purchase their school books until they see their teacher, as all public school pupils will get their school books supplied by the Board of Education free through A. H. Stratton & Co. High School and Separate School pupils will find complete stocks of everything in the line of school books and school supplies. As usual we do not forget the children and will have a present for them on opening days. Be sure and come to Stratton's for your books. A. H. Stratton & Co.

NINE WERE KILLED

Mr. Blanchet, M. P. for St. Hyacinthe, Among the Dead.

CONDUCTOR'S FATAL MISTAKE

Over a Score of People Injured in An Excursion Train Collision Near Richmond, Que.—Terrible Scenes at the Wreck—Passengers on Both Trains Killed—Excitement at the Grand Trunk Depot.

Montreal, Sept. 1.—At 11 o'clock yesterday morning express train No. 5, from Island Pond, westbound, met an excursion special from St. Hyacinthe, bound for Sherbrooke, one mile from Richmond. It was a head-on collision, while both trains were going at a high rate of speed. Nine at least were killed and 28 were injured, as far as can be learned up to this hour. The following is the list of killed and injured:

The Killed and Injured.

Killed—Fred Bowering, married, South Durham; F. H. Hackett, route agent Canadian Express Company, Montreal; unknown man from Baldoil; W. F. Mountain of Carter, Galbraith & Co., Montreal; boy named Dubord, supposed to be from Arthabaska; Ephraim Gaudat, St. Theodore; J. B. Blanchatt, M. P., St. Hyacinthe; Charles A. Simard, St. Hyacinthe; A. T. Richards, Lisgar.

Injured—L. F. Payon, married, St. Hyacinthe; A. Arsilla, single, St. Hyacinthe; Emerson Foe, married, St. Hyacinthe; O. Daigneault, single, Salem, Mass.; Allan McManus, Ulverton, Que.; Alex. Gauvit, single, St. Theodore; Edw. M. Gagnon, single, Montreal; Arch. Walker, Gore, Que.; J. A. Denault, single, broker, Montreal; Col. A. St. Denis, St. Hyacinthe; Ernest Richard, single, Lisgar, Que.; R. Paquette, single, Rougemont, Que.; Engineer Paquette, single, Rougemont, Que.; W. Lipton, single, Lisgar, Que.; Gordon Richard, single, South Durham, Que.; Joseph Tudeau, single, Upton, Que.; P. Deguire, single, Rougemont, Que.; Albert Gunter, married, South Durham, Que.; Charles Gunter, married, Lisgar; Felix Payette, road foreman, G.T.R., Montreal; U. Tousson, single, St. Theodore, Que.; Fay Webb, mail clerk, Richmond; Thomas E. Feeney, ex-manager, Montreal.

A special train with Drs. Wirthington, Lynch, Austin, Smith and Williams and nurses left the Grand Trunk station for the scene of the accident at 11.30. The injured have been moved to Richmond and located in the residences throughout the town. All of the available doctors in the district have been sent for. The scene at the wreck is reported to be horrifying, as friends had been separated by death and injury. The train with those most seriously injured will be brought to Sherbrooke. There is great excitement at the Grand Trunk depot, as many are waiting for friends who were coming out in the special and are uncertain as to whether they are among the injured or not. Mr. Egan of Island Pond, Vt., superintendent of the G. T. R. Island Pond division, and Mr. Holmes of Richmond, assistant superintendent, were both in Sherbrooke at the time and went out with the doctors' special.

The people on the wrecked train were from stations between St. Hyacinthe and Richmond.

Conductor Missed Orders.

Further details received late last night indicate that the accident was caused by the conductor of the eastbound special not waiting at Richmond until No. 5 passed. It is said that No. 5 was to cross the special at Richmond, but this was not done. It is thought the conductor of the special mistook another train for No. 5 and pulled out. The despatcher at Richmond, seeing what had occurred, tried to hail the conductor, who was on the rear platform, but his efforts were futile, and the train sped on to its destruction.

Train Takes His Life.

Clinton, Sept. 1.—A sad accident occurred here yesterday at the G.T.R. depot, when Brakeman McDermid was crushed to death while coupling cars. Death was instantaneous. McDeamid, who lives in Mitchell, is a young man about 32, and leaves a wife and one child to mourn his sad demise.

200 FAMILIES HOMELESS.

Widespread Destruction Caused By Forest Fires in Newfoundland.

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 1.—Forest fires have destroyed the Hamlet of Little Bay, and 800 families are homeless. Two men have been drowned.

The steamer Prospero has embarked the women and children.

The men are fighting the flames in an effort to prevent the destructive fires from covering a wider area.

The Government is providing food, shelter and other assistance to the destitute.

A despatch from St. John's, Aug. 16, said that renewed outbreaks of forest fires were causing widespread destruction throughout Newfoundland and that a number of settlers in different parts had been destroyed. It is estimated, the despatch said, that $20,000,000 worth of marketable timber had been destroyed in the interior this season.

Captain and Crew Drowned.

Aden, Arabia, Sept. 1.—A boat containing the captain and sixteen members of the crew who left the British steamer Baron Innerdale, which was ashore at the Kuria Muria Islands, capsized and all the occupants were drowned except one boy.

Will Visit the Fair.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury will, it is thought likely, visit the Canada National Exhibition in this city on Sept. 5.

THE "CLEAR GRIT."

The Platform as Published in The Globe in 1852 Interesting in View of Recent Newspaper Discussion.

Recently the daily papers of Toronto have been publishing the ancient history of 50 years ago, with a view doubtless of instructing young Canada of some of the political struggles of that bye-gone age. The articles of The World and News, though very interesting and non-partizan are two long for reproduction, and we content ourselves with one published in The Globe of July 8, 1852, which gives some idea of the political asperities of that period and which prints the entire "Clear-Grit" platform, as follows:

Meeting of Parliament.

Toronto Globe, July 8, 1852: The organs of the Government in this city announce that Parliament will meet for the despatch of business on the 19th August, and The North American (whose editor has just returned from the seat of Government) gives us the program of the session. The organ sets out with the information that as a large proportion of the members are new men, and "not accustomed to public speaking" (very complimentary from the organ!) the Ministry do not expect much trouble from them—but any quantity of that sort of thing may be anticipated from "George Brown for Upper Canada and Cauchon for Lower Canada." He then proceeds thus:

"Notwithstanding these prospects (from Cauchon and Brown—but what about Mackenzie? and what about J. Sanfield McDonald?—Ed. Globe) the session will no doubt be a short one." . . . .

And is this program to satisfy the Reformers of Upper Canada? Shall the first session of a Radical Parliament effect nothing more than this, towards remedying the crying evils under which—as we have been told for years by the men now in office and their friends—the country labors? . . . .

When Dr. Rolph and Malcolm Cameron joined the Ministry, their organs declared that Hincks & Co. came to Rolph & Co. We maintained that Rolph & Co. went to Hincks & Co.—that the policy of the new Government (except as to the division of the plunder) would be precisely that of the Baldwin Ministry in the scandalous scenes of the session of 1851. . . . And what do we find? . . . We know what the principles of Messrs. Cameron and Rolph and their adherents are. . . . The platform of the party is to the fore, and lest its character be forgotten we now republish it for The North American:

Clear Grit Platform.

I. Elective institutions from the highest office of the Government to the lowest. These we class as follows:

1. The election of our Government.
2. An elective Legislative Council.
3. Election of all local officers, by the County and Town Councils.

II. No property qualification for the representatives of the people.

III. Extension of the elective franchise to all householders and housekeepers.

IV. Vote by ballot.

V. Biennial and fixed Parliaments.

VI. No expenditure of public money without consent of Parliament.

VII. Retrenchment.

VIII. Reform in the representation based on population.

IX. No pension attached to any office.

X. Our commerce and intercourse with other nations placed entirely in our own power, leaving in the power of England nothing but the question of peace and war, and that under certain restrictions.

XI. Our Legislature to have power to alter or repeal any act or charter, Imperial or otherwise, affecting ourselves only, which the Imperial Government itself might alter or repeal.

Subjects for Immediate Legislation.

1. Law reform.
   Court of Chancery abolished.
   Simplification of law proceedings.
   Abolition of present monopoly of the legal profession.
2. Clergy reserves for education.
3. Abolition of rectories
4. Immediate repeal of all laws granting monies to, or conferring special privileges upon, religious bodies.

5-6. Speedy sale of public lands—cheap and for cash.

7. Free navigation of the St. Lawrence to all nations.

8. Abolition of primogeniture.

9. Improve agriculture by a judicious application of public grants.

10. Completion of . . . . public works. . . . .

11. Abolition of customs houses and duties on imports.

12. Amendment of the school law.

13. Establishment of a uniform decimal system.

Not one item of all this is recognized by the present Government. . . And yet the ultra-Radicals eat their leek, eulogize every act of the Administration and denounce as "Tories" and traitors to the Reform party all who doubt their progressive disposition.

Perry's Rising Score.

If King Edward does the right thing he will send Corporal Jack Graham of the R.N.W.M.P. $1,250, the same sum that he gave Private Perry of Vancouver. While Perry did some very good shooting, it cannot be compared to the score made by Graham. The latter was out with the police team yesterday, and at all the ranges made 98, or two more than Perry. He had a wonderful record up to the 1,000-yard mark, when one bad shot pulled his score down three points or he would have excelled Perry by five points. At 500 yards Graham made seven bullseyes, or a possible. At 200 yards he made 34, the inner shot being on the bullseye line.—Dawson City News.

TYING KNOTS IN JAPAN.

It Is a Serious Art, as a Mistake May Mean an Insult.

Like the arranging of flowers, the tying of knots has been carried to the point of a complex art by the Japanese. There is one way—one right way, that is—to knot the cord that confines a birthday or New Year's present. There is one way to tie the brocade bag of the tea jar when the latter is empty and another when it is full. Not only general ignorance of social customs but deadly insults may be communicated by the way a knot is tied, foreigners often making dreadful mistakes either through not knowing or from ignoring the niceties of knot etiquette.

Hooks and eyes, buttons and buckles are unknown so far as Japanese dress is concerned. They do not have much to fasten, but what they do have they fasten with cord. That is why they have carried the tying of cord so far. The Japanese have hundreds of ornamental knots, some of them so old that they antedate written history.

Japanese children are taught to make knots just as they are taught to write and draw. All sorts of flower and animal forms are copied. There is the chrysanthemum knot, the iris knot, plum blossom, pine tree and cherry blossom knots. There is a stork knot, a turtle knot, a knot named for the sacred mountain Fujiyama. An easy knot is called the "old man's knot." There is also an "old woman's knot."

A THRILLING SHOT.

An Incident in a German Performance of "William Tell."

When a performance of the drama "William Tell" was given at a certain German theater it was announced that the stage effects in the play were extremely fine and that the scene where Tell's splendid marksmanship was made apparent would astonish every one. The audience waited as patiently as they could until that scene and were certainly astonished.

The scene arrived where Tell was to shoot the apple from his devoted son's head, and the apple and Tell's crossbow were connected by an invisible wire, along which the arrow was to speed to the target.

At the proper cue the arrow did speed halfway toward the apple, and there stuck, to all appearance in midair. In vain did the doughty Tell shake his bow to carry the arrow to its mark. The son of Tell looked very frightened and didn't know what was happening.

The apple, firmly fixed on his youthful cranium, was bobbing about, the audience was laughing, and the laugh burst into a roar when one of Gessler's guards took in the situation and, coming forward from his position at the side of young Tell, calmly gave the arrow a smart rap with his spear, when it sped on its way and buried itself in the apple on the boy's head.

Wisdom of the Cat.

We may like cats or we may not like cats, but we must all confess that the cat is our superior. He uses us, in his eyes we exist for his delectation, we provide warmth and milk, we are a hearth rug to be jumped on and sat on, a curry comb to titillate him. In this aspect the cat is vastly superior to the dog, which is faithful to those who maltreat him, while a cat's fidelity takes the form of gracious adherence to those who serve him. He has proof of his philosophy. We knew an old lady, lodging in the suburbs, who spreads bread on the lawn every morning for the sparrows. Every morning, as the sparrows ate, the kind old lady's cat, ready behind the box bush, took his toll. How could he doubt that his mistress, his servant, was at the normal task of doing him service?

D.R.A. MATCHES.

Principal Results in Harold L. Borden Individual and Team Matches.

Ottawa, Sept. 1.—The weather was superb for shooting yesterday, when the Harold L. Borden match was fired, the conditions being 7 shots at 500 yards, with orthoptics, vermers and lines barred. Some big scores were put on. A declaration of the match was delayed by reason of Capt. Duff Stuart, 6th D. C. O. R., shooting with lines. The Vancouver man says he was informed he could do so by the register-keeper. Corp. Johnston, 6th D.C.O.R., won the cup, medallion and $19.

The next in order were: 43rd D.C.O.R., 187; 13th Regt., 186; 12th Regt., 186; 43rd (first team), 185; 48th Highlanders, 185; 1st C.A., 185.

The Ross match, a quick-firing competition, shot off at 500 and 1,000 yards. The target is exposed two minutes, during which time the competitor is to fire ten rounds, which is the allowance for each range. The total money prizes amount to $880.

The principal prize-winners in the first stage were: $20, Lt. J. C. Homberlin, R.L., 72; $15, Sergt. R. A. Steer, R.C.D., 67; $12, Sergt. W. H. Davidson, 1st P.W.F., 66.

The following are the higher results of the second stage, 1,000 yards, of the Ross match, ten shots in two minutes: $20, Pte. G. Milligan, 91st, 45; $15, Pte. A. B. Ayntan, 48th, 43; $12, Col. T. Pugh, O. S. C., 42; $10 each, Sergt. D. Garson, 91st, 42; Sergt. E. M. Nichols, 12th, 42.

John Miller, ex-M.P., Dead.

Brougham, Aug. 31.—John Miller, ex-M.P., died Monday at the age of 81. He was the pioneer cattle breeder and importer of Ontario County, and foremost in the public life of South Ontario for over half a century. He was born in Annan, Dumfries, May 12, 1817, and came to Canada in 1835, to reside with his uncle the late George Miller of Markham. In 1848 he purchased part of the estate now known as Thistleha, comprising 1,000 acres. Ten children and his wife survive him.

SLEEPLESSNESS AND HEADACHE
Tell of Exhausted Nerves—A Peterborough Man Cured by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. Harold Orans, Sophia street, Peterborough, Ont., and who is employed in Hall's store, states:—"I believe the close confinement of shop work was responsible for my becoming very nervous, and as a natural result I did not sleep and at times had severe attacks of splitting headaches. I heard of the good results obtained by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and decided to try it. I can now say that I am more than pleased with the results, as it has benefitted me very much. It built up my system, restored my nerves, and I am now entirely free from headaches. I have every reason to give the credit to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 10

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Archives Building, Ottawa," will be received at this office until Monday, September 12th, 1904, inclusively, for the construction of a building for the Archives, at Ottawa, Ont.

Plans and specifications can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and at the office of Messrs. Band, Burritt and Meredith, Architects, Sparks, St., Ottawa.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied, and signed with their actual signatures.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, made payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p. c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the party tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
FRED. GELINAS,
Secretary and Acting Deputy Minister.

A GOLDEN LINK

By A. M.-Davies Ogden

Copyright, 1904, by T. C. McClure

"Follow this path, ma'am, and you will find the house," explained the coachman as he drew up before the stately stone gates of Ellesmere Abbey. "Carriages are not permitted inside the grounds, but visitors on foot can walk through and view the lake and terraces."

The path, leaving the driveway, led between sturdy oaks, through whose branches the flickering sunlight fell in golden shadows—oaks that had stood for generations, the pride of the county. Mrs. Lincoln and her daughter walked slowly forward, exclaiming in delight at the grand old trees, until a sudden fork in the path caused them to halt in some perplexity.

"Although, as the caterpillar said, if you don't care where you are going, it cannot matter much which way you go," laughed Ethel Lincoln. "And both look attractive," she added. As they hesitated a young man, clad in knickerbockers and carrying a gun, came down one of the paths. Mrs. Lincoln looked relieved.

"Here is a gamekeeper, or poacher, or something," she said. "He can probably tell us which is the best way to go."

The man, who had stopped on seeing the two ladies, now came toward them, lifting his battered cap.

"Can I be of any service?" he inquired. His voice was prepossessing, and Mrs. Lincoln assented.

"We are anxious to see the house and the lake," she said. "Could you direct us how to reach them?"

"The right hand path will take you directly to the house," he answered civilly. "And the lake—the lake is a bit out of the way." He paused a moment, then went on, "I belong here, and if you would care to have me show you about"—

Mrs. Lincoln smiled kindly.

"If you would be so good."

Ethel Lincoln, wandering somewhat behind the others, was enchanted with the place. The lovely mere, laden with heavy white lilies, the brilliant hued parterres, the cool green terraces, all evoked deep breaths of admiration.

"It is like a page from a novel," she declared. "I never imagined anything so romantic. It's—it's perfect," abandoning in vain search for suitable adjectives. The gamekeeper looked pleased.

"It is indeed a fine place, miss," he said. But Mrs. Lincoln glanced longingly at the house.

"How I would like to see the interior," she said. "Is it quite impossible?"

The man considered.

"It is not usually allowed," he answered. "But I will ask this gardener."

The gardener, when appealed to, looked up in surprise.

"Why—I don't know," he declared doubtfully. "You"—

"Don't you think they might make an exception this once?" interposed the gamekeeper hastily. The gardener, a faint twinkle creeping into his eye, nodded.

Mrs. Lincoln turned away.

"If it is against the rules, of course we would prefer not to enter," she said quietly. "Thank you just as much. Only I happened to know Lady Ellerslie well many years ago and should have been glad to see her home."

"Indeed," said the gamekeeper respectfully. "You might have a chance next week then. Lady Ellerslie's son is giving a garden party on Thursday, and if you send a card to Lord Ellerslie I have no doubt that he would be glad to have an invitation sent you."

"Thank you, perhaps we may do so," said Mrs. Lincoln. "Will you be good enough to call my carriage now?"

As he turned and beckoned the coachman Ethel Lincoln sighed.

"How beautiful it all is," she exclaimed. "Really, I could marry Ellerslie just to live here." The gamekeeper, his faced unmoved, stepped forward.

"May I help you in, madam?" he said decorously.

Mrs. Lincoln, slipping her fingers into the tiny gold purse swinging at her wrist, pulled forth a coin and, without looking at it, held it toward the man. To her surprise, he flushed and drew back. But at sight of the look of unconscious dismay on the girl's face his half uttered protest died and he quietly accepted the money.

As they drove homeward Mrs. Lincoln laughed.

"No wonder that man stared," she said. "These English coins are so much alike in size that instead of a shilling I gave him a sovereign. But how abnormal for any foreigner to hesitate at a tip. Shall we send Ellerslie a card, Kitten? I suppose he would hardly remember us, and it is many years since his mother died. Do you think it would be worth while?"

"I suppose not," agreed Ethel, not, however, without a secret twinge of disappointment.

But the next day, on returning from their drive, the innkeeper met them. In his hand was a letter and a card.

"His lordship was here this afternoon," he said, "and asked if you were the lady who had lost this locket," producing a small gold ornament. "If you were, I was to give you this letter."

"Why, I must have dropped it yesterday," exclaimed Mrs. Lincoln in surprise, tearing open the envelope. It contained a card of invitation and a few lines on a crested sheet of paper.

My Dear Mrs. Lincoln—From the name engraved on the locket which was found in the grounds yesterday I judge you must be the old friend whom my mother so loved. Will not you and your daughter do me the honor of coming to the garden party I am giving next Thursday and let me have the pleasure of renewing an old acquaintance? Faithfully yours,

ELLERSLIE.

When on Thursday afternoon Mrs. Lincoln and Ethel drove under the porte cochere of Ellerslie Abbey already the lawns and terraces were dotted with bright frocks and parasols, while from a gay marquee came the strains of a military band. Ethel's spirits rose.

"I feel that I am going to have a good time," she declared. "My new gown is becoming, my hat perfect, so cheer up, mumsie."

"Mrs. and Miss Lincoln," shouted the flunky, and into the great hall, paneled to the roof with oak and hung with the family portraits of three centuries, they passed. A gentleman turned from the nearest group of people and came forward. Tall, slim, frock coated, with a white flower in his buttonhole, there was yet no mistaking him. For a moment Mrs. Lincoln stared, then a slow smile curved her lips.

"So it was you—you all the time," she declared. "You were the gamekeeper." The man looked repentantly back.

"I really didn't mean to," he pleaded. "You see, I only expected to stop a moment and pass on. But then that seemed uncivil, and so"—

"And so you merely deceived us instead," laughed Mrs. Lincoln. "Ethel, dear, this is Ellerslie, bad as ever."

"No, no," he protested. "It was my cap that deceived you, not I. At first I hardly appreciated the situation, and then—it seemed too late. And I never hoped to see you again. But when you spoke of my mother I began to think who you might be, and of course the name on the locket settled it. Indeed, I was innocent."

Mrs. Lincoln laughed.

"Certainly you took the tip badly enough.

"But I still have it," he asserted, "and always shall, if only as being the first money I ever earned."

As host Ellerslie's duties kept him busy through the afternoon, and it was not until the long shadows lay wide across the lawn that he was able to follow the direction in which his eyes had often strayed and join Ethel where she stood under a huge Japanese umbrella.

"I have been talking to chaperons until I am exhausted," he urged. "Do take pity on me and let us make an escape. Oh, no, it is not yet late," as the girl hesitated. "And there is the view of the mere that you have not yet seen," he added mischievously.

Ethel smiled and let him take her parasol from one of the group of men about her.

"Don't keep her too long, Ellerslie," said one in rather an injured tone.

Ellerslie shook his head. "I cannot promise. Miss Lincoln and I have much to discuss," he laughed.

But as they paused on a little rustic bridge commanding a view of lake and woods stretching away to the red sunlit sky Ellerslie seemed to have suddenly lost the desire to talk. When finally he turned to her there was an odd little glint in his eye.

"Well," he said, "do you like it?" waving his hand toward the picturesque reach of wood and water.

"Indeed I do," she answered earnestly. The glint in his eye deepened.

"Then you are prepared to keep your word?"

"My word?" demanded the girl, startled.

"That you would marry Ellerslie to get all this." He pulled a coin from his pocket and gazed meditatively at it. "This precious coin—I fell in love with a girl when it was given to me. Wasn't it an odd thing to do? But I am so delighted with the fact that I am going to have this bit of gold made into the best thing I know of, and that is a wedding ring. Shall I? Do you think she might wear it in time?"

Although he spoke jestingly, there was an undercurrent of seriousness in his tone which the girl was quick to catch. For a moment a new, strange shyness kept her silent, then she spoke.

"Of course I am hardly competent to advise on such a subject," she began demurely, "but," with a swift upward glance that suggested bewildering possibilities, "there could certainly be no harm in having the ring made."

It was several years before Ellerslie admitted to his wife that as Mrs. Lincoln had dropped him the coin she had dropped the locket and that he, willfully and deliberately, had concealed it. To his astonishment, however, Lady Ellerslie only laughed.

Going for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Don't put yourself in this man's place, but keep a bottle of this remedy in your home. There is nothing so good for Colic, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery and Diarrhoea. It is equally valuable for Summer Complaint and Cholera Infantum and has saved the lives of more children than any other medicine in use. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

You, or some one of your family, are sure to need this remedy sooner or later and when that time comes you will need it badly; you will need it quickly. Why not buy it now and be prepared for such an emergency? Price, 35 cents.

The above will cheerfully be paid in lawful money of the United States, by the undersigned, proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, if they cannot show the original signature of the individual volunteering the testimonial below, and also of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing attesting the superior curative properties of their several medicines, and thus proving the genuineness and reliability of all the multitude of testimonials volunteered by grateful people, in their behalf.

WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE REASON.—There is no medicine equal to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for purifying the blood. It carries off the poisons which contaminate the life fluid. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands and gives the body an increased supply of pure, body-building blood. It builds up the body with sound, healthy flesh instead of flabby fat, promotes the appetite, feeds the nerves, and so gives to weak, nervous people vitality and vigor.

"About a year ago I had a very bad cough and feared it would run into consumption," writes Hon. Geo. W. Lynch, of 27 Mason Street, Worcester, Mass. "When a severe attack of coughing would come on vomiting would set in. Matter accumulated in nose and my tonsils were irritated. After reading of the wonderful cures resulting from Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery began to use it, with some doubts as to the good it would do me, I am frank to say. But, after I had used one bottle I noticed quite a change for the better. Ordered five more bottles and before I had used them all the cure was complete. There is not now a trace of cough or cold in my system and my health is perfect."

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Did His Best.

In the absence of the regular society reporter the dramatic critic of the Daily Chronicle was detailed to "write up" a wedding. "I'll do the best I can," he said, "but I feel sure I shall make a botch of it." This is what he turned in, omitting the preliminary remarks about the size of the audience and the delay in beginning the performance:

Mr. Burnside, in the role of the bridegroom, acted the part in a stiff yet listless manner. He has a good stage presence, but mars the effect by a total lack of animation and an almost inaudible voice.

Miss Jones, as the bride, was much more effective. Her costume was bewildering, yet true to life. If one may venture to criticise, her effort to overcome her obvious stage fright was a trifle too evident. She was in good voice, however, and her enunciation was clear and distinct.

It must be confessed that both Miss Jones and Mr. Burnside were deficient in their lines and had to be prompted almost constantly by the Rev. James Simpson, who, as the officiating clergyman, was decidedly the star of the performance.

Merry Divorce.

Recently a worthy couple of Zurich, who had been married for several years, decided to get a divorce, and no sooner had the court annulled their marriage than they proceeded to show their friends how rejoiced they were at the news. The two principals went arm in arm to a leading hotel, where they ordered a supper for several guests, and a few hours later a merry party assembled there and did not break up until after midnight.

Those present say that the gentleman who had just been freed from his wife and who, by the way, paid for the supper was wonderfully gallant to her during the entire evening, paying her more attention than any other woman, and that she, too, seemed just as happy as though she had just been married.

A Hint From the Baron.

Upon a client complaining to Baron Rothschild that he had lent 10,000 francs to a person who had gone off to Constantinople without leaving any acknowledgment of the debt the baron said:

"Well, write to him and tell him to send you the 50,000 francs he owes you."

"But he only owes me 10,000," objected the other.

"Precisely," rejoined the baron, "and he will write and tell you so, and thus you will get his acknowledgment of it."

Picture Books For Foreigners.

Picture books for the benefit of travelers are kept in the Paris police stations. It frequently occurs that foreigners lose things which they are unable to describe, because of unfamiliarity with the French language. The picture books contain representations of various articles, and the inquirer has only to turn the leaves and point out the illustration which most resembles the property he has lost.

THE PARISIAN LUNCH.

A Substantial Meal Served in the Middle of the Day.

Noon or 12:30 is the universal hour for the strictly Parisian lunch, which commences with "hors d'oeuvres," appetizers eaten with butter—the only time butter is ever served on a French table.

The endless variety of "hors d'oeuvres" would fill a volume—sardines, shrimps, olives, radishes. Tiny salads of every description are included among them.

An egg or fish course follows, and the various ways in which both are cooked would also fill a volume. Next the meat is served—beef, mutton, lamb or veal—accompanied by one vegetable or a salad. If a vegetable, the salad follows as a separate course with fowl, game or cold meat of some kind. If a salad is the accessory for the meat then some vegetable comes after it as a single course preceding the cheese—never omitted—and which with fruit of some kind forms the dessert. Between the salad and cheese course a sweet dish, an "entremet," consisting of a custard, cream, tart or the like, is often served, but cheese and fruit are usually allowed the honors of the ordinary average luncheon dessert topped off with a good cup of coffee and a tiny glass of some liqueur.—What to Eat.

How Sea Birds Get a Drink.

"When I was a cabin boy," said an elderly sailor, "I often used to wonder, seein' birds thousands of miles out to sea, what they done for fresh water when they got thirsty.

"One day a squall answered that question for me. It was a hot and glitterin' day in the tropics, and in the clear sky overhead a black rain cloud appeared all of a sudden. Then out of the empty space over a hundred sea birds came dartin' from every direction. They got under the rain cloud and they waited there for about ten minutes, circlin' round and round, and when the rain began to fall they drank their fill.

"In the tropics, where the great sea birds sail thousands of miles away from shore, they get their drinkin' water in that way. They smell out a storm a long way off; they travel a hundred miles, maybe, to get under it, and they swallow enough raindrops to keep them goin'."

Oxford Training.

The average citizen, if asked what was taught at Oxford, would probably reply, "Useless learning." And in many ways it is a true answer, for its aim is not to turn out doctors, lawyers and merchants, ready made, but men with carefully trained minds, fitted not for this or that profession, but for the whole conduct of life. It is contended that such a man will insensibly take a wider view of his subject than the specialist, for he approaches it from a different standpoint.—London Outlook.

Good Living In China.

An English surgeon at Hongkong writes that "all Chinamen eat fish and pork at morning and evening meals. Fowls and ducks are always on the table of all but the most humble of the cooly class, and they do not have them because they cannot afford them. I hope this will be a sufficient answer to those who maintain that Chinamen live on rice. It is not nearly so true as that the Scotch live on porridge."

A Simple Question.

"May a man marry his widow's sister?" was a question I heard put to a prominent lawyer.

"Certainly he may," was the reply without a moment's hesitation. Then the lawyer had another think coming.

Seer.

"Tell me what you eat and I'll tell you what you are," said the seer.

The man told him what he ate.

"You're a blanked fool!" said the seer.

"Wonderful! Wonderful!" exclaimed the man.

At First Sight.

"Did he fall in love at first sight?"

"Yes. First sight of her bank account."

MARLBOROS OF TORONTO HERE LABOUR DAY.

One of the Queen City's Best Ball Teams to Play Two Games With Locals.

Manager Whitcroft has completed arrangements with the Marlboros, one of Toronto's crack teams, to play two games with the locals on Labour Day. The Marlboro baseball team is a part of the Marlborough Athletic Club, whose hockey team won the senior championship of the Ontario Hockey Association and who played the Ottawa team for the world's championship and the Stanley Cup last winter. The Marlborough ball team is playing fast ball this season, having played Galt a 11 innings game, losing by a score of 3-2. Two years ago they were champions of Toronto. On Labour Day they play morning and afternoon games and a large crowd should be in attendance for both games as two good games will surely result as the locals are playing the fastest kind of ball.

BASEBALL.

Saturday's game with Port Hope should attract the largest crowd of the year. The public wants to see a good game whether it is between the leaders or the tail-enders, and as both these teams which are very evenly matched are playing fast ball at present, one of the best games seen on the local diamond this year should result. The homesters are confident of a victory, but it is safe to say that the margin will not be a large one. McCorry who is twirling in fine shape these days will be on the rubber.

The Lindsay Post comes to the surface with the remark:—Manager Whitcroft, of the Peterborough team is advertising in the Toronto for a game on Labour Day. How about sending down the Young Yannigans?" All Lindsay teams have looked like "Yannigans" here this summer. The Kawartha League bunch was about the worst seen here this season and the Midland League team were trimmed by 7-1.

"If Lindsay can win in Bowmanville —and we think they can—it will not be necessary to play Peterborough's protested game. Here's to hoping they win."—Lindsay Post.

That's right Lindsay. Hope some more. It will certainly be better for the standing of the club at the end of the season if that protested game isn't played.

• • • •

It would be a good idea to arrange a series of post-season games between the winners of the two western leagues and the champions of the Midland League.

• • • •

Weather permitting the Charlotte Street Guild Team will practice at 6.30 o'clock to-night.

• • • •

The Young Quakers will journey to Bobcaygeon on Labour Day to play the village nine.

• • •

The T.A.S. will not play a Trent Valley League game at 'Cayugeon on Monday.

• • •

Lindsay plays the I.C.B.U. nine of Toronto in Scugogville Monday.

• • • •

To-morrow's game between Port Hope and the locals will undoubtedly be the best game seen here this season. The same teams met on Wednesday in Port Hope and the game went 11 innings to a tie of 5 runs each. The Port Hope papers say that it was the best game played there in years. Fort Hope are playing the fastest kind of ball just now, having defeated Oshawa the other day in Oshawa by 4-1. The game will be called at 3.30 p. m., sharp.

Following is the standing of the Midland League to date:—

	Won	Lost	Play
Lindsay	7	1	2
Cobourg	5	3	2
Bowmanville	4	3	3
Oshawa	5	5	6
Port Hope	1	6	3
Peterborough	0	4	4

• • • •

The Marlboros team which plays here on Labour Day has won 12 straight games in the City League, Toronto. They have victories from Berlin, Waterloo, Oshawa and other teams to their credit.

• • •

McCorry will do the twirling in the morning game with the Marlboros and Parker in the afternoon. The morning game will be called at ten o'clock and the afternoon at three o'clock.

Toronto is still keeping up its winning streak. The Canucks won from Buffalo, the leaders, yesterday by 4—2, Falkenburg pitching great ball.

HOCKEY.

The present outlook for hockey in this district is none too promising. Belleville has lost all of last year's team with the exception of one player. Port Hope is minus the material for a winning aggregation and. Peterborough has also lost some good men.

FOOTBALL.

It is hardly likely that there will be a City Association Football League in town this fall. The trouble is that in the autumn the team have no chance for practice as the evenings are too dark. Many of the players of last spring's teams have Saturday afternoons to practice but one practice a week would be insufficient.

GOLF.

Cobourg walloped Port Hope by 32 to nothing at the former's links on Wednesday.

BOWLING-ON-THE-GREEN.

Owing to the rain, the match announced between the Bachelors and Benedicts did not take place last night. It has been decided to pull it off at 10 a. m. on Labour Day, and thus have an all day tournament as the afternoon and and evening are to be taken up by the club match between the President and Vice President.

Sufficient players showed up so that neither side could claim default and the following gammes were played:—

Rev. J. A. Wilson	J. Titterson
J. McClung	W. O'Brien
T. Pratt	S. Sharpe
R. M. Waddell	D. H. Moore
F. H. Dixon, sk. 20.	R. J. Frost, sk. 15.
T. Pratt	J. Titterson
D. H. Moore	M. Logan
J. A. Wilson, sk. 5.	W. O'Brien, sk. 10

The following is the schedule for the club match between the President and Vice President in the afternoon commencing at 2.30 and evening at 7.00:—

President.	Vice-President.
Afternoon.
J. M. Brooks	W. Smith
A. H. Stratton	F. Bell
R. M. Waddell	W. G. Ferguson
R. J. Frost	G. H. Giroux
Dr. Greer	W. Salisbury
Evening.
D. H. Moore	T. F. Matthews
R. Kerr	J. McIntyre
K. G. Loch	Ed. Runnells
S. T. Medd	J. H. Oke
Sid. Cox	Harold Armstrong

RUGBY.

All interested in rugby are again reminded of Wednesday's big meeting which will have a most important bearing upon rugby in Peterborough this fall. The management is anxious to have a large turnout in order to thoroughly discuss several important questions which will come up before the meeting.

LACROSSE.

There is no change in the T.A.S.-Havelock situation. The executive of the League, it is understood, fixed Friday or Saturday of this week for the final game, but Havelock did not respond to that body's action. To-day it was learned that the railroad burg wanted the game for Monday, but this report could not be verified. Havelock is evidently adopting General Kuropatkin's tactics — falling back to the last ditch.

SPRINTING

Dave Belland in a letter to the Examiner expresses his willingness to run Walter Knox at any time, if the latter is willing. Belland is at present in Quebec, but is willing to return and run Knox for from $100 to $300.

• • •

Considerable discussion has been brought about in athletic circles lately concerning the various methods of athletics, and now that the Olymphian games at the World's Fair are on, the subject is being thoroughly threshed out. The great contests, which are open to athletes all over the world, are held, August 29th to September 3rd, and the victors will be champions of the, world. The St. Louis games will be a good test case to see which style or method is superior. It has often been contended that in this country, too much stress is laid on form, and many trainers have made the mistake of insisting on their men getting a certain form and stride, thereby frequently causing them to lose the race. A runner must always be able to think for himself and not bother about the thought of whether he has the proper stride, making it his sole business of getting there and getting there first. It is a well-established fact that much can be gotten out of a man where only a little can be put into him. An athlete must be able to punish himself severely, and just at that point when all seems hopeless is the crucial test and shows what the individual can do. It will always be found, too, that the crack athlete has splendid natural facilities, and without headwork, no man can win in athletics.

Over in England the short tride in sprints is used a good deal. They have no very fast short distance men in the king's land, but in the long run English athletes usually defeat our American runners. In the first place, they train all the year round; they have their cross-country runs; they use their heads to good advantage, and are not coached too much on form as are the American athletes. Archie Hahn does not agree with the statement that the stress on form is exaggerated, but many athletes, including Dr. Bockman, hold that opinion. It is said of Hahn, that compared to Arthur Duffy, the Georgetown sprinter, he is a slow starter, and that if he (Hahn) would get away from the line any old way and not bother about getting the proper stride, he could beat Duffy without any trouble. Hahn prefers the long stride to the short, in that particular being the same mind as Duffy, but the winning feature of the Georgetown sprinter is that he gets a very fast start and works hard with his arms, and from his hips. In the race where Duffy made his record of 0 3-5 after getting a terrific start, it was found that his stride at the finish measured fully nine feet. Schick, the Harvard runner, has about the same stride as Hahn, and Yale's best man, Torrey, follows Duffy in his whirlwind start and stride, but unlike the Georgetown man, is unable to keep it up, breaking down near the finish. In a forty or sixty-yard dash Torrey is good. Blair, of Chicago, uses more of a swinging stride. He is a very easy runner and does not lift his knees as much nor work as hard as others. Wefers, the 220-yard champion, also uses the long stride. Pearson, the Pacific coast sprinter, uses the long stride mostly, and has been very successful, although he uses a short stride at the start.

In view of the great interest manifested in long distance racing, it is thought the committee in charge of the round-the-bay race, will give better prizes than ever this year, and thus attract some of the cracks from across the ocean, who are at present racing at St. Louis, and some of whom are wearing the colours of the U. S. athletic clubs.

Pretty Church Wedding in Galway Last Week.

(Lindsay Papers Please Copy.)

The Church of Mary Immaculate in Galway was the scene of a very pretty wedding on the morning of Tuesday, August 30th, when Miss Maggie, daughter of the late James Allen, Mount Irwin, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Ralph Byrne, of Stillwater, Minn., formerly of Somerville. The interesting ceremony was performed by Rev. Father O'Leary, previous to the solemn nuptial mass. The bride was beautifully gowned in white silk with hat and plume to match and was attended by her sister, Miss Nora, who was also becomingly attired in blue and white. The groom was ably supported by his brotner, Mr. James Byrne. The organist, Mrs. Frank Maguire, presided in her usual happy and efficient manner. The singing was sweet and impressive, rendered by Miss Alice Foley. After the usual congratulations the bridal party accompanied by their many friends drove to the residence of the bride's mother, where a sumptuous dinner was served. Among the guests was our beloved pastor, Rev. Dr. O'Leary Mrs. Simpson of Hamilton; Misses Allen, and Garvey of Douro, cousins of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. T. Byrne parents of the groom, Mrs. M. Mansfield, Mr. and Mrs. R. Mansfield, of Kinmount; Mr. and Mrs. M. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. M. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. R. Allen, all of this place; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Byrne, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Byrne, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maguire, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dalton, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McGuire, Mr. and Mrs. John McGuire; Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Foley, also a number of young friends of bride and groom. The afternoon was spent in a happy and pleasing manner with music, song and story. The many handsome and useful presents attested to the high esteem in which the bride and groom were held. The happy couple will leave for their future home in Stillwater, with the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

NORWOOD'S NEW BAND.

The people of the village and vicinity will be pleased to learn that a movement is on foot to resuscitate the Norwood band. Quite a number of the old members are in town now and have expressed a willingness to again take their places in the ranks. In addition to these some old bandsmen from other places have taken up their residence here and are willing to become members. Besides there are a number of young men in town who are very anxious to learn to play an instrument and who we are assured would make splendid musicians. Altogether the outlook for the organization of a good strong band is very bright. A subscription list was started on Tuesday to assist the boys to get a new instrument or two and have the old ones put in shape. Up to yesterday afternoon about $90 had been subscribed.—Norwood Register.

BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER.

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—There is every indication that the Central Canada Fair this year will far excel all previous shows. The special attractions are unusually excellent and the exhibits promise to be far ahead of those previously made. Judging by the way the entries are coming in every stall in the live stock buildings and every part of space in the other buildings will be taken up. The dog show building will also be completely filled.

In the main building over 50 per cent. of the exhibits will be new and will include splendid displays by the biggest and best manufacturing firms in Canada. Already over 100 stalls in the horse buildings have been allotted.

The grounds and buildings have been greatly improved since last year, and the staff of workmen are now giving the finishing touches. The secretary says in every nook and corner of the grounds there will be an attraction of some kind and is confident that patrons will see an exhibition that will eclipse all past shows. The exhibition will be thrown open to the public on Monday, September 19th.

Strange Burglars.

A woman in Orangeville made some root beer and bottled it before it had fermented. A few nights later there was a popping noise in the cellar. Her husband, believing there were burglars in the house, stealthily approached the cellar door. Just as he peeped in there was another report and he was hit. He then poked the muzzle of a six shooter into the crack, and turning the gun from side to side, fired a fusilade of bullets into the darkness. He was then out of ammunition, but the enemy kept firing, and he fled upstairs, where his wife was screaming for help. The neighbours arrived and found the man soaked in root beer.—Chatsworth Banner.

TO-DAY'S NEWS ON STOCK MARKET

Features of Market as Told by Special Wires.

By private wire from Richmond & Co., Inc'd., Pittsburg and Buffalo to W. F. Nelson & Co., correspondents:—

New York, September 2nd.—Strength along specialty lines may be expected today, judging from this morning's conditions. The stock market becomes easily oversold. More so than we thought would be possible when we yesterday mentioned that it would be wise to watch for signs of overselling. But it simplifies the scarcity of stocks and demonstrates the advisability of not waiting too long to buy on declines such stocks as USQ, Sug., Mop., Read PA, UP, etc.. Bull tips are out on Erie and LNT although the latter seems unable as yet to break through 53 offerings in volume. London will probably sell moderately here to-day.—Town Topics.

Thursday evening, September 1st.—To-day's market proved again not only that this is a bull market, but that our favourites were again the leaders. We expect Erie rio sell at 43 on this movement. Rdg reacted but will ultimately sell above 80. It may again be bought near 60. RI ought to go to about 38. USQ will go to 47 and US com to 17. There was also good strength in St. Paul, UP, Sug, etc., and while the market may show some irregularity at times it has not seen top yet around yesterday's low prices. We advise purchases of St. P., Pa., A.C., Mop., S.P., Tex., Rdg around 80; USQ around 41 1-2; So Ry around 28 and the Erie. If nothing unfavourable happens to the crops over the materially higher prices will be seen by the middle of the week.—Wall Street Information Bureau.

London 1-8 to 3-8 up; Cons 88 1-2 ex interest. The next bull card will be the collapse of Russia's warfare. They wanted fight and they will pay dearly for their presumption. Japanese 4 p.c. bonds are advancing—they will surely cross 100. Tractions, BRT excepted, will yield moderately on strike, possibly but both Met and Met Sec should be bought on all digs.—Joseph.

Liverpool opening, wheat and corn 1-4 higher.

1.30 p. m.—Wheat unchanged; corn 1-8 higher.

I am still told to buy UP & SP.—Swost.

30,000 RUSSIANS 25,000 JAPANESE

Terrible Losses on Both Sides in Battle Before Liao Yang.

THE STRUGGLE IS NOT YET OVER

Great Losses on Both Sides—30,000 Russians and Fully 25,000 Japs go Down in the Four Days' Desperate Fighting—Fires Rage in Liao Yang.

Berlin, Sept. 3.—Military specialists treat the news from Liaoyang as indicating a great Russian reverse, that, with the railway northward cut, and bad roads, may be turned into a rout. As yesterday was being celebrated as the anniversary of the battle of Sedan, frequent allusions were made by editorial writers to the possibility of Liaoyang being the Sedan of the east, and parallels were drawn between the two situations. The semi-official North German Gazette alone regards Gen. Kuropatkin as saving his position by as skilful a retirement as possible.

British Says 'Tis a Waterloo.

London, Sept. 3.—The Morning Post concludes a survey of the four days' fighting at Liaoyang with the opinion that the battle of Liaoyang will take its place beside that of Waterloo, and believes that "whether Kuropatkin's force is able to continue its retreat or not it will be broken and useless for some time to come."

The Russian view that Gen. Kuropatkin, by crossing the river, divided the opposing forces, meets with slight consideration, as it is pointed out that all the Japanese units can now attack simultaneously from different directions, which eliminates any advantage to the Russian side and really aggravates the seriousness of their position, the Japanese force being superior in numbers.

The suspense with which the developments at Liaoyang are awaited could be scarcely greater in Tokio than it is in London.

The Telegraph now admits that "it is not inconceivable that Kuropatkin may extricate a portion of his forces," though this is characterized as the "supreme effort of a forlorn hope."

The Standard bluntly voices the thought of all England, by saying "Is it retreat or rout?"

RUSS LOSS 30,000—JAP 25,000.

Battle of Liaoyang Continues With Little Cessation.

Tokio, Sept. 3.—The fighting at Liaoyang was continued until a late hour Thursday night. It was resumed at dawn yesterday. The fate of the great bulk of the retreating Russian army hinges upon the bravery and fortitude of its left flank.

Falling back, Gen. Kuropatkin, intended that his left to the eastward and northward of Liaoyang, should be greatly strengthened, in the hope of checking Gen. Kuroki's advance around his flank, and to protect his line of retreat and communication. The greatest portion of this protecting force seems to have been massed in the neighborhood of Hedyingtai, 12 miles northeast of Liaoyang, where it was fiercely assaulted by Gen. Kuroki at 11 o'clock Thursday morning. The result of this fighting is not known.

Casualty List Grows.

Nothing concerning the actual occupation of Liaoyang has been received here. Official despatches indicate that the Russians were still in possession of Liaoyang yesterday morning. The list of casualties in the fighting before Liaoyang is growing, and the indications are that it will prove to be the bloodiest battle since the Franco-Prussian war. The calculations of casualties must include the loss since Aug. 28, for the contest has been practically continuous since then. The Japanese have already reported over twenty-five thousand men killed and wounded.

Fires Rage at Liaoyang.

A private despatch received here reports that great fires are raging at Liaoyang. This statement is not confirmed officially. The fires are believed to have resulted from the Japanese shelling or from efforts of the Russians to destroy their stores previous to the evacuation of Liaoyang, with the additional hope of injuring the city as a future Japanese base.

Unofficial estimates place the Russian forces in the vicinity of Liaoyang at 15 divisions of 15,000 men each. These are probably excessive, but it is evident that, numerically, the Russians exceed the Japanese.

Russians Lose 30,000.

The opinion that the Russian casualties in the recent fighting will reach 30,000 is confidently expected in high quarters here. Neither Field Marshal Oyama nor the Japanese army commanders have yet estimated the Russian losses.

It seems that the Japanese avoided a direct assault upon Liaoyang itself, but devoted their energies to the troops outside the city, and an effort to cut off the Russian retreat. Liaoyang is strongly fortified, and it is probable that the Japanese will not attack the city directly until they have succeeded in isolating it. Should the Russians abandon Liaoyang, the Japanese will, of course, enter.

Liaoyang Burns.

Tokio, Sept. 3.—It is reported here that a conflagration is raging at Liaoyang.

St. Petersburg Worried.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 3.—The text of the despatch sent to the Emperor by Gen. Kuropatkin Thursday evening, the gist of which, as given by the War Office, was cabled by the Associated Press at 4.50 Friday afternoon was not made public Friday night as expected. It was promised to the local press, and was awaited with feverish impatience until two o'clock in the morning, when it was announced that it would be issued to-day. All the news, therefore, as far as St. Petersburg is concerned, is contained in telegrams from foreign sources, and there is painful suspense awaiting news from Russian sources. Continued and dogged confidence in Gen. Kuropatkin is expressed in many quarters, and the public generally, as well as many of the military authorities, refuse to believe that Liaoyang has been abandoned, or if it has been abandoned, that Gen. Kuropatkin is not in a better position to make a strong stand north of the Taitse River.

Kuropatkin Reports.

Office received K despatch from Petrhoff, sent to the Emperor Thursday night by Gen. Kuropatkin, dated 5 p.m. Thursday. As transmitted to the War Office for publication, the information is extremely meagre and only reveals the truth in the light of the interpretation of those who are conversant with the situation at Liaoyang. It is possible that this is justifiable on strategic grounds. As communicated to the press, the despatch states that an artillery battle proceeded till the hour of sending it, and that the Russians were retiring upon their "main positions," that Gen. Kuroki was attacking the Russian left north of the Taitse River; that the railroad station, which is situated a mile southwest of Liaoyang, had been set on fire by Japanese shells, that the telegraph station had been transferred across the river to a point on the north band, that Kuropatkin had passed in review the third Siberian corps under Gen. Ivanoff, which suffered greatly in the earlier stages of the battle on the east front and finally that the Russian losses for two days were 8,000 killed or wounded.

Blown Up By Mine.

Tokio, Sept. 3.—Admiral Hosoya, commanding the third Japanese squadron, reports that last Wednesday morning a number of vessels weighed from Port Arthur and engaged in clearing away mines. The Japanese watched their operations from seaward. At 2.25 p.m. a steamer struck a mine and was blown up. The disaster occurred one mile below Chengtunshan, and it was plainly visible. The number of lives lost is unknown.

HEATING SYSTEM MOST COMPLETE.

Work at the Central School has Been Finished.

Modern System of Heating and Ventilating Installed— Mr. Adam Hall did the Work.

Up-to-date and modern in every particular is the new heating and ventilating system which has been installed in the Central School by the staff of Mr. Adam Hall of town. The work was completed to-day and will no doubt give every possible satisfaction. It will be remembered that last spring the boiler in this school burst and after carefully considering what would be the best course to pursue, the Board of Education decided to have a complete new and improved system installed and the contract for the undertaking was given to Mr. Adam Hall. The work of actually installing the system was commenced three weeks ago with a staff varying from six to eight men under the direction of Mr. W. R. Turner, and they have done their work in a most creditable style. The work was inspected this week and the inspector expressed himself as being greatly pleased with the efficient work which had been done.

The heating system is what is known as the low pressure gravity single pipe circuit system. The building is heated by direct and direct-indirect radiation. The boiler is twelve feet long and 48 inches in diameter and was made by the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, of town. The main steam pipe is six inches in diameter. In the old system coils were used in place of the present radiators, the boiler was smaller in size and two pipes were used instead of one large one.

The system of ventilation is a most complete one and will supply the demand for pure air in the school rooms which is so essential for the health of the scholars. One radiator in each room is a ventilating radiator bringing fresh air into the room and circulating it there.

There are 51 radiators in the building situated as follows:—Four in each of the class rooms upstairs of which there are eight, three in both the class rooms on the ground floor, two in each of the three corridors, one in each of the two lavatories, three in the cloak rooms, one in the tower and one in the ventilating shaft. This will afford a most complete system of heating and ventilation.

The system is in every way a most complete one and the work has been well done and is a credit to the house which undertook the contract.

AN EARLY BLAZE.

Small Fire at Canada Canoe Factory This Morning.

The fire brigade was called out about five o'clock this morning to extinguish a blaze at the Canada Canoe Company Factory on Water street. The fire started on the ground floor but was extinguished before any great damage was done. Some cut timber, however, was badly scorched and had the blaze not been discovered when it was the results might have been very serious. The fire is thought to have been of an incendiary nature.

NEWS OF TO-DAY.

Great fires are raging at Liao Yang

All signs point to better conditions in the Manitoba Crops.

A cattle driver was killed by a street car in Toronto yesterday.

The 57th Regiment left for a three days trip to Barrie last night.

Joshua Osterhout dropped dead in Collingwood yesterday.

A lightning storm did considerable damage yesterday.

A small fire did slight damage at the Canada Canoe Factory this morning.

Albert Lombard of Lethbridge fell seventy feet to his death yesterday.

Six persons were burned to death and four terribly injured in a fire at Yellow Creek.

Mr. Robert Beith, M.P., of Bowmanville won $900 in prizes at the horse show at the World's Fair.

A motor boat at Alexander bay made twenty miles in forty-nine minutes in a race against time.

The Russian losses in the battle before Liao Yang are estimated at 30,000 and the Japanese at 25,000.

The British press places the battle of Liao Yang beside that of Waterloo.

It is expected that the new Governor General will reach Canada about October 25th.

HIS HORSE AND BUGGY PLUNGED INTO THE CREEK!

The Experience of a Smith Township Man Last Night.

Last evening about nine o'clock, a resident of Smithtown, who was under the influence of liquor, in his efforts to find his road home, drove his horse along the short stretch of Stewart street from Smith street and turned his course along Murray in close proximity to the creek. When near the small footbridge which spans the creek at a point near the Protestant Home, the man, horse and buggy, went over the high crib work with a crash into the creek, which had been considerably swollen by the afternoon's rain.

An Examiner representative who was near the scene at the time, heard the crash and with the assistance of several of the neighbours, pulled the unfortunate man from the stream. His face was covered with blood from wounds he had received by coming in contact with the heavy boulders in the creek and he was thoroughly drenched, and his internal alcoholic supply considerably diluted. Efforts were then made to extricate the horse, which was finally accomplished. The animal together with the buggy was not injured to an great extent. A load of parcels was, however, distributed in the creek, but some of them were recovered by willing hands and the old man was taken in charge by a good Samaritan who like him of the parable, poured oil and—then the analogy stops, there was too much wine already—into his wounds.

Russians Make a Stand and Japs are Attacking Them —Kuroki Captures Important Position.

(Special G. N. W. Dispatch to the Examiner.)

St. Petersburg, 12.30, Sept. 3.—A bulletin just issued announces that Gen. Kuropatkin has assumed the offensive, massing his artillery and bombarding the Japanese Friday noon, preparatory to an attack upon Gen. Kuroki's flanking army on the north side of the Taitse River.

Tokio, Sept. 3.—The following despatch has been received here: "Headquarters of the Manchurian Army, Sept. 3, 9. a.m.—The remainder of the defeated Russians are making a stand outside the walls of Liao Yang; our left and centre armies are attacking them."

Tokio, Sept. 3.—A telegram from the front states that the Russians are gradually giving way before Field Marshall Oyama's approach. Gen. Kuroki has succeeded, after desperate fighting, in capturing [illegible]

A GOOD CHOICE FOR THE POSITION.

The Mail and Empire is still harping upon the Dundonald matter and using it as a text to cast imputations of disloyalty upon a section of our population, more loyal in all that appertains to good reputable citizenship than itself. On Wednesday it printed a screed under the unwarranted heading "Lord Dundonald Vindicated." That distinguished gentleman is in no special need of vindication. His character and the nature of his services to the Empire have not been attacked. If he needs vindication it is only in respect of what he has done to himself. He took a course that made his retirement from the command of the Canadian Militia inevitable, and for whatever harm his reputation has suffered he has only himself and his too ready deference to the voice of evil advisers to blame. As a soldier Lord Dundonald is a great man; as a participant in the domestic and partisan politics of Canada, he cannot be regarded as a brilliant success. He needs no vindication at the hands of anybody, and the fact, as the Mail claims, that his appointment by the Home Government to be Governor of Ceylon, is a proof of the confidence of the Imperial Government, will not be denied. On the contrary he will be regarded as the right man in the right place. Ceylon is a Crown Colony. The executive power is a Governor aided by an Executive Council. The Roman-Dutch law and the Indian penal code prevail. Such legislative power as there is, consists of a legislative council, composed of 17 members, including the members of the Executive Council, four other officials and eight unofficial members appointed by the Crown. The Governor is president. Local affairs are administered by Government agents. There is nothing in connection with the administration of Ceylon, like responsible government, as we have it in Canada. Lord Dundonald's course in Canada, which demonstrated his lack of sympathy with the genius of representative institutions demonstrated his fitness for the governorship of a Crown Colony where the spirit of government is not very far removed from martial law. His selection by the Imperial Government for this post is therefore not so much a vindication of his course in Canada as a testimony that his failure to adapt himself to the conditions that prevail in a self-governing colony with the highest development of responsible government, was a commendation in respect of the government of a colony whose constitutional status makes possible conditions such as prevailed under the Family Compact when irresponsible exercise of arbitrary power goaded the people to a form of protest which resulted in Canada being granted the inestimable boon of responsible government which we enjoy to-day. In Canada the people rule through the authorities constituted by themselves. Ceylon is governed by appointed officials, and with such a form of government a military governor is the best for the position, and that is doubtless why Lord Dundonald was selected.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Keep both hands on the Liberal Government.

Mr. Borden is going to St. John to explain the Hypocrite Trade Policy and the Repudiated Railway Policy. He ought, says the Montreal Herald, to go to Peterborough, to explain the first to Mr. Kendry.

The steel rail plant at the "Soo" is to be hereafter run continuously night and day. There's the force of example. The Conservative Opposition in the Ontario Legislature worked night and day last winter to prevent the mills running at all. They were bad prophets as well as bad patriots.

The wave of Canadian prosperity still runs high. The people seem to have plenty of money and merchants import much goods. The customs receipts at the Port of Toronto this August jumped $237,704.80 ahead of the corresponding month of last year, the biggest jump in collections in the history of the customs house. The returns of the Peterborough customs house show an increase of $4,473.08 over August of last year. That's the way the evidence of prosperity accumulates under a Liberal Government.

Only Did His Duty as He Saw it

"I deem it my duty to add a word of praise for Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy," says J. Wiley Park, the well known merchant and post master at Wiley, Ky. "I have been selling it for three or four years, and it gives complete satisfaction. Several of my customers tell me they would not be without it for anything. Very often to my knowledge, one single dose has cured a severe attack of diarrhoea, and I positively know that it will cure the flux (dysentery.) You are at liberty to use this testimonial as you please." For sale by All druggists.

THE WOOLLEN MAKING BUSINESS IN CANADA.

Its Best Friend Says it Has Sufficient Protection if Well Conducted.

(The Globe.)

When a gentleman in the position of Mr. Jonathan Hodgson, with large interests in the woollen manufacturing business declares that higher duties would be detrimental to it, we should pay special attention to his representations. This is more particularly the case when it is considered that every other class of business in the country is concerned that the duties should not be increased. If, in addition to that objection, you add the objection just stated, namely, that it would not even benefit the legitimate interests of the business itself, you furnish a case which a protectionist even, if he is rational, will not attempt to gainsay. If we wait until Government devises a tariff which will ensure that no factory will ever close its doors, the millennium will be here. The mere statement that a factory is not running on full time, or that it has ceased to run altogether, is not an item of an indictment against fiscal conditions. No system that has ever been devised will protect business enterprises against lack of skill, mismanagement, revolutions in taste, or the score of causes that bring failure to business undertakings. The people of the Dominion should not be taxed in order to save incapacity from the results of its own shortcomings. That surely the most rabid protectionist would not deny. The fact that there are woollen industries which are not only thriving but ask to be let alone is sufficient indication that there must be something wrong other than the tariff with those which succumb. It is fair to say that it is from the cruder forms of woollen manufacture that most complaint is heard, and the trouble may be located in the fact that it is the department of the industry towards which inexperience and limited capital are apt to gravitate.

The state of affairs which Mr. Hodgson very evidently feared is one quite familiar to students of economics. It is an economic axiom that where an industry becomes artificially or otherwise unduly profitable capital and labour rush in, with consequent over-production and ruinous competition. At the present moment that department of the woollen industry of which we should be proudest and most jealous to preserve, namely, that which calls for the highest manufacturing skill, is in a sound, healthy condition. It would not be a statesmanlike act to render its future uncertain and at the same time do an injury to the people of the Dominion generally, every one of whom is a consumer of woollen goods.

THE RED HECKLE.

How the Glorious Feather was Conferred on the "Black Watch".

The red heckle, which is the brilliant red plume which the Black Watch Highlanders wear in their bonnets, is a mark of very great distinction to this regiment, because it was conferred upon it for distinguished bravery, and was, prior to being given to the Black Watch, the distinguishing mark of the 11th Dragoons, who were compelled to wear in its place, the white feather and yellow top symbolic of their conduct.

In 1794, the 42nd Regiment was stationed at Thuyl in Holland, when they received orders to march late in the night of 31st December towards Bommell, distant about twenty miles, on the opposite side of the river Waal. They arrived about four o'clock on the first of January, 1795, near the bank of the river, having taken a circuitous march, as did also a number more regiments, and rested till daybreak, when the attack was made, and drove the French across the river on the ice, and held a position on the bank of the river till the evening of the 3rd, when a partial retreat took place, leaving strong piquets. Early on the morning of the 14th, the piquets were overpowered by the French, and obliged to retreat towards the village of Guildernalson, where the 42nd and other corps were stationed.

The 11th Light Dragoons were stationed in front of the village to cover the retreat of the piquets with their field pieces, and instead of resisting the cahrge of the French cavalry, they immediately retreated at a furious rate to the rear of the village, leaving their guns in possession of the French cavalry, who commenced dragging them off. An A. D. C. Major Rose, came and ordered the commanding officer, Major Dalrymple of the 42nd Regiment, to advance and retake the guns of the 11th Dragoons, which was immediately complied with, with the loss of one man killed and three wounded. The guns were dragged in by the men, as the harness had been cut and the horses disabled. There was no notice taken of this affair at the time, as all was bustle and confusion.

THE APPLE CROP.

Universal Crop This Year Said to be a Record Breaker.

It is generally conceded by expert judges that the universal crop this year is undoubtedly the heaviest ever known in the annals of the apple trade.

In Ontario, the crop, perhaps, is not much heavier the last year, but it must be remembered that, whereas last year, what with the scarcity of barrels and the sudden cold snap early in November, probably not a fourth of the crop ever left its native orchard.

Last year the European crop of all fruits was an entire failure, but this year all the big apple growing countries have large crops, not only of apples but most other fruits.

The crop in England is above the average so that she will be well supplied with her own and continental fruit for some time to come.

Taking New York and New England States—the crops there are enormous and of particularly fine quality, while Nova Scotia has also a large crop although not considered so fine in quality as last year.

What with expense of labour and high price of barrels it is pretty hard for the apple shippers to land fruit in Great Britain low enough to meet the special conditions of the business this season.

Of course there is and always will be a certain demand for choice Canadian apples and a large quantity will naturally be shipped, but the fruit will have to be bought this year at a price which will enable the buyer to minimize the extreme risk of speculation, at a period, when prospects point with relentless hands to the biggest universal crop of apples the world has ever known.—Exchange.

THE POSTMASTER IS THANKFUL.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Enabled Him to Sleep in Peace.

Grand Work They are Doing for Thousands of Canadians Every Year.

Tabucintac, Cumberland, Co., N. B., September 2.—(Special.)—Mr. H. J. Lee, postmaster here, is one of the great army of Canadians who, rescued from pain and weakness by Dodd's Kidney Pills, are shouting the praises of the great kidney remedy.

"Yes," the postmaster says:—"I want to express my thankfulness for the great benfit I have received from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"My trouble was having to urinate too freely. I had to rise eight or ten times each night so that my rest was broken. My feet and legs also swelled. Then I got Dodd's Kidney Pills and I took six boxes all told. Now I am all right.

"It will be a comfort to me if by making my case public I can lead some other sufferer to find relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure Bright's Disease. They also annually bring relief to hundreds of thousands of Canadians who are bothered with earlier kidney troubles.

MORTALITY RATE LESS.

The general mortality rate in the German empire has been cut down in the most encouraging manner, for in 1877 the number of deaths was twenty-seven in every thousand of the population and in 1901 it had fallen to 19.7 in 1,000. It seems, further, that these notable gains have been made in the face of a remarkable concentration of the increase of population in large towns, where the chances of life are not so good as they are in smaller communities. In Germany 405 person out of every thousand living in large centres of population, taking no account of children under fifteen years, reach the age of sixty. In middle-sized towns the number is 425 in every thousand, and in small communities it rises to 553. It would be interesting to know whether any part of these differences may be due to the tendency in all industrial countries where urban growth is more rapid than rural, toward a movement of young men and women from the country to the towns, leaving an abnormal proportion of the aged in little hamlets and villages.

THE NEW GOVERNOR.

Praise For Earl Grey By London's Evening Newspapers.

London, Sept. 3.—The Globe says that in the choice of Earl Grey for the Governor-Generalship of Canada, the Government have undoubtedly secured an excellent representative of the sovereign in our great North American dependency. In politics before all things he is an Imperialist in the fullest sense of the word.

The Westminster Gazette says: "Canada will obtain a Governor-General of parts in Earl Grey; whatever he puts his hand to he does with a will."

The Pall Mall Gazette remarks that it is a curious coincidence that Earl Grey's aunt and the wife of Canada's Lord Durham and his sister, is the wife of Lord Minto, Canada, therefore, should take kindly to him He has a statesman's mind and a diplomatic temper.

To Reach Canada About Oct. 25.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—It is expected that the new Governor-General will reach Canada about Oct. 25.

THIS IS A TALE WITH A MORAL.

Juliana Sandburg Suffered Six Years With Dyspepsia and was Cured by One Box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"For over six years I was troubled with dyspepsia and headache," says Juliana Sandburg, of 221 John street north, Hamilton, Ont. "Nothing I ate would agree with me.

"I tried several remedies but could not get any relief. Then I was advised to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and I bought one box. After taking part of it I found relief and by the time I had finished the box I was completely cured."

That was a case of long suffering quickly cured. Just think of suffering for six years with permanent relief within easy reach all the time. How many other Canadians are still complaining of stomach troubles? They too can find a lasting cure in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

THE C. A. R. FOR SALE

Mr. Booth Says Grand Trunk Learned It Could Purchase.

G.T.R. NOW PREPARING TO BUY

Resolution to Be Submitted at Half-Yearly Meeting of Shareholders in London at End of This Month—Previously Reported Tales of This Road Have Not Materialized, Says Mr. Booth.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—Color is given to the report that the Grand Trunk have decided to purchase the Canada Atlantic Railway by a notice which will appear in The Canada Gazette to-day. The notice in question is signed by C. Rivers-Wilson, President, and H. H. Norman, Secretary.

It announces the half-yearly meeting of the Grand Trunk Railway Company in London, on Thursday, September 29, when "a resolution will be submitted for the approval of the proprietors, authorizing an agreement to be entered into providing for the acquisition of the franchises, property and assets of the Canada Atlantic Railway Company, and particularly for a guarantee by the company of the principal and interest on the bonds proposed to be issued by the Canada Atlantic Railway Company, and also authorizing an application to make such agreement effective and ratifying the same."

Mr. J. R. Booth's attention was to-night drawn to the foregoing notice, and he was asked whether it did not mean that the Canada Atlantic Railway was to be sold to the Grand Trunk Company.

In reply Mr. Booth said: "The Grand Trunk Company learned two years ago that they could purchase the Canada Atlantic Railway. This is all I can say. I do not know what will be proposed at the meeting of the Grand Trunk Company, and it would not be proper for me to say if I did. The company may have something to propose which may or may not be accepted by the shareholders. You know that on previous occasions the sale of the Canada Atlantic has been reported, but it has not materialized."

MR. BECK'S HARD LUCK.

The "English Dreyfus" Had Plans Spoiled By His Arrest.

Toronto, Sept. 3.—Mr. Coley Bromfield, who is visiting Canada in the interests of the New Ontario Railway and Colonization Co., reports that the "option bonds" have been signed by all the parties interested, and notice thereof has been cabled to England for ratification by the board of directors. Mr. Blomfield learned yesterday, through his English solicitor, of the death of Mr. Cheesewright, the well-known Australian railroad engineer, who was to have superintended the construction of the new railroad.

The recent English Dreyfus case should be of peculiar interest to Canadians, in that Mr. Beck, who underwent such unjust punishment, was managing director of the New Ontario Railway and Colonization Company. He was making arrangements before his arrest to bring out some 2,500 settlers and settle them in the Rainy River district.

BAD WEATHER AND CROPS.

But All Signs Now Point to Better Conditions in Manitoba.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 3.—The past week has been generally wet or unsettled throughout the west, and consequently, progress in harvesting has not been so great as was expected.

Some districts, notably on the C. P. R. main line, west of Brandon, report hardly an acre cut for the whole week. Indian Head has been deluged, and crops on much of the low-lying land are sodden with wet, but the weather now shows signs of being more settled.

Storekeepers, who have been carrying farmers in certain districts badly hit by frost last fall, are getting anxious as to the present crop, as its partial failure would make considerable commercial embarrassment.

LAKE SUPERIOR ANGRY.

C.P.R. Steamer Forced to Turn Back on Course Into Harbor.

Port Arthur, Sept. 3.—One of the worst storms of the season raged on Lake Superior yesterday. All navigation has been affected. Thursday after the steamers Alberta and Wexford cleared from Fort William, as they got out into Lake Superior, they encountered a heavy sea. The wind was blowing a hurricane. Both boats began pitching so badly that they had to return. They came into this port for shelter. This is the first time that a C.P.R. steamer has been compelled to turn back for many seasons. Capt. Payette stated that the boat could not live in such a storm. A large number of passengers got off the steamer and went by rail.

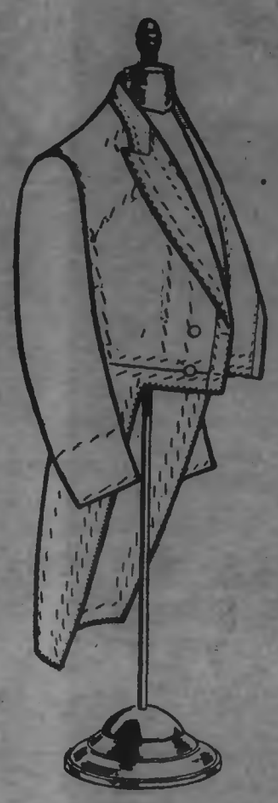
WORKING OUT OUR IDEAL



To tailor suits better than the best custom tailor.

To make each suit fit better, to have more careful interior workmanship, to give each suit an individual expression—the certain snap that every well-tailored garment carries—to so tailor that each suit holds its shape permanently, that was our purpose in '98.

That is our purpose in '04, but it's easier now—ever so much easier! and yet our different forepersons have mostly been with us since '98!

From the start it has been a steady process of education for us all!

By rigid adherence to our ideals—by rejecting the "not-quite-so-good" and exacting the "best" have we attained our purpose.

Because the demand for our carefully hand-tailored suits has increased—because we have established new selling branches just as we have here—our business has warranted many things.

We have been able to assemble skilled, clever tailors—men and women who are cunning and skilful with their fingers, who delight in their work—who know how to mould cloth with the needle—how to sew so as to render the cloth shape retaining. These skilful tailors we have grouped in units—each expert on some one suit part—as a part is finished it is carefully scrutinized for flaws and then quickly passed to the next unit.

The result is a suit that fits perfectly—possesses individual expression—looks well-bred—tasteful, and becomes a gentleman.

The one right we have to open a selling branch here is the fact that we can tailor suits better than the best custom tailor.

The growth from two selling branches in Canada in '98 to thirty in '04 is one indication that we possess that right—you will see the only other in the suits themselves.

We will be very proud to show you these suits. Please don't consider it obligatory to make a purchase.

If you do so and are at all dissatisfied we refund your money.

IMPROVEMENTS AT ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL

Exterior Repairs to be Made on the Edifice.

Extensive repairs are to be made to St. Peter's Cathedral, which will entail a considerable outlay as well as effect a great improvement and the work will likely be commenced in a few days.

The improvements will principally be in the roof. It seems the different rain trenches, especially in this season of extreme rainfall, have not been able to carry off the rains as successfully as they might, and as a result the water found it's way under the iron sheeting in several places. To overcome this and to make a success of the undertaking, it will necessitate the lowering of a portion of the walls, but it expected that the contemplated improvements will remove the trouble for all time.

The painters will also have their innings in touching up the exterior of the edifice and when all the proposed alterations are made a decided change will be noticed in the condition of the cathedral building.

OLES—BRODIGAN.

Peterborough Young Man Married in Toronto on Thursday.

A quiet wedding took place on Thursday afternoon in Old St. Andrew's Church, when Miss Ethel Elsie, only daughter of Mrs. E. Agnes Brodigan of Toronto, was married to Mr. J. Everett Oles, of Peterborough, by the Rev. John McEwan, Toronto only the immediate relatives and friends being present. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. C.A. Brodigan, and wore a handsome going-away gown of brown silk grenadine over brown silk taffeta, with hat to match, and carried a flovely sheaf of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Barrie Anderson, was in handsome white silk crepe de chene, over white taffeta, and wore a large white picture hat. She carried pink roses. The groom was assisted by Mr. A. W. McPherson, of Toronto. As the bridal party entered the church Mr. Jeffers, organist, played the Lohengrin wedding march. After the ceremony the bride and groom received the congratulations of their friends in the vestry, and left the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. Mr. and Mrs. Oles have gone on a brief tour to the northern lakes, after which they will take up their residence in Peterborough.—Globe.

PRETTY WEDDING AT AN EARLY HOUR.

Miss Elizabeth Porter Married to Mr. Wallace Patton This Morning.

At the residence of the bride's parents, 576 Aylmer street at seven o'clock this morning the marriage took place of Miss Elizabeth Porter youngest daughter of Mr. Hubert Porter to Mr. Wallace Patton, both of town. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Torrance in the presence of about twenty relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The bride looked very becoming in a dress of cream voile over blue and carried a beautiful bouquet of white chrysanthemums. She was attended by Miss Maggie Patton, sister of the groom; she was attired in a gown of white silk and carried white chrysanthemums. The groomsman was Mr. Milton W. Porter, brother of the bride.

The bride was the recipient of many presents of a costly and beautiful nature, evidencing the esteem which she enjoys among a large circle of friends. Handsome checks from her brother and father were among the presents.

A delightful wedding breakfast was served at the conclusion of the ceremony. The bride and groom left on the 8.25 G.T.R. train for western points and will reside in Peterborough upon the conclusion of the trip. The bride's going away gown was of champagne lady's cloth.

FIVE YEARS IN YUKON TERRITORY.

Rev. J. J. Wright has Returned After a Long Absence.

An Interview Concerning His Work and the Country—He Intends to Return in Two Months.

Rev. J. J. Wright, who has spent the past five years in evangelical work in the Yukon territory has returned to town on a two months vacation. He was seen by an Examiner reporter this morning in reference to his work in that far away territory. It is his intention to return to his work in about two months time.

Rev. Mr. Wright left just five years ago for the Klondyke to engage in the work of the Presbyterian Church there. He was first stationed at Dawson City, where he laboured for one year after which time he went to White Horse, which is situated on the Yukon River at the terminus of the White Pass railway. He remained for four years at White Horse, where the work of the church has been progressing in an encouraging manner. There are three churches in the town, the population of which varies from 600 to 1,500.

The population of the Yukon territory has shown a rapid increase during the past eight years during which time the gold mines have been in operation. The output yearly has been valued at about ten million dollars and this year's output will be fully as great according to present indications. The mines are being worked differently during the past year or so from former years. Formerly each man had his own claim and worked through his gold to Dawson city, but now large companies are doing the work and the city does not see as much of the gold as formerly. New fields are being constantly discovered but are somewhat slow in being developed owing to the fact that transportation rates are heavy. The Alaek fields near White Horse are the latest ones to be worked. The chief hope of White Hourse, however, is in the copper mines. There are about 250 claims on which the government assessment has been paid. The development of these is being delayed somewhat, however, because of the fact that they are held by poor men who have not the means to work them rapidly and the mining companies will not buy a claim on chance, but wait until the claim is developed though the owners want the same price as though the mine was opened up. Two copper mines are in operation at present and high grade ore is being turned out.

There is one coal mine on the banks of the Yukon which is rich in this mineral and supplies coal for the boats on the river. The boats are splendidly equipped and furnished. One of these is two hundred and twenty feet long, is lighted with electricity, has splendid stateroom accommodation and has a capacity for carrying about two hundred tons of freight. All the boats are propelled by large stern wheels in place of screw wheels and make good time on the river. The boats are flat bottomed and when carrying a heavy load do not draw more than three feet of water and when not loaded do not draw more than thirty inches.

There is a splendid system of boats on the Yukon. One of the peculiarities of the river is the fact that it has its origin about fifteen miles from the sea and wanders about for two thousand miles before finally reaching the ocean.

The Yukon will never be an agricultural country. It is true that the growth in summer is rapid but the season is too short. In summer the days are unusually the sun being visible for 22 hours at the period of the longest days. In the winter of course, very little of the sun is visible and at the shortest periods the electric lights are put on about one o'clock in the afternoon. Peterborough people get their electric light remarkably cheap in comparison to the price paid at White Horse. The price there for one 16 candle power light is $1.10 per week.

The weather in winter time is terribly cold, the thermometer often touching 60 below zero. The mean temperature is about 40 degrees below. Mr. Wright on one occasion in the winter time travelled a distance of 12 miles on his bicycle with the mercury standing 40 degrees below. He made the journey in the creditable time of 65 minutes. Though the cold is intense there is seldom much wind. The method of keeping warm is not of piling on clothes but of taking exercise and warding off the slight wind. The houses are chiefly wooden, but are snugly built and the cold is not as much felt as would be imagined. Building material is very high, the cost of lumber being about five times the price of it in this vicinity.

The cost of living in the Yukon is also much higher than in this part of the Dominion. A few years ago almost everything sold at $1.00 per pound, but of late there has been a decrease in some of the prices, which are still, however, very elevated. In the winter the miners engage considerably in hunting moose, cariboo and mountain sheep, all of which are appetising. The Burns Company have a cold storage plant at White Horse.

The Mounted Police are doing a good work in preserving life and property in the Yukon. The miners have a fear and respect for the police and law and order are easily maintained. Major Snider, Commanding Officer of H. Division of the Mounted Police is an old Peterborough boy.

Sports are extensively indulged in by the young men in the Klondyke. The athletes come from all over the country and many of them are very proficient in sports. In the winter hockey is played in many of the cities and towns and the teams think nothing of travelling 200 miles to play a game and pay their own expenses besides. Curling, baseball and other such sports are also enjoyed.

The church at White Horse is made as attractive as possible. The population of the town is a floating one and it is the effort of the church to attract all who visit the town either for a long or short stay, to make friends with the church people. There is a large free library and game room in which nearly every evening are seen 40 or 50 men. The influences are all for good and the results are gratifying.

On his trip home, Mr. Wright visited several American cities and spent three days at the St. Louis Exhibition. While in Minnesota he saw [illegible] wheat fields which were destroyed by the rust. In St. Paul many signs on which were the words "Canadian Farm Lands" were noticed.

During his absence Mr. Wright's work at White Horse is being taken by Dr. Pringle who is well known in Peterborough. Mr. Wright is greatly enjoying his work there and the climate has agreed with him splendidly.

OFF FOR BARRIE IN BEST OF SPIRITS.

57th Regiment Left Last Night for a Three Days Outing.

In the best of spirits, smiling and happy and prepared to enjoy themselves in the best possible manner, the 57th Regiment left Peterborough at 9.30 o'clock last evening for their annual trip which this year is to Barrie. It is an event to which the boys in red look forward to yearly as it is a three days outing full of enjoyment from start to finish. In former years the trip has been made on Dominion Day, but this year cars could not be procured on that date and consequently the trip was postponed until cooler weather set in. There was a fairly good turnout last night about three hundred being in line. Several of the officers and men will go up to Barrie this evening, being unable to leave their duties in town to-day. The regiment will return on Monday night. A special train of seven coaches took them on their journey.

According to reports, a splendid reception has been prepared for the regiment in Barrie and the men will no doubt be well received. This evening the band will give a concert in the Opera House and to-morrow the regiment will parade to church in the morning and the band will render a programme of sacred music in the afternoon. On Monday there will be a march out of the regiment and a programme of sports and games will be run off in the afternoon.

Both bands were well represented, the 57th being about thirty-five strong.

A WORK OF CHARITY.

Three LittleGirls who are in Sympathy With Work of Children's Shelter

Mr. Geo. Cochrane, agent of the Children's Aid Society, has received the following letter, which shows what warm little hearts can do in making warm little bodies:—

Mr. G. Cochrane,
Agent C. A. S., Peterborough.

Dear Sir,—On the afternoon of Tuesday, August 30th, we three little girls held a children's bazaar on the lawn of Mr. Gumpricht, Aylmer street. The grounds were prettily decorated, the day was fair, and the sale of candies and small fancy articles was very literally patronized by our friends. With the proceeds we have bought this flannelette, which we ask you to accept on behalf of the society, which you so worthily represent. We trust it may be of use to you in making clothing for the poor little ones under your charge, and we hope that some other girls will try some such way to help you. We are in full sympathy with your good work and we wish you much success.

DUCK SHOOTING AND DUCK PRESERVES.

Mr. Botsford Replies to "Red Wing" and Indicates the Benefits of Preserves.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I like "Red Wing's" way of looking after the poor man's duck, and some day I hope to present him with a brace of Mallard—killed on a preserve and if he does not find bettr shooting in the water outside of the preserve I will make it ten brace instead of one.

Mr. Editor, let us look at the duck preserve as a business proposition and for the moment change to the farm for illustration of its benefits to all. Those who journey from Ontario to British Columbia over the Canadian Pacific Railway see enormous tracts of land of the richest soil which produces nothing of value. Along comes the immigrant. The government gives him 160 acres of land; he builds a little shack and in five years he has a lovely home and so the farmer gathers wealth and the country is that much richer. More food is produced to feed those who do not farm and that is the farmer's preserve.

That chance is open to "Red Wing" but the farmer would make a vigorous kick if Red Wing trespassed on his property.

So a number of sportsmen gather together and ask the government to grant them water that now produces nothing and, like the farmer, they make the property productive. They plant it with rice, wild celery, cranberry and stock it with muskrat, frogs, fish, etc., they make a restful feeding ground and home for the glorious Jack Snipe, the Curlew, and Plover; and the ducks in the spring rest and feed on their way north and those that remain to breed are protected.

Buckhorn Lake, Pigeon Lake, Rice Lake and 36 others, contain from 40 to 90 thousand acres each and 4,000 to 6,000 acres out of each of these lakes would not be missed and all the lakes would fill with ducks.

Some Peterborough sportsmen sail away round to Lake Scugog to shoot ducks. The reason is that part of the Scugog is preserved and the other parts give good sport.

Yours truly,
C.S. BOTSFORD.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The Horicultural Society Appeals to the Citizens of the Town.

The next Horticultural Show will be in the Drill Shed on Thursday and Friday, 8th and 9th, September. It is intended to make it a great success but to effect this your help is required. Every year as you go to the show you say as you look at the specimens, well, I could beat this or that. Why didn't you? Why did you not send that specimen plant or root or vegetable? Now please help us this year? Send word to Mr. Beal the secretary and on the morning of the 8th a wagon will call for your exhibit and all the exhibits will be safely returned. The society is working for you; help us. Any plant, flower, root or vegetable that you think good send it; the result will astonish and you will have the pleasure of a good deed besides such prizes as you may win.

There will be a band in the evening and a promenade concert.

H. L. BEAL,
Secretary.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

"WHY DON'T YOU BUILD A BETTER HOUSE—one that would be a credit to yourself and the town?" asked one citizen of another, who is erecting a residence. "Well, I wouldn't mind putting an extra $5,000 or $6,000 in a house, but a tax of twenty mills in perpetuity, with a prospect of their being increased, represents rather a stiff outlay for the public spirited purpose of providing a residence that would be creditable to the town." "Do you think there are many others in a similar position?" "Yes, replied the second citizen, I do. And I think it is unfortunate that such conditions exist. There is, added he, no town or minor city in the province which presents so many opportunities for fine residential sites. We have a splendid supply of well grown trees and sites of various forms and adaptable to being easily and greatly beautified. In respect of fine residences Peterborough is behind many less important places. I am told that the little town of Barrie has more fine residential properties than Peterborough. I have thought the matter over and it seems to me a good way to allay the dread of inordinate payments of taxes and to encourage building fine residences would be for the town to provide something like a fixed assessment on a reasonable basis for the first ten or twelve fine residences to be erected, costing, say, from $8,000 to $10,000. If it should be necessary power could be got by legislation and the adoption of such a plan, would be no loss to the town for properties now taxed merely as vacant lands would be provided with residences which would be a credit and a glory to the town—residences whose fixed assessment would bring in a large revenue, which would not be obtained unless some such form of encouragement is given. The building trades industry would be stimulated, additional employment to labour would be given and property, now only nominally taxed would be increased in value and yield a considerable revenue. I am erecting only a modest residence for I do not wish to pay too much in the way of interest and taxes; but as I just said, I would not mind putting $5,000 or $6,000 more in a good first class residence if I would not be mulcted in a perpetual annual payment which would be burdensome."

* * *

THE SUGGESTION of the citizen as above may seem chimerical, but it points to the duty of the town to give more attention to the work of making the town beautiful and attractive. Peterborough could be made, with a little wise planning and co-operation, one of the most beautiful cities in Canada. It possesses the natural advantages and their wise utilization is all that is needed. The town might help the citizen more than is done. They made a sort of beginning this season and pruned, in a fairly judicious and effective way, the street trees of the town. But the work ceased short of completion. On many streets the trees have received no attention, something that is felt by the residents. They have had, and will have to pay their share for the work of this kind done on other streets and resent having their own streets neglected.

* * *

THE TOWN could easily do more, and with little or no additional cost to help the citizens beautify the streets. When a street is water-tabled, the earth which is thrown up and forms the basis of what can be made a beautiful boulevard, if left rough and uneven as a ploughed field. A very little more care and a trifle more work while the men are on the spot, would make it smooth and level, ready for seeding and the town might well see also to this. The streets are in charge of the town and it is, in a sense, their duty to do this much for the general good appearance. It will not only make the street neat and attractive, but will stimulate and encourage owners of adjoining property if they have not already done so, to improve their own premises in keeping. This is only a trifling detrial but it illustrates a principle which should govern the town in its dealings with the citizens it represents, and with their interests for whose promotion the town is responsible.

* * *

ANOTHER MATTER has been called to the Examiner's attention, which it is probable with a little foresight the town could remedy. In sewer construction work there is often delay in completion. This does not add to the cost to the ratepayer who is locally assessed for the cost, but the correspondent mentioned points out that the salary of the inspector at $3.00 per day, is added every day to the frontage tax bill. He cited a case where the property-owner's share of the inspector's salary amounts to almost a dollar per day to the ratepayer; for, no matter how slow the progress of the work, the inspector has, to use a common phrase, "to stay with it." It may be claimed that this extra cost of inspection is a penalty of living in good times—that it is impossible to get men to push sewer work. That may be, but the correspondent very reasonably argues, that before a contract is awarded, the contractor should be as certain of having men provided as he is of having money to pay them. From the ratepayer's point of view, no contract should be gone on with till there is assurance that the work will be pushed on as rapidly as possible. This would be in the interest of the contractor, who would sooner realize on his work and in the interest of the ratepayer whose share of the inspector's salary would thereby be reduced to a reasonable amount. Of course inspection is necessary and proper, but it can be as well done with rapid as slow construction work. Neither contractor nor inspector is to blame for delay, it seems to be the fault of the system.

YESTERDAY'S HEAVY DOWNPOUR OF RAIN

It was Most Severe in Northwestern Portion of Town.

The rain storm which struck the town yesterday afternoon was a somewhat severe one in the business section, but in the north-eastern part o the town it took the form of a gigantic cloud burst, accompanied by heavy flashes of lightning that danced in the heavens at a terrific rate.

So severe was the downpour in this locality that the Downie street creek, which finds its origin somewhere in Smith townhsp, was a raging torrent in a remarkably short space of time, the stream actually flowing over the sidewalks at the small foot bridge near the corner of Smith street.

A youth who ventured too near the creek was carried away by the flow and nearly went under the enclosure on Downie street.

It is just six years ago since a violent cloud burst struck this portion of the town and spread destruction in its path. On that occasion a house on Downie street was completely deprived of its foundation and the structure lifted out of its position. Gardens, chicken coops and wood piles were swept out of existence, and huge tronches washed out in the water's wild rush. The residents of that locality thought they had a repetition of the affair of six years ago in yesterday's storms.

MOTHER AND BABY.

When baby is well the mother is happy. When baby is cross, fretful, feverish and cannot sleep, the mother is depressed, worried and unhappy. Baby's Own Tablets make both mother and baby happy, because they cure all the common ailments of infants and young children. They sweeten the stomach, cure colic, aid teething children, cure constipation, prevent diarrhoea, and promote sound, healthy sleep. And you have a solemn guarantee that the Tablets contain no opiate or poisonous "soothing" stuff. Mrs. D. McGill, Blakeney, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets and have found them the best medicine I have ever had for the cure of the ailments from which young children suffer. I shall always keep a box of Tablets in the house." Sold by medicine dealers everywhere or sent by mail at 25 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

—The corner stone of the new Y. W.C.A. building will be laid on Wednesday afternoon, September 7th at five o'clock. Further particulars will be announced later.

Are you trying to make bricks without straw? Build up your body with food that nourishes but a part of its elements?

A building is built of individual stones or bricks, but mortar or cement is a very necessary part of the building to hold the stones and bricks together. Just imagine what would happen to a building if the contractor, thinking to improve its looks, left out the mortar and cement. This is what the miller does when he makes white flour—he leaves out very essential elements in the building of the human body, for the sake of making his product please the eye. The golden outer coating of the wheat would spoil the spotless whiteness of the flour, so they throw it out and with it the nitrates and phosphates which build muscle and brain, and leave practically nothing but the fat- and heat-producing starch.

When you eat

SHREDDED WHOLE WHEAT BISCUIT AND TRISCUIT

The Natural Foods

you get the whole of the wheat—every element that the body and brain need for thorough nourishment.

Each Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit contains over seven hundred inches of individual shreds, which are rendered light and porous by the process of shredding. The pores readily receive the saliva during the process of mastication, and in the second step of digestion the porous shreds are quickly saturated with the gastric juices of the stomach. Thus digestion is attended with natural results.

Triscuit is a delicious, light wafer containing no yeast, fats or chemicals. Takes the place of bread or crackers and makes ideal toast.

CAUSED THE WRECK

Coroner's Jury Returned Verdict Against Train Hands.

FIVE WOMEN KILLED ON C.P.R.

Five Other Persons Were Injured—The Governor-General's Party Were Travelling on Same Train, But Were Not Hurt—Names of the Killed and Injured—Details of Accident.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 3.—The second section of the C.P.R. train No. 1, which left Winnipeg early Thursday morning and to which was attached special cars of the vice-regal party, crashed into the rear end of a freight train on a siding at Sintaluta at 8.30 Thursday night, causing the death of five persons and injuring several more. Fortunately the vice-regal party, at the rear end of the express, escaped uninjured, barring a severe shaking up and nervous shock. The party continued on their journey west, passing through Regina yesterday morning. But the accident has cast a cloud over the valedictory tour, which has taken on itself something of the character of a triumphal procession, with cheering crowds and addresses of welcome at every side point, testifying to the great esteem in which the people of the west held Their Excellencies.

Killed and Injured.

The following were killed:

Mrs. J. W. Donett, Edmonton, sister of W. L. Parrish, Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Mrs. Warren, Sand Point, Ont.

Agnes M. Shirley, Ottawa, to Strathcona.

Unindentified woman and girl.

Injured: Mrs. J. Beck and Miss Golden, en route to Manila from New York; Miss Murray, en route to Shanghai; Ira Ross, from Blenheim, Ont., ticketed to Victoria; porter, L. T. Hart, William Booker, porter, Montreal.

Responsibility Placed.

The responsibility of the fatal accident on the Canadian Pacific Railway at Sintaluta has been fixed on Engineer T. Johnston and Conductor Irwin of freight train No. 118.

At the corner's inquest, held over the bodies of five victims of the wreck yesterday afternoon, a verdict of criminal negligence was returned against these men, and about 5.30 they were arrested and taken to Moosejaw, where they will stand trial. Both men are residents of Moosejaw.

Details of the accident indicate that the freight passed the switch at Sintaluta on the main line, and then backed on the siding, which had been opened by the brakeman on the rear of the train, while the brakeman on the front end walked forward along the main line to give the red signal to the engineer on the approaching passenger train, which would bring that train to a standstill, if the freight did not switch in time to let the passenger train go by.

The latter was some time reaching Sintaluta after the freight had been sidetracked, and it is surmised that the front brakeman had walked back to the train without thinking of the main line being still thrown open for a siding and probably under the impression that the switch had been returned by the other brakeman.

Passenger Tells Story.

Regina, Sept. 3.—Traveling at a high rate of speed, the second section of No. 1 westbound crashed into the rear end of a freight at Sintaluta Thursday night, caused the death of five women, including a 14-year-old girl, and severely bruising and shaking up many others. Although only five are known to be dead, it is believed that others are yet in the wreck. A passenger on the ill-fated train stated that the sleeper immediately behind the engine suffered most, as it was there that the shock was felt. He was getting ready to retire when he felt the air brake applied and a terrific shock immediately followed.

The scene was one of great confusion, money, valuables, watches and trinkets being scattered around promiscuously. A girl, 14 years of age, had a stick driven through her body and died as she was being carried away from the wreck. Two patients were brought to Victoria Hospital here, one, Ira Ross of Blenheim, slightly injured, and William Booker of Montreal, porter, with a broken leg.

Official Report.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 3.—The official despatch to the head office of the C.P.R. shows that the five women killed by the Pacific express colliding with a freight at 40 miles west of Broadview were:

Mrs. Warren, wife of C.P.R. agent, at Sand Point, Ont.

Agnes M. Shirley, residence unknown.

Mrs. Donett, Edmonton, and two ladies still unidentified, having tickets from Toronto to Calgary.

The injured are:

Miss M. Murray, badly burned, en route to Shanghai.

Mrs. J. Beck.

Miss Golden, bruised, en route for Manila.

Ira Ross of Blenheim, Ont., leg broken.

L. T. Hart, leg broken. Two of the above will die.

Mrs. Warren Left Tuesday.

Arnprior, Sept. 3.—News was received in town yesterday afternoon, telling of the death of Mrs. Thomas Warren of Sand Point, Ont., who met death instantly in a railway collision on the C.P.R., west of Calgary, N.W.T., Thursday evening. The deceased lady left on Tuesday of this week on an extended visit to Palo Alto, California, there to visit a son.

On Way to School.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—Miss Agnes Shirley, reported to be from Ottawa, killed in the C.P.R. wreck at Sintaluta, N.W.T., was a daughter of Thomas Shirley of South March, Carleton County. She was a school teacher, trained at the Ottawa Normal, and was on her way to Strathcona to take a position.

FRENCH BARQUENTINE LOST.

Canadian Schooner Reports Fatality on Grand Banks.

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 2.—The Canadian schooner Troop, Captain Pentz, from the Grand Banks fishing grounds, reports that on August 20 Captain Zimmerman of the fishing schooner Colerraine reported having spoken a French barquentine, name unknown, 170 miles off Cape Race, with only three men left out of a crew of 34, the others having been lost while fishing with their dories. The French captain berged Captain Zimmerman to board his vessel and help him reach this port, but the weather was too stormy to permit compliance with this request, and it is feared that the French vessel and the remainder of her crew have perished.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Six Killed By Fire in House Near Oil Well.

Yellow Creek, O., Sept. 3.—Six persons were burned to death, and four terribly injured by a fire and oil explosion here yesterday. The dead: Mrs. Henry Fling and two children, and three unknown men. The injured: Rev. Mr. Stidd, Robert Alexander, Henry Fling and Mr. Fish.

The house of Mr. Fling was fired by a street lamp, and the intense heat set fire to the rig of an oil well near the house. The flames destroyed the derrick and communicated to the tank, which was full of oil. Before the occupants of the house realized their danger a terrific explosion occurred. The blazing oil was thrown all over the house, and their escape was cut off. The bodies were recovered after the fire.

Fell 70 Feet to Death.

Lethbridge, N.W.T., Sept 3.—Walter Raub, George Moore, and Albert Lombard fell 70 feet from the new steel waterworks tower Thursday afternoon. The last named is dead, and the other two are probably fatally injured.

Another Trolley Victim.

Toronto, Sept. 3.—At 12.45 this morning, the trolley claimed another victim. The fatality occurred at the corner of Queen street and Spadina avenue. The body was taken to the morgue. It is thought to be that of a cattle drover, but no means of identifying it was found. The body was mangled.

Boy's Lower Jaw Laid Bare.

Toronto, Sept. 3.—Herbert Jones, aged 14, an employe of the Morton Check Book Company, was standing on the basement floor of the building, looking up at a descending hoist. The elevator slipped and fell, grazing Jones' face. The flesh was torn away from the lower jaw, exposing the lower set of teeth. It was thought at first that the injury was fatal, but the patient is doing very well under the circumstances.

JOE ARMSTRONG ARRESTED.

Hamilton Hotelman Runs Amuck With a Butcher Knife.

Hamilton, Sept. 2.—Yesterday afternoon Joe Armstrong, proprietor of the Macassa House, whose license was cut off, walked into Rans Wilson's livery stable on Charles street with a long butcher knife, and asked Harry McCamis, a hostler, if he was prepared to defend himself. He then made a lunge at McCamis, according to the story told to the police, but McCamis dodged, picked up a neck-yoke and knocked Armstrong down. The hostler and others tried to disarm the hotelman, but he clung desperately to the knife and, in the struggle, McCamis got a nasty cut under his eye, and Armstrong's ear and face were slashed. He was so badly used up with cuts and bruises that he had to be taken straight to the hospital, where he is under arrest, with a policeman guarding his cot. The charge against Armstrong is attempted murder.

Scotchman's Day.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Yesterday was Scotchman's Day at the Canadian National Exhibition. All the Scottish societies were represented, and a program of genuine old Caledonian games was carried out in front of the grand stand. The Army and Navy Veterans presented the Black Watch with an appropriate address, and it was feelingly replied to by Major Rose. In keeping with the day the speeches at the directors' luncheon were entirely Scottish. Rain spoiled the evening performance in front of the grand stand.

Met Mysterious Death.

Welland, Sept. 2.—Frank Arthur, who was working on one of the scows belonging to the dredge Chief, met a mysterious death while at work. It is supposed he was winding the pockets of the scow when the bar slipped and struck him. His body was found in the [illegible] about an hour and a half afterwards.

Set Fire to a Barn.

Stratford, Sept. 2.—Wilson Doxtater, the Indian charged with attempting to set fire to the barn of Jas. Stock, Inkora, on Aug. 21, and committed for trial by Police Magistrate O'Loane, appeared before Judge Barron yesterday morning. He was convicted and let off on suspended sentence.

Roadmaking in New Ontario.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—"Good Roads" Commissioner Campbell is much pleased with the progress in the Temiskaming country, where about 60 miles of wagon road will be completed this year, at a cost of $40,000. The settlers were given an opportunity to work last winter, about 50 miles of chopping being done. There are now 200 miles of road open in Temiskaming Valley.

SHOOTING PAINS THROUGH THE BACK

Not a Day Without Suffering Until Cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. C. Noyes, for many years section foreman, and now flagman for the G.T.R. at Peterborough, states: "For twenty-one years I was section foreman on the C.P.R. and was exposed to all sorts of weather. As a result my kidneys became effected and there was scarcely a day that I was not troubled more or less. At times I would have sharp shooting pains through my back and would get so used up that I felt like giving up work. During this time I was also a great sufferer from constipation. As I had heard so much about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for kidney disease and constipation I began using them, and can say that I was entirely cured of my old troubles in a short time. I cannot say anything too good about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and never lose an opportunity of recommending them."

For he knows the effect of wine and malt
Is quickly banished by Abbey's Salt.

A night at the club—an unusually elaborate banquet—even a "bird and a bottle"—ought to be followed by a foaming glass of ABBEY'S SALT, next morning.

An Encouraging Message

I have a message of hope and good cheer, of encouragement and inspiration to every suffering woman. I have endured the torture due to female troubles and the consequent despondency and mental agony almost to the point of despair, and I have been restored from this condition to a state of vigorous health, and to the happy, exhilerating frame of mind which accompanies physical well-being. This change has been brought about wholly by the use of ORANGE LILY.

In addition, I have had the privilege and pleasure of inducing multitudes of other suffering women to give ORANGE LILY a trial, and have received thousands of enthusiastic acknowledgements of the blessings it has brought to them. The following is a sample:

Truro, N. S., April 5, 1904.

Dear Mrs. Currah,—Your very kind letter was received yesterday. In reply to your question about my health, I am thankful to say that I am very well. As I have never given you a statement of my case you may be interested in it.

For several years I have suffered untold agony. This suffering was continuous, but I would have violent attacks every few weeks, each attack lasting several days. The first Sunday in November, I felt the pain increasing and so did not go to prayers. The rest of the family did go and soon after the forcing down pains seized me and I had to remain on the floor until their return. I was in great pain all night, and was very sick for a whole week.

Then Mrs. L. came to see me and told me of your wonderful medicine. I got my husband to send for it right away, as I was too sick to write myself. (My doctor could do nothing for me.) I have used 5 boxes of ORANGE LILY, have had three months of good rest, and am now well, never better in my life. I have not had the old pains since. I often ask my husband if it is myself that is going around and doing my own work. I can scarcely believe it. It brings tears of joy to my eyes. I could shout it to all the world. I cannot speak enough in its praise.

Your friend, MRS. M. H. P.

Receiving as I do, dozens of such reports each day, I felt impelled to make known to my suffering sisters the merits of ORANGE LILY. It differs from the other so-called remedies in that it is not taken internally. It is a strictly local treatment, and is applied directly to the affected organs. Its curative elements are absorbed into the congested tissues, expelling the stagnant foreign matter which has been irritating the membrane and oppressing the nerves, and a growing feeling of physical and mental relief is noticeable almost from the start. It is a positive, scientific remedy, and even if you use no more than the Free trial Treatment you will be very materially benefitted.

FREE TRIAL OFFER.

I want every reader of this who suffers in any way from painful monthly periods, irregularities leucorrhoea, inflammation or congestion of the womb, pains in the back, etc., to send me their addresses, and I will forward at once, without charge, 10 days' treatment. If your case is not far advanced it may entirely cure you, and in any event it will do you much good. I am so earnest in making this statement, and so positive that it is true, that I trust every sufferer who reads this notice will take advantage of my offer and get cured at home, without a doctor's bill.

MRS. F. C. CURRAH, WINDSOR, ONT.

ORANGE LILY is recommended and sold in Peterborough by Mr W. H. Warne, Druggist, 345 George Street.

Hill hated her, chiefly because Morton, the smooth tongued horse dealer, got the better of the bargain when he sold her to the manager of Cowara. Hill prided himself on his knowledge of horseflesh, but Angel, the chestnut, was old, or, rather, middle aged, and not the young thing Morton had represented her to be.

Moreover, her temper, soured by long years of ill treatment, was none of the best. She was nervous, too, though with Hill she was only mulish, vicious and obstinate. She hated but did not fear him. She evidently divined his dislike and returned it in kind.

With Wilfred Paton, the overseer, a man of passionate temper, but kind and tender to women and children and dumb creatures, by whom he was blindly adored, Angel was gentleness itself. It could readily be believed when one watched him handle the mare that under happier circumstances she might have fitted her name.

From the first it had been a series of battles between the chestnut and Hill, in which the man usually won out by sheer brutality.

There had been no rain for months. Each day the men watched the sky, but the pitiless sun poured his scorching rays on the parched earth, with never a cloud to veil his face or temper the heat. The water in the dam was getting low, and when that was gone the station people would have either to perish or get out, unless water were reached in the well Hill was sinking on the flat. Water was a priceless commodity on that inland Australian station.

One close day late in February came the crisis of that awful summer. Not a leaf stirred. The air at each inhalation burnt the lungs, and the limit of human endurance seemed to have been reached. Yet it was this afternoon of all others that Hill ordered Paton and Malcolm to fill the big iron tank.

"The fool!" exclaimed Paton as they walked through the hot sand to the dam. "Hasn't he sense enough to wait until evening?"

They worked hard for an hour, Malcolm filling the buckets and handing them up to Paton, who poured the contents into a tank. When their task was finished they returned to the house.

"We've filled the 500 gallon tank," said Paton, coming up to where Hill half reclined in a steamer chair on the veranda. "It's down at the dam in the tip cart, but I hate to leave it to evaporate in the sun, and there isn't a horse to drag it up to the house."

"Where are Bones and Myope?"

"Smiles has them working at the new dam, and Charlie has taken the two blacks and gone over to the well sinkers' camp with rations. The other horses, as you know, were sent away to McLellan's yesterday to save our water," answered Paton.

"Well, Angel is in the paddock, isn't she? Put her in."

"It's too heavy a load for Angel. She isn't built for such work."

"I say she shall!" cried Hill. "I'm boss here, and when I say a thing is to be done it's going to be done."

"All right! Go ahead and do it yourself!" responded Paton. The overseer and the manager never did hit it very well, and the heat hadn't improved their tempers. "But stay," Paton added, a thought striking him, "I'll try what I can do first."

With that Paton went down to the paddock, caught Angel, harnessed her, put her in the cart, and then coaxed her to drag the load. By striving and straining she dragged the cart a few steps through the heavy sand, then paused and turned her eyes on Paton entreatingly, as though to say:

"I'd do it for you, but I can't."

Hill was watching the performance from the veranda, for the house was built on the top of the sand hill, the dam was in the creek at its foot and no bushes intervened. When the manager saw the horse stop he got up and went quickly down.

"What's the matter?" he asked.

"It's just as I said," answered Paton, "the mare hasn't the strength to haul such a load."

"Hasn't she? I'll see about that. It's her obstinacy, that's what it is. Angel? It's Devil she ought to be called."

"Let me get the other tank, put half the water in it, and then she can easily manage it in two trips," suggested Paton, controlling his rising anger.

"No! She'll haul the tank as it is!"

"Then I'll wash my hands of the whole business."

Paton walked up the slope. As he stepped on the veranda Mrs. Hill, who was standing at the door, looked back into the house and called to her young cousin:

"Muriel, come out and see this brute! She won't pull the tank up the hill, but Horace will soon make her. He knows how to manage horses." And she shot a scornful glance in Paton's direction.

Muriel Everton came out. She was a tall, slender girl, dressed in white. Her delicate throat was bare and her cheeks blanched by the heat, but her beautiful brown eyes were clear and deep and tender. She and Paton exchanged quick glances, then she looked down at the man and the horse, shuddered and turned away.

Hill by thrashing the chestnut had forced her to haul the cart a few steps, then Angel stopped. With kindness she might have made a further effort, but Hill had roused her obstinate spirit, and she would not budge an inch. This infuriated the man, and he beat her over the head with the butt of the stock whip he carried. Still she did not move. Then, as he continued to beat her, in her agony she stepped backward, plunged and reared, the cart tipped back, the mare was drawn up and in her struggles broke the shafts, the tank fell out, the cover rolled off and the whole of the 500 gallons of precious water was swallowed up by the burning sand. Hill took the horse from the cart and, insane with rage, commenced to thrash her again.

Then there was a sudden rush of something white, as though a cloud were flying down the hill, and Muriel threw herself between Hill and Angel, clasping the mare's head in her arms, and the heavy whip descended on the delicate shoulders, which showed pink and then scarlet through the thin muslin of her gown.

Before Hill's raised arm could fall again it was grasped by a strong hand, and a fierce voice hissed:

"Madman, would you strike a woman?"

For a moment Hill's glance met the stern eyes of the overseer, then it wavered and fell on the girl.

"Muriel, are you there? Did I hit you? I didn't mean to," he said weakly. "Did it hurt?"

"Hurt!" cried Paton, his eyes fairly blazing. "Do you know that you might have killed her?"

"She shouldn't have interfered," said Hill sullenly.

"Not another word or by heaven I'll kill you," said Paton. Hill shrank from the fury in the other man's eyes and slunk away to the house.

"My darling," said Paton in a voice so fraught with love that the girl's heart quivered with a joy that was almost pain, "did he hurt you very much?" And his lips tenderly pressed the bruised shoulder.

"It does hurt most awfully, but I really think that he did not know I was here," answered Muriel, glancing up through her tears. "But, oh, look at poor Angel."

The chestnut, lying huddled in the sand, was truly a pitiable sight. She had won out, indeed, but at what a cost! Her head was cut and bleeding, her eyes swollen and closed, and she panted and groaned with pain.

"Oh, do you think she will die, Wilfred?" asked Muriel.

"No; but you'll get sunstruck here, go back to the house, dear, and get Mrs. Hill to bathe your shoulder. I'll tend to the mare. And, Muriel, I can't stay at Cowara now. I've been repeatedly offered the management of Murts, but—I—I could not leave until I knew if you cared. I'm not worthy, I know, I've such a vile temper"— Muriel shook her head. "But now, now—you'll let me come for you when I get straightened out over there, won't you?"

Again Muriel looked up, and his eyes drank deep from the radiance of hers.

"And Angel?" she whispered.

"Oh, I'll buy her from Hill. He won't refuse to sell her for the price I'll offer, I know."

* * * * * * * *

Three months later Angel was one of the leaders in the four-in-hand behind which Paton drove his bride to her new home. It was a new world through which they traveled, for the rain had come and green grass covered the once arid earth; flowers bloomed on every side and birds sang in the trees. And it was a new Angel, who, with arched neck, led the team, proudly conscious of the precious burden she carried and of the confidence reposed in her by her new owner.

Going for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Don't put yourself in this man's place but keep a bottle of this remedy in your home. There is nothing so good for Colic, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery and Diarrhoea. It is equally valuable for Summer Complaint and Cholera Infantum and has saved the lives of more children than any other medicine in use.

When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

You, or some one of your family, are sure to need this remedy sooner or later and when that time comes you will need it badly; you will need it quickly. Why not buy it now and be prepared for such an emergency? Price, 35 cents.

Wolfe Tone.

A desultory and enormous reader of plays and novels, with an impish humor and a facility and felicity of quotation which never deserted him under the most terrific circumstances, Wolfe Tone's style is throughout literary and in that sense artificial, but he had a passion for facts and a healthy determination to see things as they really were. He was perfectly free from every kind of illusion, delusion and humbug.

He was very much alive to the humorous side of all things, including himself. The diaries are full of entries like this:

"I cannot help this morning thinking of Gil Blas when he was secretary to the Duke of Lerma. Yesterday I dined with Carnot. Today I should be puzzled to raise a guinea."

Wolfe Tone at the bottom of his heart was grave enough. His death is warrant for this. But he belonged by the order of his mind to the mockers. Tone's widow, though she had doubtless a good deal to put up with, mourned her husband's loss for seventeen years, when she married one who shared her veneration for Tone's memory. His son grew up to be proud of his father's sufferings in what he was taught to believe was a good cause. Ireland has never forgotten Tone and probably never will.—Contemporary Review.

Needed No Entertainment.

Mrs. Granger looked at her suburban neighbor and decided that a person with such a becoming hat must be in a state of vanity to need chastening of spirit.

"Isn't it a real trial to have Mr. Joyce so devoted to the new club?" she said in a soft tone fraught with tender sympathy. "Mr. Granger, of course, likes the club, and we go sometimes, but he'd just as soon sit quietly at home with me, evening after evening."

"It's lovely for you," said Mrs. Joyce, and the face under the becoming hat was sweet and guileless, "but then, you know, the two men have always been different ever since they were boys together. Mr. Joyce always wants a good deal of pleasure and entertainment, whereas Mr. Granger has never cared for anything of the sort."

The Traitor's Stone.

A curious specimen of the famous Traitor's stone of Rome is still preserved in England. It is a large round piece of sandstone, much of the appearance of a millstone, with a few apertures which make it bear a faint resemblance to the human face. At one period in Roman history it was the custom to have all persons suspected of traitorous conduct place their hands in the mouthlike opening. If the stone bit their fingers the prisoners were deemed guilty.

Japanese Prison Food.

The food given the prisoners in Japanese prisons is in proportion to their conduct and industry, the prisoners who do not conduct themselves as they should receiving a cake of rice, which must last for seven days, while in the case of the orderly prisoners the same cake lasts only four days. The prisoners who conduct themselves properly receive also a little horse meat and potato or pea sauce with their meals.

They Go Together.

"And what are you going to do when you're a man?" asked the visitor.

"I've been thinking," replied the bright boy, "of starting an elephant farm in Virginia."

"An elephant farm?"

"Certainly. Why not? They raise peanuts there."—Philadelphia Press.

How Health Is Gained.

The story of a great deal of the unhappiness of women is a story of lost health. Women wonder how it is that little by little the form loses plumpness, the cheeks grow hollow and sallow, and they feel tired and worn-out all the time. In a large proportion of cases when women are weak, run-down and failing off in flesh and looks, the root of the trouble can be traced to womanly diseases which undermine the general health. The proof of this is that women who have been cured of painful womanly diseases by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription have recovered their general health, gained in flesh and in appearance.

$500 Reward for Women Who Cannot be Cured.

The proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States for any case of Leucorrhœa, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"I suffered for three years with ovarian trouble," writes Mrs. Ana Quinn (Treasurer Woman's Athletic Club), of 524 Sycamore St., Milwaukee, Wis. "The treatment I took did not do me a particle of good, until a good neighbor who had been using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription advised me to give it a trial. The next day took my first dose, and it was my first step toward recovery. In nine weeks I was a different woman; my flesh which had been flabby became firm, complexion clear and my eyes bright. It was simply an indication of the great change within from pain and suffering to health and happiness."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

BLOOD POISON

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; so while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, sickness of the skin, eruptions or blotches, ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "old fogy" treatment—beware of mineral poisons—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood becomes pure and enriched, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. A COLUMN DEVOTED TO ORGANIZED LABOUR

For Presentation of the Claims and Interests of Labour.

"Labour Overcomes all Things" the Better when Working in Harmony.

LABOUR DAY.

Monday is Labour's holiday, though one would think that labour has had far too many holidays. This summer with its frequent days of rain has forced a good many unwelcome holidays on outside workers. Yet it is perfectly proper that the great day set apart by statute for the enjoyment of labour and a demonstration of its principles should be suitably observed. Without such a special day the world is apt to forget what it owes to labour; for there is a large element in our population that never thinks of labour aside from an involuntary and unappreciative enjoyment of its fruits. The world wants to be reminded that it owes everything—yes everything—in the way of material, comfort and life's conveniences to labour. Even a large share of the intellectual and moral advantages the people enjoy comes from the results of labour, for, as labour creates all wealth, what all wealth brings is owing to labour. We often forget that the humblest fabourer working in the humblest capacity is an indispensable cog in the great wheel that moves the immense machinery of the highest civilization. Labour Day with its specific demonstrations reminds of this fact and emphasizes the growing power of organized labour. It is to be hoped that the almost omnipresent rain which has provided so many uninvited holidays for workingmen this summer, will forbear to spoil a holiday that is much desired. It is to be hoped that the labour people, and that means all of us, will have fine weather for the excursion to Jubilee Point and the picnic at that place. Apart from the general enjoyment and sporting features incidental to all such occasions the main feature will be an address upon "The Labour Question" by Mr. James Simpson, an eloquent labour orator, of Toronto.

LOBOUR NOTES.

Charity is the real law of life. It brings heaven and earth just a little closer together. It cements the life of the young to that of the old. It is apart of every nature, and this brings man in every condition of life to the realization that others are dependent upon him. Let us lend our every moment to the building up of any method that may extend this great fraternal principle, and bring mankind into touch with the actual needs of his fellow beings.

• • •

How many mechanics, marchants, bankers, lawyers, politicians, believe it to be their duty to carry out the will of God in their business, political, and social life? How many feel that the quality and strength of their spiritual lives is measured by the way they conduct themselves in their chosen callings? Do Christian men make shoes, sell dry goods, conduct banks, organize corporations, practice law, administer civic functions, on the principle of love to God and man? Do they believe that the principles of cross-bearing and social service, as set forth by Christ, are to be the standards governing their whole lives? The answer is an emphatic "No!" They do not apply the Gospel to their everyday lives, partly because of the hardness of their hearts, but, in no small degree, because they are defectively educated by the pulpit and the schools. They inherit the old notion that religion, politics, and business are separate and distinct spheres of human activity. Ceremonial or creedal religion and subjective emotional experiences have been so emphasized that it is hard for men to believe it to be a privilege to serve God by an honest and faithful performance of one's daily tasks.

• • •

No human being ever lost anything of value by appreciative words and acts towards another. It is such a grand, beautiful universe—there is so much room between us and the stars for generous and broad emotions—there is such a vast audience, human and divine, for each one of us—why not realize it and reach out helpful hands and warm thoughts to one another, as we journey along toward the goal. One soul can no more crowd another in God's glorious firmament. Let us be ashamed of every petty emotion that creeps to our minds and hearts, and shut the door upon it, and open wide the portals of our souls to all that is great, broad, generous and noble.—Exchange.

A WOMAN'S SYMPATHY.

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too, but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need to do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so I shall be happy and you will be cured for 2c—the cost of a postage stamp. Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. Mrs. F. D. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont. Orange Lily is recommended and sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne 245 George street. s-w

A Missionary Farewell.

Millbrook, Sept. 1.—(Special.)—A large meeting was held in the Methodist church to say good-bye to Rev. W. E. Smith, M.D., and wife, who are returning to their missionary labours in west China. Dr. and Mrs. Smith first went to China eight years ago, representing the forward movement of Cobourg and Peterborough districts. The meeting presided over by the pastor, Rev. G. R. Clare. A fine programme was provided, after which refreshments were served. Many friends came from surrounding churches to wish the departing missionaries God speed.

Kept Poor by Doctor's Bills.

Many a family is kept poor by doctors' bills when just as good and often times better results could be obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills which sell at 25 cents a box of twenty-five doses. As one pill a day is the most frequent dose under any circumstances there is no treatment obtainable which costs so little and at the same time none which brings about such excellent results in derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels.

Everyone interested in rugby is asked not to make any dates for Wednesday evening next, but to attend the annual meeting of the club in the Oriental Hotel.

• • • •

Let there be a bumper crowd at the annual meeting and show the public that rugby is not a dead issue. Peterborough must have some kind of a championship this year, either senior or intermediate or junior and there's nothing like getting right down to business at the outset.

BASEBALL.

The only attraction in Peterborough for Labour Day are the two baseball games between the Marlboros and the local team. The games are bound to be interesting as both teams are playing fast ball at present. The visitors are one of the fastest amateur teams in the province, but Manager Whitcroft is confident of taking at least one fall out of them. Both games will be well worth witnessing.

• • • •

The teams to play the two games with the Marlboros on Monday will be picked from the following:—E. Pilling, Graham, Sheridan, Long, Whitcroft, McCorry, J. Pilling, Lamont, Parker, McDonald, Grady.

• • • •

The locals had a good workout this afternoon in preparation for Monday's games.

• • • •

McCorry will twirl the morning game and Parker of Oshawa will pitch in the afternoon.

• • • •

Toronto dropped two games to Buffalo yesterday.

• • • •

The Charlotte Street Guild team play the Campbellford T. V. L. team on Monday.

THE TRIGGER.

The D. R. A. matches were concluded yesterday, the shooting as a rule being good. The local shots figured in the Governor General's match, Pte. C. Curtis scoring 175 for a $5 prize while Col.-Sergt. W. H. Moore scored 173 for the same money.

ATHLETICS.

All of those who are desirous of making up an athletic team to participate in the championship meet of the athletic league of the Y.M.C.A. of Canada at Toronto, Oct. 1st., are asked to meet the physical director at the association Monday evening, Sept. 5th. The team will be composed of six men.

BEAUTY OF SKIN PURITY OF BLOOD

Ancient and Modern Ideas on These Interesting Subjects.

UP-TO-DATE METHODS

For Purifying and Beautifying the Skin, Scalp, Hair and Hands.

Socrates called beauty a short-lived tyranny, Plato a privilege of nature, Theocritus, a delightful prejudice, Theophrastus a silent cheat, Carneades a solitary kingdom, Homer a glorious gift of nature, Ovid a favor of the gods. Aristotle affirmed that beauty was better than all the letters of recommendation in the world, and yet none of these distinguished authorities has left us even a hint of how beauty is to be perpetuated, or the ravages of age and disease defied. Time soon blends the lily and the rose into the pallor of age, disease dots the fair face with cutaneous disfigurations and crimsons the Roman nose with unsightly flushes, moth, if not rust, corrupts the glory of eyes, teeth, and lips yet beautiful by defacing the complexion, and fills the sensitive soul with agony.

If such be the unhappy condition of one afflicted with slight skin blemishes, what must be the feelings of those in whom torturing humours have for years run riot, covering the skin with scales and sores and charging the blood with poisonous elements to become a part of the system until death?

It is in the treatment of torturing, disfiguring humours and affections of the skin, scalp and blood, with loss of hair, that the Cuticura remedies have achieved their greatest success. Original in composition, scientifically compounded, absolutely pure, unchangeable in any climate, always ready, and agreeable to the most delicate and sensitive, they present to young and old the most successful curatives of modern times.

RANGERS' VISIT TO BEAUTIFUL BARRIE

Royal Reception, Hospitable Entertainment and Splendid Enjoyment.

Both Battalion and Band Created a Most Favourable Impression —Graphic Record of the Annual Outing.

Press Tent, Headquarters 57th Regiment, P. R Camp, town park, Barrie, Ont., Sunday, Sept. 4th. (Special staff correspondent.) — The beautiful park, of which the citizens of the pretty town of Barrie are proud, and not without reason, never in the memory of the oldest inhabitant, presented such a scene as it did this afternoon. The band of the 57th Regiment gave a sacred concert, and the citizens of Barrie, appreciating, as they do, good music, were but in thousands enjoying the stirring martial music given by Bandmaster Gliddon's famous aggregation of musicians. The town of Peterborough has more reason than ever of being proud of their splendid band, for never have they performed more creditably than they have since the arrival of the regiment in Barrie, and Barrie people, who are noted for their appreciation of good music, have shown unmistakably that the 57th Band is an organization that in their estimation, is entitled to rank with the best military bands in the Dominion. An evidence of this fact is provided. Last night the band gave a concert in the beautiful opera house here, and the manager of the house, in conversation with an officer after the close, said that the 48th Highlanders Band of Toronto, had played there, and the famous Godfrey's band had been there twice, but neither of them had rendered music equal to that of the 57th Band.

Barrie has done itself proud in welcoming the regiment, and the hospitality extended by its citizens has been thoroughly appreciated by the members of the regiment. The Barrie people have evidently fallen in love with the 57th, and the latter, are they enjoying their visit? Well, that question would not be asked by anyone who has seen the way the members are making themselves at home.

Every minute of the time since the arrival of the regiment Saturday morning has been thoroughly enjoyed, and the only regret is that the time is flying all too rapidly.

Visit of the 57th—Court House and County Offices, Barrie.

The Town of Barrie.

This beautiful town, upon the head of Kempenfeldt Bay, deserves some little mention, and its attractions from a residential point of view, form one of its highly desirable features.

As Rome sits on her seven hills, so Barrie sits on a series of amphitheatre terraces, formed by the receding waters of an ancient inland sea, giving it a most delightful situation, occupying, as it does, the pleasant and commanding slopes which flank the shores of Kempenfeldt Bay at its north-westerly extremity.

These terraces were utilized by the engineers in laying out this town for several streets which run parallel with the banks of the bay, and have given opportunity for extensive avenues, and the visitor, as he descends from one to the other, has unfolded to him the grandeur of the magnificent scenery in this busy mart of trade.

The situation is striking, irrespective of what means the traveller takes of reaching it, and the view from the train, as it pulls into Allandale, or from the deck of the steamer, as it approaches the dock, is one that leaves a lasting impression on the mind of the visitor, and it has been called more than once "The Naples of America," by eminent travellers.

Its corporate limits extend from the boundary line between Oro and Vespra, about two miles east from the head of the bay, to and around the head of the latter point, where it joins Allandale. This gives it about three miles of shore line, the eastern two miles of which abound in a succession of beautiful undulations — charming glades, verdure carpeted and forest flanked; gentle swells, revelling in the natural and acquired charms of grove and garden, and decided eminences crowned by symmetrical evergreens and adorned by many of the finest residences in northern Ontario.

Towards the western limit of the bay the shore subsides in a comparatively level area, with gentle elevations rising with tolerable uniformity at short distances from the water edge. Along this level stretch, in close proximity to the beautiful sheet of water, whose limpid loveliness embellishes the surrounding landscape as a gem in the bosom of nature, the commercial institutions of the town are located.

In general features of attractiveness this portion of the town will compare favourably with the finest and most modern towns in Canada, the main street, (Dunlop) being one of the most imposing business avenues to be found outside of the larger cities.

The history of the town dates from 1819, though prior to that year the highway now known as the Penetanguishene road, was cut by the Imperial Government, and when the war of 1812 broke out the site of Barrie figured in the history of Britain by the establishment of a depot through which military stores were shipped by portage to the upper waters of the Nottawasaga River, en route for the posts of the upper Lake Huron and the Georgian Bay. These stores were brought from Holland Landing by boat, and were landed about where the present railroad station now is.

It will thus be seen that Barrie's history was really commenced in military life, and the military spirit is still strong there.

A Record Trip.

The officers and men of the 57th Regiment are loud in their praises of the G.T.R. officials. The transport arrangements were highly satisfactory, and as a consequence the men landed here in good spirits, and they have not left them yet. The train, in charge of Trainmaster Irwin, of Lindsay, left Peterborough at 9.40 and at 12.40, exactly three hours afterwards, it pulled into the Barrie station. This is a run which has seldom, if ever, been equalled on the Midland division of the G.T.R., and one which reflects great credit upon Mr. Irwin, who had charge of the arrangements for the transportation of the regiment. The conduct of the men while on the trip was on the whole of such a nature as to merit the commendation of the officers.

One of the members of the regiment suggested that the reason such a rapid run was made to Barrie was that an ex-member of the 57th, Mr. Might, was the fireman on the trip.

Upon the arrival at Barrie, representatives of the 35th Regiment, Simcoe Foresters, two companies of which are located in Barrie, were at the station and welcomed their visiting brother military men. The camping grounds were in complete readiness to receive the regiment, and to them the men immediately marched, headed by the Bugle Band. Everyone turned in for a few hours rest, and at six o'clock, when reveille sounded, every man was up and ready for duty or pleasure.

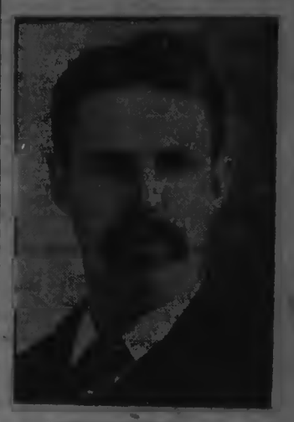
The First Day.

The morning of Saturday was spent in taking in the sights of the pretty town of Barrie, and after dinner the steamer "Islay," which had been placed at the disposal of the visitors, was boarded for a trip round the bay upon the head of which Barrie is situated. The regiment headed by both bands paraded from the camping grounds to the boat, and the line of parade was crowded by spectators. Two delightful hours were spent enjoying the scenery visible from the deck of the trim little steamer, and upon return to town a reception in a marquee on the camping grounds was tendered by the ladies of the town.

In the evening the concert given by the 57th Regiment Band in the Opera House was attended by a large number of the regiment, as well as a good crowd of citizens of the town, and the band once more scored a great success. The Opera House in Barrie deserves special mention. It is one which would do credit to a much larger town and one which, if it were in Peterborough, would be, perhaps, more thoroughly appreciated than it is in Barrie. The attendance at the concert was not as numerous as it would have been had it taken place on a different night, but the universal opinion of those who were there was that it was the best of the kind that had ever been rendered in Barrie. Every number on the following programme was well received, and encores demanded—

Overture, "William Tell" ..... Rossini
American Sketch, "Down by the Suwannee River" ..... Myddleton
Fantasia, "Reminiscences of Ireland" ..... Godfrey
Tenor solo, vocal, Mr. Jos. Legg.
Theme and Variations, "My Old Kentucky Home" ..... Dalby
Overture, "Poet and Peasant" ..... Von Suppe
Euphonium Solo "Old Folks at Home", Stewart
Mr. Ed. Cronk.
Descriptive, "The Forge in the Forest" ..... Michaelis
Scenes from "Florodora" ..... Stewart
God Save the King.

A ball in the market hall was also one of the features of Saturday night. This was attended by about fifty couples, nearly all the officers of the regiment being present. The affair,



Mayor W. A. Boys.

Barrie's Chief Magistrate, and one of the most enthusiastic members of the Reception Committee.

which was a thoroughly enjoyable one, was given under the auspices of the Tennis Club, to whom the thanks of the regiment are due for their hospitality thus extended. By midnight all the stragglers had reached camp, and everything was quiet until morning.

A Quiet Sunday.

Sunday was a day of rest to the visitors, and the men conducted themselves in a thoroughly respectful manner.

At 11 o'clock, the visiting regiment with the two town companies of the 35th Regiment, and bands, paraded to Christ Church, where Rev. Mr. Whitton, the rector of the church and chaplain of the 35th Regiment, preached an inspiring sermon on the qualifications of a soldier. The opening exercises of the service were conducted by Rev. J. C. Davidson, Chaplain of the 57th, while the lesson was read by Lt.-Col. Miller. Rev. Mr. Whitton took for his text: St. Luke, 7; 8.—"For I also am a man set under authority, having under me soldiers; and I say unto one, go, and he goeth; and to another, come, and he cometh; and to my servant, do this, and he doeth it." The speaker dwelt on the importance of a soldier being brave and courageous, and instanced exhibitions of conspicuous bravery in British soldiers. He said that Canadian soldiers had taught the British Empire a lesson by their conduct in the South African war. The church in which the service was held was packed to the doors and hundreds were unable to obtain admittance. The 57th never presented a better appearance on parade than it did Sunday morning, and many complimentary references were made upon their smart appearance. The streets were lined with spectators as the regiments marched past.

During the afternoon many hundreds of citizens found their way to the camping grounds, and the sacred concert given by the 57th Band was listened to with pleasure. The new colours of the regiment were exhibited, and called forth many expressions of admiration.

In the evening Lt.-Col. Miller, with the majority of the officers attended the Collier street Methodist church. The Commanding Officer read the lesson in this service and Mr. Jos Legg sang in splendid voice, "Abide With Me."

The weather during Saturday and Sunday was perfect. During last evening there was a shower, but during the day no more pleasant weather could be wished for.

Monday's Programme.

If Barrie was never wakened up before it certainly was during Monday, and the main street during the forenoon was the scene of a series of impromptu battles in which the infantry, cavalry and artillery forces

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I heartily recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a Uterine Tonic and Regulator. I suffered for four years with irregularities and Uterine troubles. No one but those who have experienced this dreadful malady can form any idea of the physical and mental misery those endure who are thus afflicted. Your Vegetable Compound cured me within three months. I was fully restored to health and strength, and now my periods are regular and painless. What a blessing it is to be able to obtain such a remedy when so many doctors fail to help you. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is better than any doctor or medicine I ever had. Very truly yours, MISS MARY WHITTAKER, 604 36th St., W. Savannah, Ga."—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

THE GROWING TIMES.

The Globe has been conducting a series of careful investigations into the condition of manufacturing establishments in the city and has discovered tangible evidence of expansion in every direction—factories have not only had better business and larger outputs but have employed a greatly increased number of hands. That expansion in the last ten years has not been confined to a few industries is conclusively proven as The Globe continues its investigations. In every line of manufacture new and enlarged factories, with a considerable increase in the number of employees, is the order. In the latest article, dealing with three distinct varieties of products, reports from nine Toronto establishments are given. All have very greatly enlarged the capacity of their factories, and two are at the present time erecting buildings which will give them double the accommodation provided in the old premises. These nine concerns now have 1,080 employees, while ten years ago the number was only 427, and when the new buildings are completed 50 more will be employed. The wonderful growth of the harness industry in Toronto has been alluded to already in these articles; the other manufacturers of leather goods have also a satisfactory record of progress to present. And there is reason to believe—abundant reason—that this state of affairs applies generally throughout the whole Dominion. We all know without special investigation or seeking the aid of statistics that there has been a tremendously increased activity in every department of national action, in trade, in commerce and in manufacturing. Look for a moment at the great increase of manufacturing exports in the past ten years. We were told by the Conservative papers and orators that under Liberal Government Canadian manufacturers could not thrive, that they would be strangled and die. Yet not only have our manufactories been kept humming to supply home demands, but have been able to invade foreign markets. Take the record for the month of May the month before the close of the fiscal year. In May 1894 the Canadian export of manufactures amounted to only $827,295, ten years later in May 1904 the Canadian export of manufactories had grown to $1,881,399 an increase of more than a million for a single month. Canada is growing and expanding as it never did before and that growth and expansion have been very greatly aided by the wise and moderate policy of the Liberal Government. Keep both hands on the Liberal Government.

Sir Charles Tupper has arrived in Canada, brought hither no doubt by the rumours industriously published in Conservative newspapers, of a general election in the near future. The Liberals will be well pleased if Sir Charles begins predicting a sweeping Conservative victory. At the last general election the opportunistic baronet predicted the establishment of the Grits from ocean to ocean and we all know how his prophesy turned out.

MR. JAS. SIMPSON ON LABOUR QUESTION

Interesting Address on Sunday Afternoon in S. O. E. Hall.

Labour men Must Stand Together—Difficulties to be Faced.

The audience which gathered in the Sons of England Hall on Sunday afternoon was not a large one but those who attended heard an eloquent and forcible address on the labour question by Mr. J. Simpson, of Toronto, the labour orator. He held the close attention of his hearers for an hour and all were deeply interested in his stirring remarks. The chair was occupied by Mr. George Sloan, president of the Trades and Labour Council.

Mr. Simpson was pleased to have an opportunity of again visiting Peterborough for his sympathy with labour had not grown any cooler since his former visit and he had learned much from his associations with organized labour on the Sabbath day. The great question of man's and the people's industrial problem was just as important as many others dealt with on the Lord's Day. The problem was indeed a great one. It was often the case that monetary interests of others were jeopardized. The speaker wished to bring before his hearers some of the essential facts of the trades union movement. The industrial problem was very important amongst the political and economic problems of the day. The country was increasing its population, its resources were being developed more and more and in every way things were making progress and it was incumbent upon the labouring classes to see what future was ahead of them. If there ever was a time when men interested in organized labour should speak fearlessly in regard to their convictions, it was at the present time.

That trades union as organized has been recognized as one of the great bulwarks of civilized nations, was the opinion of a great statesman and this in the speaker's opinion, should be the opinion of all men. The labour movement was one which should receive the sympathy of all classes. It was absolutely necessary to belong to a union because here the industrial classes would find their only safety. In churches, in politics, in parties, in educational institutions, there was to some degree a safeguard, but there was no absolute guarantee of success and if a man wished to maintain his present position or to better it, he must recognise the labour union.

The labour men were practically face to face with a new problem and that was in the organization of employers' unions; the employers were becoming united on exactly the same lines as were the employees; they were paying their regular dues and were ready to stand together to protect one another's interests. The concern of one was the concern of all and the sooner men realized the importance of this statement the better for all. If any one individual of the union had trouble with his employee or employees, the matter was given the attention of all and was thoroughly investigated to see if there was a principle at stake.

The speaker spoke of the labour conditions at present existing in Toronto, where the labour men were splendidly organized in a complete and systematic manner. In that city the employers were getting together in an organized manner and had a large fund to assist in carrying out their plans.

There was a necessity for an even more solid movement on the part of the labour men. The speaker cited an instance of how William Rockfeller and Henry Rogers made 36 millions of dollars without scarcely raising a hand or risking a dollar. In the United States these great financial schemes were carried on successfully worked and our own cities were not guiltless of these schemes. There were indeed many of these forces operating against the movement of the trades union, but each must be and could be successfully met.

In reference to the employers' association, the speaker said there was an agreement amongst the employers not to offer higher wages to a workman in order to have him leave his present position. Thus a workman had to stay at the same wages with no encouragement to better himself or improve upon his work. But though the opposition was becoming greater, the trades union was not going under and would not suffer permanently because of the solidity of the employers' union. The employers could not take a better step to solidify the trades union than the course they are at present pursuing. The trades union would solidify with the same zeal and sincerity as those in opposition to it were doing. The employers' union were organised not merely to fight the trades union in the industrial, but in the political field and if the employers of the country feel it a benefit to go in the political field, there is no greater force to contend with than the great mass of the industrial people.

We are industrially associated with those of the same craft on the other side of the line who have organized themselves for protection also. The international movement is growing and if there is an international unity, we will have a more solid front than ever. The trades union of Canada had already received from the treasury of the international union, three or four times as much as was paid in dues. The strength of the international treasury was such as to help to win strikes, which would otherwise fail. The employers of both countries were united and in the States the employers' union was very strong; in New York city alone, the strength financially being 500 millions. The labour unions must put up a brave fight for when they lose the right to have something to say about their work, the employers will try to make them work for as little as possible and as long as possible. The interests of the citizens should be considered more largely than is the case at present and one's only thought should not be for private gains.

The expressed principles and ideal of life given us by Christ could not be carried out in this day under the existing industrial conditions was Mr. Simpson's opinion. He believed it impossible to do unto others as you would men should do unto you. There was too great a desire to take from others to gain for oneself. A man has to resort to certain things in business, which his neighbor resorts to, to attract people or go to the wall. The speaker gave an illustration of this idea and stated that the commandment "Thou shalt not covet" was being overlooked every day in many forms of business in order to make personal gains and by so doing continual strife and animosity were created.

Redemption as far as the industrial condition was concerned depended upon the efforts of organized workers in the country, because if there was to be a different state of affairs industrially and economically speaking, the initiative must come from the organized labour people. The material condition at present had a great deal to do with the condition of the country religiously, socially and politically. The speaker was not the man to get outside the church and grumble about its work or management, for he believed that the church was doing a good work and was one of the great agencies toward the raising of life to a higher plane, but there were those in the clergy who were preaching for what money they could receive and not because they were called to the work and as far as preaching the truth was concerned they were far from the gospel and from Christ. He believed that many did not profess to follow Him but got up and preached nevertheless. He was sorry to have to say this, but he knew such was the case. He realized that many were not fulfilling their true mission. He knew of three young men who had taken the solemn vows of a minister and gave their lives over to work for Christ, but who soon forgot these vows when they saw a chance to better themselves financially by accepting positions in the commercial world. Men should preach fearlessly about the conditions of things as they exist and if the clergy preach as they should there would be more said about the economic and industrial conditions.

The day was coming rapidly when the whole social fabric and industrial conditions would be on a different basis and when the man who "the shovel would be crowned with the same glory as the great financier. If industry were on a proper basis there would be no great financiers.

The speaker believed in the principle that any special ability which the creator has given a man, should be used in such a way that his fellow men might get the maximum of his ability and genius. We should be true to ourselves to our bodies, wills and intellects and the glory of the future would be ours, and our emancipation would soon come. The future is open before you and if you live for ten or twenty years you will see a wonderful advancement in the condition of the industrial workers. There is a unity throughout the country. Be true to yourselves is the great purpose set before you and when we gain the rights we should enjoy, you will feel that you have no little part in the glory. In the solidarity of your course will be the ultimate success.

A vote of thanks moved by Mr. W. J. Johnson and seconded by Mr. McAuliffe was tendered the speaker for his able address.

Kept Poor by Doctor's Bills.

Many a family is kept poor by doctors' bills when just as good and oftentimes better results could be obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills which sell at 25 cents a box of twenty-five doses. As one pill a day is the most frequent dose under any circumstances there is no treatment obtainable which costs so little and at the same time none which brings about such excellent results in derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels.

Most Unique.

London, Sept. 6.—(C. A. P.)—The London correspondent of The Edinburgh Scotsman, referring to the Canadian exhibit at the Bakers' and Confectioners' Exhibition, says it is probably the most unique display of the kind ever seen in this country, demonstrating as it does that Canada is quite capable of competing with the mother country in the production of certain articles of food consumption.

London, Sept. 6.—(C. A. P.)—The movement for the extension of the Pacific cable to Cape Colony and Natal is being revived in South Africa.

Cotton Spinners' Wages.

London, Sept. 6.—(C.A.P.)—The American delegates to the Trades Union Congress now being held at Leeds say that the wages earned in the United States, except in the case of spinners, are no better, considering the purchasing power of money, than obtains in this country. This is no doubt due to the fact that in some centres of cotton spinning and in the manufacturing department French Canadians and Poles were becoming more employed, and generally at considerably less wages, but this more often than not increases the cost of production.

Sick Headache.

"For several years my wife was troubled with what physicians called sick headache of a very severe character. She doctored with several eminent physicians and at a great expense, only to grow worse until she was unable to do any kind of work. About a year ago she began taking Chamberlain's stomach and liver tablets and to-day weighs more than she ever did before and is real well," says Mr. Geo. E. Wright of New London, New York. Fruit is Nature's Laxative.

Fruit contains certain principles which act like a charm on the liver—and keep the whole system well and strong. But these principles in the fruit juices are too weak to have any marked effect on the internal organs. The value of lies in the secret process by which they are made. The fruit juices are so combined that they have an entirely different effect from fresh fruit. Their action is the action of fruit greatly intensified. They have a marked effect on the liver—toning it up—making it active. "Fruit-a-tives" are, without doubt, the only complete cure for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney Troubles.

or Fruit Liver Tablets

DOMINION POULTRY FATTENING STATION.

Something About What They are Doing and Where They are Situated.

Seventeen illustration poultry fattening stations are being operated this year by the Dominion Department of Agriculture under the supervision of Mr. F. C. Elford, Acting Chief of the Poultry Division. The following is a list of these stations, with the names of the operators in charge:—

Ontario.—Bowmanville, A. W. Foley; Holmesville, T. P. Foster.

Quebec.—Bondville, A. P. Hillhouse; Chicoutimi, T. O. Lachance; LaTrappe, Rev. Father Edward; Stanfold, Frank Farley; L'Islet, Auguste Fafard.

New Brunswick.—Andover, George F. Baxter; Rogersville, F. Richard.

Nova Scotia.—East Amherst, Alex. Cigg; North East Margaree, Mariner Smith.

Prince Edward Island.—Vernon River Bridge, Robert Furness; Alberton, H. J. Matthews; Eldon, Robert Longard; Glenfinnan, David Macdonald; Montague Bridge, William Campbell; Mount Stewart, Montague Pigott.

A great deal of the operator's time is given to showing farmers how the work of fattening is done, therefore the salary of the operator and the cost of installing the plant are considered as experimental and educational expenditures. The selling price of the dressed chickens is, however, expected to exceed the first cost of the chickens and the cost of feeding, plucking and marketing. The work of each station is confined to fattening enough chickens for illustration purposes. About 200 is the maximum number kept at one time. The operator is not allowed to be a competing buyer with others who have begun to fatten chickens as a private enterprise. If the farmers are already getting a fair price for their poultry, the station will confine its efforts to illustration or experimental work with even less than 100 birds. Those who are carrying on the work for themselves will be considered not rivals, but friends, and will be offered assistance where possible.

Special attention is being paid to choosing the right sort of bird for fattening; for instance, the blocky type of Plymouth Rock or Wyandotte recommended as suitable for the purpose. The operators are required to spend as much of their time as may be required in assisting those who are engaged in or entering the business, by giving instruction in buying the proper type for fattening, in killing and plucking, packing, shipping, etc.

Only birds of the proper type will be bought this year and seven cents per pound will be paid for these at the stations. An extra good type might well be worth eight cents, while another type of the same breed would be too dear at five cents per pound.

Each operator is considered responsible for the work and success of his own station. He is expected, as far as possible, to find a suitable market for the birds fattened at his station. The Department will, however, endeavour to provide a market for any surplus stock above local requirements. Each station will be conducted as much like a private enterprise as possible, the Department assisting the operator in marketing, etc., as it would a private firm initiating a new business.

The demand for chickens fattened at the Government stations is very brisk this season, and from the offers already received it is expected that the ruling price will be from 11 to 13 cents per pound. Parties fattening chickens according to these books recommended by the Poultry Division, who may wish assistance in marketing can obtain, on application to Mr. Elford, a list of dealers who will be glad to purchase their birds.

RACING FOR MUKDEN

Japs Within 30 Miles and Evacuation Being Prepared For.

REAR GUARD ANNIHILATED

Russian Army Reported to Have Been Cut-Off—Two Hundred Guns Said to Have Been Abandoned—Kuroki's Force Is Again Out Flanking the Enemy—Russians Lose 16,000.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—It is reported at an early hour this morning that Gen. Kuropatkin's rear guard has been almost annihilated, and that the main Russian army is in imminent danger of being surrounded. The Russian losses during the fighting at Liaoyang are placed at 16,000. Kuropatkin in his flight was forced to abandon 200 guns. The race to Mukden goes on. Kuroki is 30 miles away from the Northern Town.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—A despatch received from Gen. Kuropatkin forwarded Sunday evening indicates that Kuropatkin's army and Gen. Kuroki's army are racing for Mukden, and that the result is in doubt.

To Evacuate Mukden.

Mukden, Sept. 6.—Preparations for the evacuation of Mukden are proceeding. The Japanese advance is within 30 miles.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—The Russian losses during the fighting at Liaoyang are estimated at 16,000. There is no doubt here that a number of guns, especially siege artillery, have been abandoned.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—It is reported here, but not yet confirmed, that Gen. Kuropatkin was obliged to abandon 200 guns at Liaoyang. Some of them were damaged in the fighting, and the rest were disabled by order of the Russian commander-in-chief.

Czar For the Front.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—The report that the Emperor will go to the front is again revived, and seems to have foundation. It is known that the Imperial train has been fitted out for a long journey.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—It is officially stated that the United Russian forces are now north of Yentai, except a detachment left at that place to cover the retreat. The Japanese swarmed across the Taitse River, near its junction with the Pensi. The bulk of the Japanese forces is marching direct on Mukden.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—Field Marshal Oyama's whole army is across the Taitse River, and is pursuing General Kuropatkin's forces.

Mysterious Jap Army.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—An Associated Press despatch from Yentai, a place about 10 miles northeast of Liaoyang, makes the significant statement that desultory fighting occurred around Mukden on Saturday last. This must give signs of the presence of the mysterious Jap army.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—According to the latest but unofficial reports to the war office some rear guard fighting is progressing, and the retirement of Gen. Kuropatkin's main army is continuing.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—It is reported that the Baltic squadron will sail a week from date by way of the Mediterranean, but that it will not proceed to the far east if Port Arthur falls.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—General Kuropathin's defeat caused a drop of 4 point of imperial fours on the local bourse.

On to Harbin Now.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—It is impossible at this hour (2.20) to obtain any statement from the authorities regarding the reported preparations for the abandonment of Mukden.

This is the first intimation that such a course is contemplated. If it turns out to be true, it means the abandonment of the whole of Southern Manchuria and the winding up of the present campaign.

In fact, should Mukden be evacuated, there would be no point for wintering the army of a quarter of a million with its many wounded, short of Harbin.

On the other hand, the evacuation of Mukden would give Field Marshal Oyama commodious winter quarters and the practical control of two lines of railway. The Kinchau-Sinmintin line, tapping rich Chinese territory, stops little short of Mukden, with which it is connected by a good wagon road. The report of the prospective evacuation of Mukden, if well founded, would indicate that the crippling effect of the Liaoyang fight on Kuropatkin's army is more serious than has as yet been intimated.

Retreat Cut Off.

London, Sept. 6.—The Daily Mail this morning prints a despatch from Sinmintin, dated Sept. 5, giving a report that Gen. Kuropatkin's retreat has been cut off.

The despatch goes on to say that the Russian troops had advanced in strong force to the south-east of Mukden as far as Taping Hill to oppose any possible attack in the direction of their advance.

A Chinese official, who arrived from Mukden Sunday, says that the Russian troops are leaving for the north, that there are 18,000 men to the east of the city, that the officers and men have become dispirited and that much sickness prevails.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

Kuropatkin Cut Bridges to Hamper the Jap Pursuit.

Tokio, Sept. 6.—A mass of official reports on the battle of Liaoyang reached headquarters yesterday, but they will not be given out until it is possible to put them in order and make from them a concise and detailed story. In the meantime headquarters is refraining from giving anything to the public.

It is generally known that Gen. Kuropatkin succeeded by means of a desperate rear guard action and strong and well-handled flank movements in withdrawing the great bulk of the Russian army, and that he cut bridges to hamper the Japanese pursuit.

Critical interest centres in the operation of the Japanese right wing which occurred late Friday night and early Saturday morning. Gen Kuroki then swung to the westward, his movement being designed to flank the remainder of the Russians' left at Liaoyang itself. It is believed here that Gen. Kuropatkin is bound to lose many prisoners to the Japanese. It is possible, however, that the topographical difficulties, and the overwhelming opposition of the Russians may check this movement on the part of Gen. Kuroki.

Distinguished Japs Killed.

Among the Japanese officers reported killed in the battle of Liaoyang are Lieut. Learochi, a son of Lieut.-Gen. Learochi, Minister of War, and Lieuts. Fukishima and Muratta, both sons of Japanese generals.

Official figures of the Japanese losses and a list of the trophies captured are expected to reach Tokio to-day.

It is believed here that Gen. Kuropatkin's next stand will be made at Mukden, although there is defensible ground south of there.

Field Marshal Yamagata, chief of the general staff, and Lieut.-General Learochi were the hosts at a banquet given last night in honor of the Liaoyang victory. The guests included the Imperial Princes, the members of the Cabinet and the elder statesmen, the staff officers of the army and navy departments and the chiefs of bureaus.

Tokio was illuminated again last night and the principal streets of the city, where a series of lantern processions took place, were thronged with people.

Stakelberg Emerges.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—General Stakelberg's first Siberian army corps, which was reported Saturday by Gen. Kuropatkin as having been cut off to the westward of Liaoyang, has been safely extricated. General Kuropatkin telegraphed at 7 o'clock on Saturday evening that the greater portion of his army was then south of Yentai, about 10 miles northeast of Liaoyang, and that the other portion of it was crossing the Taitse River, and taking up a position on the right bank.

No Hope of Peace.

London, Sept. 6.—Careful inquiry in official and diplomatic quarters here yesterday establish the fact that no hope prevails of the termination of the war at this moment as a result of the series of victories obtained by the Japanese at Liaoyang. There has been no interchange of official views by the neutral European Governments.

Till Close of War.

Shanghai, Sept. 6.—The crews of the Russian cruiser Askold and the torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi, which took refuge after the naval battle of Port Arthur, Aug. 10, and which subsequently dismantled, will remain in China until the close of the war.

Corean-Jap Agreement.

London, Sept. 6.—No official representation will be made by the British Government in regard to the Corean-Japanese agreement, the text of which was cabled to the Associated Press from Tokio last night, but the authorities are taking a lively interest in the extent of the intervention of Japan into the affairs of the Hermit Kingdom. Under the Anglo-Japanese alliance both powers agreed to respect the independence and integrity of Corea, and the agreement between Japan and Corea is regarded as an infringement of Corean independence. But it had been expected that if Japan was successful in the war she would establish a protectorate over Corea. The Russian Embassy pointed out yesterday that at the beginning of the war the Russian Government declared it would not regard the acts of Japan in Corea as binding agreements, and therefore they would not receive the recognition of the Russian Government, a fact, which it is stated in Japanese diplomatic circles, does not concern Japan.

Only Did His Duty as He Saw it

"I deem it my duty to add a word of praise for Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy," says J. Wiley Park, the well known merchant and post master at Wiley, Ky. "I have been selling it for three or four years, and it gives complete satisfaction. Several of my customers tell me they would not be without it for anything. Very often to my knowledge, one single dose has cured a severe attack of diarrhoea, and I positively know that it will cure the flux (dysentery.) PASSENGERS ABOARD THAT WERE LEFT BEHIND.

What Happened at the C. P. R. Station on Saturday Evening.

There were a good many disappointed travellers on Saturday evening, when No 3—the 5.10 C.P.R. express—arrived in Peterborough from the East so loaded that many passengers were forced to remain behind, there being not even standing room. The comments of the passengers who were left were vigorous, and curses not loud but deep mingled with anathemas, milder in form, but just as vigorous in spirit. The railway authorities come in for a good share of the back talk, but it is a pleasure to note that the local station authorities were not to blame—if doing the best absolves from blame. The Examiner understands a week, or ten days, before last Saturday, Station Agent Dodds, anticipating some such a rush of travel as took place, wrote to the proper authorities, requesting to be supplied with two extra coaches, and it appears they were not supplied; hence the disappointment to many persons who were left behind, and they had not even the comfort of blowing up the station agent, who, if he had been personally at fault, would have been easy of access, but he wouldn't have been treated very harshly, for he is known to be as a "rule," so obliging and attentive to the wants and wishes of the travelling public, that it would require a pretty strong "exception" to win him a wigging.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

Mr. Robert Todd to Enter the Field of Journalism in Winnipeg.

Peterborough young men are in demand. A few days ago a letter was received by Principal Fessenden, of the Collegiate Institute, from the Managing Director of the Winnipeg Daily Telegram, asking him if he could recommend from among his best students one with special ability and education to fit him for a position on the staff of that newspaper. Mr. Fessenden forthwith interviewed one of his successful pupils, Mr. Robert Todd, son of Mr. R. J. Todd, Aylmer street, with the result that his application was sent in and he was at once accepted.

Mr. Todd passed, in a very creditable manner, his junior leaving examinations at the close of the recent midsummer term of the Collegiate Institute, and the opening which has followed to engage in the influential field of journalism must be highly gratifying to his teachers, parents and himself.

Mr. Todd has many warm friends in town who will be proud to hear of his advancement. He was an active worker in the First Church of Christ, Scientists, of town, and on Monday, learning of his early departure the members presented him with a purse of money accompanied by the following pleasing address:—

Peterborough, September 5, 1904.
To Robt. Todd, Esq., Peterborough.

Dear Robert,—The members of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Peterborough, join in congratulating you on the excellent position you have secured in Winnipeg, and wish you every success in the business in which you are about to engage there.

We shall be very sorry indeed to part with you, andd shall miss you from our Church and Sunday School. We shall long remember your faithful, consistent work while among us, and we feel that, as fellow-members and co-workers, we cannot let you go away without in some way expressing our love and esteem, and we beg that you will accept this little gift as a token of the high esteem in which we hold you. May Divine Love guard your every step, and direct you in all things. We know our Master has promised "Lo, I am with you alway," so that you do not need to feel quite alone, though away from home and loved ones.

Again wishing you, a safe journey and every success in your new work,

Signed on behalf of the Church,
JAS. C. BORLAND, Clerk.
G. A. YOUNG, Treasurer.

Mr. Todd left this evening for Winnipeg on the 5.10 C.P.R. train, followed by the numerous well wishes of his friends.

MARRIED IN CAMPBELLFORD.

Wedding of Mr. O. H. Lehane and Miss M. Malone This Morning.

In the Roman Catholic church, Campbellford, this morning, the wedding took place of Miss Mollie Malone of Campbellford, to Mr. Alfred H. Lehane of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Whibbs. The bride was attended by Miss McMullen of Campbellford, while Mr. Frank Pope of Peterborough was groomsman. Mr. and Mrs. Lehane will reside in Peterborough.

LOCAL LABOURERS HAPPY HOLIDAY.

A Very Successful Excursion to Jubilee Point Yesterday.

A PLEASANT OUTING.

Mr. Jas. Simpson's Address on the Labour Question—Programme of Sports.

The "full dinner pail" was laid away yesterday—Labour Day—by members of the Trades and Labour Unions of Peterborough and a fair representation of the membership attended the excursion, run to Jubilee under the Auspices of the Trades and Labour Council. Everything promised a successful day's outing and such indeed, it proved. Though the attendance was not as large as it might have been, owing no doubt to outside attractions, a crowd of about four hundred people embarked shortly after eight o'clock in the morning on the steamers City of Peterborough and Water Lilly and scow. The trip to Jubilee at this time of year has much to make it popular, and the excursionists undoubtedly appreciated it to the full. Many young people indulged in the pleasures of the dance on the scow, a capable orchestra having been engaged for the occasion. Every arrangement for the day passed off without a hitch, and Labour Day of 1904 was well celebrated, and takes its place among the records of past successes. Arriving at the Point, the excursionists, many of them, had dinner at Jubilee house, while others deprived well-prepared baskets of their burdens. This important function over, the big feature of the afternoon, an address by Mr. James Simpson of Toronto, the well known labour orator, attracted a large audience. In a very able and entertaining manner he discussed those questions which are dear to the heart of the toiler. He is a young man, but his prominence in labour world points to the fact that his judgment is sound and his arguments well founded. This indeed was apparent from his eloquent address. Mr. Geo. Sloane, President of the Trades and Labour Council was chairman and in a brief speech introduced the speaker.

THE LABOUR QUESTION.

Mr. Simpson stated at the outset that his endeavor would be to present some truths with reference to organized labour in this country and in other parts of the world. It was pre-eminently a time when men believed in organized labour, progressive and permanent irrespective of influences brought to bear against it by those opposed, and it would continue to grow in strength and solidity. There never was a time when that strength was as great as the present. Its deeds were in a large measure philanthropic, and it cared for those associated with it as well as those not. To consider that organization had in view the securing of a better wage, the reduction of the hours of labour and improvement of many conditions in labour's world, was to have some conception of its aims. To-day it was tightening the burdens of many men who might otherwise have gone to the grave prematurely because of the distress created by experiences which they could not combat. Hence a fraternal feeling was developing. The speaker impressed the necessity for young men to give more thought to industrial conditions—it was not incumbent upon them to retain the same ideas as those who have lived many years before. They must get out of the rut of custom and use their own brain power, for many conditions that existed now did not exist years ago.

SACRIFICED THEIR ALL.

History furnished numerous instances of not only workingmen but statesmen sacrificing their all for the cause of industry. Reference was made to Lord Shaftsbury who had used all his influence and power to have placed on the statute books prohibiting the employment of children in the work shops of England. True he was ostracised, ridiculed by those in possession of wealth in his country, but his life pointed to what achievements were possible as the result of well directed persistent effort. It was after all the discontented people who really made history. The speaker emphasized the fact that the workingman on the American continent to-day only received from 10 to 25 per cent. of the total profit of of production, while the employer received remainder. This he considered was neither a fair nor equitable share for those who did the work. It was most necessary that men should organize in order to turn to their advantage the many changes that were being brought about, more especially by the increasing use of machinery. Organized labour must so regulate the industrial world that it would not suffer by the introduction of machinery.

THE HOURS OF LABOURR.

"We shall," said he, "improve in such a way as to command the respect of men. We are not satisfied with eight hours a day. I say right here fearlessly, without hope of successful contradiction, that time will come when men will not have to work eight hours a day, and will have more time for culture and recreation. He will produce all that is necessary without working that long. For instance certain printers in New York only work four hours a day and receive $15 a week."

The invention of machinery had no limit and the next score of years would see the most wonderful inventions. He pointed to the amount of waste labour being done and maintained that 50 per cent. of the labour done to-day was wasted.

The future would see greater concentration of effort and every branch of human industry simplified. Speaking of the principle of municipal ownership, he urged, as an instance, if they had every thought how it would play havoc with the legal profession, a great many members of which were parasites living upon the productive classes, obtaining an existence out of corporations which could come under municipal control and hence the necessity for these people might be done away with. He was pleased to see that the co-operative principle was growing in favor with the workingmen, in regard to those commodities constituting the necessaries of life. The pace of the twentieth century was tremendous and the speaker held that just so far as labor was minimized so that proportion would there be reduced hours of labour. Again he impressed the necessity of organization and compactness, and in this connection he reviewed the strike of Toronto street railway employees, and the struggle of the Colorado miners for an eight hour day, which they eventually obtained, and were acquitted of all responsibility for the outrages committed in opposition to their acquisition. Young men should be inculcated with those ideas that would establish them in their industries. Their purpose and interest should be a doing away as far as possible of the competitive system as it existed to-day. The history of the movement was such that greater encouragement than ever before existed at the present time.

WOMEN NOT ISOLATED.

Mr. Simpson stated that women were by no means isolated from the men in this great movement. The day had arrived when woman retained the purchasing power; the money of union men was spent at the stores by the women. No woman would favor her husband getting a low wage if she had any sympathy with her husband as an organized worker. Further, her interest should be such that her purchases should consist only of union goods obtained in stores where these were carried. If all women observed this, the merchants would soon see the necessity of getting union goods from union factories, employing union men.

In conclusion Mr. Simpson explained the working of the Building Trades Union of Toronto, formed for the purpose of greater solidity, to facilitate the settlement of disputes that might arise, and to maintain the interest in a common cause. He pointed to a condition to be deplored in connection with the union movement; it was too often the case that a few men in it did all the work, stood all the abuse, were active in securing improved conditions that would benefit the whole, while the majority did not measure up to their responsibilities. If there were any such in Peterborough they well might blush at the niggardly manner in which they were manifesting loyalty to the movement. He hoped they would carry out in practice what he had said to them in them in principle during his address, and closed with an expression of appreciation at the opportunity afforded to address them.

A vote of thanks was moved by Mr. W. H. Joyce, and seconded by Mr. M. A. McNamara, and carried with three cheers and a tiger for Mr. Simpson.

THE SPORTS.

The programme of sports was next tapped, and the different events held the interest of a large number of people. Following are the results:—

100 Yard Race—1, Fred. McGrath; 2, R. Lee.

Fat Man's Race—1, Mr. A. McNamara; 2, J. Murphy. These two gentlemen state that they can beat any man of their age and weight in the two counties, and are prepared to meet all comers in their class from this locality at the Peterborough Exhibition.

Girls' Race—1, Katie O'Brien; 2, Loretta Ward; 3, Marion Sloane.

Hurdle Race—5 bars, 200 yards—1, F. McGrath; 2, R. Lee; 3, L. Brooks.

A tug-of-war between the Quaker team, under the management of M. A. McNamara, and an eight made up for the most part of Hiawatha braves, was won by the Quakers in three straight heats. The men on the teams were:—

Quakers—John Newell, J. Murphy, Jas. Murphy, John Trotter, Jos. Wall, P. Haley, P. O'Donnell, F. Monrief.

Hiawathas—Jas. Humbert, D. Cowie, D. Cowie, jr.; B. Venette, J. Howard, M. Howard, W. Dennis and F. Simpson.

A half hour's football match between the bachelors and benedicts bristled with much play that ranged from the amusing to the brilliant. The benedicts won by 3 to 1. The teams were:—

Benedicts — W. Parnell, Lorne Brooks, Jas. Simpson, (Toronto), Robt. Wilson, Chas. Murty, T. Cronin, W. Meagher, W. Fry, Archie Moore, Roland Wilson, George Wesley.

Bachelors—Peter Gillespie, A. Blodgett, J. Lasure, P. Haley, S. Fry, D. Doxsee, W. Judd, H. Donovan, J. Sullivan, C. Wesley and C. Snyder.

Mr. Jos. Delaire was referee.

The day's outing proved a most enjoyable one, and great credit is due the gentlemen who carried out arrangements, Messrs. Geo. Sloan, President of the Trades and Labor Council; W. J. Johnston, Secretary; C. Murty, J. McAuliffe; H. Ward, M. Ward, M. Dobson, Thos. Cronin and W. Meagher.

The boats left Jubilee about five o'clock, and a delightful sail home concluded the day's pleasure.

THE CHURCHES.

ST. JOHN'S.

In St. John's on Sunday morning, Rev. Dr. Rigby of Trinity College School, Port Hope, took the service, and preached the sermon. In the evening Rev. Lawrence Skey, M. A., rector of St. Anne's, Toronto, who was announced as a preacher of note, preached a most effective and able sermon. Its deep earnestness and simple, direct eloquence, was very effective.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST.

At the George street church on Sunday the singing was of a most interesting nature. In the morning Miss Bessie Sperry sang "The Homeland," and Miss Bertha Parnell rendered "When the Mists have Rolled Away," both selections being very effectively sung. In the evening Mr. H. Goldy sang in splendid voice "I will not be Long." Miss Parnell sang, "My God and Father while I Stray," with much expression, and Mr. Heard of Toronto sang "Dream of Paradise," with fine effect.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH.

All the services were well attended on Sunday. The rector, evidently rejuvenated by his holidays, preached two inspiring and helpful sermons. At the morning service the sermon was founded upon St. Luke 17, 17: "And Jesus answering, said, Were there not ten cleansed? Where are the nine?" The preacher emphasized the ingratitude which people were apt to feel for mercies freely given, only one of the cleansed lepers having returned to give thanks. In the evening the text of the sermon was Exodus 4, 2, "And the Lord said, "What is that in thine hand?" It was shown that everyone possesses a talent, and should use it to forward the Master's work.

Mrs. Reed, at the offertory in the evening, sang in a most pleasing manner, "A Dream of Paradise." Mrs. Reed is a new and valuable addition to the choir of All Saints.

CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCH.

At the Charlotte street church on Sunday morning Rev. Dr. Crothers, of the George street church, preached in connection with the re-opening services of the church, and the pastor occupied the pulpit in the evening. The music during the day was especially enjoyable. In the morning the choir rendered the anthem "He that Dwelleth," with pleasing effect, and Miss Clara Belleghem sang "Come to the Land of Rest," in splendid voice. Mr. J. Harry Scriver, of Hastings, a baritone possessing a voice of excellent tone and much power, sang very expressively, "O Happy Day." The male quartette sang, "Lead Kindly Light" in good voice, and with marked expression. In the evening the anthem was "Sun of My Soul," with solos by Miss Belleghem and Mr. Breininger. Mrs. W. E. Davis of Cleveland, sang "Come 'unto Me," with good effect, and Mr. Scriver gave an excellent rendition of "Calvary," in which the fine qualities of his voice were advantageously displayed.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

There was a very large congregation at the evening service in St. Andrew's church on Sunday night. Rev. J. G. Potter, the pastor, conducted the service, and Rev. J. J. Wright, Presbyterian missionary in the Yukon, preached the sermon, which was an eloquent and interesting one. He took for the text of his discourse the last verses of the Gospel according to St. Matthew, where is recorded Christ's commission to His apostles, looking to the evangelization of the world, and applied his subject to a consideration of the manner in which the church had fulfilled, and was fulfilling, its mission. He began his discourse by an affecting reference to the intimate manner in which his earlier religious life was associated with St. Andrew's church. He of course referred specially to his work and the work of the church in the Yukon District. Necessarily, methods of work were different from those found necessary in longer settled communities. It was found wise, and an element in successful work, to adapt methods to the conditions prevailing. As the rude men in rude environments could not very easily be drawn to a religious service, per se, means had to be adopted to attract these men and bring them within the sphere of good influences. In his case the rear of the buildings, which represented a church, was devoted to religious services, and the front was a sort of recreation room, where billiards and quiet games were allowed, and where those who were so disposed, could smoke a pipe. While such methods might be open to objection in a community like Peterborough, they were the means found effective in reaching the people of that country — methods had to be adapted to the conditions. The preacher pointed out how the spirit of church unity and co-operation prevailed in that wide wild district. The denominations represented were the Presbyterians, the Anglican, the Methodist, the Roman Catholic, and the Salvation Army. These would not all be represented in one centre of population. Each worked in its own sphere, and an attempt by any one congregation to "jump the claim"—invade the territory of another—would be resented by the people. An earnest tribute was paid to the worth and work of the Anglican Bishop, who has spent twenty-five years of faithful work in the far northern country. A tribute was also paid to the zeal of the Salvation Army, which was doing a good work. Rev. Mr. Wright's general reference to the conditions prevailing, and the work done in the north, was very much similar to the interview with him which was printed in Saturday's edition.

At the offertory, Miss Bryce, of Keene, sang a solo in a very pleasing manner.

THE NORTH PERTH ELECTION PROTEST.

Judgment is Given Voiding the Election.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Stratford, Sept. 6.—The protest against the election of Mr. John Brown, Liberal member for North Perth in the Local House, was tried here this morning before Chief Justice Moss and Justice Street. Only two witnesses were examined, H. W. Brenner and his wife, the former testified that money was offered him to vote for the Respondent, and the latter gave evidence as to having received $5 for the same purpose. It having been previously arranged between the parties that no further evidence would be offered, their Lordships declared the election void, and the seat vacant. The Cross petition was dismissed.

CHEMONG PARK COTTAGES ANNUAL MEETING.

Election of Officers Took Place Last Saturday Evening.

The annual meeting of the Chemong Park Cottagers' Association was held at Chemong Park Hotel on Saturday evening, Aug. 27. A large attendance of members marked the the event, and increased interest was manifested.

The Regatta Committee presented a satisfactory report, showing a small balance over all expenditures.

Arrangements were made for increasing the attractions of this pleasant resort next year and also for improving the 'bus accommodation.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Alex Elliott.
Vice-President—W. R. Hartsborne.
Police Commissioner—Jno. Pope.
Secretary-Treasurer — W. J. Hopwood.

A vote of thanks was passed to the retiring officers for their services, and to Mr. Geo. H. Brown for the use of the room for meeting.

BEAUTIFUL SILVER TROWEL TO BE PRESENTED.

At the Y. W. C. A. Corner Stone Laying To-morrow Afternoon.

There is on exhibition in Gibson's jewelry store window, a beautiful silver trowel, bearing the inscription: "Presented to Mrs. G. A. Cox, by the Y.W.C.A. of Peterborough, September, 1904." The presentation will take place to-morrow on the occasion of the laying of the corner stone of the new Y.W.C.A. building. The trowel, which is of very handsome design, is placed in a silk lined case very attractively filshed.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MR. W. A. BROWN.

Former Resident of Peterboro' Died in Collingwood on Sunday.

At Collingwood on Sunday, the death occurred of William Albert Brown, formerly of this town. The late Mr. Brown was born in Port Hope and for about ten years was engaged in business there with his brother in the firm of Brown Bros. He left here six years ago for Collingwood, where he has since conducted a successful hotel business. He was taken ill a few days ago, his demise being quite unexpected. Heart failure was the cause of death. He was 41 years of age and leaves a wife and child. A mother living in Port Hope, two sisters, Mrs. A. Milne and Mrs. T. H. Hill, of Toronto, and two brothers, George, of Chemong Park, and John of Port Hope, survive him.

The funeral took place this afternoon from the residence of Mrs. E. Brown, 376 Stewart street, and proceeded to Little Lake Cemetery. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. G. Potter, and the pall bearers were, Messrs. C. McClellan, T. Boddy, A. Elliott, C. Stapleton, J. Mervin, T. Fortye.

PETERBORO'S WON DOUBLE VICTORY.

Defeated Marlboros in Two Fast Games Yesterday.

Scores Were 7-4 an 9-5—McCorry Pitched Both Games.

Peterborough won two fast games from the track Marlobros, of Toronto (champions of the Don Valley League) yesterday, the scores being 7—4 and 9—5. The morning game was a see-saw affair and the spectators were kept on the anxious seat until the last visitor was retired. Surplis kept the locals guessing for a couple of innings but after that time they fell on his shoots regularly, but gilt edged fielding behind him, helped him out of many a bad hole.

Dan McCorry for the locals seemed to have everything in the way of shoots and had the hard hitting Marlboros at his mercy. Dan was particularly effective with men on bases. Chris Graham's two fine catches of foul flies near the grand stand was the feature of the game.

The afternoon game was a hard hitting contest on the part of the locals. Nearly every man on the team hit the ball hard, the visiting team's outfield having a busy time gathering in long drives. Lackey, the Marlboros' star slab artist, was reserved to pitch the afternoon game and the way the locals went after him shattered all his good intentions. In one innings he hit five batsmen and with a colspie of bingoes netted four runs. Two men were out when the trouble began. McCorry worked in the afternoon game also and was just as strong and had better control than he had when he pitched the first innings at the morning game. One of the Marlboro players was heard to remark: "I say, Dan, old boy, what kind of coal are you using now?"

Besides pitching both games in fine style, McCorry was there with the stick, making five hits in the two games, four of them in the afternoon struggle.

All the team worked hard and it would be hard to choose between them. A glance over the following score will give a very good account of the game in itself:—

NOTES.

McCorry's work was very creditable yesterday.

McDonald's hitting was a feature in the first game.

Graham caught two men stealing second in one innings in the second game.

Both games were well contested and the crowd certainly got their money's worth.

Keep up the good work boys.

Port Hope will play here next Saturday. Another victory.

The teams were well matched and there was but little to choose between them.

The Marlboros won from the I. C. B. U. team by 4—2 on Saturday.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR CHARLOTTE ST. TEAM.

Won From the Campbellford T. V. L. Team by 12-6 Yesterday.

Yesterday was a winner for Peterborough baseballists. At home the senior team cleared up everything, and abroad victory also perched upon the shoulders of the local players. The champion Charlotte street Guild team journeyed to Campbellford yesterday, and won a victory from the Trent Valley League team of that place by a score of 12—6. It was the first defeat that the Campbellford team has met this year on their own grounds, the team being tied for first place in the League. The game, which was a most interesting one, was witnessed by about two hundred spectators. The local club was unable to get the full team away, but the absent members' places were filled by strong players, who put up a a good game. The winners fielded well and batted the ball in good shape. Roddy, on the slab for the winners, pitched a fine game, keeping the hits well scattered, and being very effective with men on bases. He twice struck out the side, fanning eleven men in the eight innings. He retired in favour of Pilling in the last innings. "Ted" was a little wild at the start, and poked two men in the ribs, but soon steadied down, and retired the next three men on strikes. Thornton caught splendidly, catching four men at second by perfect throws. Ivey, who pitched six innings for the losers, had one bad innings, in the third, when a bunch of hits, aided by a couple of costly errors, gave the winners enough runs to win the game. Cassan, who played with the Auburns last year, pitched the last three innings, and didn't allow a score. The teams were:—

Campbellford — Pringle 1b, Maynard of, Hadoo 3b, Shaw lf, Summerville 2b, Ivey p and ss, Cassan ss and p, Platt c, Fraser lf.

Peterborough — H. Roddy p, W. Thornton c, J. Squires 2b, J. Morphet lf, E. Pilling ss, G. Campbell 3b, A. Fuller rf, L. Derocher cf, N. Jolliffe 1b.

Score by innings:

Peterborough... ... ...109012000—12
Campbellford... ... ...030010101— 6

P. J. Sarginson gave good satisfaction as an umpire.

The local team was well pleased with the treatment received, and several of the boys are very anxious to again visit the town. There are other attractions besides playing ball, however.

LABOR DAY PROGRAM

Many Places Celebrated With Processions and Games.

TORONTO'S BIG BABY SHOW

Twelve Thousand Infants in the Parade in the Queen City—Big Demonstrations at Galt, London, Guelph, Sarnia, Hamilton and Montreal—Each Had Distinctly Local Features of Interest.

Toronto, Sept. 6.—"The miracle of childhood, that upon this sin-ridden, time-weary earth, there should dawn this eternally, angelic mystery of infancy! It was the race carelessly given back to itself, redeemed with a patience that somewhere knows no limit."

These are the words of the latest of the great Canadian novelists in her splendid story, "He That Eateth Bread With Me," and she must have been at last year's baby show to get the inspiration. This year's "exhibit" at the Labor Day baby show yesterday was so much finer than last in its assembly of babies that the judges desire to have it known that nothing like it was ever seen. Seven hundred angelic little mysteries were lined up in rows in the grand stand, and the patience that knows no limit, quite a different and far more exciting game than poker, was in full play. But the babes were "real good," considering the two hours during which they stood on their merits. On a first ballot there were weeded out all but ten or twelve of the miracles of childhood in each class, and last year's champions were also excluded from the competition. The leap-year class for babies resident in Toronto, born on Feb. 29, drew thirty entries.

In the procession there were over 12,000 union men in line, and the parade was one of the finest ever seen here. In addition to the baby competition, already referred to, there was a great program of games and sports.

Good Day in Galt.

Galt, Sept. 6.—A most successful demonstration was held here yesterday by the local trades and labor council. The crowd was the largest that has been in town in many years, and not in the history of the county has there been so big a demonstration. The procession in the forenoon was over two miles long and numbered 1,100 unionists.

Sarnia, Sept. 6.—5,000 marched in the Labor Day procession here.

The Day at London.

London, Sept. 6.—The holiday was a brilliant one in this city, despite the fact that large numbers of citizens are out of town. The demonstration by the different labor organizations of the city was the largest ever held here, and was witnessed by thousands of citizens at Queen's Park. The monster parade left the market square at 12.30 p.m., and was very largely attended, twenty-seven unions being represented. Both city regimental bands were present, as well as a pipers band.

As in Guelph.

Guelph, Sept. 6.—The labor organizations of the city held a grand demonstration here yesterday, commencing in the morning with a trades procession of all the different trades of the city and businesses, and was at least half a mile long, and was headed by the Berlin musical band, and the Guelph band and ended up with the Hespeler-Weimer band. In the morning games were held in the park. In the evening a grand musical concert was held by the Berlin and the Guelph bands.

5,000 in Montreal.

Montreal, Sept. 6.—The annual Labor Day parade took place yesterday. Five thousand took part in the procession, and it must be said that it would be difficult to find a better dressed and more prosperous looking body of workingmen than that which marched through the streets. The Union Jack predominated, while a delegation from Burlington, Vermont, carried the Stars and Stripes. There was no religious ceremonies connected with the demonstration.

Hamilton's Longest.

Hamilton, Sept. 6.—The Labor Day demonstration was the biggest kind of success. The procession was one of the longest ever seen in Hamilton. Its only weak point was the scarcity of floats. The games and sports at the Jockey Club drew a crowd of nearly 10,000. There were fifty-one events for unions and special open program.

Labor and Citizens' Day.

Toronto, Sept. 6.—Yesterday was Labor and Citizens' Day at the Canadian National Exhibition, and there was an immense attendance. The judging of the horses and cattle continued apace, and an immense amount of work in these lines was got through.

The attendance at the Fair yesterday was considerably in excess of any prior day in the history of the Exhibition. As nearly as the directorate could estimate at 9 o'clock last night 96,000 people had passed through the turnstiles.

Death in a Church.

Hamilton, Sept. 6.—While conducting the service at All Saints' Church Sunday evening, Rev. F. Burt threw up his hands and fell to the floor in the reading desk in a dead faint. He was carried to the rectory, but died in a very short time. He was 77 years of age, and was superannuated by the Diocese of Toronto. England was his birthplace, but he had spent the greater part of his life in Canada. At one time he was rector of Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal.

British Ship a Total Loss.

San Francisco, Sept. 6.—The British ship Dumbarton, which went ashore on Point San Pedro on Saturday night, remains on the rocks

LIFE WORTH HAVING

Archbishop of Canterbury on Greatest of Problems.

OUR CITIZENSHIP IN HEAVE

Results of Keeping Person of the Master Ever Before One's Eyes—Besides Enabling Men to Conquer Sin, It Would Enlighten and Deepen in Them Everything Brotherly.

Toronto, Sept. 6.—In St. James' Cathedral on Sunday, in a voice full and rich and confident the Archbishop of Canterbury preached to a full congregation from St. Paul's words to the Philippians, "Our citizenship is in Heaven." He concluded an impressive sermon with these words:

"You cannot be Christians by mere tradition or respectability. The person of the Master must be ever before your eyes with claims as diversified as their faculties." He would help to purge their pollution, to conquer their lusts, to enlighten their minds, to deepen in them everything brotherly, true, and just. Thus would life be worth having, and increasingly so, to the end. They must not make the fatal mistake of imagining the world could become Christian by any other process than by deliberate and courageous acceptance of the law of Christ, and their decision and resolve to follow that law.

Archbishop at the Fair.

Toronto's important visitors, the Archbishop of Canterbury and J. Pierpont Morgan, were early visitors, arriving at the Fair at 9 a.m. His Grace was accompanied by the Bishop of Toronto and other clerical gentlemen, and visited a number of the buildings. He was particularly impressed with the exhibit of furniture and quite surprised that such goods were turned out in Canada. He also priced a number of carriages, and remarked that they were exceedingly cheap, the price being about half of what he would pay in England.

He Really Knows Toronto.

"Now I feel that I really know Toronto," said His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury yesterday when Mayor Urquhart took him up to the top of the City Hall tower and showed him the six wards and the island, and the regions round about.

In the afternoon His Grace addressed the Canadian Club in St. James' schoolhouse, and said many good things which will be of service in laying broad and deep the foundations of Canadian success laying especial stress upon that righteousness which exalteth a nation. Three cheers and a tiger greeted the close of the address.

The City Hall fathers were visited, as well as the Normal School and the Parliament Buildings and the Strachan school, at all of which remarks eminently suitable were addressed by the Archbishop to his audiences.

Of Use Every Day.

Once you become acquainted with the merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment and the scores of ways in which it is useful in every home, you would not think of being without it. Eczema, salt rheum, scald head, tetter, chapping, chilblains, burns, scalds and every form of skin irritation and eruption soon yield to its extraordinary soothing, healing influence.

Steam Barge on Fire.

Goderich, Sept. 6.—The steam barge Abercorn, a Cleveland boat, owned by Captains Baxter and Willoughby of Goderich, was somewhat badly damaged by fire about three o'clock yesterday morning. She had discharged a cargo of coal last week, and was undergoing some repairs here before starting out again. The fire originated from the explosion of a signal lamp and the crew had to make good time to get out of the after part of the boat. The fire department subdued the flames, though it looked as if the whole boat would go. The direction of the wind saved the big elevator from a close call. Insurance amounts to $4,000.

Over 15 Bushels An Acre.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 6.—In Southern Manitoba, good progress is being made with wheat cutting. A few districts are reporting whole crop in stock, while many have as much as a 50 and 60 per cent. cut. To the north of the C.P.R. main line progress has not been so great. Should frost keep off, it appears that the estimate of 15½ bushels per acre for the whole of the Canadian west will probably be realized.

Going for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Don't put yourself in this man's place but keep a bottle of this remedy in your home. There is nothing so good for Colic, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery and Diarrhoea. It is equally valuable for Summer Complaint and Cholera Infantum and has saved the lives of more children than any other medicine in use. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

You, or some one of your family, are sure to need this remedy sooner or later and when that time comes you will need it badly; you will need it quickly. Why not buy it now and be prepared for such an emergency? Price, 25 cents.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Unchanged—Large Hog Receipts and Firm Prices at Buffalo.

London, Sept. 5.—Cattle are steady at 10½c to 12½c per lb; refrigerator beef, 9c per lb. Sheep, 10½c to 12½c, dressed weight.

TORONTO JUNCTION LIVE STOCK.

Receipts of live stock at the Junction market were the largest of the season—114 cars all told, consisting of 2278 cattle, 237 sheep and lambs, 4 hogs, 12 calves and 1 horse.

Shipping cattle ranged all the way from $4.25 to $5.12½ per cwt., but only a very few brought the latter figure, not more than three or four loads. The bulk of exporters sold at $4.50 to $4.80 per cwt., fully two-thirds of them going at these figures. Export bulls sold from $3.25 to $4.25 per cwt.

Butchers' cattle were, if anything, a little higher, especially for the best grades. Best loads of butchers' sold at $4.25 to $4.40; loads of fair to good butchers' at $4 to $4.20; medium butchers' $3.75 to $3.90; common butchers' at $3.60 to $3.75; common butchers' cows, $3 to $3.25, and rough to inferior at $2.50 to $2.85 per cwt.

Several loads of short-keep feeders, for which there was a fair demand, sold at $4 to $4.50 per cwt. for cattle weighing from 1100 to 1200 lbs each.

A few milch cows, less than a dozen, changed hands at $32 to $50 each.

All offerings, sold at $4.75 to $4.90 for lambs, and $3.75 per cwt for sheep.

Veal calves sold all the way from $4 to $5.50 per cwt. The best calf was sold by McDonald & Maybee at $12.

The hogs offered sold at $5.40 per cwt.

William Levack bought a large number of export as well as butchers' cattle at the prices given above, which are his quotations.

THE TILLIKUM.

British Columbia Canoe Sighted Off Beachy Head.

Dover, Eng., Sept. 3.—A three-masted canoe, supposed to be the Tillikum, passed Beachy Head yesterday bound east. The British Columbia sailing canoe Tillikum is only 2½ tons. It is an ordinary dugout carved out of the trunk of a tree by an Alaskan Indian in 1894. The little craft is in command of Capt. J. C. Voyr, who is accompanied by a single companion, named Harrison. The Tillikum left Vancouver in May, 1901, bound for Europe by way of various islands in the Pacific, Cape Horn and the Azores. She was last reported as having sailed from Ponta Belgai, Azores, Aug. 11, for London. At that time she had already covered nearly 40,000 miles of her long journey.

Steps Building Factory.

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 3.—The British cruiser Charybdis has stopped the work of building a factory for the refining of whale products on the French shore. Commander Kellock de Koyllis, commodore of the French squadron in Newfoundland waters, has protested against its construction. Until the recently negotiated Anglo-Gaelic convention is ratified by the French Parliament the French claim that the building of the factory would be an infraction of existing treaties.

An Eight-Year-Old Victim.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Kathleen Cockburn, eight-year-old daughter of M. J. Cockburn, 40 Delaware avenue, was instantly killed at noon yesterday by Carlton and College car No. 764, George Smith, motorman. She was crossing the road behind a furniture van, and did not see the approaching car. The car was running at full speed and struck the little girl on the left side, tearing the flesh from her face and terribly crushing her skull. Coroner Powell has issued a warrant for an inquest.

Accident at D.R.A. Ranges.

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—While shooting at the third range of the first stage of the Governor-General's match yesterday morning, the bolt of the rifle of Capt. Davidson, of the Q.O.R., blew out, striking Capt. C. K. Fraser, of the 53rd Shorbrooke Regiment, who was lying beside him. Capt. Fraser sustained a nasty cut on the right side of the head and on the hand, though fortunately the injuries are not of a serious nature. He was attended by Dr. Gardener.

Manufacturers' Day.

Toronto, Sept. 3.—Although Manufacturers' Day was ushered in with rain the Canadian National Exhibition was a success yesterday. The dinner tendered to the manufacturers by the directorate was the most successful ever held. Among the speakers were Hon. G. W. Ross and Hon. G. E. Foster. Prof. Zavitz, O.A.C., lectured in the Dairy building on "Farm Crops."

Barn Struck By Lightning.

Tiverton, Sept. 3.—A heavy thunder storm passed over this section about 8 o'clock yesterday morning, doing considerable damage, the barn of Mr. John L. McKenzie of the Base Line, Kincardine Township, being struck. The loss is a heavy one.

DIZZY SPELLS AND DYSPEPSIA

Soon Disappeared When the Nervous System was Set Right by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. M. A. Sharp, 346 Dublin street Peterborough, Ont., states:— "For some years I was troubled with indigestion, which developed into nervous dyspepsia, and besides suffering from nervousness, strange dizzy spells would come over me. Hearing of the good results obtained from Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I decided to try it. After a pretty thorough test of this medicine I can say that I never used anything that did me so much good. It seemed to be the very treatment that I needed, and as a result of the use, I am quite restored to health."

Spring Purity

To brew good ale pure, hard water is an absolute necessity.

The solvent powers of water are so great that few springs produce water pure enough for brewing.

Carling's springs were discovered after many years of searching, and the brewery established only when Government analysts deposed that the water never tested less than 99.08 degrees pure.

HIS OWN HEART

By Oliver L. Mitchell

Copyright, 1904, by K. A. Whitehead

Phil Trenton was something of a matchmaker. He wanted his friend Howbridge in the family and was pleased to introduce him to his only sister, Joanna.

"He's all right, Jo," Phil said, "and I hope you won't break his heart badly enough to keep him from finishing the story I'm to illustrate—if you'll pose for me."

Joanna's blue eyes danced—then, and a little later when Phil made an insufficient excuse and left them alone. Howbridge felt as if he had been told to play with a strange little girl. Joanna was quite at ease. The mischievous freedom of her glance contradicted the reserve of her bearing. Howbridge decided that she was fit to be the heroine of an unusual story. She was blond and beautiful and magnificently tall.

"Are you waiting for me to say I enjoyed your last book?" she questioned at last.

"Follow your conscience, Miss Trenton. But did Phil make you read it? I wouldn't mind knowing whether you cried at the right places. Did you?" He leaned toward her. His strong face was clean shaven. His gray eyes were noncommittal. He had the sad mouth and gentle manners of a humorist.

"Oh, I didn't read it," she said.

"Why not?"

"Because I did read your first book. I don't like your women. I'd like to be polite, but you mentioned my conscience."

"Don't mind my feelings and tell me what is wrong with the women in my tales."

"They are all right. It's you. You make them do what they never would do of their own free will. Now, you married Fanny to that Burson. He wasn't even interesting." He waited for her to continue, his fertile fancy fitting literary situations about her personality.

"You can't know women very well, do you? You're too"— she paused roguishly.

"Too young?" he hasarded.

"I don't know how old you feel, but it's not age that gives insight, is it? By the way, Mr. Howbridge, where do you get your material? For your new story, for instance, that's announced for September? The title—isn't it weak? And how do you know 'What Life Is Made Of?'"

"Suppose I came down here just to find out?" he said mysteriously. "Perhaps you can show me? They say that women know. The story is hardly begun. Can't you find me a model for a heroine? It would be a charity to the reading public."

Joanna mused.

"There aren't ten interesting women in this neighborhood, not even counting my sister-in-law"—

"And you."

"Thank you, since I couldn't say it myself."

Their conversation was cut short by the abrupt entrance of Phil and his wife, who liked her husband's friends and had invited Howbridge to spend his six weeks' vacation and write his story at "The Place Apart," as they called their summer home, which was near. Phil was an illustrator, and between him and Mrs. Phil, who had been an interior decorator, the cottage was a thing to dream about artistically. They had a keen sense of what not to put into a house. Joanna, who was practical, lived with them, did the housekeeping, which she loved, posed for her brother and roamed the woods with her big St. Bernard dog.

Howbridge was given a room, absolute disposal of his time and potluck in a family that had all the charms and none of the discomforts of camping. Joanna treated him like an amusing playmate, teased him about his literary abstractions and his writing and pretended to search for a model for his heroine. She knew little of books, but could caricature effectively, sing like a thrush and play the piano with musicianly instinct. She was twenty-two and had always lived. He was thirty-three and had always written—with moderate success.

Howbridge studied Joanna impersonally, as he had studied all girls since his betrothed married another man while Howbridge was at college dreaming and writing her sentimental love letters. The other man had always wanted her, so he stayed on the spot, saw her every day and did things till he got her—which taught Howbridge a lesson. He woke up, and after that his characters were more real—not like those in his first book.

Joanna had no heart history. Men who saw much of her did. They, always to her surprise, fell in love with her and to their own surprise married other women and sighingly remembered her as a lost love when they had indigestion or lost out in some project. Joanna liked men in a comradely way and never flirted, for she was very sincere and hated to hurt anything. Besides, she wanted to keep her heart all in one piece.

She and Oliver walked and drove and canoed together and talked much about nothing in particular and said a lot that they did not mean, which was a sure method of learning each other's tastes. She ridiculed his commonplace title and began posing to Phil for the illustrations.

Howbridge tried to get down to work on his story, which was to be of no great length and which ordinarily he could have written in a few days, but he made no headway. He could not suit himself, he made a jumble of it, and each morning's installment was written in a different mood. At last he destroyed it and began over again, wondering what was the matter with him.

He soon found out. Meanwhile he found himself at an inexplicable standstill in his acquaintance with Joanna, who seemed to avoid him. One day he entered the studio while she was posing, and her eyes met his with a question new to them. The same day she broke off in the midst of a song to ask:

"To compose a heart breaking thing like that did he have to have the experience himself?"

"Not necessarily. If he had sufficient artistic imagination he would get a better perspective of the suffering of another."

She struck up a gay melody, but her face was thoughtful. Then her mood changed, and he could not keep up with her brilliant sallies. She teased and dared him, half bewildered and wholly charmed him. He decided that she could flirt most gloriously and was ready for her, but by evening she was again unapproachable.

The next morning he was called to the studio, where he found Joanna posing listlessly. Phil was irritated and critical.

"She can't get it. Help her, Howbridge. There has to be a man anyway. You know how the scene ought to go."

"I may do for attitude," he said calmly, "but keep my face out—the dear public knows it. Ready? Tell me if the pose is not right."

But he knew it was. He walked to her side and drew her into his arms, with his face against her hair and her hands in his. He quivered, knowing his touch meant nothing to her—that she was only posing.

When it was over he thought it out in his room. And nearly all night he wrote his own story—and Joanna's—just as it was—how he had met and came to love her. He put into it his heart and soul, going beyond fact only in making her finally yield to his plea for her love. It was morning when he finished.

After breakfast he told Phil to let the pictures go for awhile, got the sketches of Joanna, locked them up and went to touching up his work of the night preceding. Surely it would move her—it would tell her better than spoken words.

After luncheon he slipped the manuscript under the door and waited. He heard her enter the room. He walked the floor, but all afternoon she made no sign.

At dinner her head was high, her cheeks pink and her eyes very bright, and later she asked Howbridge to go up the river. They walked silently to the canoe. Joanna took the paddle, and bade Howbridge not to talk. He did not wish to. It was enough to look at her and wait till she let him ask her about their story. As they glided near the shore in blurring tree shadows she spoke.

"That is a good story. I congratulate you on your success." Could she be joking? "The plot is clever, the characters are true to life and it is full of feeling." Her tone was cutting.

"Joanna! Don't you understand? Don't"—

"I understand perfectly. You came for material, and you got it. Phil says you are going to see your publishers tomorrow. Well, you needn't return. I despise you. You not only made me care, but you dared to show me to what advantage you use my love. I shall get over it."

"Joanna!" Her eyes blazed.

"And you dared to touch me when my brother's presence made me powerless to resent it, and you knew what it meant to me? Oliver Howbridge, you"— but he stopped her.

"It's my turn now. I love you. The story was written for you alone—no one else will see it. It is the story of my heart, dear. I thought you would understand. It was my way of telling you that life is made of wanting you. Don't you see? Can't you love me, Jo?"

Her anger died away. Tears stood in her eyes, but her laugh was saucy, provoking.

"Yes, Oliver, but not enough to die with you just yet."

"Die?"

"Yes. We will, if you don't stay where you are and stop tipping the canoe." She was her old teasing self. It was shamefully late before she would land and let her lover take her into his arms, and into his heart for all time.

A Promising Customer.

The brisk, well dressed stranger stepped into the corner drug store and, passing by the boy who usually attended to casual customers, approached the proprietor, who, with his back turned, was rearranging some goods on a showcase.

"Mr. Sawyer, I presume," he said pleasantly, and the druggist turned and bowed gravely.

"I have heard my friend, Senator Brown, speak of you often," said the brisk man. "He told me if ever I needed anything in this line to come to you. He spoke of you as a man on whom one could rely with perfect confidence, who carried only the best of every thing, and with whom it was always a pleasure to deal."

"The senator is very kind," said the druggist, beaming with gratification. "He is one of my best customers. What can I do for you this morning?"

"Well—er—this morning, as it happens," said the stranger, with a shade less of briskness, "this morning I should like, if you will allow me, to consult your directory."

"Certainly," said the druggist. "We also have a fine line of postage stamps if you ever need anything of that kind."

Queens' Names on Oaks.

Many English queens have chosen oak trees in Windsor forest whereon their respective names, with the dates of their choice, have been commemorated by means of brass plates. In different parts of the forest, with seats round them, are oaks bearing the names of Queen Elizabeth, Queen Caroline, Queen Charlotte and Queen Victoria. "Herne's Oak," mentioned in the "Merry Wives of Windsor" as being in Windsor park, was destroyed by a gale on Aug. 31, 1868.

Proved.

"But do you think you can support a wife?"

"Of course. Why, we've been engaged two years."

"Well?"

"Well, if I can buy flowers and candy for a fiancee for two years and not go broke I can surely support a wife!"

Closed Ears.

GROUND PEARLS.

The Product of the Young of Certain Scale Insects.

The large order of hemiptera includes what are known as scale insects (coccidae), some of which are very destructive to fruit trees, while others are the source of cochineal, and, perhaps, were the manna upon which the children of Israel fed in the wilderness.

The life history of these insects includes a motionless pupa stage, similar to the chrysalis of a moth or butterfly. Before passing into this dormant and helpless condition, the young of certain scale bugs make their way into the earth, and then a sticky fluid exudes from their bodies and quickly hardens into a protective coating, resembling plain or colored glass, and causes them to look something like beads, so that in some parts of the world they are known as "ground pearls."

The best known of these are dug out of the earth in the West Indies and strung into necklaces or other ornaments. Similar objects are prized and worn by the natives of other regions.

KEROSENE OIL.

It Is Paraffin In Great Britain and Refined Petroleum Elsewhere.

Petroleum (petra, rock; oleum, oil) is a liquid bitumen exuding from rocks.

Paraffin (parum, little; affins, akin), discovered by Reichenbach in 1830, in investigating the tar produced in the distillation of wood, is a colorless waxlike solid, which he named from its extraordinary chemical indifference, its "little affinity" with anything. He afterward isolated from the same material a liquid oil, which he called eupion, "very fat." For years both were regarded merely as chemical curiosities until it was realised that eupion forms the body of petroleum.

Pure paraffin resembles spermaceti and is inodorous and tasteless. Paraffin oil is chiefly a mixture of fluid hydrocarbons, and as it approaches gas more closely than any other illuminating agent and is cheap it has come into general use. Illuminating oils manufactured from petroleum are sold in Great Britain as "paraffin oil," in the United States as "kerosene" and on the continent as "refined petroleum."—London Globe.

Copperhead and Rattler.

The copperhead isn't a bad looking snake, as snakes go, but it has a mighty bad reputation. In fact, it is generally regarded as a mean sort of snake and is apparently without a friend or even an apologist. Although it won't chase you nor go out of its way to get a crack at you, it probably does more business per snake than does the rattler, the moccasin or any other of the venomous kind. It is said that where there is one there are always two copperheads, so when you smell green cucumbers look out, for that seems to be the only warning you will get of the presence of this reptile. The rattler is a little more polite, also more vicious, for after giving you timely warning it will stand its ground and fight like a good fellow, while the copperhead will run and hide.

What He Put Up.

"Has your friend Bifkins, the architect, put up anything lately?"

"Yes; I tried to collect a bill from him yesterday, and he put up a good bluff."

Life at Stake

Somewhere in the world life is at stake every minute of the day. Right at our own doors, perhaps, is going on a struggle as grim and fierce as any fight or flight on record. You hear the hollow tearing cough; see the ooze of blood which tells of the wounded lungs; mark the emaciated body and hectic cheek, and know a life is at stake.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has saved many a life in just such a crisis. It cures obstinate, deep-seated coughs, stops the hemorrhage, strengthens "weak" lungs, and restores the emaciated body to its normal weight and strength.

There is no alcohol in the "Discovery," and it is absolutely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

"I desire to send you this brief, unsolicited testimonial," writes Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, Barium Springs, Iredell Co., N. C. "In 1898 one of my daughters was suffering on account of a severe cough, hectic fever, wasting of flesh and other symptoms of diseased lungs. I promptly gave her Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery with gratifying success, and she now enjoys excellent health. This experience caused me to recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines to my neighbors, who, without exception, used them with favorable results."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay customs and mailing only, or if cloth-bound volume is desired send 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Cured When all Else Failed

"Could I live my early life over, this testimonial would not be necessary, though I was no more sinful than thousands of other young men. Early indiscretions, later excesses, exposure to contagious diseases all helped to break down my system. When I commenced to realize my condition I was almost frantic. Doctor after doctor treated me but only gave me relief—not a cure. Hot Springs helped me, but did not cure me. The symptoms always returned. Mercury and Potash drove the poison into my system instead of curing it out. I bless the day your New Method Treatment was recommended to me. I investigated what you were first, and finding you had over 25 years' experience and responsible financially. I gave you my case under a guarantee. You cured me permanently, and in six years there has not been a sore, pain, ulcer or any other symptom of the blood disease."

engaged. The boys were good natured over their fun and a proper regard for the value of property was maintained. After a good quiet night's rest the men were in fine shape and proceeded during the morning to enjoy themselves in a way which, while it afforded themselves considerable pleasure, did not seriously inconvenience any of the citizens. A field gun made of stove pipes, mounted upon an improvised carriage did duty, with fire-crackers as ammunition to bombard the hotels, while with a wagon as a platform, the members of the Bugle Band gave a concert of vocal music which attracted a goodly number of apparently appreciative listeners.

Meanwhile the officers were enjoying themselves in another way. A regatta arranged by Major Dennistoun on Kempenfeldt Bay took place during the forenoon, and it afforded some good sport to those participating in it. A fine breeze was blowing and the racing yachts and catboats, the respective skippers of which were Major Dennistoun, Major Stevenson, Capt. Ackerman and Lieut. Wallace, sailed down the bay at a good speed. Major Dennistoun rounded the buoy first, with Lieut. Wallace second, the latter being disqualified, however, for making a false start, and Capt. Ackerman was awarded second place. Major Stevenson's sloop rounded the buoy closely followed by Capt. Ackerman.

During the morning an excursion from Penetang brought in a good crowd of excursionists, including the Penetang Band.

The Afternoon.

The 57th Regiment did itself proud Monday afternoon when the beautiful ceremony incidental to the trooping the colours was gone through with at the Agricultural Park in the presence of about 2000 spectators. Shortly after noon the regiment formed up at the camp and paraded to the Market Square where the band and two companies of the 35th Regiment, Simcoe Foresters and the Penetang Band joined them and the whole company paraded to the Park through the main street of the town, which was lined on both sides with many thousands of spectators. The marching of the 57th was all that could have been desired, and was equal to that of any city regiment.

At the Park the first exercise was that of trooping the colours, which was performed with great credit to those participating in it, and the regiment won many warm expressions of commendation from the large number of military gentlemen who were on the grounds. The "troop" had never been seen before in Barrie, and the different movements were watched with deep interest by those present, included in which were a great many ladies. After the colours had been trooped the regiment marched back to the camp and was dismissed, and a programme of racing events was run off at the Park, including half-mile and five mile bicycle races, tug-of-war and relay race. A football match was also played during the afternoon, and interspersing these events music was rendered by the bands on the grounds.

Last Evening's Banquet

On Monday evening a banquet was tendered the officers of the 57th Regiment in the Queen's Hotel. The affair was a most enjoyable one, and proved a successful climax to a most enjoyable trip. A most pleasing sentiment of good feeling and friendship was manifested throughout the evening, which to all in attendance was one of the most pleasable features of the outing.

After a most dainty repast had been partaken of, Lieut.-Col. McCarthy, M.D., proposed the toast to "The King," which was honoured in the usual manner. Mayor Boyd then extended a welcome to the visitors, on behalf of the citizens, and of the Lawn Tennis and Bowling Club. He paid a high tribute to the 57th Band, which was, he said, one of the finest which had ever visited Barrie. They had been most generous with their music, which had always been of a most excellent nature. He was pleased with the appropriate music rendered at the sacred concert on Sunday afternoon. He congratulated the regiment on their fine military bearing maintained, upon the splendid church parade and the general efficiency of the regiment. He hoped that it would not be long before the regiment would again visit their town. He proposed the toast to the 57th Regiment, which was responded to by Colonel Miller. The latter expressed himself as being delighted with the kind and courteous treatment the regiment had received. It was one of the best trips the regiment had ever had, and he hoped that they would be again privileged to visit the splendid town of Barrie.

Lieut.-Colonel McCarthy proposed the toast to the "Battery and Cavalry Divisions," which was responded to by Col. Rogers and Capt. Ackerman.

Rev. W. Witten, chaplain of the 35th Regiment, proposed the health of Lt.-Col. McCarthy, of the South African Constabulary. The latter made a fitting reply.

After a song by Dr. Arnold, Major Stevenson proposed the toast to the 35th Regiment, to which Colonel McPhee responded.

Colonel Miller gave a recitation, followed by a song from Major Stevenson.

The gathering broke up by singing "Auld Lang Syne."

After the banquet, Col. Miller was taken to the camp by the non-commissioned officers of the 35th Regiment, and presented with a complimentary address.

The regiment in marching to the station about 10.30 o'clock, halted for a few minutes at one of the parks where three hearty cheers and a tiger were given for Barrie. The band gave a short programme of music. There was an immense crowd at the station to bid good bye to the boys in red, who felt highly delighted with the splendid treatment they had received.

Bugle Notes.

Lt.-Col. J. Z. Rogers, Lt.-Col. H. C. Rogers and Capt. Ackerman accompanied the regiment on the trip, and with the officers of the 35th reviewed the troops in the march-past after the troop.

The officers were entertained at the Queen's Hotel, where mine host Leroy did everything possible for their comfort.

"One of the best trips the regiment ever took," is the opinion of the majority of the officers and men.

Barrie's all right! Oh yes, you bet Barrie's all right!

Gunner Guerin of the 14th Midland Field Battery was in Monday's parade with his "field piece."

Mr. Walter Stocker was in Barrie Monday afternoon and saw the "troop." He was on his way from Orillia to Toronto and stopped over to meet the boys.

Bugler Cranfield and his "lady" were conspicuous on the street Monday morning.

The officers of the 35th Regiment were untiring in their efforts to give the visitors a good time.

AN INTERESTING BOOK.

Inventors and manufacturers are frequently puzzled to know just how to proceed to protect their inventions and much valuable time is lost in acquiring information required. There is probably no profession in which technical questions are of such frequent occurrence as in patent soliciting, and there is no field of speculation in which greater care should be exercised before deciding upon a course of action.

A valuable invention, when properly protected by Letters Patent, procured by qualified technical experts, means a fortune to its lucky owner, but the same invention patented by unskillful persons may be practically of no value because of failure to properly protect the essential features of novelty which are of most value.

The reason for patent monopoly; possibility of secret use of an invention; nature and policy of patents; time required to procure a patent and the course and treatment of an application in the patent office are interestingly discussed in a recent publication issued by Messrs. Marion & Marion, Patent Solicitors, of Montreal, and called "The Inventor's Adviser."

In addition to giving a summary of the law and practice relating to patent matters, the book contains a large number of court decisions relating to patent law both in Canada, the United States and other countries, and much interesting matter not to be found elsewhere. The book is issued to answer questions of frequent occurrence relating to patents and inventions, and will be of great service to manufacturers and inventors.

The price of the book is one dollar, but we have made arrangements so that our subscribers will be supplied with copies at 25 cents each, provided they name this paper when writing to Marion & Marion, of Montreal, for copies. 1dw.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The Horicultural Society Appeals to the Citizens of the Town.

The next Horticultural Show will be in the Drill Shed on Thursday and Friday, 8th and 9th, September. It is intended to make it a great success but to effect this your help is required. Every year as you go to the show you see you look at the specimens, well, I could beat this or that. Why didn't you? Why did you not send that specimen plant or root or vegetable? Now please help us this year? Send word to Mr. Beal the secretary and on the morning of the 8th a wagon will call for your exhibit and all the exhibits will be safely returned. The society is working for you; help us. Any plant, flower, root or vegetable that you think good send it; the result will astonish and you will have the pleasure of a good deed besides such prizes as you may win.

There will be a band in the evening and a promenade concert.

Secretary.

A BISCUIT MANUFACTURER WITH A MISSION.

The Mooney Biscuit & Candy Co., Limited, of Stratford, Ont., which is now celebrating its first birthday, is an example of the growth and progress of Canadian industries. Starting a little over a year ago with a plant which should have fulfilled all demands upon it for some time to come, the company already has had to double it.

Of course there are reasons for this, outside of the natural growth of the Dominion. The chief reason lies in the biscuits themselves, which are known to the trade and the people as something different and better than any other biscuit on the market.

Mooney's Perfection Cream Sodas, as they are called, have firmly established their reputation all over Canada. As Mr. Mooney puts it, "They are the biscuits that made all Canada cracker hungry." People who do not fancy the ordinary soda biscuit, develop the biscuit appetite once they have tasted Mooney's.

The Mooney idea is that "just as good" is not good enough. They realized at the start that their field lay in making a biscuit that would be crisper, daintier and better in every way than any other — in short they resolved that they would make the best biscuits in Canada; tell the people about them through the newspapers, then trust to the quality to place them on every table in the land.

That they will succeed is a foregone conclusion. One has only to taste the dainty, crisp deliciousness of Mooney's Perfection Sodas to discover the secret of their popularity.

All grocers have them, packed in air-tight, moisture proof packages.

RUSSIA ANXIOUS ABOUT HER ARMY

Czar and the People Worried over Kuropatkin's Position.

JAPS ARE PRESSING HARD

Russian Rear Guard Only Remain at Yental—Russian Army will Escape—Retreat Being Conducted Without Serious Risk of Being Cut Off.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—There has been no news from Gen Kuropatkin since Monday afternoon. This is attributed to the interruption of direct communication with the commander-in-chief, owing to transfer of telegraph office to Mukden, whither messages have to be sent by courier. The utmost confidence prevails at the War Office that the Russian army is slowly but surely effecting the retreat without serious risk of being cut off. Nevertheless intense anxiety is felt throughout the whole nation, and this feeling is shared by the Emperor.

Late Tuesday evening the Associated Press obtained the following statement from the War Office: No telegrams whatever were received to-day (Tuesday). It is inferred that only Russian troops remaining at Yental, Sept. 6, are on the Rear-guard, whose mission is solely to retard the enemy's movement. It is quite consistent from the position of affairs to suppose that a portion of the Japanese forces entered Yental, there being no intention to hold this point, as it is of no intrinsic importance. The stores there have already been removed, and whatever was not removed was burned.

Battle at Yental.

Tokio, Sept. 7.—An extended report from Field Marshal Oyama, the Japanese commander-in-chief in the field, was received in Tokio yesterday and made public last night. It is largely devoted to a review of the fighting which took place between Aug. 24 and Sept. 4:

The announcement that the Russians will retain possession of the Yental collieries, indicates a strong possibility of a battle there. Yental is the only colliery in Northern Manchuria, and its possession is of vital importance to the Russians in connection with the operation of the railroad.

Field Marshal Oyama reports that a portion of the Russian troops held Yingshuisau, south of Yental, and that General Kuroki's right is in close touch with the Russians. He announces also that the left and centre Japanese armies, under the command of Generals Oku and Nodzu, have halted on the left bank of the Taitse River and that it is his intention to despatch a portion of them to occupy the heights north of Muchang and along the railroad. Gen. Kuropatkin burned all the railroad bridges over the Taitse River.

General Kuroki encountered desperate opposition in the battle on the heights to the west of Haiyingtai, where he fought continuously and fiercely for four days before he succeeded in dislodging the Russians. It is manifest that the stubbornness of the Russians defence at Haiyingtai saved the Russians line of retreat and averted an overwhelming disaster.

Alexieff Goes to Mukden.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—Viceroy Alexieff is on his way from Harbin to Mukden.

Severe Rear-Guard Actions.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—Private reports from Mukden say that some of the rear-guard actions in progress are quite severe, but no details have been received.

Kuroki Occupies Yental.

Tokio, Sept. 7.—It is reported here that the Russians have retired beyond Yental. Gen. Kuroki has occupied the town.

Russians Wake Up.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—It is stated by the end of October, the 4th, 8th and 13th army corps, totalling 192,000 men, will reach the front, and that before the end of Sept. 1,000 guns will have been despatched to Gen. Kuropatkin.

Hurried to the Front.

Warsaw, Russia, Sept. 7.—Twenty quick-firing batteries which the Emperor expected to inspect this week have been hastily placed on trains and have left for the front.

Attack on Port Arthur.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—The attack of Port Arthur continues, and Chinese arriving at Che Foo say the Russian garrison expects a general land and sea attack to-day (Wednesday).

TOO MUCH FOR THE TURKS.

Armenian Insurgents Successfully Resist Ottoman Troops.

Paris, Sept. 6.—A despatch to The Temps, from Constantinople, by way of Sofia, says that an official report which has reached one of the foreign Consuls there states that the Armenian insurgents at Van, Asiatic Turkey, are successfully resisting the Turkish troops, which until Sunday had been unable to reduce or disperse them. The Armenians advanced to within about 400 yards of the French Consulate. The population of Van is seeking refuge in the schools and convents. It is expected that Turkey will mobilize the fourth army corps and draw troops from Asia Minor in order to suppress the uprising.

May Call Strike Off.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Indications last night were that the stock yards strike, begun nearly two months ago, may be called off within 24 hours. Through the medium of a middle-man negotiations were begun yesterday in an effort to secure an understanding with the packers, on which the striking unions can rely as a basis for abandoning the strike this afternoon.

La.-Col. McLaren Dead.

WATER SUPPLY FOR TRENT VALLEY CANAL

Our Northern Waters Transferred to the Dominion Government.

An Agreement to That Effect Between Ontario and Dominion Governments.

The following, taken from the Globe, will be welcome reading for Peterborough people, especially for the steamboat owners, lumbermen, and the electric power using manufacturers of the town. Mr. R. B. Hall has been industriously engaged for the past six months in the work of bringing the two Governments together to the point of agreement on the details of the transfer of responsibility for the regulation of these northern waters to the Dominion Government. Jurisdiction is now undivided, and the Government interested in, and especially charged with the duty of promoting national navigation facilities, is in a position to act. Mr. Hall deserves credit for the energy and persistency he has shown in contributing to so desirable a result. The article is as follows:

"A conference was held yesterday between Hon. F. R. Latchford, Commissioner, and Mr. A. W. Campbell, Assitant Commissioner of Public Works, representing the Government, and Mr. H. H. Hansard, Law Clerk of the Railway and Canals Department, Ottawa, and Chief Engineer Rogers of the Trent Valley Canal, respecting the taking over of certain Ontario waters by the Dominion for the maintenance of a supply of water for the Trent Valley Canal. The result was that an understanding was reached, which will be embodied in an agreement. The idea is that a large number of waters in the northern parts of Victoria, Haliburton, Peterborough and Hastings counties act as feeders for the Trent system, and with the use of dams a number of reservoirs have been created, which maintain a more even supply of water for the summer or dry months. The Dominion Government propose increasing these dams and making better and larger reservoirs. The object of the Ontario Government is to secure the rights of the settlers and lumbermen, so that there will be chutes and slides for the latter, and where lands are flooded they will be paid for. This step on the part of the Dominion Government gives further colour to the understanding that it is intended to push the work on the Trent Canal with renewed energy."

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

The business of the meeting was of a general nature and several matters pertaining to the different circuits were discussed.

The usual recommendation to the Apsley Mission was made.

The arrangements for missionary and educational anniversaries were left with each church to make their own plans with three exceptions. Dr. Woodsworth will go to Cavan, Rev. G. R. Clare to Bethany and Rev. J. G. Lewis to Warsaw.

NO DIFFERENCE.

No distinction is made as to the kind of Piles that Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid cures.

The names Internal, External, Bleeding, Blind, Itching, Suppurating, etc., are simply names of the different stages through which every case will pass if it continues long enough.

Piles are caused by congestion or stagnation of blood in the lower bowel, and it takes an internal to remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid is a tablet taken internally.

It is a permanent cure and no case of Piles has ever been found it failed to cure. Money back if it does.

THE RECANTATION OF MR. KENDRY.

(Ottawa Free Press.)

The apostasy of Mr. Jas. Kendry, M.P., from the cause of Imperial preference, must be withering to the hopes of the great apostle.

Up till now Mr. Kendry was looked upon as one of the faithful, and the news must come as a shock to many that those who were deemed faithful were really not sincere and that the encouragement offered to Mr. Chamberlain was given in the belief that his policy would not be a success.

Mr. Kendry has expressed himself as opposed to the preference policy, in any form. In an interview it has been given out that "Mr. Kendry wished it to be distinctly understood that he is opposed to the preferential policy advanced by Mr. Chamberlain in every particular," and said that as he understood it the policy was briefly that the manufacturing should be done in England and that Canada should grow the wheat.

Of course Mr. Kendry when he said this, could not have read Mr. Chamberlain's Welbeck speech, in which he clearly stated his desire to be that the English farmer should grow the wheat and the English mills grind the flour.

The manufacturers, of whom Mr. Kendry is a typical representative, have been passing resolutions and sending cablegrams to the United Kingdom, encouraging Mr. Chamberlain in his movement, while fighting for as large an amount of protection as the Government could be induced to give, not against foreign importations — foreign manufacturers, but against British goods.

No doubt Mr. Kendry has argued the matter out in his own mind, in his own way. "What Mr. Chamberlain wants is to sell more British woollens in Canada, and as I don't want him to do that, I am a hypocrite if I support his policy. I propose to play a manly part, and say I am opposed to the preference idea in any form.

This would have been an entirely laudable course to pursue if only Mr. Kendry and the other manufacturers, who covered themselves with a cloak of hypocrisy, had revealed themselves in their true guise a year and a half ago.

Mr. Kendry dodges the condemnations that he may feel he deserves for the manifest selfishness of his policy by the statement that "his mills make only high grade goods, for which there is a better demand than for the cheaper grades."

This, of course, is what the Free Press has stated all through the agitation in favour of the raising of the woollen duties. It confirms, moreover, the declaration made the other day by Mr. Jonathan Hodgson, the senior partner of the house of Hodgson, Sumners & Co., of Montreal, who has for many years been interested in woollen manufacturing industries, that some of the woollen manufacturers want the tariff so high that no matter how foolishly or extravagantly they may conduct their business, it shall be kept on at the expense of the people of Canada.

It is significant, however, that the hypocrites among them now think it time to abandon all attempts at deception and to attate frankly that they are opposed to preference in any form.

MR. F. COOK'S REPORT OF ST. LOUIS VISIT.

He was Delegate to the Convention of the Total Abstinence Union

A Concise and Interesting Report of the Great Gathering.

On Sunday, at the regular fortnightly Sunday afternoon gathering in St. Peter's T.A.S. Hall, Mr. Fred Cook, the delegate of the local society to the thirty-fourth annual convention of the Total Abstinence Union of America, held in St. Louis, gave his interesting report of his visit as below:

Monday, Aug. 8th, 1904, was the date that I left town to attend the Thirty-fourth Annual Convention of the Total Abstinence Union of America, held at St. Louis, 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th days of August. I arrived in St. Louis Wednesday morning, was met at Union Depot by the Receiving Committee and escorted to headquarters, Grand Central Hotel, where I found a large number of delegates from all over the United States, assembled. I had breakfast after which I repaired to K.F.M. Hall, 2028 Washington avenue, for the purpose of attending the preliminary meeting for the appointment of committees.

At 9.30 adjournment took place and the delegates and local Temperance Unions forming in procession, headed by the band and uniformed ranks of K.F.M., proceeded to St. Leo's Church, where at 10.30 Solemn Pontifical Mass was celebrated by most Rev. Archbishop William H. Elder, assisted by Rev. J. A. Connally, Rev. J. T. Giffrillian and Rev. P. P. Crane, after which we were treated to a grand lecture by Rev. James T. Coffee. I must say that I was impressed by the large number that attended this mass and lecture, all could not get seats and not only that but the attendance was so large that all could not even get inside the church, and I would say the church would seat 3000 people. After the sermon the delegates went to the Exposition Hall, corner of Olive and 18th streets, where we were met with an imposing banner placed on the front of the largest hall in St. Louis, bearing the grand words "We Welcome Our Catholic People," in mammoth letters of brilliant colours.

When we arrived inside the following officers took their respective seats on the platform:—Rev. Father Shanley, President, Hartford, Conn.; Hon. Walter J. Gibbons, 1st Vice-President, Chicago, Ill.; Rev. John J. Bean, 2nd Vice-President, Pittsburg, Pa.; Mrs. Lenora M. Lake, 3rd, Vice-President, St. Louis, Mo.; Rev. J. J. Curran, Treasurer, Wilkesbarre, Pa.; J. Washington Logue, Secretary, Philadelphia, Pa.

The meeting was called to order and the first speaker was John F. Cannington, being a representative of the Mayor of St. Louis. He stated that it was his, the Mayor's regret, that he was not able to be present in the interests of such a grand cause, but if he was not there we had his good wishes and that while we were in St. Louis we were to make ourselves to home and the city was ours while in it. He also stated that there was no convention that came to St. Louis that gave him more pleasure than the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America.

The next speaker was our worthy President, Rev. Father Shanley. He said that he was pleased to see his old associates and friends in the grand cause of temperance. We are well represented from the Atlantic to the Pacific from the Gulf to our far north brother town and county, Peterborough, Canada. He also stated that he was more than pleased to see such a large gathering of delegates at such a noble cause as Temperance and he hoped that it would be his pleasure to always be present at the conventions for many years to come. The next speaker was Hon. Walter J. Gibbons, of Chicago, who read his report which was received with great applause. The next in line was Rev. J. G. Bean, 2nd Vice-President, of Pittsburg. He said that the big 103 from Pittsburg did not come with the intention of taking home the banner, it was to attend the convention and to try and find good ways or means of attaining better results. He said that Pittsburg would certainly appreciate the prize if it were their good luck to have it awarded to them. He also stated that it was not his intention to take up any more valuable time.

Our worthy 3rd Vice-President, Mrs. Lenora M. Lake read her report. She sprang quite a surprise on all present to the effect that she wished to resign her office, not because she did not appreciate it, but because she could not give the cause as much time as is required to do the work the way she would like to do. Mrs. Lake is one of the hardest workers that the Union has and she broke down when her resignation was not accepted. Rev. Father Curran, the next speaker, stated that the miners of Wilkesbarre came to St. Louis to report, and to do it well, which they did. He hoped that the next convention would be held in his town, and he assured all that they would have a fine time and also a hot time for they have lots of coal in that section.

Secretary J. W. Logue read his report which was to the pleasant astonishment of all present. Since the last convention there had been admitted to the Union 119 societies with a membership of 5600. He also stated that the Union never was in such good standing as it was at present.

At 8 p.m. we were tendered a grand reception by the K.F.M., in the convention hall, which was a great treat to all and appreciated accordingly.

Thursday morning, Aug. 11th, a solemn requiem mass for deceased members was sung in St. Leo's church by Rev. Father Shanley of Hartford, Conn., our worthy president, after which the delegates proceeded to the convention hall and business was again taken up.

Father Doyle spoke on the cause. He said that he was 12 years connected with the T.A.S., and said that he thought when he was dead he would be looking around for a convention. He also stated that no one individual could do business himself. The convention was one of the greatest helps that we could have. Organization was really necessary. He wished to put himself on record as being an organizing man; he said, "Give me the organizing man, as he is the man that keeps the fire burning in connection with the T. A. S." The union urged the formation of boys' and girls' societies, because societies of those that never drank are ten times more valuable than those that have been addicted to the drink habit.

Rev. Father O'Brien spoke on crimes committed and their cause, and stated that Justice Davies of New York, said that 70 out of 100 criminals of America are young men under the age of 24 years, and the cause of their downfall in most cases was intemperance. He also stated that no trust has the influence that the saloon has in America. If the mothers and sisters were temperate then the fathers and brothers also will soon be temperate.

Because the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America refuses the individual councils of the K. F.M. the right to vote in convention, except they are represented through the district unions of the T.A.S., the the K.F.M. intend to secede from the Union, or at least to take a vote on it, at their next meeting on Oct. 10.

The Knights wanted this clause in the constitution, and so the house took a vote on it. It was turned down by 630 to 110. There was quite a discussion on the same; in fact it became so hot that it looked as it there would be trouble.

The installation of officers then took place and the following were elected;

Rt. Rev. J. Cusavan, Bishop, Pittsburg, president.

Edw. Mulreedy, Boston, 1st Vice.

O. L. Addison, Dubuque, 2nd Vice.

Mrs. Lenora M. Lake, St, Louis, 3rd Vice.

J. W. Logue, Philadelphia, secretary.

Rev. Father Curran, Wilkesbarre, treasurer.

The meeting then adjourned till evening at eight, when there was a temperance rally in the hall and speeches were made by the visiting clergy, and the awarding of the banner took place, it being won by the St. Rose Society of Chicago, having 180 of an increase.

A cablegram of greeting was dispatched to His Holiness with a request for his blessing. This was on Wednesday, on the opening of the first session.

On the invitation of Father Curran the next convention will be held in Wilkesbarre, Pa.

I was the last one called on to give a report. I told them I had been sent there on account of our Worthy Spiritual Advisor not being able to attend. I also told them of the way we ran things over here and read my report. I stated that I did not come over with the intention of claiming the valued prize, the banner, because we did not have any increase to our already large society, not because we were not working over here, but because there was not any more in our town to get. The people were astounded when I told them that we had about 10,000 ft. of floor space in our rooms. They could not understand how we could gather in such a large society in a town of 12,000 of a population, and told them when we got them to join. While on my feet I issued a challenge to any T.A.S. team, in any line of athletic sport; I told them I did not draw the line anywhere. I was stopped in my talk by Mr. T. McKelvie, secretary of the T.A.S. baseball team, Hazleton, who accepted my challenge, the game to be played at Wilkesbarre at the next convention.

Mr. Cook, after adding that he issued this challenge on the understanding that the convention be held anywhere within a radius of 300 miles from Peterborough, said it was up to the local Society to deal with the matter.

After concluding his formal report he gave some interesting secular details of his visit to the Exposition at St. Louis, and where he met the Boer leader, General Cronje. Dr. O'Brien of Peterborough, was in great demand at the convention. He also supplied other very interesting details of his journey, showing that he is a keen observer. Mr. Cook's report was greatly appreciated, and he was rewarded with a hearty vote of thanks.

CLEANLINESS IS IMPORTANT IN THE MAKING OF CHEESE

What can be Done When Instructors Cheese Makers and Patrons Co-operate.

It is gratifying to know that the good results following the instruction work in cheese factories and cheameries throughout the province are becoming more and more evident. Practically all of the factories which have asked for instruction have already received four visits, and in nearly every case cleanliness in the factories is more closely observed, and there is a decided improvement in the style and finish of the cheese. The good work of removing milk stands to desirable locations far from dust and undesirable odors, the discarding of rusty cans, the supplying pure water, etc., is continuing; and the reports from the Chief Instructors show that the August cheese is superior to that made in the early months. The considerable falling off in the supply, together with the improved quality will no doubt result in improved prices later in season. Copies of the following card have been furnished to all instructors, and the effects following their use are most gratifying.

COPY OF CARD.

.....Cheese Factory.

.....190.....

Dear Sir,—I am very sorry that time will not permit of my making a personal visit to many of the farms in this locality; so I find it necessary to use some other means of instructing the patrons in the vicinity on certain points in the handling and care of milk.

The milk received from you to-day showed evidence of

... ...

... ...

... ...

... ...

... ...

Milk of this quality will not only produce inferior cheese, but the quantity will not be so great as when the milk is in first-class condition when delivered to the factory. Please note hints on the back of this card.

The following hints to patrons will further contribute to success:—

Food.—Supply an abundance of wholesome food.

Do not feed rape, turnip tops or apples.

Do not allow cows to have access to ragwood, leeks, or other weeds which will taint the milk.

Water Supply.—Furnish pure water in clean troughs.

Do not allow cows to drink from a stagnant pond or have access to soakage from barnyard.

Health of Cows.—Salt should always be accessible.

Stables should be well ventilated, lighted and drained; should have tight floors and walls, and be plainly constructed.

White-wash the stables once or twice a year.

Do not compel cows to go faster than a comfortable walk.

Utensils.—Do not use wooden pails.

Discard all rusty pails, cans or stirring utensils.

Whey should be emptied as soon as it arrives at the farm.

Milk cans and pails should be washed with a brush and luke-warm water, in which a little sal soda has been dissolved, then scalded and placed on their sides in the sun. Scour with salt occasionally.

Do not use a cloth for either wash or wipe utensils.

Milkers.—Always wipe cows' udders, flanks and teats before milking. Milk with clean and dry hands. Milk quietly, quickly, cleanly, and thoroughly.

A person suffering from any disease, or who has been exposed to a contagious disease, should remain away from cows and milk.

Care of Milk.—Milk should always be strained and cooled by dipping, stirring and surrounding by cold water immediately after milking. It should always be aired where the air is pure—at least 50 feet (or more if possible) from any swill barrel, hog pen, hog yard, feed-trough, barn yard, milking yard or dusty road.

Two or three thicknesses of cheese cloth make a good strainer. Cloth strainers should always be thoroughly washed, then boiled and hung in a pure atmosphere to dry.

Never dump warm milk into a can and leave it over night without straining, aerating, and cooling.

Never mix fresh, warm milk with that which has been cooled.

Over-ripe milk is caused by leaving or keeping it at too high a temperature.

In warm weather the milk should be cooled by setting the pails or cans in cold water while it is being aerated. Cool to 46 degrees inside of half an hour.

Saturday night's and Sunday morning's milk should be cooled to 46 degrees, or less, set in a cool cellar, covered with a clean robe or blanket, and not disturbed until Monday morning.

Whenever the lid is left off a can for any length of time, a cloth or mosquito netting should be used to keep out insects.

Successful dairying can be summed up in two statements—"Be Clean" and "Keep Cool".

LAMBE PAID MONEY.

Admissions in the Muskoka Election Trial —His Agency Disputed.

Bracebridge, Sept. 7.—The protest against the return of A. A. Mahaffy, M.P.P., for the electorate district of Muskoka, opened in the court house here yesterday morning before Chancellor Boyd and Justice Teetzel. E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., and Mr. Beaton appeared for the petitioners, and G. T. Blackstock and O. M. Arnold for the respondent. There are 146 charges, and application was made yesterday morning to add more to the number. The right to enter new charges was held in abeyance, as the respondent has had no opportunity of meeting them, and whether they will be admitted or not depends largely upon the progress made in the case.

The morning court was largely taken up in proving agency. The charge against Dr. Williams was dropped. Evidence adduced re Oliver's charge of having had an account reduced proved conflicting and the charge was dropped. Charge of intimidation was dismissed. Charges hinging on a bottle of whiskey failed. Charge that William Lambe paid money to William Peacock and others most important, but agency was not admitted, or proved. Judges will not go into the question till other charges are heard.

The particulars of the charges against Hon. E. J. Davis were filed at Osgoode Hall yesterday. The trial will begin at Newmarket on the 20th. There are 180 charges, a number of which are of a personal character against the Minister of Crown Lands.

Centre Bruce Protest.

Forty-five charges are made in the petition against the election of Major Hugh Clarke of Centre Bruce. The particulars were filed just before 4 o'clock by C. J. Mickle of Kerr, Davidson & Grant.

More in North Grey.

Fifteen additional charges against the election of Alex. McKay of North Grey were filed by James Baird.

Forced U.S. Hands.

Montreal, Sept. 7.—Hon. Mr. Prefontaine declared yesterday that the activity of the Canadian authorities in the matter of the British Columbia salmon fishing had been the means of the State of Washington, through Secretary Hay, applying to the Canadian Government for a conference. McMurton of Lachine, said it would be granted and means would be taken to protect the Canadian salmon fishery. He said that Canada had refused her own right to catch salmon by means of traps, which is the most modern method, while the Americans had no less than 200 traps catching fish with impunity.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, but by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

William Stevens Dead.

Montreal, Sept. 3.—Willie Stephens is dead. This will be sad news to the many friends of William Stephens, brother of Lord Mountstephen, and who has traveled more than any other man in Canada. He had been ill for some weeks. Mrs. Robert Meighen is a sister of deceased.

A Shameful Admission.

London, Sept. 3.—Hon. Mr. Webb, Australia's ex-Minister of Agriculture, admitted to the Butter Commission that he received £3,700 as his share of the secret commission given by British shipping companies to one firm of butter agents.

FOR CIVIC INSURANCE

Ontario Municipal Association Hears Particulars.

MAYOR ELLIS' BIG SCHEME

Proposal to Make the Acquisition of Public Utilities More Workable—Municipal Code Proposed to Prevent Contradictory and Confusing Amendments to the Municipal Law—Will Draw Up Constitution.

Toronto, Sept. 7.—The Ontario Municipal Association began its annual convention in the City Hall yesterday morning. Controller Hubbard presided, and there was a good attendance of mayors and municipal officials.

Municipal Insurance.

Mayor Ellis of Ottawa gave notice of motion outlining a scheme for the establishment of a Dominion municipal insurance corporation. The plan proposed, that a Dominion charter be secured and be conducted as a joint stock insurance company; that every municipality becoming a member be entitled to have all share holders' rights in the proportion of one vote for every 10,000 of population, and all municipalities under 10,000 to have one vote; that municipalities may join only when authorized by a vote of the ratepayers; that there be five directors, representing Ontario, Quebec, Maritime Provinces, Manitoba, British Columbia and the Northwest Territories, and one from at large; that the directors have power to appoint all officials and fix the rate of insurance in each municipality; that the corporation enter into competition with existing insurance companies; that each municipality joining the corporation pay in in cash an amount equal to 1-100th of one per cent. of the assessed value of all the property in such municipality; that the corporation deposit with the Department of Finance as security four per cent. debentures at par of each joining municipality to an amount equal to one per cent. of the total assessed value of the municipality; that all insurance in a municipality be done by the municipal officials without commissions; that the whole plan be submitted to the Dominion Superintendent of Insurance and such actuaries as may be deemed advisable. In each municipality belonging to the corporation property would be insurable as follows:

"In each municipality a property-owner may, by giving notice to the municipal authorities and paying the premium in advance, have his real property other than land insured up to two-thirds of its assessable value when such assessable value is not more than $10,000, up to one-half of its assessable value when such assessable value is over $10,000, and not more than $25,000, and up to one-fourth of its assessable value when such assessable value is over $25,000, and not more than $100,000, and in no case more than $25,000 of insurance on any one property. The matter of the insurance of personal property to be considered later."

The question was referred to a special committee.

Municipal Ownership.

Ald. Rodd of Weston moved that it be referred to a committee to consider and recommend to the Legislature of the Province of Ontario such amendments to the Municipal Act as will enable the municipalities to effectually take over public utilities such as gas plants, electric plants, etc., the present law being inadequate and practically unworkable. The motion was approved.

City Solicitor Mikel of Belleville moved that the Legislature be asked to appoint a committee composed of municipal officials to frame a municipal code. He explained that it was an attempt to prevent the contradictory and confusing amendments to the municipal law of the Province. The motion was referred to committee.

Vote in All Municipalities.

Solicitor Caswell of Toronto moved that the constitution of the association be amended to provide that all municipalities in the Province be eligible for representation. At present only cities and towns may send representatives. Upon motion of Solicitor Mikel of Belleville the motion was referred to a special committee with instructions to draw up a constitution.

The following were appointed to the Committee on Resolutions: Mayor Boys, Barrie; Mayor Ellis, Ottawa; Ald. J. A. Leitch, Brantford; Solicitor Mikel, Belleville; Mayor Drake, Windsor; Solicitor Caswell, Toronto; Ald. Cooper, London; S. H. Kent, Hamilton; J. H. Hamilton, Guelph; W. J. Berry, Ingersoll; M. A. Marrison, Ingersoll; D. M. McIntyre, Kingston.

A proposal to provide the means for selling municipal debentures at a uniform rate was not kindly received, but was referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

Filed Three More Charges.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—North Perth Conservatives filed yesterday three additional charges against John Brown, in effect, that he by and through Dr. Corcoran and Barrister McDonald offered William Hedley $5 for his vote. The others that E. T. Harding and Bailiff Thomas Tobin gave one Allen money to buy drinks, and that License Inspector John Carey offered John Whitelock $15 for his vote.

Left Friday Night.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 3.—The Archbishop of Canterbury, J. Pierpont Morgan and party left last evening for Toronto at 10.30 on the C.P.R. special.

30 Miles in 49 Minutes.

Alexandria Bay, N.Y., Sept 3.—The motor boat Standard made 30 miles in 49 minutes in a race against time yesterday.

Fire in Farm House Near Fredericton, New Brunswick, Causes Loss of Six Lives.

Fredericton, N. B., Sept. 6.—In a fire which destroyed the farm-house of Alfred Jewett, the leading farmer of Douglas, six miles from here, early Sunday morning, six people were burned to death. Mr. and Mrs. Jewett, alone of the household, escaped.

The dead: Edward Clarke of Caverhill, N.B., aged 62; Mrs. Edward Clarke, aged 58; Mary Clarke, their daughter, aged 15; Zella Jewett, aged 15; Wesley Jewett, aged 12; Ethel Jewett, aged 6, children of Alfred Jewett.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke leave nine children.

Mr. Jewett was severely burned and he and his wife are under a physician's care.

Killed While Duck Shooting.

Lachine, Que., Sept. 6.—Allan Wurtels, aged 14 years, was accidentally shot and killed by a companion while duck hunting yesterday afternoon. Young Wurtels and three other boys went in a boat to Dixie Island and while one of the lads was stepping from the craft his gun struck the side and was discharged. The charge lodged in Wurtel's head and he died before reaching the country clubhouse at Dixie, where his companions hurriedly took him for medical treatment.

Train Kills a Child.

London, Sept. 6. — Christopher Biggs, the eight-year-old child of Fred Biggs, of this city, met a terrible death yesterday. He was crossing the G. T. R. tracks on Adelaide street, when he was struck and instantly killed by an eastbound train. The body was almost cut in two.

Was a Trenton Woman.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 6.—The body of the one unidentified victim of the terrible railway collision Saturday was identified yesterday at the morgue as Mrs. Bessie Merkley of Trenton, Ont., wife of John J. Merkley, train dispatcher, who was visiting at the home of J. Spring, Kinlock, Mo. Mrs. Merkley's body was shipped last night to Trenton for interment.

Didn't Know It Was Loaded.

Hamilton, Sept. 6.—Edward Cowing, a lad 16 years of age, who lives on Euclid avenue, was the victim of one of those "didn't know it was loaded" accidents. Yesterday afternoon he went out hunting near Dundas with Percy Cole, another lad, and a shotgun. He was walking home ahead of the gun and his chum, when the gun went off, and the load tore the muscles off the back of Cowing's leg. Doctors hope the limb may be saved.

A Dominion Registration.

Toronto, Sept. 7.—The second biennial convention of the Canadian Dental Association was opened last evening in the medical building. The chair was occupied by Dr. J. B. Willmott, president of the association. In his annual address reported the association to be in a flourishing condition. He notified the meeting that the provisional Dominion Dental Council had not met during the afternoon to consider what steps should be taken to bring about a Dominion registration: that is to say, a general standard for all the provinces.

Bull Kills Him.

Montreal, Sept. 7.—At Sutton, Que., Monday evening, Henry Leroux, a well-known resident of Brome County, was gored to death by a savage bull while taking the animal to Brome County Fair at Brome Corners.

Of Use Every Day.

Once you become acquainted with the merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment and the scores of ways in which it is useful in every home, you would not think of being without it. SEMI-READY represents the aggregate of concentrated specialism.

Each part carefully hand-tailored by one who knows exactly how and where to place his stitches so as to mould or shape the part to give the proper style and shapeliness.

Each specialist in a group or unit. The work of all, individual yet prearranged—each part as fashion dictates—each in accordance with the lines of each Semi-ready suit as laid out by the designer—each part tailored by hand from cutting to the final basting.

The result is a perfect suit thoroughly made—accurate fitting and of better materials than the best custom tailor can afford for twice the money.

A LINDSAY WEDDING.

Nuptial Event in That Town of Local Interest.

St. Mary's Church, Lindsay was the scene of a wedding of local interest Monday morning when Miss Cassie Staunton, of Lindsay, was made the bride of Mr. Leo. Primeau, also of that town. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father O'Sullivan. The bridesmaid was Miss M. Tansney, of Lindsay, and the groomsman, Mr. J. Primeau, of Peterborough.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Miss Annie Thompson and Mr. Albert Steers Last Week.

At the Methodist parsonage, George street, on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 1st, the marriage took place of Mr. Albert Steers to Miss Annie Thompson, youngest daughter of Mr. Jos. Thompson, 16 Parnell street. Rev. Dr. Crothers was the officiating clergyman. The bride was attended by Miss E. Stewart, while the groomsman was Mr. S. Fallis. The bride was handsomely gowned in pearl gray crepe de chene, trimmed with cream all-over lace and chiffon. The bridesmaid wore pearl gray lady's cloth.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the residence of the bride's parents.

The bride was the recipient of a host of beautiful presents from a large circle of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Steers are residing at 41 Wescott street.

A SEPTEMBER WEDDING IN ALBION, MICHIGAN.

A Former Peterboroughonin Leads a Bride to the Altar.

The following is taken from a Grand Rapids, Mich., "Press.":—

Albion, Sept. 2.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Howard, 209 Mingo street, was the scene of a very pretty wedding at 1 p.m., Thursday when their daughter, Miss Frances A. Howard, was given in marriage to Frederick G. Wescott, of Grand Rapids, in the presence of a large company of relatives and near friends.

The house was tastefully decorated in green and red; the dining room, in green and yellow. As a prelude to the wedding march, Miss Georgia Pratt sang, "As the Dawn," a song peculiarly appropriate to the occasion. Then as Mendelssohn's march was played by Miss Clara Dey, of Springport, the wedding procession advanced, led by Rev. Wm. Colby, of Parma. Following were the bridesmaids, Miss Elizabeth Kuhn, of Grand Rapids and Miss Elizabeth Jane Hall, of Cadillac. The best man, Fred S. Nicholas, of Bannister, and the maid o fhonour, Miss Bertha Toward, sister o fthe bride, were next in line. The groom then came and just preceded the little ring bearer, Miss Dorothy Griffin. The bride, attired in a handsome white wedding gown and carrying a bouquet of white asters, leaned upon the arm of her father, and concluded the wedding procession.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wm. Colby, of Parma, and the friends then rushed forward with congratulations.

A wedding luncheon was served by friends of the bride and the presents, which included many pieces of cut glass and solid silverware, were duly inspected. The happy couple left by afternoon train for their future home in Grand Rapids, where the groom is a prominent engraver and printer. The bride, a popular young lady of College hill, has been a nurse in Grand Rapids for about two years. Both are highly esteemed and the Press extends Mr. and Mrs. Wescott congratulations.

Among the guests who were present from out of town were: Mrs. A. E. Cowles, of Lansing; Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Howard, Dr. S. H. Culver, Mrs. Martha Culver, Miss Anna J. Culver, Mrs James Sherwood, Miss Doro Elmer and Miss Susan Mills, of Mason; Misses Elizabeth Kuhn, of Grand Rapids, and Elizabeth Hall, of Cadillac; Rev. and Mrs. Colby, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dean and Mr. and Mrs. James Dean, of Parma; Fred Nicholas, of Bannister; Miss Alice Baker, of Grand Blanc, and Miss Clara Dey, of Springport.

A LADY'S SUCCESS IN FLOWER CULTURE.

What Love for Flowers and Correspondence Will do.

The near approach of the Horticultural Exhibition — on Thursday and Friday, the 8th and 9th — suggests thoughts of flowers. The other day the Examiner, passing along Elm street, was delighted to notice a magnificent display of nasturtiums, and other blooming plants, and was led to make a closer inspection. The residence of Mrs. Hodgson, No. 7, Elm street, is the place that boasted of this splendid show of these gay flowers. What challenged attention at first was the luxurious growth. The vines of these nasturtiums were trained on a trellis that overarched a space of about six feet from the ground to the walls of the house. The vines were about ten feet in height, and the leafage was exceptionally large, the leaves measuring six or seven inches in diameter, and there were thousands of beautiful blossoms of large size, delicate markings, and of infinite variety. Nothing of the kind could be finer. Asked as to the secret of her success Mrs. Hodgson attributed it in the first place to good seed. She uses only Burpee's and finds his seed invariably satisfactory; then rich soil, and good care, and, behind all, a fondness for the work. The application of intelligent care suggested by a real enthusiasm in flower culture, is a way to success, and in exercising this Mrs. Hodgson has the honour of having, perhaps, the finest trophy of blooming nasturtiums in town. Not only has she these, but all the flowers she touches seem to respond with strong growth and fine bloom, as witness her coboea scandens, her cosmos, and many other beautiful flowers. If the enthusiasm and well directed common sense, which Mrs. Hodgson devotes to her flowers, were general, the town would be transformed.

FIRST OF THE NEW CARS HAS ARRIVED.

A Very Handsome and Substantial Piece of Work.

The first of the four new street cars which are being built in Ottawa, arrived in town last night and was taken to the car sheds to-day. The other three are expected here in a few days. The new car which is a closed one has been very handsomely fitted up. The seats are arranged like those of a railroad coach, there being two rows of seven double seats making seating capacity for 28 persons. These seats are far more comfortable than the long side seats which are used in most of the closed cars in the cities. The woodwork is highly finished and the general effect is very pleasing. It is expected that the car will be running by to-morrow or Friday as the motors are ready to be installed at once.

Mr. Pollard will be remembered as a former resident of Peterborough.

RE DUCK SHOOTING AND THE GAME LAW.

An Otonabee Correspondent Contributes His Opinions.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I have noticed with pleasure those letters in your columns re-duck shooting on Rice Lake. I have often wondered if there was such a thing as game laws in this province, especially in regard to duck shooting. When the season opened there was shooting before daylight and after dark, and shooting before the season opened, and shooting in the spring, and the hide shooting which I believe is against the law. This kind of shooting has done more to drive the ducks off the lake than anything else.

If the ducks can't rest in the open water, where are they going to rest? The game department will have to furnish them with a new kind of feet, as they cannot sit on tall trees. I think our game laws are poorly enforced; and our so-called game wardens can't be blamed. They receive no salary except a little rake-off on licences and if they wish for more they have got to bring themselves down to the level of an informer.

I agree with Red Wing in regard to preserves on Rice Lake. Let it be open to the public; but let the law be enforced.

Grocery Changed Hands.

The grocery stock of Mr. C. McGuire, Hunter street has been purchased by Mr. J. T. Donoghue, of town, who will conduct the business in future. Mr. Donoghue is a young man with a host of friends in town and district, and possesses a thorough knowledge of the grocery business. The stock purchased is a new one, and "Jack" will no doubt receive a liberal share of the patronage of the buying public of town and vicinity

MASTER HORSESHOERS IN SESSION HERE.

Annual Convention of Provincial Association Opened To-day.

The annual convention of the Master Horseshoers' Association of Ontario opened in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street this afternoon. About forty delegates were in attendance. In the absence of the President, Mr. F. P. Hearns, of Brantford, occupied the chair.

Mayor Roger gave an address of welcome on behalf of the Council and citizens of Peterborough. He was somewhat surprised that the local Association which had been in existence but one year should undertake to entertain such a representative body of men, but in so doing they were but exercising the energy which characterized the town of which the citizens were proud. The objects of the Horseshoers' Association were commendable ones. This was a day of combination in many respects and if men were combined for right motives they should be encouraged in their work. The objects of this Association were to promote the mutual interests of its members. The speaker trusted that the meetings would be satisfactory in every way, and that both the citizens of the town and the members of the Association would be benefitted therefrom.

On behalf of the association, Mr. Jos. Batten, of town, made a fitting reply. The association was always pleased to leave the Mayor of the town in which they were visiting present at their opening meeting. We welcome all the brethren to the town. We think we have one of the best towns in the Dominion, and that our association is one of the best, said Mr. Batten. Our object is not only to benefit ourselves, but the public at large. There are many young men who start to learn a trade but never complete their apprenticeship. One of the objects of the association is to take a young man who wants to learn the trade, and give him his papers when he has learned it, so that he may have a better chance when starting for himself. The meetings which the local association hold from time to time have also proved valuable.

The chairman was greatly pleased to have the Mayor present. He spoke briefly of the objects of the association, stating that its aim was to have its members become more proficient in the craft. The horse's foot was a sensitive piece of mechanism, and its physiology needed careful study and attention. He hoped that the convention would be a source of much benefit to all in attendance.

Business of general interest was then discussed. Another session will be held this evening.

One Thousand Eight Hundred 00/100 Dollars

$1800.00 A. W. Cressman

This Cheque represents the largest purchase of Ladies' and Misses' Rain Coats ever made by any firm in Peterborough.

The English Manufacturers, J. Mandleburg & Co., with branch house in Montreal, took to Toronto last week 900 Rain Coats to clear at a price, being overmakes of this season's Goods. After they had sold a portion of them we made an offer for the the entire balance—running away up in the hundreds. Our offer was not much more than ONE HALF what the other portion had been cleared for, but on being submitted to the Montreal office was accepted, as it made a clean sweep.

This, in brief, is our Rain Coat Story. Coming as it does at the beginning of the season, there is only one thing to do and DO QUICKLY—put the prices SO RIDICULOUSLY LOW as to clean up the entire lot at once.

LATEST SPORT

ANNUAL RUGBY MEETING TO-NIGHT.

All Interested in Rugby Asked to Attend at Oriental Hotel.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Rugby Club takes place this evening at 8 o'clock in the Oriental Hotel. This meeting will have a most important bearing on the rugby situation in Peterborough this year, and consequently all those who take an interest in the sport are asked to be present. Several matters of general interest will be thoroughly discussed and the election of officers will take place.

This is great weather for rugby and the pigskin chaser is beginning to make eyes at the Oval.

The question of which series will be entered will be given a thorough discussion to-night.

With ten of last year's old standbys and a host of new material and junior players to choose from, the locals should put a winning aggregation on the green this year.

The Exhibition grounds look to be the best place on which to play the game this year provided they can be put into condition. A gate can be collected there and the street car service would overcome the long walk which the patrons of the game have experienced in former years.

After the Peterboroughs get busy, its up to the City League to hold their annual meeting and see what can be done. Some speendid games were played last year in this league and some coming stars were unearthed who with a year or so of additional experience would be shining lights on the gridiron before many seasons. Keep up the City League.

Peterborough always was considered a good football town and this is the first season for many years that the team has not started out as champions either holding an intermediate Provincial or Dominion cup. This year there is a change and the boys should go into the game with a greater determination than ever to regain their former title and bring additional glory to Peterborough.

"There is plenty of material in town for both intermediate and junior teams this year," remarked a rugby enthusiast to-day. This statement may not be far astray and the idea of having a junior team in town seems to be a good one. If a satisfactory junior district could be formed with the travelling expenses not too great, junior rugby would no doubt flourish here this year. The question of a junior team will be considered to-night.

Come to this evening's meeting whether you take part in the discussion or not. The larger the attendance, the greater will be the enthusiasm.

COBOURG GOLFERS WON.

Locals Beaten Yesterday—Mr. J. Lawrence Breaks Record of Local Course.

Cobourg golfers came, saw and conquered Monday —in a game with the local club on the golf links, being 26 holes up when the game concluded. The play was interesting throughout, the feature of the day being the remarkable playing of Mr. J. Lawrence, who succeeded in breaking the record of the local links. The previous record was 78, but by very skilful play Mr. Lawrence reduced this to 76. The following is the score:—

Peterborough.	Cobourg.
Hamilton 0	Adams 0
Lawrence 3	Vivian 0
Ray 0	James 0
Burnett 0	Skeaff 1
Eastwood 0	Haskell 0
Garvin, J. W., 0	Crossen, W. T., 7
Stratton 0	Armstrong 3
Campbell 0	Kirkland 0
Dean 0	Osler 1
McFall 0	Crossen, L., 0
Garvin, J., 0	Douglas, 3
Total, 12.	Total, 26.

BOWLING-ON-THE-GREEN.

It is safe to say that in no half acre in the town of Peterborough was there a better sustained hot interest manifested all day and night than at the Brookside bowling green Monday, from the time the dew was well off the grass till about 11 p.m. you could hear the encouraging shouts of each rink as one or the other of the sides made a good shot.

In the morning the Bachelors showed up two rinks strong and one of them with the aid of a Benedict qualified themselves to become Benedicts as soon as circumstances will permit. There was a third game gotten up and it was agreed between the skips that they should represent the Bachelors and Benedicts respectively—the rink with the Bachelor on it representing that class, but as the Benedicts won by seven shots the Bachelors objected to being bound by it, so that it can only be given as a game on the side:—

The following are the scores:—

Benedicts.	Bachelors.
G. Mather	M. G. Constant
G. K. Martin	J. Gibson
R. Sturgeon	W. O'Brien
R. Kerr, sk. 16.	R. M. Waddell, sk. 41.
T. S. Pratt	Rev. J. Wilson
D. Bellegham,	J. A. E. Fitzgerald
G. A. Cox	C. J. Seymour
Fred. Dixon, sk. 19.	J. McIntyre, sk. 26.

The side game:—

J. Titterson	G. Meredith
D. H. Moore	G. E. Lech
E. W. Cox	W. Smith
E. Runnells, 15.	A. H. Stratton, sk. 5.

Majority for the Bachelors, 4; but as the Benedicts beat them by 31 shots in the previous game they are still 27 down.

Mr. Seymour had to leave and his place was taken by Mr. Blackburn, a Westmount Benedict before the game was completed.

The following games were played between the President and Vice-President:—

Afternoon.

President.	Vice-President.
J. Titterson	W. Bradburn
W. J. Scott	Geo. Meredith
J. A. Blackburn	W. J. Green
R. Cottrell, sk. 19.	W. Smith, sk. 12.
M. G. Constant	T. Pratt
W. O'Brien	J. Fitzgerald
J. McIntyre	Ed. Runnells
R. Waddell, sk. 13.	F. Dixon, sk. 11.
J. A. Blackburn	C. Seymour
R. Cottrell,	W. O'Brien
G. A. Cox	R. M. Waddell
Dr. Greer, sk. 12.	Dr. Maher, sk. 12.

Dr. Greer won on an extra end.

President, 21; Vice-President, 33.

At the close of the above games a discussion arose as to permitting the above-named side game to be counted in the Bachelor-Benedict match, when R. Waddell challenged any rink of Benedicts to decide the point in dispute, and it was decided to pull it off at once in a game of 15 ends. They started out well but the night was cold, the grass was wet—some were sending for overcoats, and it was not long until they began to complain of the rheumatic pains that would be theirs in the morning—so at the conclusion of the twelfth end—about 11 p.m.—they decided to quit. It is unfortunate that the game was not finished as it remains still in dispute.

The following was the score when they quit:—

LACROSSE.

Orillia and Chatham played another tie game on Monday at Chatham. The final will likely be played off at the Toronto Island.

There is nothing new to-day in the Trent Valley Lacrosse circles, but something definite in the line of news is expected this evening. It is altogether likely that the postponed final game between Havelock and the T.A.S. will be played either on Friday or Saturday afternoon in Havelock. The Total Abstainers are anxious to have the game played off as the season is becoming late for lacrosse. Word is expected this evening from Havelock and something definite will be known by to-morrow.

METHODIST MINISTER DEAD.

Rev. Dr. Sanders Died Suddenly at Roseneath on Sunday.

On Sunday night at Roseneath the death occurred of Rev. W. J. Sanders, a Methodist minister, who was known in this district. His death was due to an acute attact of Bright's disease.

The late Mr. Sanders was a prominent Free Mason and Oddfellow, being a member of Eureka Lodge Belleville, and a past grand chaplain of the I.O.O.F. Deceased, who was about 55 years of age, was admitted into the M. W. ministry in 1882, and received in full connection in 1886. He had been at many appointments, namely, Cloyne, Marden, Dairymple, Athenly, Dunsford, Lonsdale, Shannonville, Bayside, Adolphustown, Seymour and Roseneath, where he had been for two years and where his death occurred on Sunday. In 1895 he was assistant secretary of the Bay of Quinte Conference, and in 1897 financial secretary of the Belleville district. The deceased gentleman, who was born in England, leaves a widow, two sons and two daughters.

The funeral service took place at Roseneath yesterday and the interment took place in Belleville this afternoon.

Obituary.

On Sunday the death occurred of Mrs. Elizabeth Fitzgibbons, one of the old residents. The deceased lady who was 82 years of age, was born in Ireland and lived for many years in Peterborough after coming to Canada. Her husband predeceased her by about 20 years. She leaves a family of grown up children. The funeral took place from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Thos. McWilliams, 2 Lock street, yesterday morning to St. Peter's Cathedral, thence to the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

MARKET DAY IN QUEBEC

AN INTERESTING SIGHT IN THE ANCIENT CITY.

One Must Rise Betimes to See This Feature of the Old Capital—A Kaleidoscope of Shifting Outlines and Varied Colors of Genre Groups Which Form and Melt and Form Again.

An interesting and characteristic sight of Quebec, and one generally missed by the tourist, is the market held so early on a Saturday morning. To see this feature of the ancient capital one rises betimes. The tourists in upper-town hotels, having drowsily grumbled at the clashing bells of the five o'clock angelus, have settled down for a long morning nap. Only a couple of sleepy servants are astir on the empty terrace in front of the Hotel Frontenac.

The great view below is veiled in mists. Shafts of rosy light, slipping through, touch here the spar of an anchored ship, and there a gleaming spire.

Down the Breakneck Stairs.

The elevator has not begun its day's work, and the only way to the under-world is down the breakneck stair. At the top thereof one longs for the Irishman's blessing, "Good luck to your heels."

As soon as the long descent is begun, one realizes that all the drowsiness of night has been left above and behind. The life of the city at this hour is all on these stairs or below them in the mists of the morning. Trig little French matrons and responsible older sisters are hurrying downward, every one with a basket for her purchases. Though all below is but a blur of sun-shot vapor, one knows when market is being approached by the confusion of those sing-song, high pitched cries wherewith French horses are admonished.

And presently the intrepid visitor is in and out of a kaleidoscope of shifting outlines and varied colors of genre groups, which form and melt and form again. No wonder that an enterprising artist has set up her easel here, though danger menaces it on all sides from two-wheeled market carts driven by voluble French women.

The Indoor Market.

There is a roofed market house, where the comestibles which we know are offered for sale, in shapes which we recognize. The market in this building is like any market anywhere. The visitor from afar finds nothing there to beguile or to astonish him. He wanders out again to the carts and stalls; out into the dazzle of growing sunshine; the mosaic of color; the babble of talk. There in the open are the poorer people who cannot afford to pay for a stand or stall under the roof. They have come from the ribbon farms, up the river or down. Some of them left their homes at two or three o'clock in the proverbial darkest hours before the dawn. The women, who "work harder than the men," said my informant, "often drive into market alone. If the man comes, too, he goes home early on the cars, and leaves his wife to finish the sales. He cannot afford to leave the farm for so many hours together."

At the eastern end of the outdoor market are the people from "down the river" and from the villages in the St. Charles Valley. At its western end are the villagers from "up the river."

The Market Boats.

Along the wharves lie market boats, which came down on Friday night's ebbtide, bringing habitants and produce from the ribbon farms of St. Croix and St. Emilie. They return after Saturday noon, aided by the tide flowing up-stream.

The typical market boat is as bare as a Carmelite's cell, but by no means as clean. Around the saloon, if one can dignify so rough a place by so grand a name, runs a bare wooden bench, made fast to the walls. On this the passengers lie, as the boat steams marketward, and snatch what sleep they can. Some bring breakfast with them. Others take a frugal meal at one of the little street stands near Market square. Here one sits on a plank seat, so close to the sidewalk that any passing acquaintance could make his presence known by a friendly slap—but great kings have feasted as publicly. The cup of tea so artlessly served (for two cents) is excellent, and for three cents more one can add thereto enough bread and butter for a breakfast. By the time the sun has routed the river mists, the wares which have come so far in boat and cart are alluringly displayed on small stands improvised out of boards and trestles. For the privilege of erecting a stand the poor country farmer pays about ten cents for each market day.

The habitant loves flowers and when the village gardens are in bloom every stand is brightened by a few blossoming plants in pots, or by bunches of cut flowers. At some we are invited to buy compact little nosegays of candytuft and poppies, pinks and gillyflowers, larkspur and sweetwilliam, grandma's posies which society has forgotten.

Home Manufactures.

But in Champlain Market the utilitarian is provided for as well as the aesthetic. There one can supply both the outer and the inner man. There are hanks of homespun wool in its natural tints or dyed to suit the heart's desire, toweling made in cottage looms from homespun and home-grown flax, rag carpeting so closely woven and of such fine strands that one can make portieres thereof, and socks knit by farmers' wives in odd moments of comparative leisure. In autumn there will be "tuques," conical worsted caps which can be pulled comfortably down over the wearer's ears.

And at all seasons the habitante sells coarse but very pretty table covers and bedspreads woven of heavy linen strands. Delft blue and white.

Few of the saleswomen are specialists. Most of the stands displays what the little farm at this time affords. One woman, for instance, has two fowls, a hank of homespun, wool, many bars of home-made soap seductively spread forth, some things which look like brickbats, but are explained to be blood puddings, and a sheep's heart with attachments which only an anatomist could identify. She has also a shallow basket full of stamped pots of the delicious "habitante" butter wrapped in cool lettuce leaves, a pail of hams and a sheaf of brooms made by tying green withes to a staff.

A Provincial Saleswoman.

The trig little saleswoman knits while she waits for customers. While her fingers work deftly with her homespun wool her eyes rove over the shifting, gesticulating crowd. For market day is fatiguing! Yes; but it is amusing also. Here she meets acquaintances whom otherwise she sees but seldom, relatives from distant villages and daughters of her own villages whose young husbands longed, amid the peace of their fields, for the stir of the streets, and so have gone to work in the shoe factories of Quebec.

The saleswoman wears the unadorned black "sailor" hat so popular among the habitantes that a stranger might suppose it to be part of a national costume. The flamboyant millinery so dear to her soul is for a saint's day or a wedding. She will greet you with a smile and a "bon jour" as you approach her, and however small your purchase, she will find another smile and another, "ben jour" for you as you depart. Though her stock is small, its range is so wide that if you cannot make a trade with her you are indeed hard to please.

The Poorest People.

At the outermost stalls sit the poorest people, who have so little to sell that one wonders how their profits can cover the cost of coming. A grey-haired woman whose serene face recalls the pictures of St. Elizabeth, sits knitting on an inverted wooden box, and spread before her on a second box lies her entire stock in trade—two dozen bars of home-made soap. But she is better equipped for business than the old man who has brought all his merchandise in a pail. It is a collection of small blood-puddings, wrapped in newspaper.

There are a few specialist among the market people. Noteworthy among these are the sellers of medicinal herbs. The use of "simples," once part of the education of a chatelaine, is still taught, it seems, in the cottages of French Canada. The herb-seller has many fagots of sticks, bunches of herbs and bundles of slender rootlets. She has also spruce gum, "au naturel," in lumps which look like fragments of quartz, and spruce gum in sticks, bearing an outward semblance to homemade molasses candy. She calls her wares by strange names unknown to botany; knows the virtures of each and could prescribe for you.

The basket-seller is also a specialist. He tempts the visitor in Quebec with fascinating novelties. Some of his baskets are made of withes woven with the bark on, and their interlacing strands display a charming variety of subdued coloring—olive, burnt umber, dull red, dull purple and soft grey.

Dealers in Live Stock.

Along the eastern end of the market are specialists who deal in live and very lively stock. There are slatted coops, whence hens and geese put forth long necks and strenuous protests. Hard by are penned calves, protesting in more strident tones. But the most effective remonstrances against durance vile are uttered by the little pigs. These sojourn in large wooden coops, a family to a coop, and both household and domicile are as clean as water and hands can make them. The proprietor holds them up by the hind legs, expatiating upon their solidity, and their shrieks arise even to the citadel.

A CURIOUS PHENOMENON.

The Singular Noises at Nakous, on the Red Sea.

A singular phenomenon occurs on the borders of the Red sea at a place called Nakous, where intermittent underground sounds have been heard for an unknown number of centuries. It is situated at about half a mile distant from the shore, whence a long reach of sand ascends rapidly to a height of 300 feet. This reach is about 80 feet wide and resembles an amphitheater, being walled by low rocks. The sounds coming up from the ground at this place recur at intervals of about an hour. They at first resemble a low murmur, but ere long there is heard a loud knocking somewhat like the strokes of a bell and which at the end of about five minutes becomes so strong as to agitate the sand.

The explanation of this curious phenomenon given by the Arabs is that there is a convent under the ground here, and that these sounds are those of the bell which the monks ring for prayers. So they call it Nakous, which means a bell. The Arabs affirm that the noise so frightens their camels when they hear it as to render them furious. Philosophers attribute the sound to suppressed volcanic action—probably to the bubbling of gas or vapors underground.—Newcastle (England) Chronicle.

Wanted—A Wife.

Some months ago, when Mr. Edgar Wallace was engaged in writing a series of articles in The Daily Mail on the homeless poor of London, he received a letter from a workman in British Columbia, who made a remarkable offer. This was nothing more nor less than an offer to marry any homeless girl whom Mr. Wallace might chose for him. The only stipulation was that she should be an honest woman. Mr. Wallace replied to the man regretting that he could not go further into the matter until the generous Canadian had furnished him with—

(1) Satisfactory references, including one from his local clergyman.

(2) Money for the girl's fare and for preliminary expenses.

(3) His photograph for the satisfaction of the wife-to-be.

Yesterday all these things came to hand, and Mr. Edgar Wallace now seeks some girl in distressed circumstances who desires a start in a new land as a poor man's wife. He is satisfied from the references that the girl will be well cared for, and will become mistress of a comfortable if humble establishment. Her new home will be in the most beautiful part of the Rocky Mountains, within reach of the great lakes.—London Daily Mail.

Disinfect Farm Buildings.

Very few farmers appreciate the importance of disinfecting farm buildings, lots, etc. It costs very little to prepare or buy a solution already prepared and sprinkle it over the walls of the henhouse, the stalls of the barn and the lots where the animals are kept continually. It is much easier to prevent disease in this way than to try to get rid of it after it is well established.—American Agriculturist.

A Trick of the Trade.

Many of the local curiosity shops planted in the back streets of most county and country towns are simply kept up by large London firms who, from a prolonged study of human nature, have discovered that people who are shy of buying old furniture or old silver in Bond street or Piccadilly are ready and eager purchasers of precisely the same objects, at a rather higher price, when they come upon them in the back streets of a country town.—English Country Gentleman.

His Scenery.

Comedian—So our manager has been sick. What did the doctor say? Soubrette—Said he needed a change of scenery. Comedian—H'm! The doctor must have seen the show.—Philadelphia Record.

He Was Sincere.

Friend—What did he say to you when he proposed to you? Miss Rox—He said life without me meant nothing. Friend—He was sincere in that. That's just what his possessions amount to.

STICHOMETRY.

A Book Custom That Never Attained Any Very Extensive Usage.

Stichometry, from the Greek stichos, a row, line or verse, and metron, a measure, is used in two senses. The first applies to the subject matter of Hebrew literature, whereby the rhythmic lines which constitute the parallelism of the poetical books are portioned off from one another; the second to an entirely artificial method of measuring off the contents of each book by so many lines of fixed or average length.

The former is of great antiquity and may have been introduced by the sacred writers themselves. The latter is due to Euthalius of Alexandria, 458, who applied it to the Pauline epistles and later to the gospels.

St. Jerome professed to have founded his method upon a similar treatment of the text in existing manuscripts of Demosthenes and Cicero. His original arrangement is thought to be represented by the Codex Amiatinus at Florence and that of Euthalius in the Codex Claromontanus at Paris.

As this system left a large proportion of each page blank and as vellum was costly, stichometry never attained any very extensive usage.

A TRUTHFUL INDIAN.

He Didn't Get Tired Like the Rest, For a Very Good Reason.

Clement Scott, the English dramatic critic, took a profound interest in the American Indian. He had at his tongue's tip a hundred incidents wherewith to illustrate odd phases of the Indian's character.

"There was a farmer in the west who was hard put to it for help upon his farm. Indians were plentiful in the neighborhood, but they were poor workmen. Always tired, they would put down the hoe or rake as soon as the master's back was turned, and, selecting a cool spot, they would lie down on the grass and sleep the day away.

"But one morning a very tall, robust Indian asked the farmer to give him work.

"'No,' said the white man, 'you will get tired. You Indians are always getting tired.'

"'Oh, no,' said the other. 'This Injun never get tired. This Injun not like the rest.'

"'Well, I'll try you,' said the farmer, and he engaged the man. He put him to work in a wheatfield; then he went away for an hour or two. When he returned he found the Indian asleep under a tree.

"'Here, wake up here,' he cried. 'You told me you never got tired.'

"'Ugh,' said the other, yawning, 'this Injun don't. But if he not lie down often he would get tired just the same as the rest.'"

The Awful Child.

Little Helen watched her maiden aunt massaging with face cream and noticed that the jar was empty.

"Ain't it too bad, Aunt Laura?"

SEVERE PAINS IN THE BACK

Caused From Deranged Kidneys—Now Well and Gives Credit to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mrs. H. Trollope, 850 Water street, Peterborough, Ont., states: "I have used two boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and found them an excellent medicine. I had severe pains across the back which came from my Kidneys being out of order, and after using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for a time I began to feel a wonderful improvement in my health.

"I have no more pains in my back now and am feeling as well as ever I did. Consequently, I am glad of an opportunity to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

HER FATHER'S WAY

By ALLAN P. AMES

Copyright, 1904, by T. C. McClure

A young man was in love with Southley's daughter Lois. The fact is noteworthy only because this particular young man happened to be the first whose ambitions had received serious attention. Like a wise parent, Southley made no overt attempt to influence her decision. Nevertheless his mind was hard at work, because among all the youngsters who aspired to be his son-in-law Robert Loriand was his choice. Had Lois shared his opinion there would have been no occasion for the discussion now progressing in a cool corner of the veranda.

"But, father," she was objecting, "his chin is so square and firm and his mouth so hard. His face is almost repellent at times."

"His features are rugged," said Southley, "but I see gentleness in them as well as strength. Robert's worth a dozen of those round cheeked, chinless boys that have been hanging around here this summer."

"But, dear daddy, how can I love a man I'm afraid of? Why, if he ever commanded me to marry him I'd just have to. Oh, I don't know what I do think. Sometimes"—

"Then he hasn't asked you yet?" said her father.

"Yes; he asked, though he looked as if he preferred to pick me up and run off without a word. How I ever denied him I don't know, but I begged him to wait, and he's coming at 5 this afternoon for his final answer."

Southley laid aside his cigar and turned to regard the perplexed face more intently. "Daughter," he said, "you don't know men like your old daddy. Those blue eyes of yours have much to learn. Take a good, long look before you send away a fellow like Robert Loriand."

"Really, I wish I could see him as you do; but I'm afraid I can't. I have the feeling that if he were ever crossed he'd be positively brutal."

"You never knew him to do a harsh or unkind thing, did you?"

"No; nor anything markedly kind or gentle, either."

"Well, it's hard luck," he sighed. "Superficially, his looks are against him."

For a long while after Lois had left him to make those changes in her appearance which she thought were essential for the coming ordeal he remained thoughtfully smoking, with his eyes fixed upon the long white stretch of road down which young Loriand would shortly come marching to his fate. Mottled shadows of the sheltering vine crept across the veranda floor until they reached the spot the old cat had chosen for her family's afternoon siesta. Apparently considering shade unhealthful, she opened her eyes, stretched and yawned, shook her clustering offspring from their snug comfort and sauntered toward the master of the house. Arriving by his chair, she gazed a moment into his preoccupied face, then sprang upon his knee and rubbed her ears against his waistcoat.

"Why, Poosie," said the old gentleman, rousing from his reverie, "deserted the nursery? For a lady of so many family cares your familiarity is shocking. There! You see? That's generally what comes of it."

One of the kittens had started to roll down the front steps. Southley sprang to the rescue in time to prevent a completion of the descent. Poosie watched him with approval, but in the end wished she had attended to the matter herself; for, after standing a moment with her venturesome child held thoughtfully before him, the man suddenly tucked it under his arm and started off around the house.

"Edward," he shouted to the gardener, "Edward, I want to borrow your high rubber boots. And see if you can find me a small wooden box."

A few minutes before 5 Lois returned to the veranda, a vision in white, but with her white face clouded with indecision. "I almost wish I hadn't told you, father," said she. "Before that I had my mind made up to send him away. Now I don't know what I shall do. And he's so masterful that if I show the slightest hesitation he's sure to make me do as he wants. Won't you stay and help me?"

Her father did not answer. He was standing at the end of the porch watching some one down the road. Lois went to his side and with a hand on his shoulder followed his gaze.

"Wonder what that chap's up to?" he remarked.

"He's too far away to make out who he is," she replied indifferently.

The unknown had halted and taken a stand beside the road with his back toward them. Something in the field had attracted his attention.

"Let's see what he is looking at," said Southley, as he handed Lois a pair of field glasses and took another pair for himself.

Without stopping to wonder how they happened to be so ready at hand, the girl received the binoculars and leveled them toward the figure on the road. Judging from his dress the man was young and prosperous, for his white flannels were of jaunty cut, and a gay ribbon encircled his stiff straw hat. Subsequent developments made the resplendent freshness of his costume all the more noticeable.

On the other side of the ditch bounding the highway was a muddy little pond, in the center of which they now remarked a box floating a small, frightened kitten. The little thing floundered at the edge of its frail support as though debating whether to remain and starve or trust itself to the dark water. Lois even fancied she could hear its appealing cries, and with an exclamation of pity she made toward the steps.

"Wait," said her father, putting out a detaining hand. "He's going to look after it. Besides, it can't fall off. It's tied."

"I don't see how you can tell," said Lois. "Your glasses must be better than mine."

In spite of the muddy water and its unknown depth, the young man seemed to be resolved upon rescue. He started to roll up his immaculate trousers, then, apparently realizing the futility of such precaution, threw off his coat and waded in. It was evident that if necessary he meant to swim. But he was spared that sacrifice. When he reached the marooned kitten the water was barely above his knees. Disregarding the ungrateful little beast's outrageous spittings and clawings, he picked it up, box and all, and started back to shore.

"Oh," cried Lois, with a long breath, "isn't he a dear! I don't believe there's another man in the place who would go to all that trouble for a poor little kitten. I wonder who he is. Won't you go out and thank him, father? Perhaps the kitten is one of Poosie's."

"I am sure he would appreciate thanks from you more," replied Southley, "and when he comes this way you'd better do it yourself. He deserves all the nice things you can say to him."

"Why, what do you mean?" inquired Lois, glancing up quickly at the significant note in his voice.

"Where are your eyes, daughter? There, he's facing us, with his hat off. Now you must recognise him."

The youth with the kitten on his arm had reached dry soil, where he stood ruefully inspecting his mud soaked clothing. After a moment's meditation, however, he put on his coat and continued his progress toward them, still bearing the kitten.

Lois took one long look, then lowered her glasses to hide a burning face against her father's coat.

"Is he still coming?" she at length whispered.

"Certainly," said Southley. "You didn't think he'd miss his appointment just because his clothes were mussed, did you?"

Lois forsook his encircling arm and began to settle her hair with deft pats. "I think," said she—"I think— No, I don't think any more; I know. Father, I shan't need your help. I'd rather thank him myself."

"All right, child," replied the old gentleman, turning to enter the house. "I never believed it wise for parents to meddle in such affairs as these."

Life, Death and Love.

A woman lay with closed eyes and quiet breath waiting to welcome an angel whose presence seemed to overshadow the white curtained room. A man knelt beside the bed, the woman's hand pressed close in his against his cheek, while his lips moved as if in prayer.

In the room were Life, Death and Love.

"What have you given her?" questioned Death of Life.

"I brought her my best gifts," answered Life. "Youth, health, beauty, joy and love."

"Has Love brought her good gifts?" again asked Death.

Said Love, with wistful eyes: "I brought her brave, bright hours; sunshine and laughter, happiness and glory in living and then a heavy cross. The sunshine she shed all about her, even with the fading of Life's glory; the cross hidden deep in her soul cast out self and made a new radiance and beauty there."

"Let her come to me," said Death. "Life had much to give, but peace and rest are not for Life to bestow. Love would give all, but must reckon with the human heart. I will crown and glorify and bless her."

Life fled from the quiet room with a sigh and one whispered tender word, but Love lingered, brave even in the full presence of Death.

"What of him?" said Love, pointing to the kneeling figure.

"He made the cross?" Death asked.

"Yes," said Love, weeping.

"We must teach him," said Death, "what he could not learn from life."—L. M. S. in Outlook.

An Erratic Memory.

Mrs. Hansom's greatest trial was her poor memory. She had tried all sorts of "systems," both original and recommended, but nothing succeeded for more than a little while.

"I'm almost wild," she said plaintively to a niece who found her with a wet compress bound about her head, "for my old school friend, Mrs.— There, I hoped perhaps it would come to me, but it hasn't. Well, she is here in New York, and I met her on the street and asked her to luncheon, and I wanted you and Emma to meet her. But what can I do? How can I introduce her when I can't think of her name?"

The niece looked properly sympathetic and murmured something about every one's having times of forgetfulness.

"But there's no reason for this," moaned the sufferer, "for we have exchanged gifts at Christmas for years! I've tried all my systems, but it's no use; her name has gone, so I doubt if I should know it if I heard it. Of course I shall just have to say, 'This is my old school friend, Mary Lane.' It seems more natural, anyway, to call her that, because that was her name before she married George Ray. I suppose I shall have to pass it off as best I can!"

The Work of the Heart.

Whether it be true or not that the Egyptians 4,000 years B. C. discovered the true functions of the heart and thus anticipated Harvey, it certainly is true that Michael Servitus, whom John Calvin burned to death at Geneva in 1553, in his treatise, "De Trinitatis Erroribus," published in 1533, first maintained the imperviousness of the septum and the "transition of blood from the right ventricle by the pulmonary artery to the lungs, thence by the pulmonary vein and left auricle and ventricle and the aorta to all parts of the body."

More than eighty years later Harvey, taking up the work of that great physiologist, completed it, and in his work, "Exercitatis de Motu Cordis et Sanguinis" (1628), promulgated to the world his discovery of the true functions of the heart and of the regular and periodic circulation of the blood, and it in nowise derogates from his fame or the merit of his discovery to say that it was Michael Servitus who pointed the way to this discovery for him.

Shopping in the Philippines.

A traveler in the Philippines writes: "There is no place where shopping is easier than in Manila, for it is almost absolutely impossible to buy anything you require. You can nevertheless purchase, if you are so inclined, everything you do not want—and soiled at that—at four times or so its normal value."

Oscar's Definition.

Shocked Mother—My boy, my boy, what became of that last piece of pie I left in the cupboard and told you not to disturb? Little Oscar—I eated it. Shocked Mother—And what would you call an act like that? Little Oscar—Disturbing the piece, I suppose.—Buffalo Commercial.

THE BARN DOOR SKATE.

A Landlubber's Description of This Peculiar Fish.

The barn door skate beggar's description. I never could tell whether he was looking at me with his eyes or his breathe holes. He is a bottom fish and flat like a flounder. He has a triangular body, the apex of which forms the snout; opposite his snout are his tail and a few extra pieces of his overcoat, which kind nature has tagged on to him in case he gets torn and has to be mended. His tail is embellished with a few spines—this I know for a fact.

He has a couple of eyes a little way back of his snout, and right back of these are a couple of holes that extend completely through him. These holes connect with his lungs, or whatever he uses to breathe with, and have an uncomfortable way of looking at you at the same time as his eyes.

He has a mouth, too, but it is on the under side of him and convenient for business. It is a funny thing, with spines on the lips, and when you pull the lower jaw the upper jaw moves with it—a sort of automatic trap, not unlike what you can see in any ten cent restaurant. This is a landlubber's description, but it is enough.—Country Life In America.

THE WORD DOILY.

Originally It Was the Name of a Fabric For Summer Wear.

Though the word doily is now restricted in meaning to the small cloth that covers a dessert plate, it had originally a much wider signification. It seems to have been introduced as a cheap and fashionable fabric, specially for summer wear, about the latter part of the seventeenth century, for Dryden speaks of "doiley petticoats," and Steele in the Tatler mentions "a doyley suit."

The name has been long connected with a London firm, trading as linen drapers, in Upper Wellington street, Strand, who occupied the great old corner house next to Hodsoll's, the banker, from Queen Anne's time to 1850. Though their name happens to be the same as that of the stuff, there is no authority for linking the two together.

Wedgwood rejects derivation and suggests the Dutch dwaele, a towel, or, better still, the Swiss dwahell, a napkin. The dolly itself used to be called a "doily napkin" till shortened by customary usage.—London Standard.

His Person Sacred.

The person of the Korean emperor is sacred. If human hand touches him it is sacrilege, and the punishment for sacrilege is death. If the emperor touches a subject he becomes sacred. The emperor's name must be mentioned only in whispers. His portrait is never painted except after death. Then it is worshiped. Once a foreign ambassador sought to present the emperor with the portrait of his sovereign. But the minister for foreign affairs regarded the offer as an outrage, and the portrait was never accepted. The emperor's power is boundless; his word is law, and he owns everything, land and people, without restriction. A simple wish is a command.

Going for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Don't put yourself in this man's place but keep a bottle of this remedy in your home. There is nothing so good for Colic, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery and Diarrhoea. It is equally valuable for Summer Complaint and Cholera Infantum and has saved the lives of more children than any other medicine in use. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

You, or some one of your family, are sure to need this remedy sooner or later and when that time comes you will need it badly; you will need it quickly. Why not buy it now and be prepared for such an emergency? Price, 35 cents.

THE FIRST LESSON

That the young girl has of womanhood is not seldom a painful one. She learns to know what headache means, and backache, and sometimes is sadly borne down by this new experience of life.

All the pain and misery which young girls commonly experience at such a time, may in almost every instance be entirely prevented or cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity. It tones up the general health, and cures headache, backache, nervousness and other consequences of womanly weakness or disease.

"I received your letter some time ago, with advice about your wonderful medicines," writes Miss Stella Johnson, of 26 Brady Street, Dayton, Ohio. "I was troubled with severe pains every month when I wrote to you for advice. After receiving your letter and following the directions, I am now happy to say that after five years of untold suffering I have not had any pains since first using your 'Favorite Prescription.' I was induced through a friend to write to you and follow your kind advice. I thank God and Dr. R. V. Pierce for this health I now enjoy. I shall urge other women who suffer as I did to use your medicine."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and secredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Free. Dr Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM HAVELOCK.

Interesting Happenings at the Busy Railway Town.

Personal Mention—A Baseball Game—The Poet at Work.

Havelock, Sept. 5.

Miss Carrie Masten, of Napanee, is the guest of Miss Elisa Wright, of town.

Miss Flo. McNichol, of Norwood, spent Monday in town.

Miss S. Brand, who has been spending her holidays at her home in Port Hope returned Monday evening to resume her work as teacher here.

Mr. John Mills, of Chicago, Ill., is the guest of Mr. Isaac Barlow, of town.

Miss Annie Mathison left on Monday for Ottawa, where she will attend the Ottawa Ladies' College.

Miss Lillie Martin, of Toronto, has been the guest of Mrs. Wm. Vance, of town, for the past few days.

Dr. J. McLean, of Bancroft, spent Sunday in town renewing old acquaintances.

Miss Girtie McNaughton, of Norwood, is the guest of Miss NeNie Griffiths for the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Black returned from their visit to the Limestone City, where they were visiting their sister.

Miss Annie Donnley spent Friday in Marmora.

Mr. Harry Nickerson left on Sunday night for a trip to the World's Fair and other points of interest on the way.

Miss Mary Anderson, of Norwood has been the guests of friends in town for the past few days.

Miss McGuire, of West Huntington, is the guest of her brother, Mr. Barsfield, for the past few days.

Mr. A. Tucker, of Stirling, is the guest of Mr. Germain Sills.

Mr. Harold Woods, of Ivanhoe, spent Labour Day in town the guest of his father.

The Havelock baseball team journeyed over to Marmora to play the second last game of the T.V.B.L. with the good intention of winning, but they came home with the feathers flying the wrong way — Marmora won. Well it was too bad, but for the first time this season the local team has a kick coming, for not being used right in that town by the umpire, but without a mistake it was a direct throw down. Of course it was perfectly natural for an old Marmora player to learn a little that way, but not so much as was the case. Havelock had to go to the bat first, but did not manage to get a score. In the first innings for Marmora they scored two, while Campany, in the box for the locals, was just getting into shape. Anyway in the next innings Roy pulled out of the siding and struck the main line so hard that three men fanned the air in succession, and it was almost the same way up to the fourth, when by some mistake the Marmora hitters got in a little good work and scored a few runs which Havelock soon came up in and chased. In the seventh innings Campany's curves seemed to get the best of him for a little while and he let a couple of men to bases on balls, and a couple managed to make a mighty sweep, bringing up the score of fifteen for Marmora and thirteen for Havelock. In the eighth innings Dorricott went into the box for the visitors. The first ball he pitched Rose had to borrow a step ladder to get near it, but the next—well, just ask the Marmora boys how that straight ball fooled them. He threw just nine more balls and the innings was over. In the ninth the Havelock bunch pulled up to fifteen, making a tie, and it was up to the boys to shut Marmora out. But, well, better not relate, a Marmora player got to first, slid down to second, and picked the bag up at third, and came home to roost in the moonlight. This ended the game. The score, 15—16 in favour of Marmora.

NOTES.

Campney's work in the box up to the seventh could not be improved on, as he struck out 17 men.

C. Williams on second, was too much for them; he took up too much room on the bag to make the Marmora bunch happy.

Ask the boys if they got wet in the rainstorm going over. Don't ask this unless your life is insured.

Marmora won by the light of the moon.

Darkness is the umpire's delight, as it saved the day for Marmora.

Will some sage please explain how Dorricott opened the throttle when he struck the box. No. 6's time was not in it with the way he put them over.

The line up for Havelock was as follows: Campney and Dorricott p, W. Rose c, J. Black 1b, C. Williams 2b, E. White 3b, E. Dorricott and Roy Campney ss, J. Baitsman lf, C. Robinson cf, D. Ford rf.

The last game of this series is to be played on the Campbellford grounds, Campbellford vs. Havelock. If Campbellford wins it makes a tie all around and then it is up to a game on foreign ground.

The long-looked-for lacrosse game between the T.A.S. of Peterborough and the locals will be pulled off here on Friday next, and it is going to be the best what has been by the way the fellows are getting into shape, and if there is not something doing—well, don't tell anybody.

Our young poet has got in his work again and the following is his latest:—If you know his nobs

A Mr. ——
Whose home is far away,
I know you will not be shocked
At what I'm going to say.

He has got quite a longing,
For a girl so nice and sweet,
Say? did you ever see him
When he meets her on the street.

Its "Oh! Hellow there Huldy
Why dear, how do you do,
I never met a person
Who looked anything like you."

With ths they start a walking,
And tearing down the street,
Until they come to the corner store
And he says, "By Gum, I'll treat."

So he buys an All-Day Sucker
Some ice cream and some sweets
A five cent box of pop corn
And an assortment of sweet meats.

It starts and makes them dizzy
Expand around the waist
Until both are so sea sick
There's a blank look on their face.

But during all the rumpus
He has managed to make a date
And with his mouth close to her lips
He says, "I'm going to stay up late."

So at night about half past seven
They go walking down the track
But little about it did he know
That he wouldn't bring her back.

They are half-way through the Rock cut
And feeling pretty gay
When ——— he thinks he sees a ghost
And it fills him with dismay.

His features turn to waxen white
His teeth they click together
His hair stands straight on his head
As if frose in wintry weather.

He turns and leaves her where she is
And dashes at a rate
To make a Trotter sigh for shame,
To see his one-ten gait.

He touched about every sixth tie
Jumped fourteen feet endways
And when he got to Havelock
You'd have laughed to see his gaze.

His hat was crunched
His boots were mussed
The laces they were bursted
The sweat was pouring from his brow
As though he had been eating mustard.

And now whenever he takes her home
He always takes the road
For to get him to cross that track again
It would surely take a goad.

ANOTHER ATTRACTION FOR PETERBOROUGH FAIR.

Robt. Beith's Champion Horses Will be Exhibited Here.

The Peterborough Industrial Exhibition is less than three weeks away and the arrangements are progressing favourably. The directors are all very optimistic as to the success of the affair and the "best we ever had" is what they all believe the fair will be this year.

Messrs. G. Fitzgerald and H. P. Kennedy, who have been travelling about this vicinity quite extensively of late, report that a great deal of interest is being manifest in connection with the coming exhibition. The Lindsay people are also quite interested in the handsome prize list and are anxious that some of these be distributed at their fair. People generally are talking exhibition which is a good omen for its success.

Mr. D. Hughes-Charles has received word that Mr. Robt. Beith, M.P. for West Durham, will be present at the fair with his prize hackey stallions and mares which swept everything at the World's Fair a short time ago. This should prove a great attraction for all those interested in horses. Graham Bros. of Claremount will also exhibit some of their finest stallions and mares. Both Beith's and Graham's horses will be sent here simply for exhibition and not for prize winning purposes, the directors wishing to have exhibited the very finest types of horse flesh available in order that the farmers in this section of the country may see what type of horses should be used.

Keep the date of the fair in mind and attend.

BEFORE THE MAGISTRATE.

Doings at the Police Court This Morning.

At the police court this morning, four cases came up for the consideration of the Magistrate.

Three boys were charged with throwing stones. Though there was evidence against the younsters the Magistrate dismissed the case with a severe warning to the boys, who will not be let off so easily the next time. The nuisance of throwing stones is becoming too wide spread among some of the boys of the town, and the police are looking into the matter and more cases will follow, if it is not stopped, and the guilty parties will not get off as easily as did those at this morning's police court.

Mr. F. Sandy, station agent of the G.T.R., was charged with allowing a car to stand on a highway at King street for a longer period than five minutes. He admitted the charge, stating that on the occasion in question the congestion of cars was so great that it was found impossible to open the train standing on the crossing, but that as soon as it was at all possible the crossing was cleared. The magistrate imposed a fine of $2 and $2.30 costs.

Simon Weir was charged with using grossly abusive and insulting language on September 1st. The case was enlarged until next Friday morning.

John Doherty was fined $2 for assaulting another man on September 2nd.

Kept Poor by Doctor's Bills.

Many a family is kept poor by doctors' bills when just as good and sometimes better results could be obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills which sell at 25 cents a box of twenty-five doses. As one pill a day is the most frequent dose under any circumstances there is no treatment obtainable which costs so little and at the same time none which brings about such excellent results in derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels.

HAPPY MOTHER'S TOUCHING STORY

Of Baby's Dreadful Suffering from Eczema.

CURED BY CUTICURA.

Now His Skin is as White as a Snow Flake.

"A terrible rash broke out on Charlie's poor little face and spread to his neck, chest and back. I had never seen anything quite like it before," writes Mrs. Helena Rath of 631 10th Ave., N. Y. City. "The skin rose in little lumps, and matter came out. My baby's skin was hot, and how he did suffer. He wouldn't eat, and night after night I walked the floor with him, weak as I was. Often I had to stop because I felt faint and my back throbbed with pain. But the worst pain of all was to see my poor little boy burning with those nasty sores. At last I was persuaded by a friend across the street to try the Cuticura Remedies. She gave me some Cuticura Ointment—I think the box was about half full—and a piece of Cuticura Soap. I followed the directions, bathing Charlie and putting that nice Ointment on the sores. Little by little, but so surely, Charlie and I both got more peace by day and more sleep by night. The sores sort of dried up and went away, and now Charlie is cured completely."

"Yes, that fat little boy by the window is Charlie, and his skin is as white as a snow flake, thanks to the Cuticura Remedies. I think everybody should know about the Soap and Ointment, and if it is going to help other mothers with sick babies, go ahead and publish what I have told you."

Cuticura Resolvent, Hood and in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chemical Corp., Sole Proprietors.

AT THE SEPARATE SCHOOLS.

Good Attendance Marked Opening day—The Prize Winners.

There was a good attendance at the Separate Schools yesterday, which was practically the opening day. At the Murray street school there was an attendance of 215, at the Convent 235 were present, while 200 were in attendance at the Lake street school. The new principal, Mr. M. McDonald, took charge of the Murray street school; he is the only new teacher this year on any of the staffs.

The five dollar gold piece offered as a prize for the pupil taking the highest stand in the recent entrance examinations, was won by Michael Quillen, whose brother took the prize last year. A similar prize offered at the Convent, was won by Miss Ethel Hayes. These prizes were presented by Mr. James Lynch, druggist, town.

A REASONABLE REQUEST.

The Fenelon Falls Gazette Gives Tongue on the Length of Lunge.

The following is from the Fenelon Falls Gazette: "The Peterborough Examiner says that at the annual meeting of the Stony Lake Cottagers Association held a few days ago, at the pavilion, at Juniper Island, the new fishing regulations were discussed and it was decided to ask the Government to change the regulations respecting the size of maskinonge to be caught, making the limit 24 inches in length instead of 30 inches. The request is a reasonable one, and ought to be complied with as soon as made. The next time the Government goes fishing let it take a pocket rule and a spring balance with it, and, after it has ascertained the avoirdupois of even a slimly-built thirty-inch 'lunge, (provided it can catch one) let it ask itself, calmly and dispassionately, whether it can expect any man to return a fish of that weight to its native element—unless he is under the eye or in the immediate vicinity of a fishery inspector. A law to which everyone is opposed will be broken by even the most conscientious sportsman; and it is absurd and unreasonable to enact that unless a 'lunge is thirty inches long it must be released when caught. We repeat that it is absurd and unreasonable. Let the Government put that in its pipe and smoke it."

Park Street Baptist.

It was Prohibition Day at the Park Street Baptist Church on Sunday last.

The text for the evening sermon by the Rev. A. H. Brace was "Can a Man Take Fire into His Bosom and His Clothes not be Burned".

He opened the verse in the following order:—1, The Potent Element of the text "Fire." 2, The Object Wrought upon "a Man." 3, The Effect Produced "Burned."

This liquid fire is generated in distilleries and breweries and is raging in every part of this fair Dominion, burning body, brain, conscience and affections.

At the close of the sermon the following resolution was put to a large congregation and heartily carried:—"That whereas the Christian Church can make no compromise with a traffic that is in such direct antagonism to all human happiness, social virtue and religious life, we will use our utmost endeavour by every lawful means to carry a prohibitory law, and thus free the church from one of its deadliest foes, our land from untold misery and crime and our modern civilization from its direst reproach and shame."

This will be followed on Thursday next by a service of song, "Buy Four Own cherries," Magistrate D. W. Dumble giving the alternate readings with the choir.—Com.

LOCAL CONTRACTOR'S WORK AT BURK'S FALLS MUSKOKA.

Mr. Ed. Conroy Completed a Waterworks Contract.

The Burk's Falls Arrow has the following in reference to the work of a Peterborough contractor, Mr. Ed. Conroy:

"Ed. Conroy completed the $35,000 waterworks contract yesterday and it now awaits Engineer Galt's approval before the council settle up in full with the contractor. As soon as the town takes over the waterworks, Commissioner Hines will commence work tapping the mains, etc., for the private connections. On Tuesday afternoon the water was turned on all of the hydrants at small pressure and it flowed satisfactorily."

BIG BATTLE IS NOW IN PROGRESS

Kuroki is Again Hotly Engaged With the Russians.

FIRST AND SEVENTEENTH CORPS

Engaged in Struggle—Chinese Forced to Construct Earthworks at Tieling by Order of Kuropatkin—Russian General May Make His Next Stand at Tieling—Some More Fighting at Port Arthur.

Paris, Sept. 8.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Echo de Paris says: "A great battle is going on before Mukden. The First and Seventeenth Corps are engaged against Gen. Kuroki. They compose Kuropatkin's rear guard. Gen. Kuropatkin with the bulk of the troops is moving towards Tieling," which is 30 miles north of Mukden. He is on his way to Harbin as fast as he can go.

Tieling is a narrow defile, and is a likely place for Kuropatkin to make a stand if he cares to risk another fight with the Japs.

His Next Stand.

Shanghai, Sept. 8.—Chinese reports are to the effect that thousands of Chinese are being forced to construct earthworks at Tieling, where Gen. Kuropatkin will make his next stand.

Kuropatkin at Mukden.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 8.—By Associated Press received here yesterday there was no news from the Far East, either from Russian or Japanese sources. For the world-watchers of the great tragedy the curtain has been dropped, and all is conjecture. Not even an expression of opinion comes from Japanese sources, but from St. Petersburg it is indicated that the authorities are confident the critical stage of the Russian retreat is past and that Kuropatkin is no longer in danger or losing any part of his forces to the pursuing Japanese. The Russian commander has arrived at Mukden and it is given out in St. Petersburg that the bulk of his army is now near there, while a despatch from Mukden to the Associated Press, filed Tuesday, says that the main Russian army is pushing forward and evacuating that place. It is indicated that the Japanese are still harrassing the Russian rear. Further than this nothing is known.

St. Petersburg Silent.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 8.—The general staff is not displaying great anxiety over the alarmist reports that Gen. Kuropatkin is in serious danger of being cut off, but if they had any information from the front Wednesday they have not revealed it, and they also decline to say even if they know whether Kuropatkin purposes taking his army north of Mukden.

Where Will He Stop.

London, Sept. 8.—The trend of the view of the morning newspapers on the war in the Far East is that Gen. Kuropatkin's arrival at Mukden does not solve the problem of his retreat. "Where will Kuropatkin stop?" is what is asked. The Daily Telegraph holds that the latest developments are merely the prelude to "the colossal conflict looming in the future."

Russians Lost 21,300.

New York, Sept. 8.—A special from St. Petersburg says: Russian losses on Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 and 2 are estimated at 21,300. Kuroki's scouts are twelve miles east of Mukden, and Kuropatkin will have to fight another battle after passing through Mukden. Rear guards are fighting continuously.

Firing at Port Arthur.

Che Foo, Sept. 8.—Firing was heard here indistinctly last evening. A steamship which passed Port Arthur Tuesday night reports that she heard no firing from the Russian stronghold. A Japanese torpedo boat recently fired on Tiger's Tail Fort. She was found by searchlight and repulsed by Russian batteries.

TWO ACTS THAT WERE CORRUPT

Proved at the Muskoka Election Trial at Bracebridge.

TRIAL IS NOT YET CONCLUDED

Question of Agency—J. O. Coats Promises William Dodds a Road Grant—H. W. Crump Offers W. J. Martineau Five Dollars For His Vote—The Investigation of Several Important Counts Not Completed.

Bracebridge, Sept. 8.—Two corrupt acts were declared proven at the trial of the Muskoka election protest yesterday. In one case the court ruled that agency was not proven, and in the other the question was left to a later stage, when, to use the words of Chancellor Boyd, "There may be an accumulation of such cases which will affect the election of Mr. Mahaffy, although there is no direct agency proven." The promise made by J. O. Coats to Wm. Dodds, a farmer, that if he voted for Mahaffy a grant would be made for a road in which he was interested, and that he would have the spending of that grant, was declared a corrupt act, but the petitioner failed in showing that Coats was an agent of the Conservative candidate. The court disagreed as to a payment by Coats for the conveyance of voters. It was ruled that the charge that H. W. Crump, an hotelkeeper, had offered to give one Martineau $5 if he voted for Mahaffy had been substantiated. A number of charges were dismissed, while the investigation of several important counts was not completed. An effort will be made to conclude the trial by 2 o'clock to-day, and with that end in view counsel on both sides were last night sifting out the really important charges, so that they may be taken up first.

COMPLAINTS RE AMMUNITION.

Militia Department Does Not Consider There Is Ground For Complaint.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—(Globe Special.)—With respect to the alleged complaints from D. R. A. competitors that the ammunition was defective, the Militia Department does not consider there is any ground for complaint on that score. Owing to the demand for increased velocity the charge in the cartridge has been strengthened. This results in some cases in an escape of smoke from the shell of the cartridge after the bullet has been fired. The remedy for this would seem to be to strengthen or reinforce the cap and shell at the base of the cartridge. Before anything is done, however, the advice of the Imperial authorities will be sought. They had a somewhat similar experience when they increased the charge in their rifle cartridges, but the difficulty was overcome and no trouble is now experienced.

VICE-ROYALTY'S TOUR.

Lord and Lady Minto Presented With Addresses at Vancouver.

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 8.—Their Excellencies, the Governor-General and Lady Minto, were presented with addresses yesterday by the City Councils of Vancouver and New Westminster, after which a reception was held. The party left last evening for the east on the Imperial Limited. It is being arranged that Lord Minto will ride across the prairie from Edmonton to Saskatoon, and not to Prince Albert, thence to Qu'Appelle. The start will be made from Edmonton on Saturday, and Saskatoon will be reached Sept. 22. Lady Minto and her daughter will camp at the Qu'Appelle Lakes and rejoin Lord Minto at Regina.

Uruguayans Routed.

Buenos Ayres, Sept. 8.—Two thousand men were killed and 4,000 wounded in a battle lasting three days between the Uruguayan Government forces and the revolutionists. Gen. Vasquez, Minister of War, who led the Government troops, was defeated and he has retreated, abandoning arms and ammunitions.

J. P. Mallory Drops Dead.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—J. P. Mallory, aged about 45 years, traveler for agricultural implements, and here to see the Fair, dropped dead at the Grand Union Hotel last night. Heart failure was the cause. The remains will be removed to Brockville for interment.

Three Marines Killed.

Portsmouth, Eng., Sept. 8.—While the British gunboat Comet (tender to the gunnery ship Excellent), was engaged in firing practice off Spithead yesterday, the breech lock of one of her guns was blown out, killing three seamen, and injuring three others.

HORSESHOERS' IN ANNUAL CONVENTION.

Two Sessions Were Held in Town Yesterday.

About 40 Delegates Present—Need for More Education—Election of Officers—General Business.

The convention of the Master Horseshoers' Protective Association opened in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, yesterday afternoon with the following delegates in attendance:—Messrs. J. Isbister, [illegible]field; J. Moore, Bobcaygeon; R. Pearson, Bobcaygeon; B. Yelland, T. B. Staples, J. R. Metheral, W. E. McCold, W. Hetherington, Peterborough; P. J. Smith, Montreal; W. D. Nugent, Millbrook; W. J. Kennedy, R. R. McGill, Peterborough; W. A. Bull, Woodstock; F. P. Hearns, Brantford; S. Church, Hamilton.

The President, Mr. J. G. Stewart, and the Vice-President, W. C. Andrews, were absent, and Mr. F. P. Hearns presided at the meetings.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

An address of welcome was given by Mayor Roger to which Ald. Batten replied. These speeches appeared in yesterday's paper.

The Credential Committee was appointed as follows: Messrs. G. Church, J. R. Metheral and W. A. Bull.

The secretary reported that since Oct. 22nd, 1903, thirteen new locals had been added to the Association, namely,—Port Perry, Caledonia, Capetown, Woodstock, Windsor, Ingersoll, Paris, London, Glandford and vicinity, Hagaraville and vicinity and Halton County. Locals had been reorganized at Ottawa and Hamilton. There were over 200 members connected with the Association at present and the prospects were very bright for future success.

Mr G. Church spoke regarding the success of the work. He congratulated Mr. Batten on the good standing of the Peterborough local. The work of the Blacksmiths' Association was worth the attention of the Horseshoers'. They needed protection and it was the duty of the Horseshoers' Association to see that they received that protection. All were aware of the necessity of proper and thorough organization if the work was to be successfully carried on. Instead of thinking solely of prices and the hardest labour with least pay, they should give education more thought, and keep the question of prices in the back ground. He advised all to read the Horseshoers' Journal for it contained much information which would prove of great value. As the horse was entrusted to the care of the horseshoer, the latter should be educated as much as possible in his craft.

Woodstock and Lindsay representatives reported that good progress was being made in the local Association in those towns.

The chairman spoke of the apprenticeship system stating that the wages to jurors was too small. They worked harder and in a more dangerous position than other mechanics and received less pay.

Mr. Kennedy, of town, reported that the Peterborough local was in a flourishing condition.

Mr. P. J. Smith, of the Montreal Rolling Mills, and who is deeply interested in the educating of Horseshoers, was present and made a few remarks.

A resolution of condolence was drafted to Bro. Duncan Brown, of Ottawa, whose wife died recently.

EVENING SESSION.

The evening session opened at 7.30 o'clock. After the secretary-treasurer's books had been audited, a vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Smith, of Montreal, for his visit to the convention and for his help to the Association generally. A vote of thanks was also passed to the Montreal Rolling Mills for their kindness in sending Mr. Smith as delegate to the convention.

Mr. R. B. McGill was appointed representative of the Ontario Association to the annual International Horseshoers' Convention to be held in Detroit on Oct. 10th to 14th.

A letter was read from J. C. Buckley, managing editor of the Horseshoers' Journal, Detroit, congratulation the association on the progress it had made in the past and wishing it every success in future.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—

President—F. P. Hearns, Brantford.

1st Vice-President — G. Church, Hamilton.

2nd Vice-President—D. Brown, Ottawa.

Secretary-Treasurer — R. B. McGill, Peterborough.

The Executive Committee, which is composed of the officers of the Association, appointed a committee to work with them in their effort to procure a charter of Ontario for the Association. The committee was composed of Messrs. J. Batten, W. J. Kennedy, of town, and R. Gloves of Hamilton.

The next annual convention will be held in London on the first Monday in September, 1905.

The Crackers That Took Canada By Storm.

A year ago, MOONEY'S PERFECTION CREAM SODAS were a theory. To-day they are the most delightful cracker facts in Canada. Last July, the first Mooney's Sodas went out to tempt the appetite of the Canadian people. Now, many tons a day are baked to satisfy the demand.

There's no resisting the fresh, crisp, creamy deliciousness of these perfect soda crackers.

COMPETITION AND MONOPOLY

The experiences of recent years should have a reassuring effect on anyone inclined to take alarm at the growth of monopolies. Even with all the advantages of trade obstructions, monopolies are unable to materially strain the power of their privileges. The United States Steel Corporation affords an instance of the natural limits placed by the laws of economics on the exactions of industrial combinations. When it was organized some three years ago it was declared that a new era had opened in the steel trade. In times past the buyer had dominated the steel market. Supply was uncontrolled, and demand was the determining factor in fixing prices. But for the future the control which the United States Steel Corporation would be able to exert upon the production of iron and steel products would make supply the dominant price-making factor. Not only was it claimed that the corporation owned the great majority of the best equipped steel works of the northern States, but it also monopolized the supply of ore and coking coal, and would thereby be able to restrict production at will. That these expectations have resulted in disappointment is shown by the recent cut in the prices of all grades of wire goods manufactured by the corporation, coupled with the well authenticated rumour of secret reductions, extending back several months, in the prices of other forms of finished material.

These reductions are forced upon the Steel Corporation by the action of its competitors who are vigourously contending for a share in the diminished tonnage which the markets will absorb. So far from hampering these independent companies in their operations by restricting their supplies of coke and ore, the Steel Corporation has been glad to keep its mines and ovens in partial operation by selling these materials to its competitors. The more important independent companies are also well supplied with their own materials, and have no longer any occasion to buy from the trust. These companies are moderately capitalised, and can make handsome returns on their capital, even if prices should fall to a point which would force the Steel Corporation into the hands of a receiver. A probable consequence of this situation is that the decline in steel prices may continue until either the demand for steel revives, or until the cost of production is reached by the reduction in selling value. The capital of the Steel Trust was based upon the expectation that competition in the steel trade would be permanently restricted. It is now evident that competition is as active as ever. The The corporation took a pessimistic view of its special advantages and sold shares in them. Experience emphasises the folly of hoping to long distort the trade of a nation in any important material, and the danger of buying shares in any such nebulous hope.

HARVEY'S ANNUAL FALL EXHIBITION.

Mr. R. R. Hall to Formally Open What is Promised as the Best of the Series.

The annual exhibition of the Harvey Agricultural Society will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 4th and 5th. The directors expect that this will be the best show of the series. A good prize list has been provided, a special feature of which is a special prize for single carriage horses owned by farmers, speed and style to be considered. Mr. R. R. Hall has been requested by the directorate to formally open the exhibition on Tuesday the 4th, at one o'clock p.m.

STEEL RAIL MAKING A SUCCESS AT THE SOO.

Prospects of Permanency of the Industry Both Quality and Quantity Reasonably Assured.

(Globe.)

The reorganized Sault Company have informed the Dominion Government that they are in a position to produce from fifteen to twenty carloads of steel rails per day. This rate of production would make it safe for them to enter into large contracts with a good prospect of being able to fulfill them.

Facts published from time to time go to show conclusively that the company are not at the mercy of any particular interest, American or Canadian, in the matter of suitable iron ore. A large proportion, well up to half, of the ore passing through the Sault Canal from United States ports on Lake Superior, is under the control of other parties than the United States Steel Company, and they are ready to sell it to anyone who wants it, and is willing to pay the price demanded. Ore of a very valuable kind and in large quantities has been found on the Canadian side, and it is quite probable that other deposits of equal quality and extent will yet be discovered.

Quite as soon as those who carried out the reorganisation scheme expected it to result in the permanent revival of certain important industries, the manufacture of steel rails has been commenced, not as a mere advertisement, but as a straight matter of business. There seems to be at present no reason for doubt as to either the quality of the rails produced or the quantity the mill is adequate to producing. The whole province will rejoice at the success of the reorganization so far as it has gone.

INDIAN RIVER.

An Indian River correspondent sends particulars of a meeting held at that place in regard to a proposed change of names of post offices. It appears that the community is divided upon the proposition, which is to have the name "Indian River" Post Office changed to "Guerin" Post Office, and "Otonabee" Post Office to "Indian River" Post Office. Those opposed to the change assert that "Indian River" has been the name of the local post office for thirty years and that for the sake of Auld Lang Syne it should not be changed.

The meeting adjourned for a few weeks without anything definite having been arrived at.

The remainder of the correspondence seems to bestow icknames upon the persons mentioned, and cannot be used.

Correspondents must understand that a newspaper is no place for working jokes upon persons. Local names and broad jibes are all very well for private jokes, but the conditions would be quite changed if they were to appear in "cold type."

DOURO COUNCIL.

Council met on a call from the Reeve on Monday, August 29th, at 10 o'clock a. m. All the members were present. The Reeve, Mr. McCliggott, presiding. The minutes of May 30th and June the 16th, were read and confirmed.. The estimates and rates struck off for:—

Miss Daisy Secombe returned to her studies at Whitby College, after spending her vacation with her parents here.

Misses Margaret and Irene Donoghue left for their home in Albion, N.Y., after spending a pleasant month with their grandmother, Mrs. E. Doris.

Mr. Louis Bolin, of the Canadian General Electric Company, spent Sunday and Monday with his parents.

Mr. E. Dougherty of Hastings, was the guests of friends here on Sunday.

Miss Minnie Mulcahey of Peterborough spent Sunday at home.

Mr. W. Kindred of Peterborough, was in the village on Labour Day.

Miss Rosemary O'Brien, who spent her vacation with her aunt, Mrs. J. Foley, returned to her home in Hastings on Monday.

Mr. Lou Foley of Hastings, was the guest of friends here on Labour Day.

Misses Mary and Grace Harris returned to their home in Rochester, after spending two months with Miss Isabella McCarthy. Miss McCarthy accompanied them and will visit with friends there for a few weeks.

Miss Josephine Soucie, went to Ogrid ,N.Y., on Monday, after visiting her mother for a couple of months.

Mr. W. Bell spent a few days at Toronto Fair last week.

We are glad to report that Mr. McNeil is recovering from his recent illness and that he will soon be entirely well.

While drawing coal from the station Mr. H. Newton met with an accident by which one of his ribs was broken. By his horses starting suddenly he was thrown backward upon a scoop shovel, causing the injury. He was able to be at work on Tuesday morning.

Mr. T. Wedlock is making extensive improvements to the house he recently purchased and when completed it will make a very comfortable dwelling.

Mrs. Harper and Mrs. Alford of Peterborough, were the guests of Mrs. S. J. Taylor on Labour Day.

Rev. Dr. Workman, who is spending the holidays here, preached at the evening service in the Methodist church on Sunday. His sermon was very interesting and instructive and was listened to with much attention by the congregation.

The reading room will be open to the young men of Keene and vicinity after the 15th of this month. The committee in charge of it have collected enough funds to make a start. The rooms will be in Mr. McFarlane's house, and will be open from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. every day but Sunday.

An informal dance was held in the town hall on Friday evening last, and was attended by about 50 couples, who tripped the light fantastic till the early hours of the morning. Messrs. McFarlane and Miller, accompanied by a piano, supplied the music, while Mr. D. Moore made a very efficient floor manager.

Mr. Armour, who has been unable to teach for the past three weeks is, we are glad to see, so far recovered as to be able to take his place in the school once more. He is going to occupy the house recently vacated by Mr. T. J. Wallace.

Dr. Harrison is putting up a new kitchen in the rear of his residence. Messrs. McIntyre and Burnham are doing the carpenter work.

The annual excursion of the Christian Endeavour Society of the Presbyterian church, took place on Labour Day. The steamer Rainbow, left the Keene wharf at 1 p.m. with about eighty excursionists on board, and sailed to Gores' Landing, where a short stop was made. From there they went to Jubilee for supper and then started for home, arriving here at 6 p.m. Mr. McDonald, of Los Angeles, Cal., a brother of Rev. D. D. McDonald, was present in Highland costume and entertained the party with several Scotch airs on the bagpipes. All who attended enjoyed the sail very much.

Miss Bella McIntyre was visiting with friends in Lakefield for a few days this week.

Dr. and Mrs. McWilliams, who were visiting friends in Toronto, returned on Wednesday.

Mrs. J. Daly of Havelock, who has been the guest of her uncle, Mr. J. Henderson, returned home on Tuesday.

HELLEBORE AS DEATH AGENT.

Caused By Husband's Cruelty, Mrs. Haley Attempts Suicide.

Chatham, Sept. 8.—Crazed by her husband's cruelty and neglect, her little children and herself on the verge of starvation for the want of proper food, Facilia Haley, who lives in the township of Raleigh, while in a fit of despondency, attempted suicide Tuesday by taking a teaspoonful of hellebore. Prompt medical attention was the means of saving the unfortunate woman's life before the deadly drug had got in its work. The woman's story is a pitiful one. Her husband, a worthless character, who was sentenced to do time in the common gaol, had cruelly neglected the poor woman and her children, and it is supposed that this was the cause of her mad act. The children are in the hands of the Humane Society, and the woman is being attended to by physicians.

In Praise of Chamberlian's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"Allow me to give you a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and diarrhoea remedy," says Mr. John Hamlett, of Eagle Pass, Texas. "I suffered one week with bowel trouble and took all kinds of medicine without getting any relief, when my friend, Mr. O. Johnson, a merchant here, advised me to take this remedy. After taking one dose I felt greatly relieved and when I had taken the third dose was entirely cured. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for putting this great remedy in the hands of mankind." INSURANCE SCHEME

Ontario Municipal Association Approves.

FOR NEW MUNICIPAL LAWS

Dominion Government to Be Asked to Take Over Trunk Telephone Lines—Report of the Committee on Resolutions—New Assessment Act and How It Works—Election of Officers.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—The Ontario Municipal Association concluded its annual meeting at the City Hall yesterday morning, after deciding that in future the annual meeting be held permanently at Toronto. The officers were elected as follows: President, Mayor W. A. Boys, Barrie; Vice-Presidents, W. A. Greer, Owen Sound; Controller W. P. Hubbard, Toronto; Mayor W. W. Chown, Belleville; Secretary, S. H. Kent, Hamilton; Executive, Mayors of Toronto, Ottawa, Guelph, London, Brantford, Kingston and Brockville, F. Mackelcan, K.C., Hamilton; D. M. McIntyre, Kingston; H. P. Slater, Niagara Falls; W. C. Mickel, Belleville.

Municipal Insurance Approved.

The special committee appointed to consider the municipal insurance scheme propounded by Mayor Ellis of Ottawa, reported that this committee recommend the approval of a scheme to organize a Dominion Municipal Insurance Corporation, such corporation as nearly as may be to be incorporated and conducted in the same way as a joint stock insurance company, with the municipalities which become members as stockholders; as it is deemed advisable to forward this recommendation to Union of Canadian Municipalities in order that the corporation may become a Canadian one from the beginning, the committee does not deem it necessary to consider at this time the details of the scheme and recommends that the principle be endorsed and commended to the favorable consideration of the Union of Canadian Municipalities for the purpose of elaborating the details and placing the scheme in workable form.

Mayor Ellis of Ottawa, explained that his immediate object was to get information. He thought that could be done between the Union of Canadian Municipalities, since they had more funds. What was required was expert information, and it should be obtained systematically.

Mayor Urquhart of Toronto, heartily endorsed the principle of municipal insurance. He said he had obtained figures showing that over one-third of the premiums paid to insurance companies went to pay expenses and profits. The report was adopted.

Committee on Resolutions.

The Committee on Resolutions reported recommending that in cities and towns fire insurance companies be required to file annually, on the first day of June, with the Clerk of the municipality, a sworn statement showing their gross receipts and losses in such municipality for the preceding year, to enable the municipality to determine whether the rates are equitable or otherwise; that the Councils of municipalities be given power to regulate the salaries of Police Magistrate, unless the body that appointed the Magistrate pays the salary; that in towns and cities Council may add two ratepayers to the Board of Police Commissioners as at present constituted; that municipal Councils be given power to construct underground conduits and to erect poles and compel all electrical companies to use such conduits or poles and pay a reasonable rental therefor; that all expenses of registrations and elections for the Ontario Legislature be borne by the Province and that this association present a petition to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council in accordance therewith; That the Legislative approve the appointment of an advisory committee of municipal officials to confer with the Municipal Committee of the Legislature in case there is a consideration of the municipal act in 1907. That the Mayors of Ottawa, Windsor, Toronto, St Thomas and Aylmer be appointed to examine into the question of the municipal debentures and that they report at the next annual meeting. That power be given to municipalities to buy or expropriate on equitable terms any existing gas lighting and water plant. The report was adopted.

Government Trunk Telephone Lines.

Controller Hubbard moved that the Dominion Government be petitioned to take over and operate the trunk telephone lines. He pointed out that the lines being in private hands was the principal drawback to the establishment of municipal telephone systems in town and cities. The proposal was received with general approval and passed.

Working of New Assessment Act.

Yesterday afternoon was devoted to a discussion of the working of the new assessment act, which comes into force on January 1st. It was introduced by a very able paper by Assessment Commissioner F. R. Hutton, Hamilton, explanatory of the working of the new measure. He drew special attention to the points of difference between the new act and the old, and the paper, which the association decided to have printed, will prove valuable to those engaged in the work of assessment in the various municipalities throughout the Province.

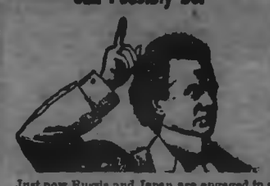
Assistant Assessment Commissioner Forman of Toronto, read a short paper on the business tax and new income assessment.

A WORLD POWER

Gained by Peaceful Means and Which Saves Life Instead of Destroying It.

MUNYON

Has This Power and Is Prouder of It Than Mikado or Czar Can Possibly Be.



Just now Russia and Japan are engaged in a bloody struggle and are sacrificing the lives of their subjects by the thousands to demonstrate that they are to be recognized henceforth as "World Powers."

I look upon my campaign for health, strength and life as being far more honorable, and my power over disease as far more praiseworthy and more to be proud of than the empty bauble which the Czar and Mikado are now struggling for.

I save life. They are destroying it.

Do you realize what a work I am doing in this country? Do you understand that if those who have been cured in all the countries of the earth by Munyon's Remedies were assembled in one grand army it would far exceed in numbers the combined armies of both Russia and Japan?

It's a fact which is susceptible of proof.

Surely you are interested in knowing that there is a cure for every ill, and that these cures bear the name of MUNYON.

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure seldom fails to relieve in one to three hours, and cures in a few days.

Munyon's Dyspepsia Cure positively cures all forms of indigestion and stomach trouble.

Munyon's Cold Cure prevents pneumonia and breaks up a cold in a few hours.

Munyon's Cough Cure stops coughs, night sweats, allays soreness, and speedily heals the lungs.

Munyon's Kidney Cure speedily cures pains in the back, loins or groin and all forms of kidney disease.

Munyon's Headache Cure stops headache in three minutes.

Munyon's Fever Cure breaks up a fever in an hour or most.

Munyon's Paw-Paw Laxative Pills will keep the liver in order and positively cure constipation, biliousness, jaundice and all diseases arising from a torpid liver.

Ask your druggist for Munyon's Guide to Health. It will tell you how to cure yourself, or write for it to Munyon, Philadelphia. It is free.

Munyon's Witch Hazel Soap, Witch Hazel Face Cream, Witch Hazel Talcum Powder will give you a clear skin and a fine complexion. 14

THE BUTCHERS' STRIKE.

Of 28,000 Packers, Less Than 3,000 Voted to Go to Work.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—The following statement was given out yesterday afternoon by the Butchers' Union relative to the vote on the question of the stock yards strikers returning to work:

"The vote of the organizations was on a proposition to declare the strike off. Out of 28,000 strikers 2,403 voted to return to work, and 25,597 to remain on strike until a fair proposition embracing arbitration can be obtained."

A committee has been appointed to visit the packers.

Sir Wilfrid's Movements.

Montreal, Sept. 7.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier has returned to Arthabasca, where the Prime Minister will spend the week, returning to Ottawa on Sunday. Senator Dandurand, with whom Sir Wilfrid had been staying at the Bale Des Chaleurs, states that the First Minister is in excellent health.

Soo Rails For Intercolonial.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Sept. 7.—The steamer Neepawah of the Montreal and Lake Superior Line, is loading one thousand tons of steel rails for Montreal for the Intercolonial Railway, the first shipments since the resumption of operations. Steel plant shipments will continue regularly now.

Kept Poor by Doctor's Bills.

Many a family is kept poor by doctors' bills when just as good and oftentimes better results could be obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills which sell at 25 cents a box of twenty-five doses. As one pill a day is the most frequent dose under any circumstances there is no treatment obtainable which costs so little and at the same time none which brings about such excellent results in derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels.

TRUST WILL REFORM.

American Tobacco Combine Promises Compliance With Minister's Wishes—Transcontinental Railway Surveys.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—The Minister of the Interior has triumphed in his efforts to put a stop to the American Tobacco Trust's objectionable methods of doing business in Canada. Mr. Brodeur last week notified the trust that their system of requiring Canadian dealers to enter into a contract to handle their goods exclusively must cease, otherwise he would be compelled to cancel their license. The company have now informed the Minister that they will do as he wishes. This means that the tobacco trade in Canada will now be carried on in a legitimate manner and Canadian manufacturers will be relieved from unfair competition.

Transcontinental Railway Surveys.

The Transcontinental Railway Construction Commission have been steadily at work almost day and night since their appointment. The first official statement was obtained at a late hour last night. It has been arranged to commence the surveys at once all the way along the proposed line from Lake Abitibi to Moncton. This section has been divided into three districts, one extending from Moncton to the boundary line between the Provinces of New Brunswick and Quebec, the second extending from the end of the first district to Clear Lake, in the Province of Quebec, and the third extending from Clear Lake to the western boundary of the Province of Quebec. The subdivisions of this section have not yet been decided upon, and will not be until the preliminary surveys are completed or considerably advanced. Twenty-seven surveying parties are now being organized as rapidly as engineers and men can be obtained. They will be located as follows: Between Moncton and Chipman, two parties; Chipman to Boiestown, one party; Chipman towards Fredericton and St. John River, one party; between Boiestown and Plaster Rock, two parties; Plaster Rock to Grand Falls, one party; Grand Falls to Edmundston, one party; Edmundston to Connor, one party; Connor to Lake Pohengamook, one party; between Lake Pohengamook, which is the boundary between New Brunswick and Quebec, and at or near Chaudiere, four parties, one at each end and two in the centre; Quebec, including both sides of the proposed bridge, one party; from there on to Clear Lake, four parties, covering about 32 miles each; from Clear Lake to the boundary between Ontario and Quebec and south of Lake Abitibi, four parties; four parties on the route running north of Lake Abitibi, and between that and the point where the southern route converges. No action will be taken to make any surveys west of the Province of Quebec until it is decided whether the surveys made by the Grand Trunk Pacific will be taken over. It is understood that this will be decided in the near future. The object in running two surveys from Chipman is to ascertain which of the routes is the most desirable, the one directly across New Brunswick through Plaster Rock, or the one down the St. John River, branching off somewhere above Fredericton. Surveys of the lines running north and south of Lake Abitibi respectively will be made for the purpose of securing such information as will enable an intelligent decision to be arrived at as to where it is desirable to run the railway, north or south of that lake. No divisional engineers will be appointed at present. The camping outfits, including tents and supplies, are being ordered, and everything done to carry forward the work of surveying with the utmost rapidity. The board hope to be able to secure a sufficient number of engineers in Canada to carry on the work. The engineering parties being formed will be put in the field in the course of a few days. The assistant chief engineer and the district engineers will also be appointed in a day or so. The engineers in charge of the surveys in the eastern end will be instructed to run preliminary lines and report such data and information as will lead to a decision upon the final location. As soon as those parties are in the field, with their supplies and transport arranged for, the commission will direct attention to the section lying between Winnipeg and Lake Abitibi. It is their determination to cause that portion of this section, which is required to give relief to the north, to be constructed as rapidly as possible. It will require nearly 600 men to make up the 27 parties. It is proposed to carry on the survey work throughout the winter. Other surveying parties for the western end will be organized and put in the field as required.

Wheat Cutting Well Advanced.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 7.—The C. P.R. crop report for the past week was issued yesterday, and shows that the period covered has not been favorable for harvesting operations. The territories especially have suffered much from continued wet. Cutting, however, is well advanced in some districts, notably in the territory adjacent to the main line of the C.P.R., and also the Souris branch. In the above districts fully 70 per cent. of cutting has been done.

Fell to Death.

Specialists in the Treatment of Nervous, Blood, Private and Sexual Diseases of Men and Women. 25 Years in Detroit.

No Names used without Written Consent. Cures Guaranteed.

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are sexually swept to a premature grave through early abuse or later excesses. Chas. Anderson was one of the victims, but was rescued in time. He says: "I learned it all by habit. A change soon came over me. I could feel it; my friends noticed it. I became nervous, despondent, gloomy, had no ambition, easily tired, evil forebodings, poor circulation, pimples on face, back weak, dreams and drains at night, tired and weak mornings, burning sensation. To make matters worse, I became reckless and contracted a blood disease. I tried many doctors and medical firms—all failed till Drs. Kennedy & Kergan took my case. In one week I felt better, and in a few weeks was entirely cured. They are the only reliable and honest Specialists in the country."

MRS. GEO. A. COX LAYS CORNER STONE

Of the New Young Women's Christian Association Building.

YESTERDAY'S INTERESTING EVENT

History of Y.W.C.A. Work in Peterborough—Speeches by the Mayor and Clergymen—Presentation of Silver Trowel.

One of the most interesting ceremonies which have taken place in Peterborough for many years, was celebrated yesterday afternoon, when the corner stone of the new Y.W.C.A. Building was laid. It was an occasion which called for the approval and sympathy of the community at large, for it was the foundation stone of a work, the possibilities of which are very great, and no one can tell to what extent the work will grow, nor what may be accomplished. But it was the general opinion that the cause for which the building is being erected is a most worthy one, and one deserving of every support. The fact that there is a well equipped and well-managed Young Women's Christian Association Building in our town, must result in good for the town, and though the Y.W.C.A. has in the past been carrying on a noble work among the young women, the progress has been hampered by poor accommodation, but in future there will not be this drawback, for Peterborough will have a Y.W.C.A. building which will be a credit and an adornment to the town.

The corner stone which was laid yesterday by Mrs. (Hon.) Geo. A. Cox, stands on the south-west corner of Aylmer and Simcoe streets. On the stone are engraven the words "Y.W.C.A. Corner Stone."

On the platform, which was erected for the occasion, were seated the Y.W.C.A. Board of Management, the officers, Mayor Roger, the clergy, and a few other prominent citizens interested in the work.

The proceedings were opened by a Scripture reading by Rev. Dr. Torrance, who read an appropriate passage, the 127th Psalm, which was followed by prayer by Rev. J. A. Wilson.

Mayor Roger was the first speaker. It was not necessary, he said, to make any explanation of the occasion, for the citizens were well aware that such a building was being erected, for over twenty thousand dollars had already been subscribed towards it, which was ample evidence that the citizens were in hearty sympathy with the work. He knew of no institution more worthy of support and general sympathy than the one of which the corner stone was about to be laid. We have every reason to be proud of our churches, but these are separate denominations, while the Y.W.C.A. includes all denominations and all sections, and would continue to grow in usefulness as it had done in the past, and which its fellow associate, the Y.M.C.A., is doing. Peterborough could lay no more sure foundation for its future progress than to give support to this institution. He wished to congratulate the ladies on their efforts, which, so far, had met with such success, and he expressed the hope that the work would be carried to a successful conclusion, and be a great source of good influences to the town.

STATEMENT OF WORK.

Mr. R. H. Dennistoun, on behalf of the management of the Y.W.C.A., read the following statement of the work:—

The people of Peterborough are to-day the interested witnesses of a ceremony the lesson of which has been demonstrated on many occasions, viz., that as the name of the individual are shown by his deeds of self-sacrifice for those about him, so the community manifests in great measure the loftiness of the purpose on behalf of its constituents, its zeal for the welfare of humanity, its acquaintance with progress by the erection of buildings, dedicated to high purposes.

Such a building is that whose corner stone will to-day be well and truly laid, as succeeding years must testify to well directed and consecrated Christian effort in carrying on a work which for twelve years has enlisted the sympathy and cooperation of the citizens of Peterborough—a work that has in view the improvement of the physical, social, intellectual and spiritual condition of young women.

It is just about twelve years since a young man, in appreciation of what the Y.M.C.A. had done for him pointed to the necessity of a similar institution for young women. This suggestion was not allowed to drop, and at a meeting of ladies shortly afterwards the proposal to form a Y.W.C.A. was presented by Mr. Colville, the then secretary of the Y.M.C.A. Of the sixteen ladies who attended the meeting, three remain in the association,—Mrs. Fairbairn, Mrs. Walsh, and Miss Nicholls.

There had been in town prior to this a Young Woman's Temperance Union, which had met with financial difficulties and the fact pointed to the possibility of a like condition with the new institution.

The question and its responsibility was considered with vigor, and the result was a decision to go forward. The sum of $55.60 was subscribed at the meeting and thus began a work that has during these years, been abundantly blessed, and now realizes the near completion of what it has long required—a building adequate for the work.

The first officers of the Y.W.C.A. elected in December 1891 were:—

President—Mrs. Fairbairn.
1st Vice President—Mrs. (Rev.) Locke.
2nd Vice President—Mrs. Pearse.
Secretary—Mrs. J. McKee.
Treasurer—Mrs. (Dr.) Bell.

The ladies purchased the furniture belonging to the Y.W.C.T.U. and rooms were opened over Mr. Harry Long's shop on George street. The ladies took charge of the quarters themselves by turns, and after a most successful year engaged Miss Elizabeth Barker, now Mrs. H. P. Kennedy, as general secretary, in which position she remained for about four years. The opening of a boarding home was next successfully accomplished, the work being kindly undertaken by Mrs. W. M. Rogers, and though there were occasional seasons of discouragement, there was a continual outpouring of God's blessings. The general secretaries of subsequent years have been Miss Kate Lewis, Miss Annie D. Collings, Mrs. Lewis, Miss Agnes Dickson, of Fenelon Falls, a graduate of Toronto University and Miss Mary C. Lough, of Clinton, also a graduate of Toronto University, the present secretary. The boarding home was situated on Brock street, where later the general work of the association was carried on, until through the kindness of Hon. George A. Cox, this department was enabled to occupy rooms on George street. Here for two years, the work went forward most successfully, and the necessity for larger quarters emphasized itself. The growth of the town to a city's dimensions with a population of about 15,000 created conditions that called for better accommodation.

Such was the demand for buildings that the boarding home had to be vacated and the Y.W.C.A. was face to face with a problem. The erection of a suitable building had often been discussed, and in January, 1904, a way appeared. A most generous proposal was made by Hon. George A. Cox, to contribute a sum equal to one-fourth of any amount that might be subscribed by the citizens towards a building. The amount required was large, but it soon became evident from the lists, that the citizens of Peterborough, were giving practical and liberal assistance and the amount subscribed up to the present time is $20,100. The members of the association went energetically into the work which had so grand an object in view. Early in the year 1904 it was decided to proceed with the erection of the building. Estimates were considered and the plans of Mr. W. Blackwell of Peterborough, were accepted, the cost of the building being placed at about $30,000. The contracts were awarded to Mr. J. J. Hartley and Mr. A. A. McIntyre, of Peterborough, and actual work was begun in May, 1904. The object is to have such a building as will in every way meet the requirements of the work carried on by the Y.W.C.A. and to-day's ceremony points to an accomplishment worthy of the continued interest and co-operation of all citizens. There is every assurance that the building will be constructed of the best material, substantial in every way and a monument in future years to a movement which from a small beginning has acquired strength in its progress, and which with the blessing of God shall go forward realizing the fact, that "We live not to ourselves our work is life."

To those who have assisted in the furtherance of this work, which is now hastening to its completion, all those actively connected with the management of the Y.M.C.A. will express their deepest appreciation. It was unanimously decided that an invitation be extended Mrs. George A. Cox, to officiate at this ceremony. Repeatedly has this lady manifested her great interest in the work of the institution. In many ways have both Mrs. Cox and her husband, the Hon. George A. Cox, shown a friendly attitude and a kindly and generous support which gave impetus to the work and strengthened the hands of those who were engaged in it. Most pleasing is it that Mrs. Cox has graciously accepted the invitation to be present at this, an occasion, which to all will have its inspiration and encouragement.

The ladies of the Y.W.C.A. board at present are Mrs. Wood, Mrs. A. L. Davis, Mrs. J. Dennistoun, Mrs. Boucher, Mrs. Waddell, Miss Martha Dickson, Mrs. Walsh, Miss Lurdy, Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun, Mrs. Hunter, Miss Nicholls, Miss Morrow, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Burnham, Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Nugent, Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Best, Mrs. D. Lundy, Mrs. Cressman, Mrs. Roger, Mrs. McPherson, Mrs. Garvin, Mrs. Kilgour, Mrs. Jory, Miss Mills, Miss Roberts, Mrs. Gillespie, Mrs. Thompson, and Mrs. F. Dickson.

The present officers are:—
President—Mrs. W. D. Scott.
1st Vice President—Miss A. J. Roberts.
2nd Vice President—Mrs. Jory.
3rd Vice President—Mrs. Garvin.
4th Vice President—Mrs. Nugent.

Nuptials of Miss Florence E. Tougas and Mr. G. A. Donaldson.

At the home of the bride's parents last evening the wedding took place of Miss Florence Ethel Tougas, daughter of Mr. Joseph Tougas, Water street, to Mr. George Arthur Donaldson. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. H. Brace in the presence of a number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The bridesmaid was Miss Harriet Downing, while two little girls Pearl Tougas and Ines Duncan, acted as flower girls. Mr. Andrew Pearson was groomsman. The bride was gowned in crepe de chene over taffeta silk and carried white roses. The bridesmaid wore crepe de chene over grey taffeta and also carried roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson left this morning for a trip to Western Ontario.

A QUIET WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Annie Stewart and Mr W. C. Carruth Yesterday.

A quiet wedding took place yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Jas. Finney, 61 Argyle street, when Miss Annie Stewart, daughter of the late George Stewart, was made the bride of Mr. W. C. Carruth, of Renfrew. Rev. Dr. Torrance officiated. Both bride and groom were unattended. They left last evening for Renfrew, where they will reside.

WEDDING BELLS.

At St. Peter's Cathedral on Tuesday morning at five o'clock, Miss Amy Theobald, daughter of Mr. Thos. Theobald, of Albert street, was married to Mr. E. J. McDonald, son of Mr. Charles McDonald, of town. The bridesmaid was Miss Anna Fagan and the groomsman Mr. F. J. McDonald. The happy young couple left on the 7.10 C.P.R. train for a visit to western points, and will reside on Albert street on their return.

$1800.00 A. W. Cressman

This Cheque represents the largest purchase of Ladies' and Misses' Rain Coats ever made by any firm in Peterborough.

The English Manufacturers, J. Mandleburg & Co., with branch house in Montreal, took to Toronto last week 900 Rain Coats to clear at a price, being overmakes of this season's Goods. After they had sold a portion of them we made an offer for the the entire balance—running away up in the hundreds. Our offer was not much more than ONE HALF what the other portion had been cleared for, but on being submitted to the Montreal office was accepted, as it made a clean sweep.

This, in brief, is our Rain Coat Story. Coming as it does at the beginning of the season, there is only one thing to do and DO QUICKLY—put the prices SO RIDICULOUSLY LOW as to clean up the entire lot at once.

Winners of the Special Paizes Offered by the Horticultural Society.

Three Prizes Each of Two Classes—Professional and Private.

The committee of the Horticultural Society yesterday inspected the lawns and grounds of the competitors for prizes. The committee consisted of Col. Harry Rogers, Peter Campbell, Esq., Manager of the Bank of Toronto, Mr. Frank Wise, of the Little Lake cemetery, and Mr. D. W. Dumble, the president.

The prizes were awarded to two classes: First, where all the work is done by the owner; and, second, where the work is not all done by the owner.

The prizes were awarded as follows:

First Class.

First, to Mrs. Thorndyke, corner of Murray and Aylmer streets, $5.

Second, to Mr. H. L. Beal, No. 61 Weller street, $3.

Third, to Mrs. Barclay, No. 583 George street, $1.

Second Class.

First, to Miss Annie Thompson, No. 165 Smith street, $5.

Second, to Hon. J. R. Stratton, 751 George street, $3.

Third, to Mr. Wm. Taylor, C.P.R. station grounds, $1.

The society recognize those as most deserving who have got the best results under their existing conditions and possibilities.

Mrs. Thorndyke and Mrs. Barclay, under most adverse conditions, obtained splendid results. Mrs. Thornton, particularly, deserves credit for making a dry gravel bank a charm and pleasure for beholders. Her flowers were good, varied and artistically planted. Mrs. Barclay, out of a small backyard, made a pleasing garden of good flowers.

Mr. Beal had good flowers, and a good artistic result.

The chief aim of the society is to encourage such development of taste and love for flowers as was exemplied in these cases.

In the second class, Miss Annie Thompson had good flowers, but the chief merit was in the artistic planting and arrangement of very modest grounds, and so the committee granted to her first prize over grounds more extensive and very beautifully kept, like Mr. Stratton's.

Mr. Taylor, at the C. P. R. station is paid for his labour, but he deserves great credit for a splendid display of flowers of superior excellence and growth. To persons waiting at the station, the fine flower display is exceedingly interesting, and a pleasing feature.

The committee were highly pleased with the well kept and pretty gardens of Mr. Jas. Stevenson, Simcoe street, and of Mrs. R. D. Hamilton, 273 George street.

The society cannot but be gratified at the increasing taste displayed by the citizens in beautifying their grounds, and it is hoped that the greater attention paid to the boulevarding and keeping of the streets, will assist in getting rid of that feature of roughness, which characterizes all new towns.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Chairman.

BIG RUGBY LINE-UP FOR SEASON OF 1904

Peterborough Enters the Senior Series O. R. F. U.

Enthusiastic Annual Meeting Held Last Night—Officers Elected—Practise Begins on Saturday

A vigorous "tackle" represents the attitude of local kickers — actual and associate — at the splendid annual meeting of the Peterborough Rugby Club, held in the Oriental Parlours last night. The attendance, numerically, might not be considered large, but it was the spirit that made it great, and if the same spirit is maintained by the gridiron athletes throughout the season, a championship in the senior O. R. F. U. series for Peterborough, is an accessible and pleasant possibility. Old heads in Rugby, who have been with the game for years, agree that the meeting was a splendid one, both in attendance and spirit.

Mr. E. S. Clarry, president, occupied the chair, and there were present besides, Messrs. K. Eardley Wilmot, O. G. Graham, secretary, A. Noble, E. Hurtubise, — Craig, E. Ford, Ross Craig, A. Gillespie, R. Campbell, Frank Bradburn, W. Shaw, A. Scriver, W. Crowley, R. F. McWilliams, A. Lang, R. G. Sturgeon, H. Walkey and many others.

In opening the meeting, the president announced that the season just closed was one of the most successful in the history of the club, although the club did not land a championship. He favoured entering a team in the senior series, providing the necessary finances could be arranged.

After routine the secretary-treasurer read his report, which set forth that the season of 1903, while not a success in the number of games won, was a financial success, represented by a small balance on the right side of the ledger. During the season four games were played, the local team winning two and losing a like number. It was by "hard luck" that the championship did not swing Peterborough's way. The first game, with the Wellesleys, of Toronto, played on the Oval, went to Peterborough, 9—8. The next game, with the Victorias, of Toronto, was one of the hardest games ever played on the Oval and in the rain, the local team lost by a score of 1—3. On November 14th the local boys went to Toronto and again turned down the Wellesleys 12—10, helped by the old timer Hal. Burnham. The last game was with the Victorias, and the Peterborough team, after playing them off their feet for four fifths of the game, had the hard luck to lose out by a score of 13 to 11—Peterborough made the play but their opponents had the luck.

Referring to the finances, the report stated that the receipts were $404.60 and the disbursements $402.40 leaving a balance of $2.20. It was hoped that with the operation of the electric railway and with the game played at the Driving Park, the possibility of good gates would facilitate financing the game during the coming season. The report referred to the successful Club dinner and to the financial amenities exchanged by the T.A.S. Hockey team and the Rugby team. The financial statement was also presented, and, together with the secretary's report, was adopted.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

This resulted as follows; many of the old officers, owing to their efficient service, having been re-elected:—

Patrons and Patronesses—Mr. and Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot, Mr. and Mrs. John Crane and Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Hall.

Hon. President—Mr. R. A. Morrow.

Hon. Vice-President—Mr. R. F. McWilliams.

President—Mr. E. S. Clarry.

1st Vice-President—Mr. W. Crowley.

2nd Vice-President—Mr. Fred A. Clarke.

Secretary-Treasurer — Mr. C. G. Graham.

Committee of Management—Messrs. A. Noble, E. Hartubise, Frank Bradburn, A. A. Hollingshead, E. Ford and Frank Burnham.

It was decided to postpone the selection of a captain for the team till after the first practice.

The question of what series in the O.R.F.U. was raised by the President reading a letter and telegram from Mr. Woodworth, the O.R.F.U. Secretary, expressing anxiety for Peterborough to enter the senior series, and hinting the probability of a relaxation of financial arrangements in favour of the home team.

A discussion followed upon this subject, there seeming to be a general feeling in favour of the Club entering the senior series as it could be done with an excellent prospect of success.

Mr. E. Hurtubise favoured the senior series, if it didn't cost too much money.

Mr. O. G. Graham suggested that the senior series would require considerable money and referred to the difficulty of financing by the means previously found necessary.

The president said that he had spoken to the manager of the Street Railway in regard to transportation and the Turf Club were generous enough to offer their grounds gratis.

Mr. W. Crowley thought that a winning senior team could be put in the field. This year the team would have the benefit of a coach in the person of Mr. Frank Burnham, and the teams in the Western League were not invincible.

Mr. Frank Burnham thought we had as good team material as they had in Toronto. If grouped with Hamilton and Toronto the round would not be unduly expensive.

Mr. A. Noble said the senior series was the only practicable series to enter. He favoured the western group.

The president pointed out that senior games would attract better gates.

Finally, on motion of Messrs. Crowley and McWilliams, it was unanimously decided to enter the senior series, provided the club is grouped with the western teams, and provided satisfactory financial arrangements could be made.

Mr. Crowley suggested that in connection with this a representative be sent to the annual meeting of the O.R.F.U., and an understanding to this effect was arrived at.

The following gentlemen were appointed a committee to make necessary arrangements with the Street Railway and Electric Light Companies: The President and Messrs. K. Eardley Wilmot and R. F. McWilliams.

Mr. Wilfrid Shaw, who has played the American game at Princeton College, was asked to say a few words. He said that he had played the American game for two or three years, and was anxious to learn the Canadian game. He would work with the town team and would do his best to help win.

It was arranged that the pigskin should be aerated for the first time on Saturday afternoon on the Oval. All who can do so are asked to be present at 3 o'clock, or even later, if an earlier attendance is impossible.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the proprietor of the Oriental for the use of the hotel parlours for meetings of the club. And thus closed one of the most promising annual meetings in the local history of Rugby.

"AIR 'LL BE FULL OF US"

INVENTOR HOLLAND PREDICTS THAT SOON EVERY ONE WILL FLY.

Invented the Famous Submarine Boat Which Bears His Name—At the Initial Stages of That Invention Everyone Was Skeptical, But the Boat Is Now an Undoubted Success—Description of His New Flying Machine.

If Inventor John P. Holland has his way about it, men and women of flesh and blood will not have to wait until they have assumed their astral bodies before putting on wings. Mr. Holland proposes that they shall soon be able to buy wings—wings guaranteed to fly—at the comparatively low price of $10 per pair. He is sanguine about the success of the invention he is now working upon. "Fly!" he recently exclaimed when questioned about his plans for navigating the air. "Why, in a few years the air 'll be full of us."

Mr. Holland expects to be able actually to fly, not merely to sail in the air by means of a balloon. He contemplates fitting the public out with wings so that each individual can go from point to point through the air with as little difficulty as is now experienced in riding a bicycle and in time with perhaps even less danger than bicycle riding now involves.

The inventor has succeeded heretofore in doings things about which people were skeptical. He was put in the class with Jules Verne's Captain Nemo when he began experimenting with submarine boats, but the boat that navigates the ocean beneath the waves is now an undoubted success. Consequently, when he says he expects soon to be able to flap a pair of wings and ascend into the air, weight is given to his promise.

The flying machine devised by Mr. Holland consists of four wings, each ten to fifteen feet long. They are to be strapped to the body, two at the shoulders and two at or near the hips. This arrangement, it will be noted, is different from that supposed to be in vogue among the angels, but of course the science of flying is now among mortals, and improvements may be introduced as time goes on. By Mr. Holland's plan both hands and feet will be used in working the wings. The mechanism upon which the inventor is now experimenting in a shop in Jersey City is composed of aluminium, steel wire and leather and only weighs about twenty-two pounds, exclusive of the wings. It has not been decided of what to make them. "But," says some one, "what if the wings should break or the mechanism should fail to work while the wearer is a few hundred feet up in the air?" Mr. Holland intends to provide against accident by building the wings in such a manner that the person flying can come to the ground slowly and safely if anything goes wrong with the apparatus.

Once the possibility of flying has been proved it will be easy to provide particular kinds of wings for different kinds of people. The butterfly of fashion will naturally want a different style of wings from the workingman who flies from his suburban cottage to the factory in the city each morning, carrying his dinner pail. Fashions in wings will in time adapt themselves to the requirements of the case. In a similar way persons who learn to fly will soon discover how to avoid entangling themselves in trolley wires and how not to alight in the street in front of an automobile or on top of a baby carriage. Similar difficulties were mastered when people began to ride bicycles. Mr. Holland advises selecting the top of a skyscraper or an open space in a park for alighting, as it will be necessary to descend at an angle rather than straight down.

Evolution of Envelopes.

The first mention of envelopes occurs in 1653, when M. de Valayer set up, under royal patronage, a private penny post in Paris, and boxes were placed at street corners for the reception of letters wrapped in postpaid envelopes.

The earliest uses of the word in English were by Bishop Burnet, in 1714, and Dean Swift in 1720. That the "little bags called envelopes," as Rowland Hill described them, were nothing but a revival, and were in use as a covering for postal purposes long before 1840, when his postal reform was established, is evident from the following: Under date July 21st, 1627, Secretary Conway gives an account of his "opening a letter in the presence of the King, which contained a blank sheet." Lamb mentions them in 1825, and in "Harry Lorrequer," published by Charles Lever in 1837, we find: "The waiter entered with a small note in an envelope."

The early covers were probably rude enough, as machine-made envelopes were unknown before 1840, and the "lick of the gum" did not make its appearance till the succeeding year.

THE HEAD ON THE FLOOR.

Startling Incident Accompanying the Death of a Slave Trader.

In a squalid court in Edinburgh many years ago a man who had been notorious for his cruelties as a slave trader lay dying. Mental terror made his end appalling to witness. According to Scotch custom, the family opened the door to let the spirit pass. To their infinite horror, the bloody head of a black man suddenly rolled into the room. The family shrieked with fright. The man on the bed gave a yell of terror. They turned to his bedside, but he expired as they watched him. When they looked toward the door again, the head had disappeared. There was a splash of fresh blood upon the floor to mark the spot where it had been, but nothing else to certify that the horrid sight had not been a creation of morbid imaginations.

This appearance of a negro's head in the room of a man dying after he had committed innumerable barbarities upon black slaves was a strange coincidence and nothing more. Professor Owen, the famous anatomist, had been attending an anatomical lecture where the body of a negro had been dissected. He was taking the head home with him to examine it more carefully. The streets were wet and slippery. Just as he was passing the open door of the house in which the man lay dying he tripped, and the head, slipping from the cloth in which he had it, rolled into the little room. The cry of the dying man diverted the attention of those who were in the room, so that Owen was able to secure his treasure and depart unnoticed.

A MODERN HAMLET.

Wherein Hawthorne Was Akin to the Melancholy Dane.

Certain characteristics of Hawthorne are, of course, indisputable, and it is not fantastic to add that some of these qualities bear a curious resemblance to those of that very Prince of Denmark who seems more real to us than do most living men. Hawthorne was a gentleman; in body the mold of form, and graced with a noble mind. Like Hamlet, he loved to discourse with unlettered people, with wandering artists, with local humorists, although without ever losing his own dignity and inviolable reserve. He had irony for the pretentious, kindness for the simple hearted, merciless wit for the fools. He liked to speculate about men and women, about temptation and sin and punishment, but he remained, like Hamlet, clear sighted enough to distinguish between the thing in itself and the thing as it appeared to him in his solitude and melancholy. His closest friends, like Horatio Bridge and William D. Ticknor, were men of marked justice and sanity of mind—of the true Horatio type. Hawthorne was capable, if need be, of passionate and swift action, for all his gentleness and exquisite courtesy of demeanor. Toward the last he had, like Hamlet, his forebodings—"such a kind of gain giving as would perhaps trouble a woman"—and he died, like Hamlet, in silence, conscious of an unfinished task.—Bliss Perry in Atlantic.

Reason For Marrying.

They were talking about a friend of hers who had married a bishop stationed in Kamchatka or Timbuktu or some other heathen land.

"I never could understand why she married him," said the young woman. "She seemed the last girl on earth to marry a bishop. She cared so much more for having a good time than she did for church work and sewing circles."

"Girls are pretty wise nowadays," said the young man, "and they generally have a good reason for marrying the way they do. A girl friend of mine married a doctor so she could always be well for nothing, and maybe this girl married the bishop so she could be good for nothing."—New York Tribune.

Way of the Washerwoman.

"To show you the nice feeling of some of the people, my wife sends the household laundry into the country every week to be washed, and they go in a hamper by rail. The old woman who does it is quite elderly, and has supported an invalid husband for many years. She has a little cottage, which is absolutely perfection, and with our ideas of prices at home, her prices for washing seem ridiculous, and when sending the soiled linen on the Monday the wife is very apt to put in a penny or twopence extra, and on opening up the laundry the other day the wife was quite surprised to find a nice box of rosebuds and different flowers gathered out of the lady's garden. Now, what washerwoman in Canada would have thought of doing such a beautiful little thing as that?"—From letter of P. B. Ball, Canadian Commercial Agent at Birmingham.

The Print of the Springs.

A politician upon his arrival at a certain small town where he was to make a speech the following day found that the two so called hotels were crowded to the doors. Not having telegraphed for accommodations, the politician discovered that he would have to make shift as best he could. He was compelled for that night to sleep on a wire cot which had only some blankets and a sheet on it. As the statesman is a fat man, he found his improvised bed anything but comfortable.

"Well," asked a friend, when the politician appeared in the dining room in the morning, "how did you sleep?"

"Oh, fairly well," replied the statesman nonchalantly, "but I looked like a waffle when I got up."—Youth's Companion.

A Bottomless Lake in Sweden.

In Thomas Nashe's "Terrors of the Night," published in 1594, he says that Lake Wetter, Sweden, is bottomless. He also tells other peculiar things respecting it. "Over it no fowle flies but is frozen to death nor anie mann pass but is mummed like a statue of marble. Awle ye inhabitants around about it are deafened with ye hidieous roar of hits waters when out of its midst as out of Mont Gibell a sulphurous stinking smoak issues that well nil poysons ye whole countrie about."

Act In the Present.

Be not anxious about tomorrow. Do today's only. Fight today's temptation, and do not weaken and distract yourself by looking forward to things you cannot see and could not understand if you saw them. Enough for you that God is just and merciful and will reward every man according to his work.

Human Nature.

It is constantly said that human nature is heartless. Do not believe it. Human nature is kind and generous, but it is narrow and blind and can only with difficulty conceive anything but what it immediately sees and feels.

When trouble goes hunting him a man may dodge it, but when a man goes hunting trouble it hasn't one chance in a thousand of escaping him.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Dies From Fractured Skull.

Toronto, Sept. 7.—On Monday, Mrs. John Maginn, accompanied by her husband, was returning from the exhibition. In rising to leave a Queen street car to make a transfer at York street, she was jolted to the pavement. At noon yesterday she died from a fractured skull, having been unconscious from the time of the accident. Deceased was 58 years of age and was married only about a month ago to Mr. Maginn.

Only Did His Duty as He Saw it

"I deem it my duty to add a word of praise for Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy," says J. Wiley Park, the well known merchant and post master at Wiley, Ky. "I have been selling it for three or four years, and it gives complete satisfaction. Several of my customers tell me they would not be without it for anything. NIAGARA FALLS DAY.

How His Grace the Archbishop and Mr. Morgan Spent It.

Niagara Falls, Sept. 7.—His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury, Mrs. Davidson and J. Pierpont Morgan, arrived on a special train over the Grand Trunk at 11.15 a.m. yesterday morning. His Grace was met and welcomed by Very Reverend Dean Houston, in an appropriate speech, which His Lordship replied to in graceful manner. Mrs. Dr. Walker, on behalf of the ladies of Niagara Falls, presented Mrs. Davidson with a beautiful bouquet of Niagara flowers, which was received with charming grace by the lady. The party viewed the upper rapids and falls for fully one hour, returning to Niagara Falls, N.Y., where the party was met by W. B. Rankin, president of the International Traction Company, and His Grace Bishop Walker of Buffalo. The party was escorted in a private trolley car, inspecting the great electric power house, in which Mr. Morgan is heavily interested financially, and were taken on the Gorge loop trip, after luncheon leaving by special train last evening for Albany.

Scrap on Excursion Train.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—A party of 1,000 excursionists from Nova Scotia bound for the Northwest harvest fields made rough house on a C.P.R. train coming from Montreal yesterday morning. At Calumet some one entered a store and stole two bales of cloth. An Italian named Flanlaro of Sydney, C.B., and Hugh McDonald of Pictou, got into a scrap, and the latter was stabbed in the back. The Ottawa police were notified and a squad met the train. The Italian was arrested and McDonald held as a witness. The stolen stuff was recovered. Police accompanied the train West.

A WONDERFUL HORSE.

His Mental Powers Astonish Scientists—Remarkable Results of a Period of Training.

Wilhelm Von Osten, of Berlin, Germany, who has for a long time made investigations of the intelligence of animals, has reached results in educating an Orloff stallion which cause amazement among scientific men and psychologists. Some of those who have tested the mental powers of the animal are Dr. Studt, the Prussian Minister of Education; Professor George Schweinfurther, the African traveler; Professor Karl Stumpf of the Berlin University; Herr Schillings, the naturalist, and Ludwig Heck, director of the Berlin Zoological Garden. The horse, besides adding, subtracting, multiplying and dividing, does examples involving several of these operations, finds square numbers, and not only repeats what is taught, but solves fresh problems put to him by examiners in the absence of his master, showing a grasp of the principles of arithmetic. The stallion also forms little sentences, remembers them next day, and knows twelve colors and shades, giving their corresponding names. He distinguishes musical tones, indicating where they are situated on the chromatic scale, and picks out discords, designating which tone to omit in order to restore harmony. The horse communicates by a system of hoofbeats, representing the alphabet. Professor Schillings has taken great interest in displaying the horse's accomplishments to other scientists. Dr. Studt says Herr Von Osten would have been burned as a wizard in the earlier ages of the world.

When the exercises are prolonged the horse becomes nervous and inattentive, and mistakes become more frequent.

Professor Von Osten affirms that the horse is as well educated as a boy who has gone to school for the same number of years, and he desires that a commission of specialists be selected to take the animal under observation for four weeks. This probably will be done, with the view of determining whether the conventional idea that animal instinct and human intelligence are essentially different is true.

"What profession or trade does he follow for a living?"

"I don't know whether it is a profession or trade. He married a rich heiress."

Give Him First Place.

"You should never discourage a boy."

"That's right. Never tell him that if he is good he may some day grow up to be vice president."

Construction of Schoolhouses.

In erecting schoolhouses all the money should not be put into the walls and roof of the building and in the construction of those parts which only delight the eye. A good sum should be devoted to plumbing heating, ventilation and furnishing. These are the things that ought to be complete in every schoolhouse. They are the absolute necessities of every well regulated school building, because they make for comfort, convenience, health, order, discipline and decency. Every community deserves a first class schoolhouse if it has the pluck, energy and enterprise to get it.

Good Boys

Are the bad boys very often. The boy that's good for anything is generally pugnacious. He's a healthy animal, and the healthy animal will always fight for his rights.

When a boy shuns the rough sports of his companions he is apt to be a weakling, and to be conscious of the fact.

A great many mothers have testified to the wonderful curing and strengthening power of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. All strength comes from food after it has been perfectly digested and assimilated. By curing diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, "Golden Medical Discovery" enables the perfect nourishment of the body, which is thus built up in the only way a body can be built up—by food.

There is no alcohol in "Discovery," and it entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

"Dr. Pierce's medicine has done wonders for my two sons," writes Mrs. M. Hartrick, of Demster, Oswego Co., N. Y. "Hugh had scrofula. My eldest son was taken two or three years ago with hemorrhage from the lungs. It troubled him for over a year. He took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and has not had one in over a year. My younger son had scrofulous sores on his neck; had two lanced, but has not had any since he commenced to take your medicine."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper cover, sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. For cloth binding send 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

WAR VESSELS BARRED.

Russian Ships of War May Not Pass the Dardanelles and Bosporus.

If Russia were able to send war vessels from the Black Sea into the Mediterranean by way of the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles it would be of great advantage to her in view of the present war with Japan. But that privilege is debarred her by the Treaty of Paris of 1856, negotiated at the close of the Crimean war. This provided that the Sultan of Turkey should have the power to prevent ships of war of foreign nations from entering the Straits of the Dardanelles and of the Bosphorus and that so long as the Sultan was at peace His Majesty should admit no such ships into these straits. Whenever since 1856 Russia has tried to over-ride this treaty the other powers have prompted the Sultan in maintaining it. Recently the Czar has endeavored to get around its provisions by sending a so-called "volunteer fleet," consisting of armed merchant ships, from the Black Sea through these straits, and this course has aroused emphatic protest.

JAILS IN JAPAN.

Discipline Is Military in Form, but Reformatory in Spirit.

A Japanese prison is thus described: "Imagine a park or garden in the Japanese style, with dwarf trees, surrounded by a hedge instead of a wall. In this park one sees a group of Japanese houses like those occupied by the peasants. The prisoners are all at work, proportioned to their physical ability. Some are thrashing and grinding rice. Others are weaving coarse cloth of a dark red color of which the prison uniforms are made. The old and infirm are separating leaves of paper. All of them receive a percentage of their earnings. The younger prisoners are in school. The discipline is military in form, but in its spirit reformatory. There are few evasions, notwithstanding the ease with which they could be effected. One reason for this is the efficiency of the Japanese police, which is said to be the best in the world. The prisoners are divided into three grades and are differently fed, according as they are idle and refractory, amenable to discipline or exceptionally well behaved. The only other punishment is solitary confinement in a sort of dungeon, not exceeding five days. No prisoner may be discharged, however short his term of sentence, unless his family or friends assume responsibility for him. The result has been the organization of a large number of prisoners' aid societies."

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

It may be true that every man has his price, but every man you meet hasn't got the price.

Some people appear to be afraid that there will not be truth enough to go around.

As a general thing a woman is "on to" her husband to a much greater extent than he imagines.

It is said that money talks, but it does not say a great deal for some people.

Some people who loudly insist that honesty is the best policy only have a theoretical knowledge in regard to it.

When opportunity knocks at some men's doors they draw the shades closer and keep quiet, under the impression that it is a bill collector.

A woman would not so thoroughly appreciate being an old man's darling if it were not for the salary that goes with it.

Your argument will convince the most obstinate man if you will show him where it is money in his pocket to believe that way.

Men who smoke five cent cigars usually turn to see if any one is looking when they purchase one.

Taming the Bad Man.

From the Bad Lands, where they muster
Men so mean they will not drown,
Bold, bad Bill, the broncho buster,
Whooped in, shooting up the town.
He was drunk enough to do it,
And he didn't care who knew it.

At the first hint of his sally,
At the first crack of his gun,
Citizens flew up the alley
Or wherever they could run,
Leaving him to have his way,
Boss of all he might survey.

As he shot holes in the village
With extravagance and vim,
Broncho Bill surveyed the pillage,
And the sight was good to him.
He was sorry that they ran;
He'd have liked to eat a man.

But a little woman's figure
Down the sidewalk came full tilt,
And the bad man dropped the trigger—
Clearly 'twas a case of wilt.
'Twas the wife he'd tried to lose,
And he trembled in his shoes.

Lost Years.

"How old did you say she is?"

"She says twenty-four."

"But the family record says she was born in 1870."

"Yes, but she lived ten years in Philadelphia, and of course she doesn't count those."

On the Way Back.

"There is one good thing about playing the races."

"I can't see that it has a redeeming feature."

"You know walking is such healthful exercise."

An Attraction.

The honest, worthy farmer,
With houses, barns and lands,
Who has an only daughter,
Who by her father stands,
Has never any trouble
In getting harvest hands.

Not Impossible.

"Is there such a thing as an honest alderman?"

"Possibly. You know accidents will happen."

VEGETARIANISM.

A Theory That Has Been Maintained From the Earliest Days.

From the earliest days vegetarians have maintained that fruit and vegetables are the proper food for mankind, and in ancient times such leaders of thought as Plato, Pythagoras, Empedocles and Plutarch can be counted among the advocates of this doctrine.

It is in this connection that we find Virgil singing the praises of a natural diet apart from the use of flesh:

Soft chestnuts we possess
And apples ripe, with store of curdled cream.

Still more to the point are his words in the Second Georgic at the close of a vivid description of the joys of a golden age:

Before the reign
Of the Dictæan king, before the days
When on slain bullocks fed an impious race.

This further rendering from Latin poetry proclaims the same primeval teaching:

Forbear, O mortals, to taint your bodies with forbidden food.
Earth is lavish of her riches and teems with kindly stores,
Providing without slaughter or bloodshed all delicacies.

DUCKS AND THUNDER.

The Possible Origin of an Ancient English Expression.

The phrase, "like a dying duck in a thunderstorm," probably originated in the peculiar susceptibility exhibited by these birds to electrical disturbances. They hang their heads at such times and turn up their eyes in the most comically pathetic fashion, giving a faint die away quack now and again, as though they had quite made up their minds that their last hour had come, but were resigned. They are thus precisely typical of people whose submission, more or less forced, is made mainly with an eye to effect.

This susceptibility seems to be inherent in ducks, for their eggs in course of hatching are spoiled by a thunderstorm when hens' eggs escape.

It is worth noting in this connection that Shakespeare in "Timon of Athens" says, "We, poor mates, stand on this dying deck." It is just possible that this may be the real origin of the phrase, as it refers to the sinking of a ship during a thunderstorm, and deck may have been carelessly recast as duck.—London Answers.

MARINE TURBINES.

They Date Back to the Time of Hero of Alexandria.

In turbine steamers there is a marked absence of vibration, while the position low in the hull of the machinery gives great stability and in men-of-war makes better protection possible and affords facilities in maneuvering.

The practical advantages of turbines are many. They reduce the oil bill considerably and while they occupy less floor and cubic space are simple in construction and operation.

In a turbine there is nothing to wear out. The only parts subjected to friction are the bearings at the extremities of the spindle, but these run in oil and after years of constant service show no wear. Parsons' turbine plants of 400 horsepower and 1,800 horsepower, which have been driving electric generators for years, have not yet cost a penny for repairs.

The steam turbine dates back to 120 B. C., when Hero of Alexandria described it in his book on pneumatics.

Pandora Range

A Ventilating Oven that Ventilates.

There is only one practical way of ventilating a range oven, and that way has been adopted in the Pandora—is an actual, positive, working feature, and not a mere talking point.

Fresh air is drawn from the outside through small vents into the oven, while the odors and cooking fumes are forced by the fresh air out through small vents into the smoke flues, and up the chimney.

Puddings, cakes, bread, etc., cooked and baked in a "Pandora" oven are always light, fresh and entirely free from mixed odors and foreign flavors.

Ask your dealer to show you the Pandora Range or write to us for free catalogue before buying any other.

CHANGE IN NAME OF CHEMONG POST OFFICE.

Interesting Information for Those Owning Cottages at Chemong Park.

The parties owning cottages at Chemong Park, and others who live in the vicinity of Bridgenorth, will be pleased to learn that upon the recommendation of Mr. R. R. Hall, the Chemong post office at the Indian Village is being changed from Chemong to Curve Lake, the English equivalent for Chomong. It seems that in the past a great deal of correspondence from Peterborough and other places, has been addressed to Chemong, instead of to Bridgenorth, with the result that the letters have gone to Indian Village and then have had to be brought back to Bridgenorth post office, and much inconvenience and delay has been caused. It is satisfactory to know that this delay and confusion will now be at an end.

LATEST SPORT

BASEBALL.

When Port Hope and the locals meet here on Saturday in the return game of the Midland League series, lovers of baseball will see one of the best games of the season. These teams met last week in Port Hope, and the game resulted in a tie after ten closely contested innings had been played. Port Hope will have the strongest team for this game that they have had this season, and as the locals are putting up the fastest game of any team in the League a good close game will surely result. The winners of this contest will win the tie game played in Port Hope. If Peterborough wins these games and if Bowmanville beats Lindsay in the former place to-day, the locals will be near the top of the heap, rapping at the champion's door.

• • • •

Lindsay plays a League game in Bowmanville to-day. A great struggle is expected between these two teams.

• • • •

Port Hope will be here for certain on Saturday.

• • • •

The Torontos played a tie game with Rochester yesterday.

RUGBY.

The first practice of the season will take place on Saturday afternoon. All players are asked to turn out.

• • • •

Peterboroughs, Torontos, Argonauts, Victorias, (Toronto,) and Tigers, (Hamilton,) have already organized and intend to play in the senior series of the O.R.F.U. London is likely also to enter a team. The West-End Pleasure Club of Hamilton, has not yet organized, but as the club has a crowd of loyal supporters they will undoubtedly be found in senior ranks. The Limestones of Kingston will also play senior. R.M.C. is counted on as a possible team. This will make eight teams in the senior series, with two sections. The prospects are exceedingly bright for a most successful series.

GOLF.

Mayor Roger read the following letters of regret:

Peterborough, September 6, 1904.

Mrs. Scott, Pres. Y.W.C.A., town.

Dear Mrs. Scott,—I extremely regret to find that I shall be unable to be present at the laying of the corner stone of the Y.W.C.A. building to-morrow as I am called to Toronto to attend an important meeting. I feel that this is an event in the history of our town, and pray that the divine blessing may rest upon the work which will be done within the walls of this building. I have arranged for the part assigned to me to be taken by Rev. J. A. Wilson, B. A.

Yours Faithfully,
J. C. DAVIDSON.

Peterborough, September 7, 1904.

Secretary Y.W.C.A., Peterborough.

Dear Madam,—I regret very much that it will be impossible for me to attend the laying of the corner stone of your new building this afternoon as I have just received a message calling me out of the town on some very important matters. However, I wish your society every success in the work that you are doing.

Yours very truly,
JAS. KENDRY.

Toronto, September 6, 1904.

Mrs. (Dr.) Scott,
Pres. Y.W.C.A., Peterborough.

My Dear Mrs. Scott,—I write this to say that I very much regret having to withdraw my acceptance of your kind invitation to be present and assist at the laying of the corner stone of the new building of the Young Woman's Christian Association, on Wednesday evening. I find it is quite impossible to defer dealing with important matters which claim my attention here.

I very much regret my inability to be in attendance on the occasion because I would be glad to be able to give expression by my presence, of my earnest sympathy with the very important aims and objects which such a building represents and which I hope will be abundantly promoted by its erection and maintenance. I shall, however, be happy to render any assistance in my power, in furthering the interests of the undertaking, which I trust will continue to be attended with the largest measure of success in every way.

Enclosed you will please find my cheque for $200.00 as a contribution to the building fund.

I have the honour to remain, Madam,
Yours very respectfully,
J. R. STRATTON.

Mrs. Dr. Scott, president of the local Association, then presented a beautiful silver trowel to Mrs. Hon. G. A. Cox. It was an expression of the deep appreciation of Mrs. Cox's practical sympathy with the work. Mrs. Cox had been a great factor in making the work a success so far and it was a great pleasure to Mrs. Scott to make the presentation to her.

The trowel was presented to the Y.W.C.A. ladies by Mr. Alex. Gibson, of town.

The laying of the corner stone then took place. Mrs. Scott placed the jar containing the document of the statement of the work into the receptacle beneath the corner stone which was laid by Mrs. (Hon.) G. A. Cox, who deftly spread the mortar and the "head stone of the corner" was lowered to its abiding place, the 57th band playing the "Maple Leaf Forever."

Rev. J. G. Potter then gave a short address. He extended his congratulations to the ladies of the Y.W.C.A. and the citizens on the laying of the corner stone and wished to express, on behalf of the management, the deep thanks and appreciation of the kindness and goodness of the many whose liberality had made it possible to lay the corner stone and erect a building such as would soon be finished. He felt that the work was one of great importance and was but the beginning of happier days for the young women who would have rest of body and strength of soul. All should realize the importance of the noble work and he hoped that none would be without a share in it because of the lofty character of the aims and objects of the Association. In the past the good work had been hampered by the fact that the quarters were limited. Now, we see the foundation laid for a building where there will be capabilities of carrying on a great and noble work. There was cause for our deepest gratitude as citizens for the encouragement given and the practical sympathy received in connection with the work. He referred to the generosity of Hon. and Mrs. Geo. A. Cox, to whom was due the deepest thanks for their assistance in carrying on the work. But they would not feel happy if thanks was not given to the many other contributors, many of whom had sacrificed a great deal to have a share in the great enterprise. All were anxiously looking forward to the time when the building would be completed. There would be the means for physical culture, mental advancement and development of the spiritual life and we would feel assured that these growing up around us would grow up as an honour and a blessing to the homes where they live. The belief in the Lord Jesus Christ, was the corner stone of the Y.W.C.A. work. As the mind and body were developed, the spiritual life of the young women should also be strengthened and Christ recognized as their leader and guide. All should recognize the importance of the work which was being carried on in love and sympathy. God pity those who do not know a friend's communion or the shake of the hand. We shall look forward in the assurance that God will richly add His blessing to the work that it may be the means of edifying many and leading the young women to a higher and nobler life. He rejoiced that the building would not only be an ornament but a glory and pride to the people of Peterborough. Among the many investments which have been made, there was none from which the returns would be more blessed or the work more worthy of support.

Rev. W. J. Jolliffe extended his congratulations to the ladies of the Y.W.C.A. and citizens of the town upon the erection of what would be a magnificent building.

Woman's work, it is said, is never done for her active mind and energetic will must always be doing something, and outside of the home duties, the women of Peterborough were doing a work in building up character in the Y.W.C.A. The Y.W.C.A. was a home of protection to young womanhood, and every father and mother would realize and appreciate what a home was for their children, especially girls who had left home. The Y.W.C.A. was a Christian home with surroundings helpful to the moral, well-being and influences of righteousness. As a home of protection the Y.W.C.A. was of great value for the characters of the young women would be free from evil influences and the surroundings would be of such a nature as to tend to lead them to a better life. The Y.W.C.A. was also a home of education. The objects of the society, the speaker understood, were to improve the young women physically, socially, intellectually and spiritually. What was grander than this? The physical nature must be developed to enable the young women to meet the battles of life. Socially the ladies rule the world and it was well to train them on proper social lines that they may exert a powerful influence in the right direction. The young ladies would also be improved intellectually, for their powers would be trained to think aright which was essential to right acting. But what of these three developments, if there is not spiritual growth, for this was the foundation of the Association work because it was a Christian Association. The spiritual side of the young woman's life must be strong, in order that she may be in a firm position to battle with life. Peterborough was bound to grow because of its commercial and industrial advantages and facilities, and was certain to attract young ladies and in view of this it was of the utmost importance to have a home for them. He hoped the citizens would support the institution not only by their prayers and sympathies but in a financial manner. Though the town was strong commercially, it would be weak if it were not built up morally. It was a great pleasure to watch the progress of the erection of the building for the effects of the work done there when completed would be certain to be lasting and widespread, and would improve the moral and spiritual tone of the town.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. A. J. Brace, after which the band played the National Anthem.

The architect of the new building is Mr. W. Blackwell. The stone work contractors are Messrs. J. Kane & H. Sherwood. Mr. J. J. Hartley has the contract for the brick work, and Mr. A. A. McIntyre, the carpentering contract. The contract calls for the completion of the building by January 15th.

TO-DAY'S NEWS ON STOCK MARKET

Features of Market as Told by Special Wires.

The following review of to-day's stock market was received by Messrs. W. F. Dever & Co. ('Phone 418.)—

New York, September 8th, 1904.—In yesterday's market the continuation of favourable weather conditions in the crop regions and the settlement of the Manhattan labour difficulty were used as bull argument. It was apparent, however, that traders were not all one way of thinking and under cover of the strength of Penna there appeared to be some heavy profit taking in progress in some of the other active issues. While the selling was not aggressive it was sufficiently heavy to check the advance, and before the close of the opening hour Un. Pac., So. Pac., Rdg. and Metro had all reacted to below yesterday's close. Wolf Bros. who were credited with the purchase of over 40,000 shares Tuesday, were among the heavy sellers of the general list during the early trading. On the other hand, brokers who have been heavy purchasers of the market for last two weeks and who have been credited with operating for important banking interests continued to be large buyers of the general list.

The announcement that the billet association had decided to cut billets $4 a ton had no apparent effect upon the market. Lower prices for beams billets and steel plates has been considered inevitable for weeks and interest in financial circles is mainly centered on what action will be taken by the steel rail pool. The larger steel mfgs. continue to assert that there is not the slightest possibility of any reduction being made in the pool price of steel rails. The steel rail pool is much the most powerful of any of the steel associations. Not only is there a rigid agreement as to the maintenance of prices among members of steel rail pool, but there is also understood to be a distribution of orders according to the capacity of the various plants.

New York, September 8, noon.—Market opened active, considerable strength in places. There was however, a good deal of stock for sale and professionals were divided in their views as to capacity of market to take it. Some of more active ones seemed to have changed from bullside to some extent. Looks as if Gates crowd were trying to support stock although traders bought some western stock at the coming cut through houses not usually operating for that interest. Shortly before noon Rdg was taken in hand and lifted to a new high point on the present movement. The fact that the market should start up again after the heavy distribution since Tuesday only bears out the conclusion that big forces are prepared to go further with the present movement.—W.F.D. & Co.

By private wire from Richmond & Co., Ind., Pittsburg and Buffalo to W. F. Nelson & Co., correspondents:—

New York, September 8.—There was an absence of the selling pressure which was so strongly in evidence yesterday afternoon at the opening of the market this morning and under the lead of U. S.Q. which showed a gain of one point in initial transactions, prices hardened materially. The hard coalers and Southern Railway then divided the interest with U.S.Q. and advanced sharply on large transactions.

New York, September 8.—We look for an irregular market to-morrow. It seems likely that strength will be shown in the industrials and possibly heaviness among the rails. Some further pressure is very probable. On any reaction of moderate character, would buy when the active list is heavy for a turn as the impression is growing that stock very much taken under heavy selling yesterday has encouraged the rank and file which will buy on declines. Bull tips are out on Amn. Smelting. A.C.P. can be made to rally easily. U.S.Q. should be bought on soft spots for turns. We would not neglect to take moderate profits on the long side at present. Bear talk is again heard on M.R., St. Ry., but we would not sell it when weak but on rallies. B.R.T. seems good to buy on reactions; L. & N. and So. Ry. will show a strong tendency upward. The Pacifics Pa., and Rdg. are likely to be irregular and subject to realizing for a time we look for a trading market for the next few days. Early London market for Amns. was firm slightly above our parity in most stocks. Sentiment is unchanged. London will probably do but little on balance here to-day. The market has no special feature there.—Town Topics.

WILL RE-ORGANIZE ARMY IN MANCHURIA

Russian Force at the Front to be Re-organized in Form of Two Armies.

FRIGHTFUL MINE DISASTER.

Mile of Japanese Blown up by Russian Land Mine—Big Battle may be Fought if the Japanese Continue to Press on to Mukden—Russia Lost 17,000 in 10 Days Around Liaoyang.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 9.—Besides the formation of two fresh army corps as the first answer to the Japanese successes at Liaoyang, the Russian army at the front will be reorganized, probably in the form of two armies, in command of General Linevitch and General Baron Kaulbars, respectively, with General Kuropatkin as commander-in-chief. General Kaulbars will go out with the two army corps now organizing in the Governments of Kazan, Odessa, Vilna and Kieff. General Linevitch has been ordered by telegraph from Vladivostock to Mukden. This decision is due in part, doubtless, to the growing unwieldiness of the big force under General Kuropatkin's command, and which will be largely increased by constant reinforcement.

General Kuropatkin heretofore has handled every detail of the vast organization. The work is too much for one man, and he is now almost broken down under the strain.

A Coming Battle.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 9.—General Kuropatkin reports, in a telegram sent Wednesday evening, that he had not lost a single gun in his retreat, and that Kuroki is on his east flank and Oku on the left, and officials here surmise that a big battle may be fought if the Japanese continue to press on to Mukden. The story of bad roads and hampered transport is repeated, and from Mukden, in the last despatch received, comes the significant intimation that "there is an interesting movement towards Tieling," the nature of which is not disclosed.

FRIGHTFUL MINE DISASTER.

How Russians Are Said to Have Blown Up Jap Column.

Che Foo, Sept. 9.—A Japanese column, numbering approximately 700 men, while marching along at night on a road in the valley between Long Hill and Division Hill, met a frightful disaster through the explosion of an electric land mine Sept. 7. The mine was carefully laid by the Russians three weeks ago. It covered nearly a mile of available marching space. The explosive was placed at the bottom. Rocks were placed next, and on top of these clay was packed so carefully that the ground gave the impression of not having been disturbed. The indications of Japanese activity in this vicinity put the Russians on guard. Near midnight the outposts rushed in and reported that the Japanese were approaching. The Russians withheld their fire for some time. Suddenly they threw a searchlight up the valley. The Japanese opened with a rifle fire. The Russians waited until apparently the whole Japanese column was in the danger zone. Then the mine exploded. The force of the explosion knocked a number of Russians down, and the sight of Japanese rifles, water bottles, legs and arms hurling through the lighted space made by the searchlight was an awful spectacle. Some rocks landed inside the Russian lines. There was one appalling moment, during which the garrison itself was stunned, then deathlike silence. The searchlight coldly lighted up the road and hillsides strewn with dead. The following day the Russians buried the dead, but owing to their dismembered and mutilated condition the Russians were unable to accurately estimate the number of killed. A few Japanese escaped, however. The foregoing information is contained in a small sheet issued by The Port Arthur Novikral, a breakage in the press having made it impossible to issue a full edition. The Chinese arriving here at midnight confirm the above to the extent of saying that they heard a report that many Japanese had been killed by a mine. On the nights of Aug. 26 and 27 a similar disaster befell the Japanese Near Redoubt No. 2, it is reported, but details have not been ascertained.

Kuroki Reported Dead.

Mukden, Sept. 9.—News of the fight at some point between Shakhe, 11 miles northwest of Liaoyang and Mukden, is hourly expected. Among the reports current here is one to the effect that Gen. Kuroki has been killed and that two Japanese generals have been made prisoners, but no one seems to know where the reports originated and no confirmation is obtainable.

Lost 17,000 Men.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 9.—The best information of the War Office indicates Kuropatkin lost about 17,000 men during the ten days' battle

RUSSIANS ON THE RUN FROM MUKDEN

Evacuation of the Town is now in Progress According to a Late Despatch.

Railway and Telegraph Line Between Mukden and Harbin are Both Interrupted.

(Special G. N. W. Dispatch to the Examiner.)

Berlin, Sept. 9.—A despatch to the local Anzeiger from Mukden, timed 11.40 a.m., to-day says the evacuation of Mukden is now in progress, and adds that the Japanese have not yet crossed the River Hun, which flows a few miles south of Mukden.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 9.—A despatch has been received from Viceroy Alexiff announcing that the railway and telegraph line between Mukden and Harbin are both interrupted.

MR. BORDEN AT ST. JOHN.

Repeats Intention of Repudiating G.T.P. Bargain If Conservatives Win.

St. John, N.B., Sept. 9.—Mr. R. L. Borden opened the Conservative campaign last night at the York Theatre, which was well filled, many ladies being in the audience. The crowd was enthusiastic, and the more fiery oratory of Hon. Geo. E. Foster, who followed Mr. Borden, warmed the meeting more than the colder reasonings of the leader. Mr. Borden received a great reception from a fine meeting, but Mr. Foster raised most of the cheering by saying the Liberals had driven Lord Dundonald, one of England's greatest sons, out of Canada.

As the last bye-election was fought chiefly over the Grand Trunk Pacific, and as the winter port is always a big question here, the Opposition leader devoted most of his two hours' speech to these subjects. He did not mention Dundonald. His chief contention was that the Maritime Provinces would suffer unless the Grand Trunk agreement were defeated through expropriation by the Conservatives. Our ports must be equipped by the Government to make head against our great competitor, the United States. He held that a national railway, built and owned by the people, was the only solution of the question of transportation. He would stand by that. He repeated the arguments he used in the Commons concerning adequate protection. He claimed that the Liberals were willing to enter into reciprocity with the United States, but not with the Mother Country.

Sensation in Brantford Over Warrant Issued For the Arrest of the Superintendent of the Canadian Order of Foresters—Trusted Officer of 20 Years Eludes Police and Leaves Town.

Brantford, Sept. 9.—A big sensation was sprung in this city yesterday, when it became known that a warrant was issued for the arrest of Ernest Gartung on a charge of embezzlement. Gartung was superintendent of the organization department of the Canadian Order of Foresters, with headquarters in this city. He left the city hurriedly Wednesday night, and the police have as yet no knowledge of his whereabouts. The amount of shortage is not exactly known, but will probably be considerably over $2,000.

In pursuance of his duties, Gartung journeyed all over the province appointing county organizers. These organizers were paid by cheque upon receipt of a voucher from Gartung. It is alleged that Gartung appointed fictitious organizers, sent in the vouchers and then cashed the cheques for himself in some clever manner. It is also charged that he got ahead of the Order on his expense account.

Auditors have regularly examined the books, but since the vouchers were correct nothing was suspected until recently. It is understood that cheques came back from a mythical organizer named Langdon at Alexandra, with Gartung's endorsation. Wednesday Gartung was up on the carpet before one of the Order's officials, and the hearing was adjourned till a later hour, but Gartung failed to show up. The police were notified about 7 o'clock Wednesday evening. Gartung has been in the employ of the Order for twenty years. He was one of the most trusted officials, nothing being suspected till very lately. Gartung has a wife and two children living at New Hamburg. His predicament has occasioned much regret in this city, where he was well known and much respected, as he was throughout the province.

At present many officials of the Order are in the city examining the books of the Order. It is claimed more shortages are being found, but the amount will in no way affect the Order, as a guarantee company is liable. Before leaving, it is known that Gartung procured a revolver.

DENTAL STANDARD OF EXCELLENCE.

Formation of a Dominion Dental Council Approved of.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—At the final meeting of the Canadian Dental Association yesterday the scheme for the formation of a Dominion Dental Council was approved of. Representatives from each of the provinces met and drew up a plan for the establishment of the Council, which will have power to grant certificates that will be accepted in all parts of the Dominion.

The other business of the meeting was reading of a technical paper by Dr. Loveau of Paris, France, which provoked considerable discussion of a most beneficial character.

The election of officers was then proceeded with; the result of which was:

President, Dr. Dubeau, Montreal; vice-president, Dr. S. W. McInnes, M.P.P., Brandon; secretary, Dr. Morrison, Montreal; treasurer, Dr. W. G. L. Spaulding, Toronto; registrar, Dr. G. E. Thompson, Halifax. Committee, F. W. Ryan, Nova Scotia; Frank A. Godseau, New Brunswick; F. A. Stevenson, Quebec; G. E. Hanna, Ontario; W. F. Taylor, Manitoba; W. D. Cowan, Northwest Territories; F. A. Lefugey, Prince Edward Island.

A TRAGIC DUCK HUNT.

Thomas Willoughby a C. P. R. Conductor, Killed Near Carleton Place.

Carleton Place, Sept. 9.—A dreadful shooting accident occurred on the Mississippi River, about two miles above this town last evening at 5 o'clock, by which Thomas Willoughby, a conductor on the C.P.R., lost his life. It appears that Mr. Willoughby, with another railroad conductor, S. Alexander, went up the river during the day to shoot ducks. They were landing at McCreary's Creek, a favorite spot, when Mr. Willoughby slipped off a log and the gun striking the log, was discharged, the shot passing through the unfortunate man's head and making a ghastly wound.

Many women are denied the happiness of children through derangement of the generative organs. Mrs. Beyer advises women to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered with stomach complaint for years. I got so bad that I could not carry my children but five months, then would have a miscarriage. The last time I became pregnant, my husband got me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking the first bottle I was relieved of the sickness of stomach, and began to feel better in every way. I continued its use and was enabled to carry my baby to maturity. I now have a nice baby girl, and can work better than I ever could before. I am like a new woman."—MRS. FRANK BEYER, 22 S. Second St., Meriden, Conn.

Another case which proves that no other medicine in the world accomplishes the same results as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was married for five years and gave birth to two premature children. After that I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it changed me from a weak, nervous woman to a strong, happy and healthy wife within seven months. Within two years a lovely little girl was born, who is the pride and joy of my household. If every woman who is ailing feels as grateful and happy as I do, you must have a host of friends, for every day I bless you for the light, health and happiness Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought to my home. Sincerely yours, MRS. MAE P. WHARRY, Flat 31, The Norman, Milwaukee, Wis."

BRITISH "OUTSIDERS."

What is this? Do our eyes deceive us? The Toronto Mail and Empire classifying Britons, Australians and New Zealanders as "outsiders." It said yesterday:

The question has been raised since the D.R.A. is over as to the advisability of allowing outsiders—that is, men who are not Canadians—competing in the D.R.A. The lamentable evidence exists that in the last three years the British carried off a first and a third place, and this year an Australian took a first and a New Zealander a second place in the Governor-General's match, which is the main money proposition of the meeting.

Why, then, Lord Dundonald must have been an "outsider"—a Uitlander — a Foreigner! Treason! "Keep both hands on the Union Jack." British subjects outsiders! Horrible! Where is Col. Denison? Call out the 48th Highlanders. Down with the traitor. Hang the nest of traitors.—Hamilton Times.

This is a small matter, but it only emphasizes the flimsy character of the material out of which the Mail and Empire made a vicious attack on Sir Wilfred Laurier, who referred to Lord Dundonald as a "stranger" —meaning, of course, a stranger to Canadian needs and conditions and Canadian sentiment. If the Mail would follow its own stereotype, and keep both hands on the Union Jack, it would have no hand left—brains not being required—to write the political drivel which adorns so large an area of its editorial page.

Where in the organ's "outsider" propaganda come in the idea and spirit of Imperial unity? One would think that the military fire-eaters would welcome the attainment by our militia of proficiency in shooting which would be the best system of defence we could have. What defenders of Canada will our militia marksmen make if they can't shoot better than anybody else? If they are now beaten by British marksmen from the old land or from the sister colonies, they should peg away at the target till they can shoot well enough to beat all comers. Besides, winning prizes is not the main motive of the Dominion Rifle Association, it is to make good marksmen of Canadian soldiers, and if we have our British brethren to put us on our mettle it seems that is all the better. We are all one Imperial family and what advances any interest of any of the colonies naturally contributes to the advantage of the whole. Let us be real, and not, buncombe Imperialists and Loyalists.

Referring to the action of the Dominion Government, in issuing an Order-in-Council bringing into effect the statute providing for the imposition of a duty of $7 a ton on steel rails when proof is forthcoming that steel rails can be made from Canadian steel sufficient for the requirements of the country, "The Trade Bulletin" says:—

"By issuing the above the Government has taken a step to encourage the production of steel rails in Canada, which is calculated to have highly important consequences. If what is hoped for is realized, the production of steel rails in Canada will be a material addition to the resources of this country. It will enlarge the population; the demand and opportunities for skilled labour; the consumption of all manner of goods; and call for an increase in house property. It will develop those industries and activities which are every where subsidiary to the iron and steel trades. The rails for the Grand Trunk Pacific will be rolled in Canada. To supply these and the extensions and renewals of the Canadian Pacific, Grand Trunk and International will keep the rail mills in Canada busy for years."—

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER.

SHODDY WEARERS.

(Montreal Herald.)

As put by the Gazette, the situation of the Canadian woollen trade is something like this:—

Mills making good cloths are doing well under the present tariff; but the bulk of the demand is for low class goods, shoddies and the like, and in these lines Canadian mills cannot compete with English, even with the duties as increased at last session; therefore there should be a return to the "specific" duties of the Foster tariff, which gave Canadian shoddy a very high protection.

Otherwise stated, it would run thus:

People who can afford good cloth can be supplied, and are supplied, by Canadian mills at a profit now; people who cannot afford good cloth and who have to buy shoddy prefer the English goods to the Canadian after paying thirty per cent. duty; therefore these people who cannot afford good clothes must be forced to buy Canadian shoddy by still further increasing the cost of both English and Canadian shoddy; as no one would dare recommend an ad valorem duty of 75 to 100 per cent., "specific" duties, which effect that result by collecting the duty so much per pound, should be resorted to.

It is an eye-opening argument, but not one likely to serve its avowed purpose. If people are too poor to buy good cloth they are too poor to be heavily taxed for the particular benefit of anyone.

THE POLITICAL REFORM NEEDED.

(Montreal Herald.)

There is very good, though neglected reason, why an election should be held. This is not, as Conservatives allege, to give the people a chance to put in a new Government. On the contrary it is to give them an opportunity to put some new blood into the Conservative Opposition. Mr. R. L. Borden is struggling along under the awful load of an incompetent following. He has in addition to his duty as leader of the Opposition, to play the roles of financial critic, of military expert, and every other variety of expert for the Opposition. He has no men who have the ability, or the will, to take charge of any line of criticism. It is true he has a number of men behind him with ambition. But they want to be leaders and not lieutenants. The last session made it clear that Dr. Sproule, Mr. Houghton Lennox, Mr. T. Chase Casgrain, Mr. Monk, Mr. W. F. Maclean, Colonel Sam Hughes, and a number of others, had come to the conclusion that a mistake had been made in choosing Mr. Borden for leader. Each is now firmly convinced that the mantle of Sir John A. Macdonald should have fallen upon his shoulders. This is the secret of the half hearted support Mr. Borden received last session, and is the reason he finally left for home in disgust, leaving his ambitious followers a free hand to show their incompetence.

A good Opposition serves a great and useful purpose in the House. It is essential to good government. Canada is now practically dead in its Opposition. Many Conservative constituencies made awful mistakes in the last election. They should be given an early opportunity to correct the errors they made four years ago. Mr. Borden would be only too glad for a reform in this direction. So would the Government. The greatest good can be accomplished if the Conservative managers will only induce a number of really good men to run in constituencies which are bound to return Conservatives. Let there be an early election and a Conservative reform of this sort, and everyone, Liberal and Conservative, will have reason to rejoice.

THE CANADA ATLANTIC SALE.

The purchase of the Canada Atlantic by the Grand Trunk Railway, which it is believed will soon be accomplished, is already being given as a reason for turning out the Government by those who have heretofore given many reasons just as good for this which they so much desire. It appears the Government should not allow the transaction to proceed. Some say the Intercolonial should have bought the road for the extension of its system westward; others that the Canadian Northern should have been aided in acquiring it for extension eastward. Again it is argued as meaning that the Eastern division of the Grand Trunk Pacific will never be used and perhaps never be built.

To the last statement, which is the one most popular with opponents of the Government, it may again be answered that Parliament is pledged to the construction of the Eastern division, and has appointed an able commission to see that the work is expeditiously done. Further, the Grand Trunk Pacific is pledged to operate it, and to carry Western freight in competition with the Canada Atlantic, the old Grand Trunk, and every other road. This is laid down in black and white with a substantial pledge behind it, and constitutes a contract which will have too be carried out to the letter, at least as long as there is a Liberal Government in power. What a Conservative successor to the present Administration may see fit to do is perhaps another question.

For the rest, no doubt Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann would have liked to use the Canada Atlantic. But no one who has faith in Canada's future will shed tears because of a disappointment for which there is an obvious remedy if the Canadian Northern is to extend to the Atlantic. The Canada Atlantic was for sale, and it is not, says the Montreal Herald, the Grand Trunk who are to blame if others did not buy it, and there is lots of land left if those others wish to build.

RUST IS OFFSET BY HIGHER PRICES.

Manitoba and Northwest Farmers Will Have Fairly Good Year

Opinion of a Manitoba Visitor now in Town.

Mr. R. G. McCraig, editor of the Morden, Man., Chronicle, has been a visitor in Peterborough for a few days.

Speaking of the Manitoba crops, he says it is hard to place an estimate on the probable output, but it will be between fifty and sixty million bushels. The rust scare is not yet over, and until the threshing is well commenced, farmers will not know where they are at. Many fields which looked good for thirty-five to forty bushels per acre will not go seven, yet these are isolated cases. Perhaps twenty per cent. of the crop has been killed, yet the great advance in price will more than make up for the loss by rust.

Speaking of Winnipeg prosperity, Mr. McCraig said: "It is no boom, a natural growth, and one which the great country to the west of it will back up for many years to come. When you come to consider that this year has seen over $7,000,000 worth of building permits issued in the city of Winnipeg, you will be forced to the conclusion that there is something doing.

"Is the Grand Trunk Pacific popular in the West? Well, if you ever lived there, or knew anything of the difficulties we have in getting our wheat crop out, you will quite understand me when I say that Manitoba will hold up both hands for the building of that road."

SOME HAPPENINGS IN THE NORTHERN TOWN.

Personal Mention and Other Items of Interest at Lakefield.

Lakefield, Sept. 7.

Messrs. F. and H. Phillpotts, of Toronto, spent Labour Day in the village, the guests of Mr. Strathy, of the local branch of the Traders' Bank.

Miss Thompson, of New York City, who has been the guest of Mrs. H. G. Fitzgerald, has returned to her home in the States.

Miss Rowena Scrimgeour, who has been the guest of Mrs. M. Fischer, left for her home in Rochester on Thursday.

Mrs. W. M. Graham, of Viamede, is giving an At Home to her friends at her summer home on Friday evening next.

Miss Patterson, of Wingham, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Johnson.

Mr. Frank Pullen, who has been away and taken to himself a companion for life passed through the village en route for Stony Lake on Wednesday accompanied by his bride. Mr. Pullen made many friends during his stay in Lakefield, and the good wishes extended to himself and bride are many and hearty.

Mrs. H. G. Fitzgerald is spending a couple of days in Toronto this week visiting the Fair.

Miss McCoy left on Monday for Toronto, where she intends spending a few days with friends before going to her home in Gravenhurst.

The Misses Merrill, who are summering at Viamede, were in the village on Tuesday.

Miss Pearl Lewis of Bobcaygeon, is the guest of Mrs. J. H. Davis.

Miss Lowndsborough of Toronto Junction, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Capt. Reynolds.

Mr. Neeve of Toronto, was the guest of Mr. T. A. Kilbourn on Labour Day.

Mrs. McGorman and Miss Stephenson have resumed their duties in the public school after spending their vacation at Brighton and Cordova respectively.

Mr. C. B. McAllister of Peterborough was in the village on Wednesday.

Mr. S. W. Hill is back to his post as principal of the school, looking hale and hearty after his holidays.

Mr. Doherty of Hastings, who has been employed with the Cement Co., was called home owing to the serious illness of his father.

Miss Lemay of Peterborough, who has been the guest of Mr. Jos. Lemay of the village, has returned to her home.

Dr. R. A. Fraser is spending a few days in Toronto with his parents.

A party consisting of Mrs. (Dr.) J. R. Fraser, Mrs. (Dr.) Jas. Fraser, Chicago; Miss Evans of Quebec, Miss Fraser, and Mr. Stuart Fraser and Master Alex. Fraser, of the village, are spending a couple of weeks at Ray's cottage, Stony Lake.

Miss Tate, who has been spending the summer at the seaside, returned home on Wednesday.

Mr. Harry Sherin of New York City, was visiting friends in Lakefield this week.

THE MUCH DISCUSSED PEACE RIVER DISTRICT.

"Beefsteak" for the Black Eye Prof. Macoun Gave it.

The Peace River district, which was such contentious matter in the Agricultural Committee, has received a certificate of excellence to set against Mr. Macoun's unfavourable report. Mr. W. L. King was sent to it in May last by the Canadian Northern to examine into its possibilities. He has returned after a three months' sojourn, and brings with him an enthusiastic estimate of the fertility and climate of the country. There is abundance of good land suitable for mixed farming, he says, with some good woodland, much scattered timber. A good climate and adequate moisture. The mineral resources of the country are excellent, coal of a semi-anthracite type being exceedingly plentiful, while gold-bearing quartz was found. The district needs a railway, Mr. King says in conclusion. It is useless for settlers to enter it until proper communications are provided. It may be added that Mr. King knows the country well. He was a Hudson Bay Company factor there over thirty years ago.

FAMOUS BAND CREATES UNPARALLELED ENTHUSIASM.

Splendid Music of the Black Watch Band Arouses Great Cheering.

The famous Black Watch Brass and Pipe Bands, who have just arrived in Canada, and are now playing at the Canadian National Exhibition, received the most magnificent receptions in Montreal and Toronto on their arrival in each place. In Montreal, the 5th Royal Scots turned out to meet them, and tens of thousands of people. In Toronto, the reception was the finest of a patriotic character ever witnessed. The six regimental bands of the city, comprising two hundred men, who played massed as one band, led the Black Watch Band through the streets, where there were gathered over one hundred thousand people, and there was continuous cheering all along the line.

The uniform of the band is extremely handsome. In full dress they wear the scarlet tunic, and dark plaid kilts and red plaid stockings. Their plume is the famous red heckle. At the Canadian National Exhibition where they have been playing, they have received the utmost enthusiasm. The public are delighted with the band, and grow wild over the pipers, who give the most interesting dances. After each concert at the Exhibition a most impressive scene is witnessed when the throngs, which number tens of thousands of people, cheer and sing, "God Save the King," "Rule Britannia" and the "Maple Leaf". The same inspiring scenes will doubtless be witnessed when the band appears here on September 27th in the Brock Street Rink.

There is the greatest interest being taken throughout Canada in the visit of the Black Watch Pipe and Brass Bands, who have come across the atlantic direct from Edinboro Castle, leave of absence having been granted them to do so by His Majesty, King Edward VII., with the primary object of visiting the Canadian National Exhibition, and then making a brief tour of the Dominion. Their leave does not extend to the United States so that their visit will be confined to Canada. The name "Black Watch" is one that inspires the heart of every Scotchman everywhere on both hemispheres with feelings of pride and sentiment. It is the oldest Highland Regiment in the British service, and has a fighting record that is unsurpassed by any corps in the service. These Highlanders have been prominent in every active campaign in the British Empire since their first appearance in 1715 at Fontenoy, where they covered themselves with glory. The Black Watch was formed in 1725 and was composed of a number of Highland gentlemen, who volunteered for the service of the crown. As their clan tartan was chiefly in colors of dark blue and green, they were called the "Black Watch" to distinguish them from the regular scarlet coated soldiers.

This is not the Black Watch's first visit across the Atlantic, because they came out to North America in 1756, and at the attack on Ticonderoga they bared their way through the obstacles with their broad swords and commenced to scale the walls by standing on each others' shoulders. In this one engagement, they had eight officers, nine sergeants and 297 men killed; seventeen officers, ten sergeants and 536 men wounded, or two thirds of their total strength. When they arrived in America, they were greeted with great friendliness by the Indians, who thought that the Highlanders in their kilts, were kindred of their own, on account of the character of their dress being similar to that of the Aborigines.

The Black Watch, who are quartered at Edinboro Castle, send out to America its full regimental brass band of fifty members, and ten of the Royal Pipers in their gorgeous uniform. They are a magnificent musical organization, and the Pipers alone are capable of arousing the utmost enthusiasm. The Pipers know without music no less than sixty different tunes.

PLUMBING

Most people think that Plumbing is Plumbing—that one plumbing job is just as good as another. But a GOOD Plumbing Job is something more than a mixture of muscle and material. We put brains, honesty, skill and experience into our work, and we can refer with pride to our plumbing work in some of the most prominent buildings in Toronto and elsewhere, as well as in Peterborough. We do an honest job every time.

A HIGH OPINION OF 57TH REGIMENT.

What a Barrie Paper Says of the Recent Trip.

"A Credit to Canadian Volunteer Force —"One of, if not the Finest Band in Canada" Boys Had Plenty of Fun but Gave no Offense.

The following has been clipped from the Barrie Advance in reference to the recent trip of the 57th Regiment to that town:—

"The Queen's Park never presented so attractive an appearance as during the past week, during three days of which the 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, have been encamped thereon. The tents were neatly arranged in rows each of which represented a company, and, as there are eight of these, besides the officers' quarters the park presented quite a military appearance.

The 57th was organized under General Orders, on May 3rd, 1867, being composed of the men who served in the old Rifle Company in the Fenian Raid, and was re-organized as a City Battalion in 1885. In 1903, the strength was increased from six companies to eight. Besides serving in the Fenian Raid the regiment was distinguished by having one company serve with the Midland Battalion in the Northwest Rebellion of 1885. Representatives also served in the South African War. The Commanding Officers to date have been Lt.-Col. Poole, 1867; Lt.-Col. J. Z. Rogers, 1879; Lt.-Col. R. W. Bell, 1895; Lt.-Col. E. B. Edwards, 1900, and Lt.-Col. Miller, 1902. Besides being noted as one of Canada's show regiments and as being the possessor of the finest military band in the Dominion, the 57th has won its laurels, as pointed out, in active service and has also won honours on the rifle ranges, their rifle team, of ten man, having just returned from Ottawa where numerous prizes were captured and where Col.-Sgt. Moore, qualified for the Bisley team with Ptes. Fitzgerald and Curtis so close behind him in high scoring that there is every possibility they also will be chosen to represent Canada in this historic contest of sharp-shooters in England next year. The regiment has this year also carried off a handsome silver cup as first prize winners in the Dominion Military Rifle League.

The men are a credit to the Canadian volunteer force being a well set up lot of young fellows, who though out for a holiday kept well within their bounds. They made plenty of fun on the streets when off duty and no offense was either given or taken during their three days' stay in town. The officers may well be proud of their regiment.

Saturday morning was spent in settling down and seeing the sights around the town. In the afternoon the Islay took the visitors down the bay on the invitation of the Town Council, and on their return the officers held a reception at the camp which was largely attended by the townspeople.

After returning from the Islay trip the men spent a couple of hours on the streets and with rival companies running an old threshing machine and the town roller up and down Dunlop street many of the residents thought bedlam had broken lose. The fun, as a whole, was taken good naturedly, and even the farmers did not object when red-coated postillions suddenly mounted their horses and they were supplied with footmen and coachmen and all in the King's uniform.

In the evening the officers were given a dance in the town hall where several hours were very pleasantly spent. Unfortunately a large number of citizens were deprived of the pleasure of hearing the far-famed band of the 57th at the concert which was given in the Opera House. On any other evening but Saturday a crowded house would have greeted the band, the high reputation of which had preceded it to Barrie. Those, however, who were able to attend spoke in the highest terms of the excellence of the programme which was rendered. The band is, without doubt, one of the finest, if not the finest, that Canada can boast. It has plenty of power, numbering some forty musicians, the execution is very fine and the repertory includes music of the highest class. Many of those who were present would travel a long distance to be able to repeat the pleasure.

On Sunday morning the 57th paraded to Christ Church, accompanied by the local companies of the 35th and the Veterans of Barrie. The bands of both regiments were in attendance and the sight was a stirring one, as the brilliantly uniformed body of soldiery passed through the streets. The interior of the church was very tastefully decorated with flags, etc., for the occasion.

Hundreds of townspeople visited the camp during the afternoon and the officers received all comers with the most liberal and courteous hospitality.

Lieut. Fred. Clarke was in charge of the largest company in the regiment and brought his men up so smartly in the "march past" on Monday that a burst of applause followed him along the line.

Man in Well Killed.

Woodstock, Sept. 8.—While working at the bottom of a thirty-foot well north of Woodstock late yesterday afternoon, John McGachon, a well-digger, was buried alive by the sides of the well caving in. Rescue parties were at work last night endeavoring to remove the earth. Nothing is heard from the bottom of the well and it is presumed that he is dead. McGachon was a middle-aged man, living near Strathallan. He leaves a family of grown up children.

Locomotive Explodes.

Dunkirk, N.Y., Sept. 9.—While running at a speed of 55 miles an hour, the locomotive on a fast passenger train on the Lake Shore blew up near Silver Creek early yesterday, instantly killing Fireman John Gress of Buffalo, and slightly injuring Engineer George Mansfield of Collingwood, O.

Woodstock, Sept. 9.—The body of John MacGahon, the well-digger, who was buried by a cave-in while excavating a well, was taken out seven hours after the accident.

THE MUSKOKA TRIAL

The Election Petition is Dismissed With Costs.

MR. MAHAFFY KEEPS HIS SEAT

Charges That Were Proven Insufficient to Affect the Result—Cases of Wrong-doing Were Sporadic, Say Judges, and There Was Apparently No Wide-Spread Corruption in the Matter.

Bracebridge, Sept. 9.—The petition against the election of A. A. Mahaffy for Muskoka was yesterday morning dismissed with costs. The cross-petition was also dismissed. His Lordship's charge at the close of the case was as follows:

"We have occupied three days with this enquiry and there has been no lack of diligence and energy on the part of the petitioner in bringing out the evidence. It does appear that very few cases have been proved. A great many of the charges have fallen through. At present there appear to have been five corrupt acts, or illegal acts, found. Charge No. 49 was proved, that payment was made for a rig by W. J. Lamb. Charge 51 was proved, that expenses of a voter back from poll were paid by Lamb. Charge 46 was proved, showing a corrupt promise by Coates to Dodds. Charge 84 was proved, showing a corrupt offer of $5 to Martineau by Crump. Charge 56 involved Lamb in another matter of a payment of $5. As to this we reserve judgment. The disposition of it does not affect the general disposition of the case itself.

"That being so, four or five cases being proved, it remains to be considered what the effect of this is now if these matters were all brought home to an agent. We both think that it is a case in which the first and second section of the statute may well be applied, that is to say, Mr. Mahaffy is exempt personally from any blame, and whatever wrongdoing has been shown on the part of Lamb, Coates and Crump, assuming that they were his agents, he had no personal knowledge of their misdoings. The application of this section, 172, depends upon the circumstances of the case. Where there is a small majority a few cases may be quite enough to upset the result, if they are shown to be acts of agents; but where the majority is large, as in this case, the cases proved will not justify voiding the election and putting the constituency to all the expense and trouble of a new election.

"The statute was passed with the intention of preventing the expense and trouble of a new election in just such a case as this. Then we have to examine the character of the acts themselves. The agents involved in the charges proved are not the chief agents, as in some other cases, where the chief agent, who was the man who had the whole handling of the campaign, was shown to have been spending large sums of money. The Simcoe case is the one I am thinking of, where the majority was small. The acts might be expected to have affected the result. Little money was involved in these cases. The acts were of a trifling character, such as a payment for a rig and a payment of a voter's expenses home. Others were of a character difficult to prove; but they were all sporadic cases of an isolated nature and it was not shown that there was any widespread wrongdoing. It simply appears that the election on the whole has been conducted fairly, and only in four or five cases has wrongdoing been proved. It would be a case in which the provisions of clauses 1 and 2 may very properly be applied, and the result is that the petition is dismissed with costs. We will consider whether there shall be any small set-off in regard to charge 56, which has been reserved for judgment. It would be only a small proportion, however. The cross-petition, I understand, will not be pressed and it is also dismissed with costs."

ONTARIO CONSERVATIVES DECLARE POLICY.

Convention in Toronto Sends out a Series of Resolutions Embodying Their Policy

Toronto, Sept. 9.—About one hundred people attended the Ontario Conservative Association meeting in St. George's Hall yesterday afternoon, of whom only 90 registered. The addresses were brief, Mr. Whitney devoting his remarks to a defence of Mr. Gamey. Dr. Sproule, M.P., represented Mr. R. L. Borden, M.P., the Conservative leader, and urged the party to be prepared for an early election. An appeal was made for funds. Mr. H. R. Gamey, M.P.P., who was not called upon to speak until he had got outside the inner doors of the hall, returned to the platform, and, replying to the recent criticisms by The Evening News, charging him with using in his private business several thousands of dollars which he had received as a bribe, declared that he had only used $1,500 of bribe money in his private business, and had been ready at any moment to give his check for the amount. The Ontario Conservatives proclaimed their policy in these resolutions:

The Conservative Policy.

The following resolution, moved by J. B. Walker and seconded by Major Beattie of London, declared:

"That this association declares its firm faith in the policy of adequate protection for the farmer and urban worker and its regret that the Government at Ottawa is unable to take the national view of the industrial situation and to accord to all our great industries, whether that of agriculture or that of the factory, the degree of defence they deserve.

"That this association is of the opinion that an agreement can be reached under which Canadian interests shall not be sacrificed while at the same time the preferential system advocated by Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain may be put in force. A preferential understanding between Canada and the Mother Land would be of vast interest to both, in that it would increase trade between them and strengthen the tie which unites them. If able men of the calibre of R. L. Borden be appointed to negotiate on the subject it is certain that an agreement helpful all around can be reached.

"That this association deplores the great increase in the Federal taxes and expenditures and is the more surprised that such tremendous additions should be made by politicians who "viewed with alarm" the much smaller expenditures of the Liberal-Conservative period. That this association believes in the proper administration of public affairs, but is of the opinion that the doubling of the expenditure by men who promised to cut it down is unwarranted.

The Grand Trunk Pacific.

"That this association commends the patriotic stand taken by Mr. Borden and his colleagues on the subject of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. The historic policy of the Liberal-Conservative party is to move along progressive lines and to add to the facilities for settlement and trade with a due regard for the resources of the people and their ability to pay. The proposition to tax Canadians $150,000,000 for a new railway when the same could have been secured for an infinitely smaller sum is improvident and unwise. The proposal to give so much of the public money for a property which the private company is to own is without precedent. This association approves of the wise policy of Mr. Borden, under which it is laid down as a principle that if the country pays so much for the road it ought to own what it buys. It is the opinion of this association that the question of the G. T. P. requires to be examined by men of the business ability of Mr. Borden, with a view to straightening out the tangle, and especially that the absurdity of allowing four politicians who know nothing of railways to build the $75,000,000 section in the far north be put a stop to.

"That this association deplores the degradation of the public service under which men of the type of Lord Dundonald and Auditor-General Macdougall are hunted from office while such persons as W. T. R. Preston and his colleague, Jackson, are drafted into the Civil Service and are thus paid for offences against the people. The carrying of the spoils systems to this limit is a danger and a disgrace to the country."

Officers Re-elected.

The officers of the Association, who were all re-elected, are: Mr. J. J. Foy, M.P.P., president; Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, vice-president; Mr. A. C. Macdonell, secretary, and Mr. E. B. Ryckman, treasurer. Mr. Borden and Mr. Whitney are hon. presidents.

An International Day.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—Yesterday was an international day at the Canadian National Exhibition. Great crowds thronged the grounds and buildings despite the threatening appearance of the weather. At the directors' luncheon speeches were made by E. N. Gunsaulus, U. S. Consul; Hon. John Dryden, Hon. E. J. Davis, Minister of Crown Lands, and Issa Tanimura, of Tokio, Japan, Commissioner of Commerce for the Japanese Government. In the dairy building Prof. Dean, O.A.C., gave an instructive address on "Canadian Dairy: Its Past, Present and Future."

Died on Board Steamer.

Hamilton, Sept. 4.—Last evening as the Modjeska was putting into dock Miss Grace Clark, one of the passengers, expired. The lake was very rough and she was ill when the boat reached the beach. The deceased was 31 years of age and was troubled with a weak heart.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Steady—Hogs Active and 10 Cents Higher at Buffalo.

London, Sept. 8.—Cattle are steady at 10c to 12¾c per lb.; refrigerator beef, 8c per lb. Sheep, 10½c to 12½c, dressed weight.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Receipts of live stock at the City Market amounted to 116 carloads, all told, composed of 1967 cattle, 1500 hogs, 2444 sheep and lambs and 94 calves.

There were five loads of exporters, 108 in number, consigned to Crawford & Hunnisett, which were of good to choice quality, which were sold at $5.12½ per cwt. Outside of these, there were two or three lots that sold at $4.50 to $4.75 per cwt.

Receipts of butchers' cattle were large, especially the light, unfinished, half-fat kind, which should have been left on the grass until they had gained more flesh, and some fat. Choice picked lots of butchers' sold at $4.35 to $4.50, but there were very few brought these prices, only one carlot of 18 cattle, 1070 lbs. each, sold at $4.50 per cwt., these being sold by McDonald & Maybee; good butchers' sold at $4 per cwt., and there were few brought this price; medium sold at $3.50 to $3.75; common, $3.25 to $3.40, and there was a large number of these, inferior at $2.75 to $3.

A few lots of short-keep feeders, 1200 to 1300 lbs. each, sold at $4.25 to $4.50 per cwt., some of which had been brought in as exporters. Feeders of good quality, 900 to 1000 lbs. each, of which there was a larger number than for some time, sold at $3.75 to $4 per cwt. Feeders, 800 to 900 lbs. each, sold at $3.25 to $3.50 per cwt.

Stockers of good breeding qualities, 600 to 700 lbs. each, sold at $3 to $3.25 per cwt.; common, ill-bred eastern stockers, 500 lbs. each, sold at $2.00 to $2.75 per cwt.

Good to choice milch cows and springers are in excellent demand, but there are few of this class coming forward. Prices ranged all the way from $28 to $60 each, the bulk of sales being at $35 to $45 each.

Deliveries of veal calves were moderate, and prices were firm at quotations given. Prices ranged from $4 to $5.50 per cwt.

The run of sheep and lambs was large, especially the latter. Prices for sheep were unchanged, while lambs sold at about 25c per cwt lower than on Tuesday. Sheep sold at $3.75, and lambs at $4.50 to $4.75 per cwt.

Deliveries of hogs were fair, about 1600. Prices were easy at Tuesday's quotations, that is $5.37½ for selects, and $5.12½ for lights and fats, fed and watered. There are too many lean stubble hogs being marketed. These are not wanted, and farmers and drovers are shortsighted, when they bring them forward. Why not put them in proper shape, thereby gaining in weight as well as price?

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Sept. 8.—About 200 head of butchers' cattle, 25 calves and 250 sheep and lambs were offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. Trade was very dull, as the butchers had bought nearly all the meat they needed yesterday, and a considerable number of the cattle will be held over for next week's market. There were no prime cattle on the market, and 4c per lb. was about the highest price paid today. Calves sold at from $2.50 to $8 each; shipping sheep are 3½c, and the others 3c to 3¼c per lb.; lambs sold at $3.50 to $4 each; fat hogs sold at $5 to $5.05 per 100 lbs. A lot of five choice grade milch cows from Huntingdon were recently bought for shipment to Quebec at $70 each. They were entered for the Provincial Exhibition.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo N. Y., Sept. 8.—Cattle—Receipts, 100 head; good, steady; common, slow; prime steers, $5.25 to $5.75; shipping, $4.75 to $5.15; butchers', $3.75 to $5; heifers, $3.25 to $4.65; cows, $2.75 to $4.

Veals—Receipts, 250 head; 25c lower, $4.50 to $7.50.

Y. M. C. A. WINTER PLANS FOR BOYS.

Interesting Programme for the Work of the Coming Season.

A Record Year Anticipated at the Y. M. C. A. for Youngsters.

The local Y.M.C.A. have been been planning great doings for the boys of the Association for the coming year and the most successful period of the boys' work yet experienced is anticipated. In view of this a neat prospectus has been issued from which the following items have been taken:—

Boys Will Be Boys.—This is true, and it is just as true that the boys of to-day will be the men of to-morrow.

The opportunities afforded by the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. to the boys of Peterborough are such as will greatly help in making them the best kind of boys—therefore the best kind of men.

Strong Men.—This is a time when the world is calling for strong men—men who are strong all round, that is morally, mentally and physically. This is the kind of men the Association tries to make out of the boys.

Parents.—Looking back over the work that has been accomplished in our Boys' Department, and with our present splendid equipment, and with the high aim we ever have in view, you will be doing your boy the greatest amount of good by securing for him a ticket for the coming year. The fee of $2.50 for all privileges is very low, considerably less than cost. We are putting special thought, extra time and money on our boys' work for this year, and are confident of having great doings for the boys.

Physical Work.—Every boy has an ambition to have a strong body. With our Gymnasium equipment we are able to give the boys just the kind of carefully planned gymnastics as will be most helpful.

Mr. Percy K. Holmes will give special attention to the boys' examinations and prescribe, when necessary, corrective exercises for curvature, round shoulders, weak lungs, or any other physical defect that a boy may have.

Whether in class work, drill, games or competition, his aim is to have the barrels of fun.

A hot and cold shower bath and a plunge in the big swimming pool always follows the gymnasium work. Every boy should know how to swim, so we have planned for a special swimming class.

Tramps and cross country runs will also be one of the good things of the physical work.

Mr. Holmes will be assisted by Mr. Hutchinson, the assistant secretary, and a strong corps of leaders.

Basket Ball.—A basket ball league will be formed and every boy will have a chance to play.

Gymnasium classes open September 13th.

Class schedule.—Junior, Tuesday, 4.15 p.m.; Saturday, 9.15 a.m. Senior, Wednesday, 4.15 p.m.; Saturday, 10.15 p. m.

Dressing Room.—Here is a cheerful piece of news. The large south-west room is being fitted up with lockers—so the boys will have a locker and dressing room of their own.

Ask the boys about the jolly times they had on the rink last year.

We purpose making it larger and better this year, and intend getting started just as soon as John Frost drops the flag.

Play Hockey?—Well, we guess we will. The organizing of a hockey league will be in the hands of a special committee, so you may be sure it will be a go.

Camp.—Of course you have heard about it! The seventh annual camp of 1904 was a bummer." Just ask any boy who was there and he will tell you all about the jolly times on land and lake, the camp fire, moots, songs, and stories, the interesting and profitable after-breakfast Bible study.

The Chute was a huge success, being over forty feet long. And say, did the car go some? Just ask the fellow who lost his hat. Next year it will be made over sixty feet long and much improved in every way.

The eighth annual camp for 1905 promises to be the best yet. Already we are planning for our equipment camp rally.

Camp Rally.—Be on the look-out for the mid-winter camp rally—it will be a red letter event.

Bible Study Rally.—September 11th. Keep an eye on this date. Sunday morning at 10 a. m. we hold our annual Bible study rally. A special programme is being prepared. Mr. T. H. Hutchinson will give an address on the "Importance of Bible Study."

The Bible Classes will commence on the following Sunday morning at the usual hour of ten o'clock. Our Sunday morning Bible study classes of last year were a grand success.

The courses of study are carefully planned and are especially adapted to boys.

Mid-week Rally.—Friday afternoon at 4.30. The meeting will be just the kind a boy will enjoy and look forward to. Sometimes there will be an illustrated talk, an object talk or a song service, or a conference, but there will always be a bright helpful service.

A committee of boys will make arrangements for the programme. Every boy in town over twelve years of age is welcome to this meeting.

Social.—Boys must have chums, the best home on earth cannot satisfy him if he is without boys of his own age. In the association a boy meets the right kind of chums.

"Our Meetin' Place."—It consists of three large rooms. Our big room for religious meetings, concerts and talks, and then our game room and reading room.

These rooms are well lighted and heated, in all, cheerful, and home-like, just the kind of a place to which a boy likes to come.

Reading Room.—Here a chap can close the door and quietly enjoy a regular feast from the best boys' magazines published.

Game Room.—Here you will find games for the noisy boy, games for the quiet boy, and for all grades in between.

We are planning for monthly socials and will have some jolly good times.

Religious.—This is the last feature of the work we mention, and the most important, and the one to which we give the most time and attention.

Boys from the ages of 12 to 17 respond readily to the religious side of their natures, and this is the time to do the best work along this line.

BOARD OF HEALTH MET THIS MORNING.

Resolution Passed Recommending Construction of a Sewer on Barnardo Avenue.

A meeting of the local Board of Health was held this morning in the usual place of meeting. There were present, Messrs. W. Eyres, Dr. Burnham, A. Parker, Dr. McNulty.

In the absence of the chairman, Mr. Eyres was appointed chairman, pro. tem.

The minutes were read and confirmed.

The following report was presented:—

To the Chairman and local Board of Health, of the Town of Peterborough.

Gentlemen,—Your committee appointed to consider the report of Dr. Hodgetts and the letter from Mr. A. B. Owen in regard to the sanitary provisions for the Barnardo Home, beg leave to report as follows:—

We believe that the only satisfactory way to remedy the nuisance complained of is to have the Home connected with the public sewer system. By constructing a sewer on Barnardo avenue, from west side of Gearve street along Barnardo avenue 500 feet more or less to a point opposite the centre of the Public School from the present sewer on George street, the Home could connect with it and it would also serve the Barnardo avenue Public School. We therefore, recommend that steps be taken to have a sewer constructed on Barnardo avenue at least the distance mentioned.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. EYRES.

Upon motion of Dr. Burnham, seconded by Dr. McNulty, it was resolved, that this local Board of Health of the Town of Peterborough, under section 668 b" the Consolidated Municipal Act of 1903, recommend the Council of the Town of Peterborough to construct a sewer on Barnardo avenue from the sewer on George street 500 feet west from George street to a point opposite the centre of the Barnardo avenue public school for the purpose of draining that locality for sanitary purposes, as a local improvement.—Carried.

The Board adjourned.

RODGERS—COURNEYA.

Wedding at Tweed This Week of Local Interest.

A pretty but quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Carthagh's church, Tweed, on Tuesday morning, Aug. 30, when Miss Clem Courneya was united in marriage to Mr. Thomas Rodgers of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Twomey. The bride was beautifully attired in a handsome costume of white organdy, trimmed with all-over lace and insertion, and wore a beautiful picture hat of white chiffon. She carried a bouquet of white carnations. Miss Jennie Quinlan of Madoc, who acted as bridesmaid was similarly attired and also carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. Jos. Courneya, brother of the bride, performed the duties of groomsman. The bride received many beautiful and costly presents. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to the bride's parents, where a dainty breakfast was served at ten o'clock, after which they left on the noon train for Montreal, and returned by Kingston, where they visited Sister Courneya, sister of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers left on Monday for Peterborough, where they will reside in the future. Their many friends join in wishing them happiness and prosperity in their wedded life.—Tweed News.

POLICE COURT.

At the police court this morning an assault case was settled by the defendant agreeing to pay the costs, amounting to $2.75.

Peter Peterson was fined $2 or ten days for being drunk. He could not produce the cash and was taken to jail.

Obituary.

The death of Mr. Robert Bickle, aged 77 years, occurred at Port Hope on Sunday. Mr. Bickle was born in Devonshire, England, in 1827, coming to Canada in 1849, and settling in Cobourg. Two years later he removed to Port Britain, where he carried on a blacksmith business and a wagon establishment. Two years ago he removed to town, where he resided until his death. In addition to his bereaved wife, two sons and one daughter survive him—William in Toronto, Samuel in Peterborough, and Mrs. Shearer. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon from his residence on South street to the Union cemetery. Rev. E. Daniels conducted the funeral service. The pall bearers were: J. Leach, E. A. Powers, F. Chalk, W. Davidson, C. Norris, J. B. White.—Port Hope Times.

The annual exhibition under auspices of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society is being held in the drill shed. The exhibition opened last evening after the prizes had been awarded, and will be continued until this evening. The entry list this year has been much in advance of that of previous years and the exhibition is regarded as a most successful one. Last year there were 164 entries while this year there were 229, a substantial increase. The exhibits have been splendid in every class and it has been a difficult matter in many cases for the judges to come to a decision in making the awards. In every class the quality of the exhibits was first-rate. Among the exhibits worthy special mention was a collection of dahlias owned by Mr. W. J. Francis; a collection of hydrangeas, owned by Mr. B. Cooney; a fuchsia of Mr. C. Wood, and a collection of single petunias, owned by Mr. W. Taylor.

The hall has been very prettily decorated with flags and bunting, and presents a very pleasing appearance. This evening there will be a band concert, and the public is invited to attend and inspect the exhibits.

Following is a list of the prize-winners:

SOMETHING ABOUT THE NEW BUILDING.

New Y. W. C. A. Structure Will be Most Complete in Every Way.

Building Will be Splendidly Equipped—A few Facts About the Interior.

It may be of interest to the public to form some idea as to the nature of the new Y.W.C.A. Building, the corner stone of which was laid last Wednesday afternoon. Judging from the plans and specifications, the building is going to be a beautiful one from an architectural standpoint, substantial in every way and fitted up in a most complete and thorough manner. The accomodation which the work demands will be most adequate, and the work will no doubt flourish under the capable management and with such a thoroughly equipped and convenient building.

The building itself is 120 feet long by 66 feet of a frontage, which is on Simcoe street. There are three stories, exclusive of the basement and attic. The building is divided into two sections. The eastern section, adjoining Aylmer street, will be what is known as the association part of the building, with features such as are seen in the Y.M.C.A. The western section is the boarding house, the entrance to which is gained from the west side, where there is a large verandah. The entrance to the association section is made from Simcoe street. Upon entering the front entrance there is a large hall, to the right of which is the secretary's office, and a private office. To the left is a large reading room, adjoining which is a drawing room, 36 feet by 18 feet. There is also a sitting room. Behind the drawing room are two class rooms. At the rear of the building is a large gymnasium, 60 feet by 33 feet, which will be fitted up with requisite apparatus. Upon entering from the side door there is a large hall leading to several rooms, such as kitchen, wardrobe room, cloak room, wash room, laundry, etc. There are three open fireplaces on the ground floor.

On the second, third and top stories are bed rooms, fifty in all, most of them single, but with a few double ones. There is a clothes closet in connection with each room, and a lavatory on each story.

In the basement on the east side are four large class rooms, and other apartments. Beneath the gymnasium is the bath room, and a room for a swimming tank, which will not be installed until some time after the building is otherwise completed. On the west side of the building in the basement are three class and a large domestic science room.

The building will be heated by steam, and will have a splendid system of ventilation and heating. The ventilation will be done by means of a large electric fan in the attic. There are two registers on each floor which will serve the double purpose of ventilating the rooms in the winter, and drawing off the hot air in the summer. All the rooms will be thoroughly ventilated.

There will be a hoist on each floor to take clothes to the laundry, where there will be installed a special system for drying the clothes.

The floors are all of hard wood, and the walls are very substantial, the inside walls of the first two stories being of brick.

There is practically no wood work about the exterior, the roof being of galvanized iron.

The building will be a most handsome one, and will be one of which the town should have every reason to be proud. It is expected that the work will be completed by February 1st of next year. The work has been delayed considerably so far owing to the fact that the foundation stone was late in arriving. The company furnishing it has many orders to fill and consequently had to delay making the shipment to Peterborough. But the work will be rushed forward with all possible haste, and the association work should be commenced in the new building not later than the end of next January.

The following are the officers of the local society:

President—D. W. Dumble.
1st Vice-President—W. H. Hill.
2nd Vice-President—Col. H. C. Rogers.
Directors — Hon. J. R. Stratton, Jas. English, A. Saunders, F. Wise, H. Nesbitt, T. A. S. Hay, P. Campbell, Dr. Geo. Burnham, Percy Hamilton, R. Gliddon, Adam Hall.
Secretary-Treasurer—H. L. Beal.
Auditors—T. A. S. Hay and A. Stevenson.
Park Committee — W. H. Hill, F. Wise, H. Nesbitt, Adam Hall.

The judge of the present exhibition was Mr. Edward Moxson, florist, of Lindsay, who expressed himself as being highly pleased with the fine quality of the exhibition.

The Exhibition of Oil Paintings which opens on Tuesday next at the Y. M. C. A. comprises among other large canvasses, the following: "Steady," after Landseer; "To Greet the Sunrise," original; "A Storm at Sea" and "Not Guilty."

The Steamer Sovereign Trips.

The steamer Sovereign continues her daily trips between Peterborough and Rice Lake, with this change. On Fridays, instead of leaving at 9 o'clock in the morning, she now leaves at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, from her landing place below the locks, where she connects with the street railway.

RECORD ATTENDANCE AT THE COLLEGIATE.

Two Hundred and Forty Scholars are Attending—Field Day of Sports.

The attendance at the Collegiate Institute this year is a record breaker and already there is a larger number in attendance than in any previous year. This speaks well for the school and the work which the competent staff of six teachers is doing.

There are 240 pupils in attendance at present and this number will likely be increased somewhat next week. Last year the attendance was about 225. There is an average of 50 pupils in each of the three lower forms each of which is crowded. No doubt another successful year's work will result and Peterborough pupils will again be well to the front when the next mid-summer examination results are published.

It has been decided to hold an afternoon of sports either at the end of the month or early in October. This event was in former years an annual one, but during the last two years it has not come off. A splendid programme will be prepared for this year and those desiring to contribute prizes may do so at any time. There will be two silver cups offered for competition the staff cup and the MacDonald trophy. Both are held for one year.

TYPES IN TENTS.

A Local Firm at the Toronto Exhibition

Two novelties, quite unique in their way, and characteristic of the enterprise of the firm, are shown by J. J. Turner & Sons, of Peterborough, in Society Row. The Messrs. Turner are tent makers, but instead of showing like other makers, an everyday tent, they are exhibiting a specially constructed tent for the outdoor treatment of consumption, and a splendidly equipped isolation tent. "Buy a tent and lock your bedroom door," is the advice tendered to all consumptives by a physician of repute, and certainly the taking of such advice with a tent like this would be a pleasure. The isolation tent shown by the firm is of a type specially recommended by the Ontario Board of Health for the isolation of small-pox. Both of these tents are fully provided for in the way of warmth, and freedom from mosquitoes. Storm doors and windows are ready for emergencies, and in the case of the isolation tent, there is an admirable arrangement for heating, and the tent could be safely used for patients with thermometer 20 degrees below zero. Tents for lumbermen, hunters, family summer residences, and all the various purposes for which tents are needed, are manufactured in the best quality by J. J. Turner & Sons.—Toronto News.

BISHOP OPENED TAVERN

INCIDENT THAT RECENTLY CREATED A SENSATION IN NEW YORK.

"The Subway Tavern" Saloon and Bishop Potter Who Opened It—What He Has to Say About the "Four Man's Club"—The Bishop's Career Marked by Extreme Liberality—His Course Criticised.

Next to Broadway probably the most famous street in New York is the Bowery. The Bowery is famous for its saloons. It has a great variety of these institutions, but the most unique of those in its vicinity, and at present the most talked about, is the one called the Subway tavern. One of the reasons why this saloon is in the public eye so much at the present moment is the fact when it was formally opened, a few days ago, a bishop was present and took part in the ceremonies. The bishop was the Right Rev. Henry C. Potter of the diocese of New York.

Since this occasion Bishop Potter has been much censured by many of his ecclesiastical brethern for lending his countenance to any kind of an institution where intoxicating liquors are dispensed. Of course the Subway tavern is not the ordinary kind of saloon, or the bishop would not have been on hand at its opening. The idea of those who have started this saloon in business is to furnish a place which will serve like the ordinary saloon as a "poor man's club," but will not present temptations to excess in drinking, and where everything will be conducted in an orderly manner and in conformity with the law. The plan is to encourage the use of soft drinks and beer rather than strong alcoholic beverages.

No person will be permitted to drink to excess in the Subway tavern, and it is said that since its opening not an intoxicated person has entered or left the place. Earl Grey, who was recently spoken of for Governor-General of Canada, is at the head of a company in England which has taken over many public houses for the purpose of managing them in the interest of temperance. It is claimed for the plan that it has so far worked well in that country. The men who have financed the Subway tavern do not expect any large profits from it, but hope to contribute something to the solution of the temperance problem.

The act of Bishop Potter in being present at a saloon "opening," no matter if it was a "model saloon," has been freely criticised. The idea of a shepherd of the flock giving any sort of approval to a place where intoxicating drinks are on sale, even if the proprietors encourage the use of the milder sort, is too much for most of those who have expressed themselves on Bishop Potter's course. The latter's position is that the attempt to remove the saloon altogether is a hopeless task, and that conditions should be dealt with as they actually are rather than as it may be thought they ought to be. His critics censure him for giving any approval to the sale of beverages which intoxicate. Their position is that prayers and whiskey won't mix and is aptly taken off in a letter published in The New York Evening World, which ran as follows:

To the Editor—Say, Mr. Editor, me and a few masked friends are going to open a safe early some morning next week on Nassau street, and we'd like to open it with the doxology. Can you give us Bishop Potter's address?

One Eyed Mike.

This is not the first time that Bishop Potter has been censured as too liberal. He has given a great deal of thought to how the moral and economic condition of the working classes can be improved and to the question of conflicts between capital and labor. He has often helped to arbitrate labor disputes and has the confidence of the workingmen. One of the societies in the Episcopal Church in New York which have received much of his support and interest is the Church Association For the Advancement of Labor. Several years ago during the heat of the summer, while many of the metropolitan clergy were summering at cool resorts, Bishop Potter transferred the Episcopal residence for a few weeks to Stanton street, in the heart of the slum section, and labored there as a missionary in order to come in closer contact with the people of the tenement district and become better acquainted with their physical and spiritual needs. When he was rector of Grace Church, New York, he transformed it from a comparatively sleepy parish into a great centre of good for the populous district of the metropolis in which it is situated. Bishop Potter's friends hold that, while his judgment may be at fault in taking part in the opening of a saloon, there can be no question of the excellence of his motives.

What Fruit-a-tives are
"Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices in tablet form. They are the laxative, tonic and curative principles of fruit—combined into pleasant tasting pellets. They contain all the virtues of fruit—but by the secret process of making them, their action on the human system is many times intensified.
What "Fruit-a-tives" are for "Fruit-a-tives" are the natural and logical cure for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney Troubles. Their action is that of fresh fruit, only very much surer and more effective. Then too, they are free of fruit acids, sugar and woody fibre which often prevent fresh fruit being beneficial.

Try "Fruit-a-tives" and see how quickly they cure you of Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bilious Headache, Loss of Appetite and Kidney troubles.

THE FARMERS' ASSOCIATION.

Anuual Meeting now Being Held in Toronto.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—The annual convention of the Farmers' Association of Canada opened yesterday in Victoria Hall and will continue this morning at 9 o'clock. The Association does not purpose forming a third political party, but is prepared to deal in a broad way with all questions affecting farmers in legislative matters. President J. Lockie Wilson was in the chair, and delivered his annual address.

The secretary's and auditor's reports were first taken up and over 1,400 members were stated to be in affiliation. Organization work was discussed and the members spoke their views freely. One speaker thought they should not be a party to saw-offs. Papers on co-operation were read, and a number of other subjects were discussed.

Stock Breeders and Fruit Growers.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—Yesterday was Stock Breeders and Fruit Growers Day at the Canadian National Exhibition, and they were there in great numbers. At the directors' luncheon Hon. John Dryden pointed out the strong necessity for a pavilion for judging live stock in such fashion as to permit large crowds to get the benefit. In the course of his speech, Prof. Curley of the Colorado Agricultural College said this was the best exhibition on the continent. The live stock exhibit both in numbers and quality surpassed that of last year, but the fruit was not equal to that mark on this occasion.

Kept Poor by Doctor's Bills.

Many a family is kept poor by doctors' bills when just as good and oftentimes better results could be obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills which sell at 25 cents a box of twenty-five doses. As one pill a day is the most frequent dose under any circumstances there is no treatment obtainable which costs so little and at the same time none which brings about such excellent results in derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels.

Articulation With Cleft Palate.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—The Canadian Dental Association held two interesting sessions yesterday. In the morning a treatise on the preliminary education of the dentist by M. C. Godon of Paris, France, was given. A discussion which was generally participated in followed. The afternoon session was opened with a paper by Dr. Ottolengui of New York, on artificial appliances for cleft palate. S. T. Church, specialist in speech defects, read a paper on the cleft of the palate and the possibility of articulate speech. He held that the widely accepted theory that distinct articulation of speech in the case of a cleft palate is impossible was incorrect. A varied discussion followed and the session was concluded with the passing of a hearty vote of thanks to Drs. Ottolengui and Angle and Mr. Church. The convention concludes to-day.

Little Indian Girl Drowns.

Rat Portage, Sept. 8.—A little Indian girl named Theresa, aged nine years, was drowned here Tuesday night. She was in company with four others in a canoe 15 feet from shore when by some means or other the canoe upset. The remaining four were able to swim.

Dr. Telford Acquitted.

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 7.—Dr. Telford, accused of causing the death of Miss Hattie Bowell, by performing an abortion, was acquitted by Judge Bole yesterday morning on the ground that the case depended largely on circumstantial evidence which was not strong enough to convict, while the expert evidence was considered too weak and of little value. The court room was packed, a large number of prominent residents being within the rail. The verdict was received with loud applause, which could not be stopped by the sheriff. The verdict is popular throughout the city.

Unions For Free Trade.

Leeds, Eng., Sept. 8.—The Trades Congress yesterday adopted by an almost unanimous vote a resolution declaring that any departure from the principles of free trade would be detrimental to the interests of the working classes. Conscription was condemned, and King Edward was described as the only statesman England possessed.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, but by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THE AMIABLE MULE.

A Few Words of Praise For This Much Maligned Animal.

"After a lifetime of close association with the mule," says an old military official, "I have never known him to kick a man, nor have I ever met a man who knew another man of his own knowledge who had been kicked by a mule.

"This is a bold statement, but it is true nevertheless. You can question soldiers of the army everywhere, and I confidently predict that they will bear me out in this. I know I am uprooting a popular belief, but I ask you to stop and think and see if I am not doing our mule friend a deserved justice. Horses' kicks are plenty. Mule kicks are as rare as promotions. Were you ever riding at night on the prairies, far away from comrades and camp, weary, looking for the distant twinkling campfires not to be found? Did you ever at such a time see your mule friend lift his tireless head and blow his resonant trumpet of discovery of the sought for haven? He has not seen it, but he has smelt it, and in a moment is trotting a bee line for the distant picket line and forage ration. Were you ever riding across a dreary, dry, dusty country, thirsty, no water in sight and its whereabouts undiscovered? Throw the bridle loose on the mule's neck and give him his way. He will take you to water as unerringly as a carrier pigeon wings its way to its roost."—Nebraska State Journal.

Cooper and the Poacher.

James Fenimore Cooper, once upon a day, caught a man on his grounds stealing some of his best apples. At the sight of Mr. Cooper the man began to run away. Cooper hailed him, and told him that he was not only doing wrong, but had wronged him, for if a stranger saw people slyly creeping into his grounds to get a few apples or vegetables they would come to the conclusion that he (Cooper) was a miserly, ill natured and niggardly person. If he wanted any such thing he should come in boldly at the front gate, like an honest man, fill his basket and freely receive with the best wishes of an open heart.—Schoolmaster.

His Sole Regret.

"You are not afraid to die, are you?" asked the weeping watcher by the bedside.

"No," whispered the chronic kicker, "but it does worry me to think that I shall soon be with the silent majority when all of my life I have so enjoyed being in the noisy minority."

Relaxation.

Was Cured of Itching Piles
By Using Dr. Chase's Ointment and Hopes Others Will Profit by His Experience.
When you ask for an ointment, the druggist naturally hands you Dr. Chase's Ointment, because it is the standard throughout the world. It is the only cure for piles.
Mr. Thomas Covert, of Highland Grove, Peterborough county, Ont., writes: "For years I was a great sufferer from piles, and sometimes the terrible itching and burning was almost beyond endurance. Though I tried all sorts of remedies I never found a cure until I used Dr. Chase's Ointment. In my opinion this ointment has no equal and I hope others will benefit by my experience."

SOAP BUBBLES.

The Method Newton Adopted In Measuring These Thin Films.

Sir Isaac Newton studied the colored rings in soap bubbles, which appear white at first and then, as the bubble is blown out, brilliant iridescent colors appear in zones around the summit till it becomes black and bursts.

These films Newton succeeded in measuring by their color, producing them by a plano convex lens on plate glass. At the point of contact was a black spot with some six or seven rings of light and dark colors alternately. The thicknesses of the dark rings he found proportional to the numbers 0, 2, 4, 6, and of the bright rings proportional to 1, 3, 5. The thickness of a sky blue film was found to be two-millionths of an inch; of orange red, eight; of violet, eleven; of green, fifteen; of purple, twenty-one, and of yellow, twenty-seven-millionths of an inch.

Messrs. Rucker and Reinold more recently confirmed this by measuring black soap films, which they find average three or four millionths of an inch. This, then, is a measure of the depth of water and the particle of soap which together make up the soap bubble film.

A Pretty Name For a Girl.

"You didn't think of the work we have to do when you christened it," said the Ebbew Vale magistrate's clerk wearily on Saturday when an applicant for a certificate of exemption from vaccination stated that his child's name was Caeretraelbbwyneth.

The Applicant—Can't you spell it?

The Clerk—I may get at it if you give me time. Is it a boy or a girl?

The Applicant—A girl.

"What is the meaning of the name?"

"I will tell you when I have more time."

A Welsh minister in court explained that the literal meaning of the name was "snow lover."—London Mail.

HISTORIC BUILDING SOLD.

Erected in 1824 as the York County Court House—It Will Be Turned Into a Lithographing Establishment.

After being in the market for a decade, a building rich in associations of the early days of Toronto, has, as a result of the great fire, found an owner.

The stone and brick structure situated at the south-west corner of Church and Court streets, occupied latterly as a printing office and a gunsmith's store downstairs, and by half a dozen manufacturing and printing concerns up-stairs, has been sold by the Synod of Toronto to David Smith, who will turn it into a lithographing establishment. The property has a frontage of seventy-six feet on Church street, and a depth on Court street of one hundred and nine feet, including a lane. This building was erected in 1824 as the York County Court House, and did duty as court house till 1852-3, when the Adelaide street building was built. It has been variously occupied since then, as the Ontario Hall, the City Theatre, a hotel, and more recently by numerous mercantile concerns. The interior has been cut up from time to time, but the building is still full of reminders of its court house days. The broad stairway remains and both upstairs and down there are the cells where the evil-doers of York in the old days waited for trial. The property has now been sold for a lump sum of twenty thousand dollars to Mr. Smith, who was formerly a member of the firm of Rolph, Smith & Co., burned out in the big fire. The present tenants are moving out.

Robertson's "Landmarks of Toronto," page 325, Vol. I., says of the old court house: "On the north side of King street, between Church and Toronto streets, was an open piece of ground, afterwards known as the 'Court House Square.' One of the many rivulets of water-courses that traversed the site of York passed through it, flowing in a deep serpentine ravine, a spot to be remembered by the youth of the day, as affording facilities for skating and sliding, and audacious exploits on 'leather ice.' In this open space a jail and a court house of a pretentious character, but of poor architectural style, were erected in 1824. The two buildings are two storeys in height and were exactly alike in architectural. The jail stood facing Toronto street, about forty feet from the east line of the street and nearly a hundred from King street. This site is directly north of Rice Lewis' store. The old Royal Canadian Bank and present York Chambers form part of the old building, and in the cellar of the bank could be seen a few years ago, the inscription written on the wall by prisoners. The court house fronted Church street, and was built forty feet in from the west line of the street and about one hundred from King street."

Mark Twain and Darwin.

Mark Twain tells an interesting story in connection with the late Charles Darwin. He was informed by a friend who was visiting the eminent scientist that he had noticed a copy of "The Innocents Abroad" lying on the great man's table. Darwin requested him on no account to disturb the book as it was his practice to read it night and morning. On the appearance of Darwin's biography Mark Twain hastened to purchase a copy in order to ascertain what reference to himself it might contain. There was, however, no mention whatever of his name, the only possible allusion to him being the statement that Darwin in his old age suffered from some kind of brain paralysis which prevented him from following his ordinary mental pursuits and compelled him to solace himself with "trashy novels and vacuous humor."

Duty Before Pleasure.

Hostess (to new curate)—We seem to be talking of nothing but horses, Mr. Soothem. Are you much of a sportsman? Curate—Really, Lady Betty, I don't think I ought to say that I am. I used to collect butterflies, but I have given up even that now.

"I am well now and enjoying better health than ever before in my whole life."

That is the statement of a woman who had never been well until she was made well by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. There are a great many other women in like case. They have always been sufferers from disease. They have never known the joy of perfect health.

For all such women Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription holds out the prospect of perfect and permanent health, by the cure of the womanly diseases which weaken women. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"It gives me pleasure to let you know of the great benefit received from Dr. Pierce's medicines and the advice which you so kindly gave," writes Mrs. Bertie Parker, of Bonham, Fannin Co., Texas. "I took your 'Favorite Prescription,' 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets,' and followed your advice regarding the 'Lotion Tablets' and am cured. I had been treated by different doctors and spent one hundred dollars for treatment and medicine, but received very little relief. I have only spent seventeen dollars and fifty cents for your medicine and it has cured me in three or four months of ulceration and falling of uterus. I suffered severe misery in my back, also irregular periods. Had bearing-down in lower portion of body and great pain all through my body. Pain in uterus was very severe. Had smothering spells, breath was very short all the time, had pain in stomach, pain in my thighs, pain in breast, also between my shoulders. Bowels constipated. I am well now and enjoying better health than ever before in my whole life. Am happy to tell you that I was cured by your good advice and good medicines, the 'Favorite Prescription,' 'Golden Medical Discovery,' 'Pleasant Pellets' and 'Lotion Tablets.' These medicines cured me and will cure others also."

The dealer who offers a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" does so to gain the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines. His profit is your loss, therefore accept no substitute.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the bowels.

Going for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Don't put yourself in this man's place, but keep a bottle of this remedy in your home. There is nothing so good for Colic, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery and Diarrhoea. It is equally valuable for Summer Complaint and Cholera Infantum and has saved the lives of more children than any other medicine in use. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

You, or some one of your family, are sure to need this remedy sooner or later, and when that time comes you will need it badly; you will need it quickly. Why not buy it now and be prepared for such an emergency? Price, 35 cents.

FEVER HEAT.

The Reason Some Fruits Have the Effect of Cooling the Blood.

In health the temperature of the blood is constant, and even when spots and rashes appear on the skin there is no departure from the normal temperature unless there is a cause for fever, such as blood poisoning, the invasion of some microbe or serious disturbance of the nervous system. In fevers, when the temperature of the blood is raised, vegetables are never given, as they would not cool the blood, but might help to heat it.

Some fruits have cooling properties, as they contain citric acid, and this forms citrates in the blood and increases the perspiration. In serious fevers, however, it is much safer to give measured quantities of citrates to produce this effect than to trust to the uncertain action of fruit.

Fruit and fresh vegetables are antiscorbutics—that is to say, they are apposed to scurvy. The cause of this disease is not clearly understood, but it is certainly due to an absence of these wholesome constituents from the diet. The flushing of the skin, with spots and rashes, popularly called "heating of the blood," is relieved and effete matter is eliminated by their use, hence the popular phrase that they cool the blood.

The Late Alexander Lumsden.

The late millionaire lumberman, Mr. Alexander Lumsden, whose sudden death from heart disease occurred on the 5th August, was born in Ottawa on October 4, 1843. He was one of Ottawa's self-made men. Starting life as an humble mill hand at McLaren's mills, he steadily climbed the ladder of success and became one of the leading lumbermen on the continent. He was one of the pioneer operators in the Temiskaming district, and established a name for himself there. He owned a line of steamers and controlled transportation on the lake. He also controlled a big summer hotel. His wealth is reputed to be in the neighborhood of one million dollars. Besides his lumber interests, he had a financial interest in the C. Ross Co., Ottawa's big departmental store, was a director of the Ottawa Electric Co., the Ottawa Fire Insurance Co., and the Ottawa Land Improvement Co., and other corporations. The late Mr. Lumsden was selected in 1896 to contest Ottawa for the Ontario Legislature in the Liberal interests. The contest was a hot one, but Mr. Lumsden won the poll by over 200 votes. In May, 1902, Mr. Lumsden again ran, but on this occasion he was defeated. Mr. Lumsden was a forcible speaker and a logical debater, and while in the Ontario Legislature his speeches were few, but were marked by a rare beauty of expression and keen logical force, which placed them on a high plane in that Assembly. In describing the resources of new Ontario, with which he was so familiar, his speeches rose to real eloquence. He was a man of forceful personality, and his views would be regarded as unusual by most people. For example, he maintained a lifelong aversion to having his photograph taken.

Finds Some Drawbacks.

"I suppose you enjoy the freedom from care that a fortune brings?"

"Well," answered Mr. Cumrox, "it's good to have money. But if I hadn't got rich I wouldn't have had to study French or learn to pronounce the names of Wagner's operas."—Washington Star.

A Faithful Cat.

My husband had a devoted cat a few years ago that used to meet him at a certain lamppost near the house every evening on his return. She would then escort him home with many manifestations of joy and sit under his chair while he dined, waiting to receive her dinner from his hand.

One winter a business trip took him away from the city for several weeks. Nights of fruitless watching at the lamppost, her trysting place, we called it, were followed by listless days, when she would eat scarcely anything. She would sit under his empty chair at meal times and sniff dejectedly at the most appetizing morsels. At last she seemed to give up hope, or else her weakness prevented her from walking so far, and the lamppost knew her no more. Toward the end of the third week and just a day before my husband returned she died—of grief and starvation.—Cat Journal.

It Was His.

A small boy was telling his mother of a mishap which had occurred to a playmate of his. The youngster, it appeared, had been regaling himself with one of those large, marblelike candies which are a particular delight of childhood, and in a moment of excitement it slipped down and stuck in his throat. But, said the narrator, they succeeded in relieving him.

"Oh," said his mother, "you got it out, did you?"

"Naw," was the impatient answer; "we shoved it down; it was his, wasn't it?"

THE MILK TEST.

How You May Discover if Your Digestion Is Perfect.

Milk is known to be one of the few complete foods. It contains the bone, muscle and fat producing elements and sustains the heat of the body. The milk of different classes of animals (mammals) varies in composition to suit the different requirements; thus mare's milk is richer in sugar, but lacking in protein, compared with cow's milk.

Another fact of interest connected with milk is found in the difficulty with which some persons digest plain milk. It is safe to say that should any organ, secretion or digestive juice fail to perform its free duty the milk consumed will not be properly digested. The reason for this is simple. Milk contains such a variety of compounds that all portions of the digestive system are called into activity for the digestion of these varied elements. The gastric juice attacks the cheesy matter; the pancreatic and intestinal juices digest the sugars and fats. This takes the milk through the stomach and the small intestines into the large intestine. The lower intestine digests wood fiber also. This alone of all the forms of food nutrients is not found in milk. Because of the facts above stated the ability to drink milk is a test of perfect digestion in nearly all cases.—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE PHONOGRAPH.

Its Invention Was the Result of a Cut on the Finger.

An accident—a cut on the finger—caused Edison to invent the phonograph, or talking machine.

Mr. Edison told the story of this invention to a reporter. At the time, he said, he was singing into a telephone, and in the telephone's mouthpiece he had placed, for safe keeping, a fine steel point. Suddenly this point cut his finger. He found, to his surprise, that it had been moving here and there and roundabout, guided by the vibrations of his voice.

He placed a strip of yellow paper under the steel point, replaced it in the mouthpiece and said the alphabet. The steel, while he spoke, ran over the paper, and for each letter of the alphabet it made a different mark or scratch.

This was what Mr. Edison had hoped for. He now held the steel point still and drew the paper scratches slowly over it. There was given forth, very faintly, the alphabet as he had repeated it.

Thus the principle of the phonograph—the registering and the reproduction of the voice's vibrations—was discovered through the cutting of a finger. It was Edison's finger, though, that was cut. Smith's or Brown's might have been quite hacked off and no phonograph would have resulted.

Nose Musicians.

Of the Tagbanoua, a tribe on the long narrow island called Palanwan, in the Philippines, Mr. Landor writes: "Most musicians of other nationalities play wind instruments by applying them to the mouth. The Tagbanoua plays them with his nose! The lantui, a reed flute, has two holes, and one nose piece at one end of the cane, at the joint. The lantui is pressed by the thumb against the left nostril, the right nostril being held tightly closed by the first finger of the hand. The Tagbanoua nose is so flattened at the base and has such expanded nostrils, elongated at the side, that it is especially adapted for this purpose. The Tagbanoua musician can get in this fashion some sweetly pathetic sounds—by far the most melodious sounds I have ever heard from any body's nose, and he is even bold enough to attempt, with success, too, a trill."

A Fussy Nuisance.

Of a prominent lecturer of London an acquaintance says: "On one occasion he was the guest of a friend of mine, a busy Liverpool merchant, and when the popular lecturer returned from the hall he asked for all sorts of impossible dishes and liquid concoctions peculiar to abstainers, a demand which somewhat upset the routine of the household. When in bed his nervous temperament was tried; he could not bear the ticking of the clocks, so he paraded the house in the small hours of the morning and stopped them all. In consequence of this the servants had to be roused by violent bell ringing. But the guest was not to be distressed, so he arose again and ordered the servants back to their rooms and locked them in and then went back to bed."

A Relic of Barbarism.

In ancient times it was the custom of the victors in a battle to decorate their doorposts with the skulls of the vanquished. With the advance of civilization of course we no longer continue this bit of barbarity, but the custom has not been allowed to drop altogether, as is seen by the stone balls which are often set on gateposts, a relic of a barbarous idea of long ago. In certain parts of Africa the skulls are still used as decorations. Whole villages may be seen with the doorposts of the houses surmounted in this grewsome fashion.

LATEST NEWS IN RUGBY CIRCLES.

Big Doings Expected Here This Season—A Few Notes.

In yesterday's issue it was stated that Mr. Wilfrid Shaw, who will turn out with the locals this season, had played the game with the Princeton College team. This was an error as it was the Virginia Polytechnic College team that Mr. Shaw played with.

• • • •

A full practice is called for to-morrow afternoon at Nicholls Oval. This is ideal weather for rugby and the sooner the boys get down to work, the better will be the chances of landing the senior championship which is what we're after with both feet.

• • • •

All the old timers are enthusiastic over the game again this year. Some of them thought of hanging up their shin pads and giving the younger ones a place on the team, but the old reliables who have won many a noble victory will be out again as live and frisky as ever.

• • • •

Capt. Crowley, our star half-back is very optimistic over the prospects of the team in the senior series. The popular captain was one of those who thought of retiring this year, but after Wednesday night's enthusiastic meeting "Bill" jumped into the spirit of the game again and will be seen making some sensational runs and tackles on the gridiron.

• • • •

Rugby should certainly draw large crowds this year with senior teams playing here. The reputation of such teams as the Argonauts of Toronto, and Tigers of Hamilton, both of which have already won the O.R.F.U. senior championships, is widespread and when they clash with the locals there is sure to be a record crowd on hand to see them play. It will be the first time for many years that a senior rugby team has played in Peterborough.

The best year in the history of senior rugby in Ontario is promised this year when it is expected that eight teams will be in the series. This will make two good districts and some fine games will result.

• • • •

If the games are played at the Driving Park, it should prove a good source of revenue to the Street Railway.

• • • •

In another month the season will be in full swing with the pigskin flying all over the land.

• • • •

So far the prospects in the intermediate series do not look any too bright, as two or three of last year's teams have taken a stride upwards.

• • • •

Now that we have decided to play senior, it up to the City League to get busy and give the younger players a chance in the game. These players will be filling the senior kickers' shoes in a few years, and should be encouraged early in the game.

• • • •

President Ularry is busy hunting up the new players in town and he is confident that a winning aggregation will be gathered together. There are several likely looking rugbyists who figured on the teams in the City Association Football League this spring who will be asked to get out and try their hand and feet at the grand old game.

• • • •

A couple of good half-backs are said to be in town and they will be solicited to lend their aid this season. Only one of last year's trio is at present in town, Burnham and Lee being the absentees. Peterborough will have wings galore, but need a few strong defence players.

• • • •

The receipts of the Brockville Rugby Club, which figured in the senior series of the Quebec Union last year were $251.00 and the disbursements $249.94, according to the Secretary-Treasurer's report. The receipts of the local team last year were $404.60 and the disbursements were $402.40.

• • • •

American football coaches will pay special attention to developing punters this year. It is recognized that strong kickers are necessary for a winning team.

• • • •

The London Club will meet to organize on Monday night, Sept. 12. The Free Press says:—"For the past two years London has been practically dead, so far as football has been concerned, and there is no reason why a place the size of London cannot put a team on the field that can give Toronto and other cities a good run for the championship. As the team is only composed of twelve men there should be no trouble in getting together two cracking fine teams to uphold the red, white and black."

• • • •

A juvenile pigskin enthusiast requests publication of the following:

The Sheridan street Rugby team hereby challenges the Charlotte street team. The Charlotte street team are not much good this year; the men they have are not worth a cent. They can't run to save themselves so that the Sheridan street team would have it easy. The Sheridan street team is the best team around; the other teams can't play marbles. The secretary of the Charlotte street team is Mr. F. Dunn; the captain is Mr. M. Dunsford. The captain of the Sheridan street team is Mr. P. Campbell. He can run like a race horse; he puffs like an engine, and he can scrap like a good fellow.

BASEBALL.

Toronto and Rochester split even in a double header yesterday. Bruce won his game and Leary was beaten.

• • • •

The game in the far eastern league is getting interesting, Dennis Kuropatkin seems to be getting on to Jappy Kuroki's curves—at least he is making a home run.

• • • •

Bowmanville, Sept. 8.—A most exciting game of baseball was played on the Agricultural Grounds here this afternoon under the Midland League, between Bowmanville and Lindsay teams, when the latter met a rather bad defeat, the score being 10 to 4 in favour of the home players. Lindsay played best in the early stages of the match. The winners put up a good fight and after the first two innings the visitors failed to cross the plate. Heavy batting at the proper time and the superior pitching of Lumira Hooper were the notable features on the part of the victors. Batteries—Hooper and Weeks for the winners, and McLachlan, Miller and Cinnamon for the Lindsayites. Umpire, John Rosevear of Port Hope. This victory places the Bowmanville team in line for the championship of the Midland League.

• • • •

Marshall, a Galt catcher, is being given a trial by Rochester.

• • • •

Workman, a former Lindsay player, played left field for Rochester on Wednesday and got two hits.

• • • •

Pontypool wants a game with the Charlotte street Guild team for a week from Saturday.

• • • •

The members of the Charlotte street Guild baseball team and officers of the Guild are asked to call at Turner's photograph studio as early as possible to have their photographs taken.

• • • •

The situation in the Trent Valley League is rather interesting. Each of the three teams, Havelock, Campbellford and Marmora have won all their home games and a three-cornered tie now exists.

• • • •

Lindsay got a beautiful trimming yesterday at Bowmanville, to the tune of 11 to 4. The expected victory over Bowmanville did not pan out for several reasons. Bowmanville did not win the game "sailing in a balloon," but waited until they got on the battle ground. The lake town out-batted and out-fielded their opponents at every stage of the game. Hooper had pitched McLaughlin and had the hard-hitting Lindsayites at his mercy. Now it is up to the Post man to say the umpire robbed them of a victory, and that Bill Cinnamon was hit with a stone—or some other lame excuse—when he attempts to make the Lindsay people believe when they get a beaten.

Lindsay will have to come to Peterborough again, and there certainly will be doings when these two teams meet again. The locals are playing the best ball they have played this summer at the present time and they should put it over the Sougog team in good fashion.

Dan McCorry has proven that he can last the nine innings without any trouble and eighteen, if the game should go that far. He has pitched excellent ball since he joined the Peterboroughs, and the boys certainly play the game behind him.

• • • •

"To Fred Whiterfoft,—

"Port Hope team will play in Peterborough, Saturday, 10th, sure.

(Signed) "Blake Crawford,
"President Midland League."

This is what President Crawford sent to the local managers yesterday and a great deal depends on the result of the game.

• • • •

After Lindsay's defeat yesterday it makes the race for the pennant very close. Peterborough has to beat Port Hope here, which will settle the two games, then trim Cobourg and Lindsay and they will be near the top of the ladder.

• • • •

Port Hope will send their best team here on Saturday, but the locals are confident of victory. The boys have practiced hard all week and are now in the best possible shape. The Peterborough team will be Sheridan, Graham, Lamont, Grady, McDonald, J. Pilling, Whitcroft, McCorry, Long.

• • • •

Saturday's game should be the best fought game of the season. The teams played a ten innings tie at Port Hope a week ago and both will exert every effort to win out here.

• • • •

Port Hope has not played here for two years. Turn out on Saturday and see them play in what will be one of the best games of the year.

LACROSSE.

The T.A.S. lacrosse team went to Havelock at noon to-day to play the final game with the team of that place for the championship of the Trent Valley League. The Havelock team has been strengthened and a great game is expected. The team will return this evening about 8 o'clock.

• • • •

The T.A.S. have a lead of six goals over Havelock in to-day's game.

• • • •

The Capitals of Ottawa have been taken back into the fold of the N.A.L.A., and the schedule has been rearranged accordingly.

• • • •

Brantford plays in St. Catharines to-morrow. Victory for the Telephone City team practically clinches the senior championship.

LAWN TENNIS.

Mr. Wallace Wood won the series from Dr. McFall last night in the Athletic Tennis Club Tournament. The scores were 8—6, 7—5 and 6—4. Wood played a steady game and could now give any man in the club a hard struggle.

SPRINTING

The five mile road race between Burns and Payne comes off a week from to-morrow. Both runners are training hard for the contest and a great race is assured. Those who have seen Payne go, think he is all right and he is certain to give Burns a good race.

GOLF.

HOW TO TEACH A GIRL GOLF.

Golf is a popular game in Peterborough and for the benefit of the young men who may have occasion sooner or later to teach a girl to play the game, the following extract from the Ladies' Home Journal is published. It is headed "How to teach a girl Golf.":—

"Select an abandoned links and one that is as secluded as possible from public eye. A links that is in use is not at all the thing for your purpose; other players will interfere with your play and when you are teaching a girl how to play golf there are so many fine points to the game that any interruption is distracting.

Your choice of a girl must be carefully considered. It is a great mistake to suppose that any girl would do. Get one, if possible, about five feet five, with real golden hair, an alabaster complexion, rose-bud lips and eyes with limpid depths—the limpider the better. She should have about a million dollars in her own name and be willing to learn.

It is well to start out with two caddies in the interests of good form. When on the first "tee" give the caddies one dollar apiece and tell them you are going to play slowly and will not need them.

Now stand back upon the teeing ground and make a tee. The amount of sand you need will depend entirely upon the kind of girl you have. Place the ball on the tee, instruct her to address it in all the endearing terms she knows—just for the sake of practice—and then try to send it as far away from a certain shady clump of trees as she can.

After a few trials she will drive the ball just where you told her not to.

The ball is now lost. Leaving your clubs behind you—for henceforth they would only impede your progress—you start out toward the trees to find it in company with the girl. This is important. No matter how many balls are lost during the game, never lose sight of the girl.

Select a spot that is free from sunlight and the vulgar curiosity of a common place world as possible, put your arm around the girl's waist and her head upon your shoulder. Explain to her that this is making an approach. Then leave the rest to the girl."

TURF.

The Central Canada Fair directors announce a pony race in connection with their fair at Ottawa, September 16th to 24th. There are trotting and running events every day and on Tuesday, September 20th the pony race will also be given. First prize is a cup, given by Mr. F. W. Carling, of the Carling Brewing Co., to be won two years in succession to become anybody's property and $50, and second prize is $25. The race is for ponies 13 hands and under, to carry no less than 90 lbs. The distance is 1-4 mile and entrance is free. As there are many ponies in this district, the race will undoubtedly be a keen and interesting one.

TO-DAY'S NEWS ON STOCK MARKET

Features of Market as Told by Special Wires.

The following review of to-day's stock market was received by Messrs. W. F. Dever & Co. ('Phone 414.):—

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 9th.—The weather map this morning showed clear everywhere except in Minnesota and some parts of Manitoba. There was not a drop of rain anywhere in the wheat and corn belt. Rising temperatures northwest as high as 76 at Rapid City. Temperatures west were a little higher except in Ills., fractionally higher in Kansas and Missouri and stationary in Ohio Valley, with indications of fair weather for to-night and Saturday. Market opened fractionally under last night and under fair demand advanced five eighths of a cent, but realizing appeared to overcome the demand at the moment and price declined to about opening figures, but pressure at no time was very pronounced. We believe wheat is now cheaper actual conditions considered, than any time since the Letter deal in 1898, pit "bunco" conditions not excepted. Manipulators apparently are furnishing the press the idea that the market is only a scalping market. We believe natural conditions may take the "scalp" of bear manipulators and not allow them to make average prices as they have succeeded in doing. We believe the spring wheat belt has not grown enough this season to allow the farmer to ship to consuming markets one third as much wheat as either of the past five years. For years these spring wheat growers have sold about three-fourths of their crop, and America has grown nearly one third of the wheat grown. Since July 1, our exports have been about half as large as last year, and out of a reserve and crop we do not believe average home consumption. The money interests may hold down the price a few days, but nature will surely overrule them. Natural conditions are stronger this season than the money power. We advise buying wheat at present prices.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In the matter of the estate of Albert Talbot.

Notice is hereby given that Albert Talbot, of the Town of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, carrying on business as a Broker, at the said town of Peterborough, has made an assignment under R.S.O., 1897, Chapter 147 and amending Acts, of all his estate, credits and effects, to Daniel O'Connell, of the said Town of Peterborough, Barrister-at-law, for the general benefit of his creditors.

A meeting of his creditors will be held at the office of the said Daniel O'Connell, at 184½ Hunter street, in the said Town of Peterborough, on Monday the 19th day of September, 1904, at the hour of three o'clock in the afternoon, to receive a statement of affairs, to appoint inspectors, and for the ordering of affairs of the estate generally.

Creditors are requested to file their claims with the Assignee with the proofs and particulars thereof, required by the said Act, on or before the date of such meeting.

And notice is further given that after the first day of October, 1904, the Assignee will proceed to distribute the assets of the debtor, amongst the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which notice shall then have been given and that he will not be liable for the assets, or any part thereof, so distributed, to any person or persons of whose claims he shall not then have notice.

Dated at Peterborough this 6th day of September, 1904.

TERRIBLE LOSSES BEFORE LIAOYANG

Russians and Japanese Losses Will Total 50,000 in this Engagement.

SUFFERING OF THE RUSSIANS

Troops Without Tents or Shelter Slept in the Mud—Over 12,000 Wounded Passed Through the Hospitals Sunday—One Force of 12,000 Surrounded by Japs.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 10.—It seems to be definitely established that Field Marshal Oyama's tired troops practically abandoned on Wednesday the attempt to head off Gen. Kuropatkin, and the latter's army has arrived safely at Mukden after frightful experiences in floundering through mud and mire over the Mandarin road.

Some descriptions of the scenes along the lines of retreat are almost incredible. They tell how men lay down in the mud and slept in a drenching rain and without shelter. It is evident that the last determined effort of the Japanese to bring Kuropatkin to bay was made on Tuesday, but the Russian commander-in-chief faced about and two corps with artillery beat off the Japanese, while the remainder of the troops continued the march to Mukden.

After that the Japanese could only hang to the flanks and try and shell the retreating columns from the hills.

Losses Will Total 50,000.

The outposts are still in contact, but they are not even exchanging shots. A late Associated Press despatch sent last night from Mukden describes the horrible plight of the tentless and shelterless soldiers.

The detailed statement of Russian losses, which it is promised will be issued Saturday, is awaited with intense interest. The general expectation is that the losses will approximate 20,000, as against 30,000 for the Japanese. The work of burying the dead was left to the Japanese.

The care of the wounded has taxed the hospitals to the utmost. One correspondent says that 12,000 wounded had passed through the Mukden hospitals until Sunday, and only the most severe cases could be attended to by the nurses and surgeons. Many, therefore, had to be left to the care of their comrades.

Heavy Rain at Mukden.

Mukden, Sept. 10.—Last evening around Mukden, has occurred the greatest downpour of rain of the whole campaign, and with it a terrifying accompaniment of thunder and lightning. There has been the greatest difficulty in preventing the cavalry stampeding by the double guards, and all the horse lines have been tied. The men are scarcely able to keep their feet around the moving horses, and are singing and talking to quiet them.

All the lower ground is under water, and Chinese boats from the Hun River are navigating many of the roads and some of the streets. This makes little difference to the men, who are under canvas, but all others are soaked to the skin, and are sleeping, exhausted, in mud and water, indifferent to the weather, if they can snatch much needed rest.

The rain has checked the movements of the Japanese eastern and southern armies; in fact, quiet reigns over the whole front.

One Russian Force Surrounded.

London, Sept. 10.—The Daily Express claims to have trustworthy information that the Russian army is divided into five columns.

The first has reached Tie Pass, forty miles north of Mukden, and is preparing to defend that place against the Japanese.

The second is between Mukden and Tie Pass.

The third is at Mukden.

The fourth, consisting of 80,000, under Gen. Meyndorff, is holding Gen. Kuroki in check by hard fighting, twelve miles south of Mukden.

The fifth, of about 12,000 men, is farther south, exhausted by incessant fighting, and is surrounded on three sides by the Japanese, its position being one of extreme danger from which it can hardly hope to escape. "Everything now depends," says the paper, "on Meyndorff's ability to hold Kuroki in check, which so far has been successfully done."

Russian Army Demoralized.

Shanghai, Sept. 10.—A special messenger of the Tartar general, at Mukden, who escaped from that city through the cordon of Russian outposts, reports, according to advices received here, that the Russian army is utterly confused and demoralized, especially the remains of the two Russian army corps which recently joined General Kuropatkin's forces.

Russians Desert.

New York, Sept. 10.—The Tokio correspondent of The Times says, under date of Sept. 8: Non-official news suggests that the garrison at Port Arthur is much disheartened. The ships in the harbor have ceased seriously to oppose the Japanese reconnoitering vessels which have thus been enabled to ascertain that the battleship Sevastopol is in a crippled condition, while others are more or less damaged. The number of soldiers surrendering increases.

Safe at Mukden.

London, Sept. 10.—Despatches from various sources yesterday establish only the fact that the Russian army is safely at Mukden, Kuropatkin having accomplished his retreat in good order, in spite of the harassing Japanese, sodden roads, and hampered by more than 12,000 wounded.

No Fight Sept. 8.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 10.—Lieut.-Gen. Sakharoff telegraphs that there was no fighting during Sept. 8.

Losses Placed at 50,000.

Mukden, Sept. 10.—A correspondent of the Associated Press, who has just returned to Mukden with the Russian rear-guard, after having accompanied the army the whole time since the battle of Liaoyang, says the losses on both sides were enormous. As a moderate estimate, he places them at 50,000. He confirms the reports that the fighting at Liaoyang was very heavy.

Russians Killed Women.

Tokio, Sept. 10.—A private telegram received here says that a small Russian expedition from Kamchatka visited Serishu Island, north of the Island of Hokaido, and in the absence of the men killed the women and children and burned the houses. Official confirmation is lacking in regard to this report, which seems incredible.

Alexieff May Be Wrong.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 10.—A despatch has been received from Viceroy Alexieff, announcing that the railroad and telegraph line between Mukden and Harbin are both uninterrupted.

One of 50 Deserters.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., Sept. 10.—Three Russian deserters arrived here yesterday without funds or passports and were sent back to Canada. Several others who entered here and who are now working as farm hands came well supplied with money. One Russian, who is still wearing a part of his army uniform, said he deserted with an entire outpost of fifty men.

Revolt Against the Russians.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 10.—Intense activity is being displayed by anti-Russian revolutionary organizations abroad, which have united in an effort to appeal to all the discontented classes in Russia. Incendiary proclamations have been smuggled across the border and distributed broadcast especially in Polish and Jewish centres, calling upon the population to take advantage of the Government's pre-occupation, owing to the war, to overthrow the autocracy.

Such propaganda in Russia always results in an increase of violence. The proclamations are addressed to the Jews in particular, but the appeals are made to all the heterodox sects, workmen and Socialists. Special appeals are made to the soldiers and peasants.

Many of the proclamations have been seized, and it is proved that they have been printed in London. Until now they have met with little response in Russia proper, but there have been several manifestations in various parts of Southwestern Russia, where the population is largely Jewish. The largest demonstration, it is understood, took place at Grodonow, Poland, where 500 persons have participated.

The Ministry of the Interior seemingly does not attach great importance to the matter.

OTHER WORLDS TO CONQUER.

Japanese Have Covetous Eyes Upon Northern Part of Australia.

London, Sept. 10.—(C. A. P.)—Major-General Hutton, speaking at a banquet at Perth, Western Australia, said a Japanese admiral had told him the people of Japan and China were casting longing eyes on the rich northern territory of the Commonwealth.

The menace to Australia of the rising power of Japan has already been emphasized by Goldwin Smith in recent articles on the eastern situation. It is his opinion that British supremacy in the east and the Commonwealth itself will have to face Japan, fired with the Imperialistic idea.

Bryce in the U.S.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 10.—The Right Hon. James Bryce, author and member of the English Parliament, accompanied by Mrs. Bryce, reached here yesterday on the Cunard Line steamer Saxonia, from Liverpool. They will be guests of Percival Lowell of the Institute of Technology, before going to St. Louis to attend the Educational Congress, before which Mr. Bryce is to deliver a lecture. Returning here from St. Louis, Mr. Bryce will deliver a course of lectures at Harvard. His plans to stay in this country until after the Presidential election, of which he means to make a study. It is said he will gather material during the political campaign for a new work, to be written upon his return home.

Ran Into Herd of Cattle.

Harriston, Sept. 10.—Thursday night at 7.45 a C.P.R. westbound freight, while running at high speed, ran into a herd of cattle at a road crossing eight miles west of here, killing and throwing them in all directions. The engine was turned over into the ditch. Driver MacInerny was badly cut about the head and otherwise injured, and Fireman Newman had his left leg broken at the ankle.

Boy's Burns Fatal.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—"Norfie" Carter, the three-year-old son of Edwin Carter of Riverdale Park, died in the Sick Children's Hospital last night from burns received in the morning.

His mother was startled to hear screams from the kitchen and found the little fellow enveloped in flames. She smothered the fire with a rug, but prompt medical aid proved unavailing.

Scaffold Broke.

Woodstock, Sept. 10.—Yesterday morning three men working on the Pascoe House on a scaffold about 12 feet off the ground, putting a stone cap on a window, fell to the ground and the stone came down with them. A. Holsworth had three ribs broken and the other two got off with a few bad bruises.

Deserter Arrested.

Windsor, Sept. 10.—Pte. Joseph Swamley, a deserter from Wolseley Barracks, London, was arrested at Harrow Thursday night on a charge of horse-stealing. The prisoner admits the theft of five horses and buggies in Western Ontario. He says his home is in Stratford.

Town Wiped Out By Fire.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 10.—The Town of Warren, Idaho, has been wiped out by fire. Loss $100,000.

A DISTINGUISHED FRIEND.

Count Leo Tolstoi a Member of the Toronto Association.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—Count Leo Tolstoi, the great Russian philosopher, philanthropist and literary man, is a member of the Friends' Association of Toronto. This interesting fact was communicated to the members by President W. Greenwood Brown at the regular meeting of the association last night.

Count Tolstoi signified his desire to become a member some two or three months ago in an autograph letter to Mr. Brown. In reply to that gentleman's notification of the aims and objects of the association. The fact was not made public during the recent conference, though the local members had been made aware of the fact.

The announcement of Andrew Carnegie's membership and substantial interest has already been made. An effort will be made to procure his attendance at the great peace meeting to be held on Oct. 18 in Toronto. The Premier, Hon. G. W. Ross, has granted the use of the Normal School for the occasion, and a delegation of English and American speakers from the Boston meeting of Oct. 3 will be present, it being intended that the local meeting will be an extension of, the Boston one.

The Premier has stipulated that the meeting shall be non-sectarian, non-partisan, and not anti-British, and it is possible that his honor the Lieutenant-Governor will preside.

Train Went Through Trestle.

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 10.—Seven persons were killed and many injured in a wreck on the Southern Air Line at Catawba Junction, S. C., early yesterday. Passenger train No. 41, from Portsmouth to Atlanta, five cars and a sleeper, went through a high trestle over a small stream. An extra freight train, following the passenger, piled in on top of the wreck ago a few minutes later.

Must Tell Source of Money.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—At Osgoode Hall yesterday, Justice Maclaren granted an order compelling C. N. Smith, M.P.P. for Sault Ste. Marie, to appear and give an account of where $500 he admitted giving his financial agent came from. On his examination for discovery he remained silent when asked if the money was his own or if it came from Toronto Liberals.

More Bribery Charges.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—On behalf of George M. Boyd, the defeated candidate in North Grey, additional charges were filed yesterday against the election of A. G. McKay. Several persons are alleged to have been corruptly influenced, and a number of hotel-keepers are said to have provided drink and refreshment for voters. The trial opens at Owen Sound on Tuesday next.

Put Rock on Track.

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—Arthur Miller, aged 16, of Mechanicsville, has been arrested, charged with placing a rock on the C.P.R. track at Britannia, with the object of wrecking the Toronto express. The obstruction was removed in time to avoid trouble. The lad pleaded not guilty and was remanded until Tuesday.

To Join the Arctic.

St. John's Nfld., Sept. 10.—A party of ten Newfoundland seamen, engaged for three years to assist in navigating the Canadian cruiser Arctic, formerly the German steamer Gauss, in Hudson Bay, left here yesterday to join that vessel at Quebec. The Canadian plans for this expedition are likely to be seriously disarranged. The Arctic should meet at Port Burwell, Sept. 15, the steamer Neptune, which is already in Hudson Bay, but it is not likely that she will reach there before two weeks from that date.

The King Buys Cows.

London, Sept. 10.—The King and the Premier bought Shorthorns by proxy Thursday at the sale of George Harrison, a well known breeder of Gainford, near Darlington. Village Queen, a five-year-old roan cow, was purchased for the King for 110 guineas, while on behalf of Mr. Balfour 105 guineas were given for Ascot Lassie, a two-year-old cow of the same color.

Fire Loss Over $1,000,000.

Progresso, Mex., Sept. 10.—The fierce fire which broke out here Thursday raged unchecked all day yesterday. It wiped out an entire block of business houses occupied by firms engaged in the general merchandise business. The loss is estimated at $1,000,000, with but little insurance. The burned territory consists of the square two blocks south of the waterfront and facing one of the principal plazas directly opposite the custom house.

Crew Abandoned Ship.

Chatham, Mass., Sept. 10.—The life-saving crews of the Monomoy and Monomoy Point stations, after a hard struggle with the elements yesterday succeeded in saving the lives of Capt. Thorne, and the crew of four men of the British schooner Fraulein, which was abandoned in a waterlogged condition off Pollock Rip. The vessel is thought to be a total loss.

Yankees Fining Britishers.

Boston, Sept. 10.—A fine of $15,000 has been imposed on the Royal Exchange Assurance of London, in transacting business in this Commonwealth, for violating the State laws. A fine of $200 also has been levied on Robert G. Fairfield, the Massachusetts agent of the company.

Yukon Mail Service.

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—The Postoffice Department has issued an order stating that winter regulations regarding the mail service go into effect in the Yukon, north of White Horse, on Oct. 1. The last boat for the north conveying all classes of mail matter leaves Vancouver on Oct. 1.

Charged With Grave Offence.

Niagara Falls, Sept. 10.—A colored man named William Britton, employed in the tunnel works, is under arrest charged with criminal assault upon a little girl of seven years old. He will be tried this morning. He used to live in Toronto.

Loses Both Feet.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—John O'Connor of Montreal had both feet amputated at the Emergency yesterday. In jumping from a box car he fell and several cars passed over his legs.

Officials Insist That His Action Amounts to Abdication—Col. Younghusband Closed the Proceedings With a Short Speech—Preparations Are Now Complete For Return of the British Mission.

Lhassa, Sept. 10.—Col. Younghusband, head of the British mission, and the Thibetan officials signed a formal treaty yesterday in the apartments of the Dalai Lama at Potala. The ceremony was simple and was conducted amid quaint and picturesque surroundings.

The terms of the treaty were read out, only in the Thibetan language, and its details will be published lat-

MR. BORDEN WINS THANKS

London Leader Quotes Him Against Mr. Chamberlain.

IT IS "WROTE" SARCASTIC

Conservative Leader's Outspoken Frankness on Tariff Issue Is Hardly Mr. Chamberlain's Picture of "A Self-Sacrificing Colony"—Mr. Lucy Says Mr. Smith's Book on Gladstone Is Disappointing.

London, Sept. 10.—(C. A. P.)—Referring to Mr. Borden's saying that Canada should protect her own industries by tariff against those of Britain and prefer the British to those of all other nations, The Morning Leader says this, then, is the real "offer." Mr. Borden, it must be owned, deserves cordial thanks for his outspoken frankness, but it is hardly Chamberlain's picture of a self-sacrificing colony which "will not start industries to compete with those of the Mother Country."

Inter-Parliamentary Union Arrives.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 10.—The Inter-Parliamentary Union, composed of 226 delegates from America, Austria, Belgium, Denmark, England, France, Germany, Hungary, Italy, The Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Roumania, Sweden and Switzerland, arrived here yesterday and next week will hold its twelfth annual session.

Britain and Newfoundland.

London, Sept. 10.—(C. A. P.)—Arrangements have been made to exchange postal orders between Great Britain and Newfoundland. The arrangements come into operation on the 14th inst.

Dr. Goldwin Smith's Book.

London, Sept. 10.—(C.A.P.)—H. W. Lucy in The Daily Express, writing on Professor Goldwin Smith's "My Memory of Gladstone," says it is a disappointing book. This is possibly due to the fact that much is expected from its author. The volume contains only one original contribution to the history of Mr. Gladstone. Goldwin Smith says that Gladstone wrote to him suggesting that if the Northern States thought fit to let the south go they might in time be indemnified by union with Canada. Mr. Lucy says this is amazing and almost incredible. The disclosure illustrates the state of public opinion with respect to the colonies which existed in this country forty years ago.

Going to Australia.

London, Sept. 10.—(C. A. P.)—The Agent-General for the colony of Victoria left via Canada for Australia.

Discussion Premature.

London, Sept. 10.—Wiring in reply to the C. A. P. request for a statement re the duty on flour, Mr. Chamberlain says discussion is premature; the question must be settled by a conference when summoned.

Review Day.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—Yesterday was Review Day at the Canadian National Exhibition, and the attendance was over 60,000. The great feature of the day was the parade of prize animals around the race-track in front of the grand stand. It was a combined exhibit that caused the Canadian breast to swell in triumph and could not be surpassed anywhere. "General Principles of Orchard Management" was the title of an excellent lecture in the Dairy Building by Prof. Hutt, O.C.A. At the directors' luncheon the discussion was entirely devoted to the dairy interests, and among the speakers was that veteran dairyman, Hon. Thomas Ballantyne. To-day will be School Children's Day, with Monday as Get-Away Day.

Stupidity in children is most often stupidity in choosing their food

White-flour bread, butter and sugar is often thoughtlessly given to children. This trio alone could not support life for three months. They contain practically no element in them which will build muscle, bone, brain, flesh or tissue. The elements which they contain are necessary in food only for the heat and fat they produce. The body cannot live without the nourishment of all its elements, all of which an Infinite Wisdom has placed in exactly right proportions in a single grain of wheat.

Give your children and nourish every element in their bodies. They contain every part of the wheat—nothing is added and nothing is taken away. Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit and Triscuit are the foods that make happy, bright, healthy children.

APPRECIATED PRAISE.

Speaking to an interviewer in Montreal, Hon. Elihu Root, ex-Secretary of War in President Roosevelt's Cabinet, spoke freely and frankly of Canada's resources and possibilities. In answer to a question as to what he thought of Canada and its future he said:—

"What do I think of Canada and its future? It is a great country, and must grow. We in the States are anxious to see it grow, for prosperity for Canada means added prosperity for us. Its resources are wonderful, and practically without a limit, so I can't see where its prosperity should be limited in any sense. As for the American invasion of Canada, I don't wonder at it, for Americans are usually quick to grasp an opportunity, and in Canada they see a great one. It ought to be a good thing for you, too, for you need the people and the money here to develop your country, and we can furnish both. No, it certainly does not mean that Canada is a better country than ours. I am not unpatriotic enough to say that, but you have an advantage over us in that your country is younger, and a young country always offers opportunities for young men. Canada is, to my mind, a country for young men, and, mind you, when I say that, I don't mean that we are we old ourselves or that we are in the least stage of decay in the States. We are more developed than you and became we have the start over you. Eventually Canada will become just as prosperous and just as powerful as the United States."

Canadians should set a high value upon such testimony, for Mr. Root is a man of large intelligence and political insight, and for a prominent American politician to say on the eve of a Presidental election, such kind things of Canada argues a good deal for the depths of his impressions and the strength of his convictions. "Praise from Sir Hubert is praise indeed," especially when the Sir Hubert is a prominent American politician and the object of his praise is a foreign country and that country Canada.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Keep both hands on the Liberal Government.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway commission is about to send out twenty-seven surveying parties—and yet the Conservative papers say the eastern division will never be built.

The Ontario Municipal Association has declared its approval of the control by the Dominion Government of the long distance telephone. Such an arrangement would interest the public as it places competing local telephone systems on a level; each would then be able to provide long distance connections.

Messrs. Guest, Keen and Nettlefolds, iron manufacturers of Birmingham, report having made a year's profit of £404,012, which enabled them to pay five per cent. on preferred shares, ten per cent. on common shares, and carry £150,000 to reserve. Free trade as they have it in England, seems to ruin the British manufacturer in a very pleasant way.

Robert Beith, M. P., has come away from the biggest World's Fair ever held, that at St. Louis, bringing with him three first prizes for his hackney horses. Mr. Beith's pluck, says "Events," in going to St. Louis with a bunch of horses at considerable inconvenience and very great expense must elicit admiration, and we trust that the satisfaction which he must feel at his unique and unqualified success will be sufficient reward for the effort. What Mr. Beith does not know about horses is very difficult to find out." The proverb says that all the world loves a lover, and it is no stretch of fancy to vary the saying to everybody loves a horse lover, which must account for a good deal of Mr. Beith's popularity in West Durham, which he so worthily represents.

MORE HYPOCRISY.

Here is a very explicit statement from the Montreal Star of what the high-protection-Imperial-preference men propose to give England in return for a tax on her food supply that will let her give a preference to Canadian wheat:

"Adequate protection for Canadian woollens does not mean that there could be no preference to the British manufacturer. All of the home market which the British manufacturer who lives in Canada could not fill, could be given by a preferential tariff to the British manufacturer who lives in the British Isles. And no one proposes that the latter should be given anything more. A woollen manufacturer, who is being quoted as saying that he is against all preference, must have been misunderstood. He could not be against a fair preference which would leave him with adequate protection in his own market, but would divert any other Canadian trade to his fellow British manufacturers in the United Kingdom."

In other words, all Canadian industries are to be protected up to the hilt, but if English manufacturers can make anything not made in Canada they are to be given a preference on it. The things the Englishman most wants to sell here are woollens, cottons and iron, but from selling them he is to be debarred.

To pretend that this would be a preference is "adding hypocrisy to folly."—Montreal Herald.

The steamer Wyoming, which got aground outside the Midland harbour, has been released.

For Wee Folk as well as Big Ones.

"Grown Ups" have no monopoly on

Mooney's Perfection Cream Sodas

Children take to these delicious crackers like they do to bon-bons. There's an appetizing crispness—an inviting deliciousness about them that is simply irresistible.

Wholesome and nutritious, too. Just the food for little ones to make them grow. At your grocer's—in the moisture-proof boxes.

DISCREET SILENCE.

(The Weekly Farmers' Sun.)

One of several secretaries of the Manufacturers' Association, Mr. Cooper, says imported woollens must be taxed above a third of their worth in order to restore the trade to Canadian mills. Would the increased tax restore the quality at once in all our woollens? Mr. Cooper is mum on that point. Well, he may be. Here and in the States makers of counterfeit cloth have a picnic every time the woollen duties are raised. To check the swindle General Grosvenor brought in a bill at Washington for labelling shoddy goods. He stated and was not contradicted then or since, that cities are raked, and cast off clothing, and dirty, and perhaps disease-bearing rags, are gathered in to be chopped and mixed with more or less wool and turned into cloth. Though backed by leading politicians on both sides, the Grosvenor bill, torpedoed by the manufacturers' lobby, went under. A demand is springing up in Canada for a similar measure. In all our towns and villages Canadian shoddy-made suits are sold as woollen clothes, and the victims are those who can least afford to be cheated — farmers, mechanics and their families. On this shoddy and tariff-favoured fraud Mr. Cooper is silent.

And we are not surprised.

ONTARIO CAPABLE OF SUSTAINING 10,000,000 PEOPLE.

The amount of arable land in Japan, exclusive of Formosa, is a little less than 15,000,000 acres. This is about 2,000,000 acres in excess of the area of cleared land in Ontario. Still, Japan before the outbreak of the present war, was able to feed a population of 40,000,000 from this small area and the harvest of the sea.

We can hardly expect to accomplish similar results in Ontario. In Japan practically all the labour is done by hand, the farms being so small that a horse would be out of place on them. Our people would not consent to toil under similar conditions. At the same time what Japan has accomplished is an indication of how much more we might accomplish in Ontario in the maintenance of population. There should be ample room for at least 10,000,000 people in this province.—Weekly Sun.

SWISS AGRICULTURAL SCHOOLS

Prof. W. J. Kennedy, one of the old O.A.C. boys, who is special agent of United States Department of Agriculture, writes thus regarding the farm schools of Switzerland: "In thirteen different cantons there are middle agricultural schools (corresponding to Ontario High Schools, save that agriculture is the chief subject.) Eight of these are in session only during the winter months, while the other five are conducted throughout the year. These schools are not supported by the national Government, but by the canton in which they are located. Students from other cantons are admitted, but they must pay tuition fees. They act as stepping stones between the Public Schools and the National Agricultural College at Zurich, or they are sometimes called 'feeders' to the National College. These middle schools teach all elementary branches of the sciences related to agriculture, in addition to the more strictly technical subjects. In animal husbandry, for instance, a considerable time is spent in judging and describing the different types and breeds of animals. They are required to know the desirable points of horses, cattle, sheep, and swine. In addition to this, they are taught by the use of animals and plaster-of-paris casts representing the different shapes, colours, and markings of the various breeds of animals the principal points of difference to be observed in each of the different breeds. The same thing is followed in the other lines of agriculture. Two and a half years of this work prepares them for the National College. This is an excellent system and could be adopted to good advantage by our people."

THAT HOPE OF REWARD.

Written on the fly leaf of a certain Bible that I know are these two verses:—

"For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

These two passages from the Scriptures are justly counted among the most precious of the most brilliant jewels to be found in that mine of wealth to the believer.

The first embodies the essence of the wonderful and beautiful plan of salvation for the sinner, the amazing sacrifice made unconditionally, except this only, that he believe in Him who offers the priceless gift.

The second is the definite promise of a reward for simply being faithful, and what a reward! The hope of receiving a reward of some kind is the inspiration which nerves men to the undertaking of most difficult tasks, and sustains them among the trials and obstacles which are encountered during the strife towards success; it is true in any field of human endeavour, for what man ever undertook an enterprise in which he felt confident of failure?

But faithfulness to the object to be attained, and to the best methods to be employed, is the prime factor in the question of success. Faithfulness is the one supreme condition upon which the employe gains the approbation, and the best pecuniary compensation from his employer; it is that upon which the employe actually bases his hope of reward; it is the one foundamental consideration of service which the employer has an undisputed right to expect from the employee. Untiring devotion to the interests of the employer, unfortunately, is not always appreciated for adequately rewarded in human estimation; but the imperishable principle of right is still there, and cannot be disturbed by the crafty, the selfish, and the unjust.

The satisfaction of a duty faithfully and conscientiously performed is in many cases its only reward, but all human thoughts are not as God's thoughts, nor human ways as His ways. The advantage in dealing with Him is that we are not in contest with the cold selfishness, the deceit, and the unscrupulousness of the world. We are now considering relations with a merciful, a loving, and undeviatingly just Being, that Divine Being Who said, I would not that any perish; that glorious Being whose hand is seen in the golden genial summer sunshine which bathes the world in a soft flood of life-giving warmth, as well as in the majesty of the tempest, and the sparkling frost of winter; who fashioned the gorgeous beauty of a Marechal orchid, or an American Beauty, that gave form and loveliness to so exquisite a thing as the Lily of the Valley, and the frail "Windflower" the orchid that seems like nothing so much as the very breath of infinite tenderness.

It is such a one who says, "Be thou faithful unto death;" the words that uphold us and encourage us amid all the black discouragements of human failures, and when confronted by seemingly incurable obstacles and difficulties in the path of life; when the cloud's silver lining is obscured for so many weary days, weeks, and months; when treacherous friends and failing plans have well nigh destroyed hope; when temptations assail us and the easier paths are pointed out by the utter collapse of our temple of faith.

Then it is that the glowing words stand out in their luminous beauty and comfort, spoken by Him who is omnipotent, over all blessed for evermore: "Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee"—what? a position of trust and honour in your community? a fat bank account with a train of applauding sycophants? Political preferment? Would these alone of themselves content you? Perhaps temporarily. But the wounded soul, the despondent world-sick sinner, with the ashes of dead sea fruit upon his lips, craves something else, something that promises rest and peace. It is the supreme reward that is offered: be thou faithful to me, faithful in your service, faithful to the simple duties of a loyal child, o a loving father "and I will give thee a Crown of life." It is His to give, it is also ours to win.—John McClelland Bulkley.

WARSAW NEWS.

Excursion of the Warsaw L. O. L., No. 264, was a Great Success.

A Warsaw correspondent writes as follows:—

The annual excursion of the Warsaw L.O.L. No. 264 was enjoyed by a large number of pleasure seekers on Tuesday, September 6th. The excursionists were from Belleville, Peterborough, Norwood, Lakefield, and the Townships of Smith, Dummer, and Douro. The splendid commodious and new steamer Stony Lake, was chartered for the day. The boat left Lakefield at 7 o'clock, McCracken's Landing at 9.15, arriving at Bobcaygeon at 1.45 p.m. The sail up the lakes and through the locks was highly appreciated by all on board. The young folks and some of the older ones too, kept time to the excellent music furnished by Professors S. Miller, J. Middleton and B. Douglas. A slight delay was experienced at Ledvesick, on account of some rocks in the channel that ought not to be in such an important waterway as our Trent Valley Canal is to be in the future. On arrival at Bobcaygeon some friends were waiting at the wharf who had driven from a distance to meet those they expected to be on board the boat; after the exchange of greetings the boat was soon deserted and all wended their way through the village and spent about two hours taking in the sights. We congratulate Bobcaygeon in the good fortune they have had in securing railway service to the place.

The return trip was made in a shorter time, leaving Bobcaygeon at 3.25 and arriving at McCracken's Landing at about 7.30 where part of the passengers landed, all in good humour although some of them had eight, ten and more miles to drive home and do some milking after they would get home. After more farewell greetings, those remaining on board left for Young's Point and Lakefield, all satisfied that they had if not the best, one of the best outings of the season.

The excursion committee desire to convey their sincere thanks to our brethren and friends for the liberal patronage extended to us, which was the means of making the excursion financially a complete success.

IN MEMORY.

Of the Late Patrick J. Heffernan Who Died August 9th 1904.

One precious to our hearts has gone,
The voice we loved is stilled,
The place made vacant in our home
Can never more be filled.
Our Father in His wisdom called,
The boon He love had given,
And though on earth his body lies,
His soul is safe in Heaven.

Farewell, brother; farewell, brother;
Peaceful by thy silent rest,
Slumber sweetly, God knew best
When to call thee home to rest.
Farewell, brother; farewell, brother;
We must say our last farewell,
Till we meet beyond the river,
Happy there with thee to dwell.

Through all pain at times he'd smile
A smile of Heavenly birth,
And when the angels called him home,
He smiled farewell to earth.
Heaven retaineth now our treasure,
Earth the lonely casket keeps,
And the sunbeams long to linger,
Where our sainted brother sleeps.

Dearest brother, thou hast left us,
And our loss we deeply feel,
But 'tis God who has bereft us,—
He can all our sorrows heal.
Yet again we hope to meet thee,
When the day of life is fled,
And in Heaven with joy to greet thee,
Where no farewell tears are shed.

Peaceful be thy silent slumber,
Peaceful in thy grave so low
Thou no more will join our number
Thou no more our sorrows know.
'Tis hard to break the tender cord,
When love has bound the heart;
'Tis hard, so hard, to speak the words,
"We must forever part."

Loving friends, weep not for me,
I long to be at rest;
How happy, happy, I shall be
When pillowed on my Saviour's breast.
Oh, the hope, the hope 'd sweet
That we soon in Heaven may meet,
There we all shall happy be—
Rest, from pain and sorrow free.

—His loving sister, Julia.

Paralyzed By Fall.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—A. Coyne, 15 Wood street, a painter, employed by the Polson Iron Works, while working on a scaffold, fell 20 feet to the ground, lighting on his shoulders. He was removed in the ambulance to Grace Hospital, where it was found that the shock had caused paralysis.

MUNYON'S WITCH HAZEL SOAP

Best for the HAIR

I wish those who value a good head of hair to shampoo their heads with my Witch Hazel Soap. It will positively cure the worst cases of dandruff and all scalp diseases. It gives new life and vigor to the scalp and has a tendency to produce a glossy and beautiful growth of hair. For the complexion it is the best soap made. It makes the skin soft as velvet. For baby it has no equal. Cures eruptions, allays itching and makes baby sweet as roses.

To those who have sallow or dull complexion, or who have pimples, comedos or any skin eruption, I can recommend my Paw-Paw Laxative Pills. They positively cure constipation, biliousness and all liver disorders.—MUNYON.

WHAT THE IDEA IS

To forejudge your suit at the basting stage before you buy!

That's the kernel of the nut!

We save you the bother of being measured—the bother of being fitted, and the irremedial unpleasantness of having to pay for a suit that does not fit—does not look right—and will not hold its shape—all characteristics of custom tailoring.

You try on a Semi-ready suit that has been carefully hand-tailored and left only partly finished. That has been through the hands of the most skilful tailoring people in Canada—tailors whose salaries the best custom tailor couldn't afford.

That has the smartness and distinction of a suit designed by a master tailor—the most knowing and scientific in America.

You try on a Semi-ready suit before an entire figure glass—you are acutely critical because your suit forms part of you, and you expect more from Semi-ready than you do from the custom tailor.

There are no excuses for any ill fit in a Semi-ready suit—you are not flattered as to your appearance when you feel unconsciously that there is something wrong, or are you forced to take a suit against your own judgment.

If the suit is not right, don't take it. If by any chance you don't find that you're dissatisfied until you get it home, send it back—we'll refund your money—Why?

For our own sake, because it would hurt us to have an unsatisfactory suit on anyone.

Could a custom tailor afford to take your suit back?

YOUTH AND AGE.

By Charles Kingsley.

When all the world is young, lad,
And everything is green,
And every goose a swan, lad,
And every lass a queen,
Then boot, lad, and horse, lad,
And round the world away,
And go it while you're young, lad—
Each dog must have his day.

When all the world gets old, lad,
And all the trees turn brown,
And all the joints get stale, lad,
And all the wheels run down,
Then hie back to thy home, lad—
The maimed and sick among;
Thank God! if then you find one face
You loved when you were young.

Doubtful Compliment.

First Artist—I received a magnificent tribute to my skill the other day at the exhibition.

Second Artist—Indeed! What was it?

First Artist—You know the picture, "A Storm at Sea?" Well, a man and his wife were viewing it, and I overheard the fellow say: "Come away, my dear. That picture makes me sick!"

William Watson, the Poet.

Mr. Wm. Watson, The London Chronicle says, is of Yorkshire origin, but spent his youth in Liverpool. He is one of the few contemporary poets whose work is certain to live. At its best Mr. Watson's work is fit to bear comparison with that of some of our greatest poets. All of it is marked by felicity of expression, stateliness, and a high, austere note. Mr. Watson has written nothing better than his fine Coronation Ode, which is all too little known. It has pomp; it is fired with an elevated patriotism; thought and metre are happily wedded, and through its sonorous lines we seem to catch the majestic roll of English history. His latest volume, "Poems Written in Estrangement," had its origin in the Boer war. These poems, written to reproach England—for Mr. Watson was utterly out of sympathy with the war—are English to their innermost fibre.

Stunted Lambs.

Lambs should be given every opportunity to do their best before they are a year old. There are more lambs stunted through improper care at weaning than perhaps through any other cause. It is important that they get succulent and generous fare at this time, and we know of nothing that better fills this bill than [illegible]

AGAINST THE FARMERS.

Professor Goldwin Smith Addresses The Farmers' Association of Toronto.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—In an address by Mr. Goldwin Smith to the convention of the Farmers' Association in Victoria Hall yesterday morning, upon the question of the party system of Government, urged the farmers to organize for the coming elections, Dominion and Provincial, and to pledge candidates to keep out of the caucus. Replying to a vote of thanks, Mr. Smith said there were two things for consideration by the electors: the adoption of the referendum, for which he saw great use in the settlement of questions which should be taken out of politics, and the superseding of party conventions for the selection of candidates by a preliminary ballot of all qualified to vote to determine who should be the candidates.

Mr. W. F. Maclean and Prof. McCurdy also delivered addresses, the first on Government ownership and the last on militarism. The association adopted questions to candidates, a platform in a series of resolutions, and elected its officers.

ENGINEERS APPOINTED.

Choosing Transcontinental Railway Staff—Surveying Parties Being Made Up

Ottawa, Sept. 9.—At the close of yesterday's session of the Transcontinental Railway Commission, the commissioners announced that they had appointed Mr. M. J. Butler, assistant chief engineer, Mr. A. E. Doucette, district engineer of the district extending from the boundary line between New Brunswick and Quebec to Clear Lake in the Province of Quebec, and Mr. A. N. Molesworth, district engineer for the district extending from Clear Lake westerly to the Ontario boundary. They have also appointed six engineers to be put in charge of surveying parties, and expect to appoint a number more to-day. A number of transit men, level men, rod men and chain men, who will be employed on these different parties, have also been selected. Some of the engineers will leave for their different posts to-day.

Mr. Butler was engineer of the Montreal Locomotive Works, the largest of the kind in Canada. He has been highly recommended and has a splendid record.

A WISE MOTHER.

A wise mother never attempts to cure the ailments from which her little ones suffer by stupefying them with sleeping draughts, "soothing" preparations, and similar medicines, containing opiates. This class of medicines is responsible for the untimely death of thousands of little ones, though some mothers may not realize it. When your little ones are ailing give them Baby's Own Tablets, a medicine sold under a guarantee to contain no opiate or harmful drug. All mothers who have used the Tablets always speak in their praise. Mrs. A. Johnston, Eddystone, Ont., says, "I find Baby's Own Tablets all you recommend them to be. My baby was troubled with eczema, and was very cross and restless but since giving her the Tablets she has become quite well, and is now a strong healthy child." Sold by all druggists, or sent by mail at 25 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

1,500 French Pilgrims See Pope.

Rome, Sept. 9.—The Pope yesterday received 1,500 French pilgrims, mostly priests and nuns. The Pontiff, in replying to an address, said the reception was most important, being the first French pilgrimage to visit Rome since the conflict between France and the Vatican.

In Praise of Chamberlian's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"Allow me to give you a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and diarrhoea remedy," says Mr. John Hamlett, of Eagle Pass, Texas. "I suffered one week with bowel trouble and took all kinds of medicine without getting any relief, when my friend, Mr. C. Johnson, a merchant here, advised me to take this remedy. After taking one dose I felt greatly relieved and when I had taken the third dose was entirely cured. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for putting this great remedy in the hands of mankind." For sale by all druggists.

Superfluous Hair

Removed by the New Principle.

De Miracle

It is better than electricity, because it does not scar or produce a new growth. Better than X-ray, because it does not burn, scar or paralyze the tissues under the skin. Better than depilatories, because it is not poisonous; therefore, it will not cause blood poisoning, or produce eczema, which is so common with depilatories, and does not break off the hair, thereby increasing its growth.

Electrolysis, X-ray or depilatories are offered you on the bare word of the operators and manufacturers. De MIRACLE is not. It is the only method which is indorsed by physicians, surgeons, dermatologists, medical journals and scientific magazines.

De MIRACLE will be mailed to any address, sealed, in plain wrapper, on receipt of $1.00. Your money back without question if no red tape if it fails to do all that is claimed for it.

Our booklet—the most complete treatise on Superfluous Hair ever published—containing the testimonials of numerous physicians and surgeons and (those of hundreds of others—will be sent free, in plain, sealed envelope, upon request. Enquire for it at your local druggist or write for it to-day to

THE ARREST MADE.

Gartung Pleads Innocence—Inspection of Books of C.O.F. Reveals Shortage of Nearly $6,000.

Brantford, Sept. 10.—Ernest Gartung of the C. O. F., charged with embezzlement was captured by Chief Slemin and Sergeant Donnolly late Thursday night. He pleaded not guilty to the charge at yesterday morning's police court and was remanded till Monday. Bail was fixed at $9,000. L. F. Heyd, K.C., of Toronto, is engaged to defend the prisoner. An effort will be made today to raise the necessary bail. Gartung is strong in his declaration of innocence and this leads to the belief that some other persons are implicated. There is no doubt that the money is gone and one of the lawyers stated yesterday that Gartung didn't have it. It was officially announced yesterday that those looking over the books were likely to find them between $5,000 and $6,000 short. Gartung was always considered a most estimable man.

ABOUT GRENFELL.

Sketch of Ancestry and of the Man Most Prominently Mentioned to Succeed Lord Minto in Canada.

Taplow Court, the Buckinghamshire seat of W. H. Grenfell, who is now the most prominently mentioned to succeed Lord Minto as Governor-General, stands on the summit of the end of the range of hills which runs along the River Thames from Maidenhead to Henley. The site of the present house has been inhabited from the earliest times.

The Grenfells came originally from Cornwall, and claim among their ancestors men who made great names among the people of the west, to whom the late Charles Kingsley, who married a Miss Grenfell, used to love to trace their pedigrees; and the foundations of the family fortune were laid by a small squire, one Pascoe Grenfell, who, at the end of the last century, started works at Swansea to smelt the Cornish copper ores, and finally fixed upon Taplow as his country place of residence, and erected the tomb to be seen in the old Taplow churchyard. On this I saw it recorded that Pascoe Grenfell represented Great Marlow in five successive Parliaments—from 1802 to 1820—and as his son, Charles Pascoe Grenfell, represented Preston, and his son and Mr. Grenfell's father was member for Windsor and Deal and Sandwich. Mr. Grenfell may be said to have come of an old Parliamentary family, whose tradition he himself has kept up by representing Salisbury and Hereford in the House of Commons. His mother, too, the daughter of the Rt. Hon. W. Sebright, and Lady Caroline Lascelles is a member of a family which has taken no small part in public affairs.

As An Athlete.

So much, then, for ancestry. As to W. H. Grenfell himself, he has attained distinction in more than one walk of life. Athlete, sportsman, war correspondent, legislator, country gentleman, publicist and an expert on the currency question, his personality is as attractive and striking as any to be found in the ranks of country gentlemen.

The present owner of Taplow Court was born rather more than 49 years ago, on Oct. 30, 1855. His preparatory schooling he received at Malvern Wells. In his thirteenth year he not only was proxime accessit for a scholarship at Harrow, but by the death of his father, succeeded to the ancestral estate.

At Harrow he soon became of note both as an athlete and a cricketer. At the age of 18 he was the bowler par excellance of the school eleven while his high status as a runner was firmly established. And he was at the same time no laggard at his books.

Did Alps in Eight Days.

He entered Balliol in 1874, where his cricketing and athletic reputation had preceded him. It was during his Oxford career, in fact, just after his success at "Mods" that he prepared a surprise for Alpine guides and established a record in Alpine climbing. In eight days he "did" the Little Matterhorn, Monte Rosa, Rothhorn and Matterhorn and the Wisshorn. It is almost needless to observe that this was very smart work indeed.

On the walls of Mr. Grenfell's own "den"—on the left of the entrance hall to Taplow Court—are pleasant photographic portraits of the eights and elevens in which he figured so prominently, as well as pictures of Alpine heights; while in his great, central glass roofed hall, around which the house is built, may be seen cars and tankards and other mementoes of his physical powers on the river and running-path.

In the earlier portion of his period of travel and adventure, Mr. Grenfell thoroughly familiarized himself with Switzerland and Canada. Three times he stood on the summit of the Matterhorn and once pour passer le temps stroked an Oxford eight across the English Channel.

His Swim Across Niagara.

Another achievement of Mr. Grenfell's was the swimming twice across Niagara from the American to the Canadian shore, quite close to where the fall strikes the water below and fills the air with spray. According to Mr. Grenfell it was mainly a matter of keeping the legs up during the swim, so as to avoid the eddies locally known as "flames."

"The second time I did it," he said, "I was for a while in a terrible funk, I can tell you, for I got into the back wash and could feel it carrying me under the falls."

On two occasions Mr. Grenfell went on hunting expeditions into the Rocky Mountains. On the first of these, in 1884, he was accompanied by his friend, the Hon. Gilbert Leigh. In the Bighorn Mountains, Wyoming, he was once lost while wandering out of camp in search of game.

Chased Tigers, Too.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Grenfell visited India in the winter of 1891-2 and were the guests of Lord and Lady Harris at Bombay. Lord and Lady Wenlock at Madras, and the Viceroy and Marchioness of Lansdowne further north. Here they spent a very enjoyable time, Mr. Grenfell getting some elephant and other shooting in the southeastern presidency.

They also visited the Maharajah of Kuch Behar, where they played lawn tennis and went shooting.

Mr. Grenfell has become prominently identified with the bi-metallist movement, and it was largely owing to the strong and convinced views he held and still holds on this subject that he resigned his seat in the House of Commons for Hereford in the summer of 1898.

Mr. Grenfell's home is plentifully decorated with the trophies of the chase, more than fifty antlers of red deer adorning the walls of his own special room alone. This apartment, no less than the library, contains a good store of books, while Taplow Court possesses not a few fine paintings.

MANY PEOPLE SUFFER WITH CATARRH OF KIDNEYS.

Pe-ru-na Is Invaluable in Such Cases

FRED R. PENNELL. THOMAS M. HICKS.

Backache is Often the First Symptom of Catarrh of the Kidneys.

DANGEROUS KIDNEY DISEASES CURED

Pe-ru-na Creating a National Sensation in the Cure of Chronic Ailments of The Kidneys.

Fred R. Pennell, Pianist, Grand Opera House, Hot Springs, Ark., writes:

"Two years ago I came to Hot Springs to take the baths and be treated for bladder and kidney trouble. After spending two months here under the care of one of the most prominent physicians and receiving little or no benefit, I was persuaded to try Peruna. I had little faith in it, but after using one bottle I noticed a marked improvement. Three bottles entirely cured me. I can cheerfully recommend Peruna to any one afflicted as I was."—Fred R. Pennell.

Thomas M. Hicks, 1121 12th St., Louisville, Ky., writes:

"Neglected colds, irregular habits and overwork brought on serious kidney and bladder trouble. My blood seemed infiamed with poison, my stomach became entirely demoralized, a bad odor emanated from my urine, and I realized I was a sick man. The doctors dosed me to their heart's content, but I kept growing worse. Then fortune brought Peruna to my notice and I at once began to mend. I kept taking it for five months before I was completely cured. I feel now that I owe my life to Peruna and will never cease to be grateful."—Thomas M. Hicks.

S. L. Earle, Superintendent of Streets, Jacksonville, Fla., writes:

"I am a firm believer in Peruna. I find that it has been of practical benefit to a number of the men employed in the Street Cleaning Department in the city of Jacksonville. They are especially exposed to the inclemency of the weather and a number who caught cold, which later developed into pneumonia, kidney or liver trouble, were cured through the use of Peruna."—S. L. Earle, Superintendent of Streets.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Pandora Range

Meals on Time.

If a dinner should be cooked with a light fire by a certain hour you can use a light fire and absolutely depend upon the Pandora to cook it by that time—no need to waste fuel to keep up a hot fire "just to make sure." And the same accuracy can be depended upon if a strong fire is necessary.

The hot-air flues force all the heat around the oven twice and directly under every pot-hole, which means that every atom of heat is used for cooking and only the smoke goes up the chimney.

The Pandora range is entirely new and is equipped with every latest feature for easy management, quick cooking, fuel economy and for lessening kitchen troubles generally.

Daily Examiner.
SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER, 10, 1904.

Professor Clarke to Men.

Rev. Prof. Clarke of Trinity University will open the series of men's meetings for the season at the Y. M.C.A., on Sunday at 4.15 p.m. The association is fortunate in having so distinguished a speaker for their first meeting. All men are invited.

The Steamer Sovereign Trips.

The steamer Sovereign continues her daily trips between Peterborough and Rice Lake, with this change. On Fridays, instead of leaving at 9 o'clock in the morning, she now leaves at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, from her landing place below the locks, where she connects with the street railway.

Boys Bible Study Rally.

The boys' annual Bible study rally will be held at the Y.M.C.A. on Sunday at ten o'clock. Mr. T. H. Hutchinson, Assistant Secretary, will give the address and Mr. G. L. Galley, chairman of the Boys' Department, will be in the chair. All boys over 12 years of age are invited. Parents are asked to co-operate with the secretaries in the Bible study department as well as the other branches of the work.

Social Musicale.

The Social Committee of the Y.M. C.A. announce the opening social event of the season for Tuesday evening, September 20th, in the Association Hall. The programme and all the arrangements for the season will be new. The following have already consented to take part. Mrs. Beardley-Wilmot, Miss Crothers, violinists, Messrs. Lawrence, Dawson, Jolliffe, Legg. The gentlemen of the town are invited to come and bring their lady friends.

By the Way, Ladies.

Have you seen our new samples at purses and wrist bags? They are not only new and novel, but remarkably cheap. Being travellers' samples we can offer 20 per cent. off regular prices. Only one of a kind. All the bright, new illustrated magazines, periodicals, and new books of the month will be found at the Peterborough Cash Bookstore this evening. Drop in early and you can have them sent to your home. A. H. Stratton & Co.

The Man Who Makes the Remnants.

Has been to LeBrun's and disposed of a great pile of excellent ends at rock bottom prices. These consist of Tweeds, Cheviots and Serges. These are suitable for boys' pants and suits, men's trousers, ladies' skirts and jackets, etc. Just the thing for fall and winter wear. They will be sold for HALF the usual price. Better "go gunning" for some of these Remnants at once, as the saving amounts to considerable. Get your pick now.

INCREASED GRANT FOR THE EXHIBITION

Town Council Granted $250 at Last Evening's Meeting.

Change in Number of School Trustees to be Considered—Question of Paying for Granolithic Walks by General Tax—Regular Session of Council.

The town council met in regular session in the Council Chamber last evening. There were present:—Mayor Roger, Aldermen Adams, McWilliams, Best, Johnston, Batten, Scott, Hicks, Clinkscale, Mason.

The minutes were upon motion taken as read.

The following communications were received:—

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Miss E. Derry, complaining that her property was damaged by the street railway closing the road to her property on McDonel street, and claiming damages.—Board of Works.

From S. R. Armstrong, secretary of the Board of Health, enclosing a copy of a resolution passed by the Board, recommending the council to construct a sewer on Barnardo avenue, 500 feet west from George street, to a point opposite the centre of the Barnardo avenue school, for draining purposes. — Board of Works with power to act.

From W. G. Morrow and other owners of real estate asking that a pipe sewer be constructed on Weller street, from opposite the westerly line of lot 18, plan 49, to the Monaghan Boundary, and that the cost be assessed upon the property owners benefitted thereby. — Board of Works.

From R. Sheehy and other owners of property, asking that a granolithic sidewalk be constructed on the south side of Bolivar street, opposite lots No. 9, 10, 11, 12, and 13. — Board of Works.

From G. I. Rossel, asking for winter uniforms for the police force.—Supervision Committee.

From W. Eyres asking that the council pass a bylaw and take such action as may be necessary to protect the public from accident from the street railway cars.—Legal Committee.

From A. Stevenson stating that the Town Trust Commissioners have an applicant desirous of purchasing a gravel lot belonging to the town in Ward 5, and asking to be authorized to sell it for a sum not less than $25.—Property Committee, with power to act.

From William Kemp, complaining that his horse had fallen into a hole on Water street between Hunter and Brock street and sustained serious injury. He asked that the council consider the matter and pay the damages.—Legal Committee.

From Charles McNeil, Reeve of the Township of Cavan, asking that the council consider the request of a deputation of the council of the corporation of the Township of Cavan for a grant similar to that granted to other municipalities for the purpose of assisting in the building of a direct road on the 14th concession of the Township of Cavan to Peterborough.—Received.

From H. LeBrun and other property owners on Park street complaining that the placing of the line of the street railway upon any part of Park street other than the centre would cause serious depreciation in the value of their respective properties.—Received.

From John Calvert, asking for a refund of one dollar which he had inadvertently paid as a dog tax, he not owning the dog in question. — Court of Revision.

From R. S. Trew, of the Township of Emily, complaining that his horse and buggy suffered damage on McDonel street, between Aylmer and Reid streets, the damage being caused by obstructions on the said street. He claimed $150 damages. — Legal Committee.

From John E. Belcher, County Engineer, certifying that the contractors for the Mud Lake bridge, Messrs Donald McDiarmid and Jas. Bogue, have satisfactorily completed the work of construction. — Finance Committee.

From S. R. Armstrong, secretary of the Board of Health, enclosing accounts from St. Joseph's Hospital and the Nicholls' hospital for treatment of cases of infectious diseases, which were referred by the local Board of Health to the Council. — The sum total of the accounts was $297.60.—Finance Committee.

From W. J. Green, tax collector, giving a statement of taxes received.—Finance Committee.

From A. L. Davis of the Canadian Express Co., and L. D. Oakley, of the Dominion Express Co., informing the council that all express parcels must be paid for at the time of delivery.—Finance Committee.

From Stewart and O'Connor, of Lindsay, asking about the claim of damages of Mr. J. C. Leary, postmaster at King's wharf, for damages sustained by the non-repair of Pigeon Creek bridge.—Received.

From John Holmes, asking for remission of taxes on the ground that his personal property was destroyed by fire.—Court of Revision.

From E. H. D. Hall, town solicitor, informing the council that the purchase of the property of Mr. Minorgan on the street between George and Water streets, had been completed, and all arrangements made. — Received.

From the Canadian Machine Telephone Co. making application for permission to connect the manholes in their subways for their telephone construction with the town sewers for the purpose of freeing their manholes of surface water at any time.—Board of Works.

From the Canadian Manufacturers' Publishing Company, asking that the name of Peterborough be continued on the list of towns and cities offering inducements to manufacturers to locate there.—Manufacturers' Committee.

From W. D Lighthall, Hon. Secretary-treasurer of the Union of Canadian Municipalities, informing the Council that the fourth annual convention would be held in the city hall, London, on Sept. 20th, 21st and 22nd next, and asking to send representatives.—Received.

From F. W. Dean of the Bell Telephone Company, asking to pole portions of the following streets in the Town of Peterborough, viz. — Three poles on Edinburgh between Water and George. Three poles on Smith between Water and George. Six poles on Cedar between Park and Cross. Three poles on Dalhousie between Stewart and Rubidge. One pole on George near Edinburgh. Change poles on the following streets, with poles not a greater height than 40 feet above the ground, on account of trees:—George street, between Smith and Barnardo avenue. London street between Water and George. Gilmour between Park and St. Joseph. Dalhousie between Stewart and Bethune. Perry between George and Aylmer. And in renewing or placing thereon, asked the Council to direct the Town Engineer to supervise the erection of the necessary poles.—Town Engineer to report to Board of Works.

From Mr. Giles Webber, calling the attention of the Council to the conditions on Park street, between Hunter and Weller streets, resulting from the laying of the track of the Street Railway Company and especially the switch or turn-out. This, the latter states, leaves a distance of only thirteen feet from the outer line of rails to the fence of his property adjacent, which property is very greatly injured. The Council is notified that the switch must be removed.

add council

MR. D. HUGHES-CHARLES.

Mr. Hughes-Charles addressed the Council on behalf of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition. He wished the Council to make them a grant again this year to help the management pay for the prizes. The Council gave the sum of $200 last year and the directors would ask for an increased sum this year as the citizens were not being asked to assist. All other municipalities gave grants to the Exhibition in their locality. The County Council was giving the same grant as last year. The fair was an advantage to the merchants and hotel keepers in town and the directors were this year going to have on exhibition some of the best stock available in order to let the farmers see what was the very best. Robt. Beith's champion horses and some of Graham Bros., of Claremount, would be on exhibition as an attraction. The directors were doing all in their power to make the fair attractive and the expense would be considerable. Mr. Charles hoped the Council would see their way clear to double their grant for the exhibition of such fine stock as would be exhibited this year would prove of great advantage to the farmers and the quality of stock would also be improved as a result.

Ald Johnson thought it was a mistake to drop the canvassing of the hotel keepers and merchants who were directly benefitted by the Exhibition.

The Mayor thought that it was a considerable jump to double the grant and that the town was doing pretty well in giving $200 when the County gave only $100 to the Peterborough Exhibition and $100 to the Norwood Fair.

Ald. Clinkscale suggested that $300 would be enough instead of doubling the $200.

Ald. Adams suggested granting $200 now and if the weather was poor and the receipts were behind, another $100 could be granted.

The Mayor thought the presence of the street railway would mean a big revenue to the Exhibition.

A RESOLUTION.

After some further discussion, Ald. Clinkscale moved, seconded by Ald. Adams, that the Council make a grant of $250.00 to the Exhibition.—Carried.

COMMITTEE OF WHOLE.

The chairmen of the Committee of the Whole reported as follows:

Gentlemen,—Your Committee of the Whole Council beg leave to report as follows:—

1. We recommend that the Chairman of the Manufactures Committee be authorized to procure a view or views of the Town of Peterborough to be published in The Book of Canada, to be issued at Montreal, the Town to pay the cost of the cuts.

2. That Ald Morrison, Adams and the Clerk were appointed by this committee to represent the Council at the annual meeting of the Ontario Municipal Association and we recommend that the expense be paid on the certificate of one of the Aldermen.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

R. HICKS,
Chairman.

Report was received and adopted.

SPECIAL SEWER COMMITTEE.

The chairman of the Special Sewer Committee reported as follows:

Gentlemen,—Your Special Sewer Committee beg leave to report that they have received from Willis Chipman, C. E., a letter saying that his terms for plans for the main outfall sewer in Ward 5 would be $300 and for the outlet pipe $100, and that for Superintendence he would charge $150 a month for his Assistant, which would include his personal services as Consulting Engineer, and he would expect his travelling and hotel expenses paid when called to Peterborough. We recommend that this Committee be authorized to arrange with Mr. Chipman to prepare the plans and Superintend the work.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

F. ADAMS,
Chairman.

Report was received and adopted.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Following is the report of the Finance Committee:

Gentlemen,—Your Finance Committee begs leave to report as follows:—

1. With reference to the request of the Board of Education that the Council issue debentures for $3,000 to pay for the heating apparatus in the Central Public School, your Committee referred the request to the Town Solicitor and he advised that the Council has not authority to do so. We recommend that the Board be informed of this and furnished with a copy of the Solicitor's opinion.

2. Your committee acting on the authority given by the Council, made a grant of $50 to Court Chemong Independent Order of Foresters towards the expense of entertaining the members of the High Court.

3. We recommend that the taxes of the St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society for 1904, except school taxes, be remitted.

4. We recommend that a cheque be issued to the Town Trust Commissioners for the amount of the interest due on June 30th last on waterworks debentures.

5. We recommend that the Town discontinue procuring bound copies of the Town newspapers.

6. That the payment of $2.75 to G. W. Richardson for a patent broom and scrubber be confirmed.

BOARD OF WORKS.

The chairman of the Board of Works presented the following report:

Gentlemen,—Your Board of Works begs leave to report as follows:—

1. We recommend that the chairman be authorized to employ W. Maxwell at $2.50 a day as foreman for the construction of granolithic crossings and other special work and that he and the men employed under him be paid on the certificate of the Town Engineer.

2. We recommend that the location of poles of the Canadian Machine Telephone Co., as asked for by them on George street from Dublin street to Argyle and on Smith street east of George street and on Argyle street west of George street, as reported on favourably by the Town Engineer, be approved.

3. We recommend that the Town Solicitor be instructed to take the necessary steps to have the poles on Lock street south of Crescent street moved out at once to an even line 18 feet from the street line.

4. We recommend that the Town Solicitor be instructed to request the Ontario Power Co., to place all their poles on Lock street south of Romaine street on one side of the street.

5. We recommend that the Town Engineer be instructed to procure some 10 inch cement tile to be placed under the approaches to the new sidewalk on Aylmer street, south of Charlotte street to convey the water along the water courses.

6. We recommend that the Town Engineer repair the cover of the drain on McDonnell street, between Aylmer and Bethune streets.

7. We recommend that the petition of Mrs. M. A. Haslitt for a granolithic sidewalk as a local improvement on the east side of George street in front of lot No. 1, north of Edinburgh and east of George streets and the petition of H. C. Stabler and others for a granolithic sidewalk as a local improvement on the east side of George street from a point opposite the line of lot 32, plan 49, and a point opposite the northern line of lot 25, plan 42, be granted, as they are sufficiently signed.

10. We recommend that a sidewalk be laid on the south side of Cedar street opposite Mr. W. S. Henry's three houses.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

H. BEST,
Chairman.

Report was received and adopted.

RESOLUTION.

It was moved by Ald. Adams, seconded by Ald. Scott, that the Mayor, Ald. Best and the Town Solicitor, be delegates to the annual meeting of the Union of Canadian Municipalities to be held in London on Sept. 20, 21 and 22, and that the Town Treasurer be authorized to pay the expenses.—Carried.

BY-LAWS.

A bylaw to authorize the construction of granolithic sidewalks passed its several readings.

QUESTION OF SIDEWALK TAX.

Ald. Adams brought up the question of changing the system of taxing for granolithic walks. He did not think the method of paying for these walks by a 60 per cent. frontage tax and 40 per cent. general tax a wise one. He thought the work should be constructed and maintained by general taxation. He thought the Council should consider the question.

The Mayor thought that in the general interests of the town Ald. Adams' suggestion was a wise one. Some difficulty might be experienced in securing the acquiescence of the property owners taxed under the present system to the change, but that might be overcome by the town assuming the liabilities of the debentures issued prior to the change.

Ald. Johnson remarked that under the present system a few could block the construction of local improvements and leave the town liable for damages for accident caused by bad sidewalks.

After some further discussion, the matter was dropped until a later meeting.

ELECTION OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

Ald. McWilliams introduced the question of lessening the number of members of the School Board. The present number was seventeen, and at first often been pointed out that this number was too large, rendering the Board unwieldly. An act had recently passed the Legislature to the effect that The Council could reduce the number of Board members by passing a resolution to this effect, and that in a town the size of Peterborough, the number would be eight, one of which would be a member of the Separate School Board. Half of the number would retire yearly. Three of the seven the first year and four of the eight the second so that after the plan had got working, each member would be elected for two years. Seven of the members would be elected by the ratepayers in the same manner as the Aldermen are elected, and the eighth member would be elected from the Separate School Board. The Council had power to make the change before the first of October, and the new system would come in operation on Jan. 1, 1905. Ald. McWilliams thought it would be well to call a special meeting to consider the question. He had spoken to several members of the present Board who expressed themselves as favourable to the change provided the best men were elected to the office.

It was moved by Ald. McWilliams, seconded by Ald. Johnson, that a special meeting be held on Monday, September 26th, or such other date in September as the Mayor may desire, to consider the advisability of changing the method of electing the members of the Board of Education. —Carried.

MATTER OF ASSESSMENT.

Ald. Johnson brought up the question of appointing an Assessment Commissioner at once. The opinion had been expressed by authorities that one commissioner should be able to assess Peterborough. The matter was left in abeyance.

The council adjourned.

PRIZE RING METHODS IN HALLS OF JUSTICE.

A Norwood Lawyer Assaults and Batters a Peterborough Barrister.

Trial of a Local Suit Ends in the Assault Followed by a Free Fight.

Canadian Courts of Justice are noted for the dignified character of their proceedings and the becoming and orderly behaviour of lawyers, clients and spectators. A rather disgraceful exception, if the Examiner's information is correct, was presented in the Division Court room at Norwood, when an assault, on all fours, as to disregard for decency and fair play, with the recent fierce lacrosse filed assault in Toronto a few days ago, was committed in the Court room, immediately following the adjournment of the court. The Examiner has obtained one version of the incident, as follows:—

A suit that excited considerable local interest, and crowded the court room, was tried before Judge Weller, on Wednesday. Mr. W. H. Moore, of Peterborough and Mr. G. J. Sherry, of Norwood, appeared for the respective parties to the suit, the trial of which was concluded, the Judge reserving decision. Whether or not Mr. Sherry, as the Examiner is advised, was vexed at the possibility of the judgment being adverse, or was displeased with evidence elicited in cross-examination, which seemed to be prejudicial to Mr. Sherry's contention, after the adjournment of the court an assault was committed. Mr. Moore relates that he was sitting at the table gathering up his papers when Mr. Sherry approached him from behind and said: "Moore, I didn't know you were such a ——— fool." These words were followed by a sharp rejoinder and this by three blows with the clenched fist, which struck Mr. Moore in the right temple and were so severe that he was knocked from his seat to the floor, and for the moment quite stunned. The swelling and discolouration of the temple resulting from the blows are still visible. Mr. Moore's client restrained his assailant, and Mr. Moore retired from the room. It appears that the trouble did not end there, for it is said that a free fight developed in which the parties interested in the respective merits of the case that had been tried, freely participated.

It is understood that the assault upon Mr. Moore will form the subject of legal action.

EVERYBODY IS COMING TO OUR EXHIBITION.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy Says the Interest Abroad is Strongly Manifested.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy, who has been doing considerable travelling in this section of the province of late, was seen by an Examiner reporter this morning with regard to the general opinion of the farmers and others in the surrounding districts in reference to the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition. Mr. Kennedy has been talking exhibition in every town in which he has been, and states that the Peterborough Exhibition is being very favourably looked upon, and that if present indications can be taken as any criterion the attendance of outsiders this year will be far superior to that of any previous year. The attractions this year are ahead of those of former years. There is the Black Watch Band; everybody wants to hear them. There are Robert Beith's horses, which captured first prize at the World's Fair, besides other horses of the first quality. Then there is the street railway, giving easy access to the fair grounds. There is the Lift Lock, which many in neighbouring towns have yet to see. And there are other attractions too numerous to mention, which should draw a very large crowd.

Mr. Kennedy states that in Trenton, Picton and other towns, in that district, the people are talking of our exhibition and many from that section of the province intend coming up this way to see our flourishing town, and also form an idea of what sort of an exhibition the best town in Canada has. In the Midland District also an interest is being manifested, and altogether the prospects are very bright. The way to advertise the exhibition is to talk of it, and Mr. Kennedy is doing good service to the exhibition in his travels about this section of the province.

CAMPBELLFORD WEDDING.

Pretty Church Marriage of Interest to Many in Peterborough.

The Campbellford Despatch of the 8th inst., says: A pretty wedding was celebrated at St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, at ten o'clock a.m., on Tuesday, September 10th. The contracting parties were Miss Mae Malone of Peterborough, (formerly of Campbellford,) and Mr. Alfred H. LeHane of Peterborough.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father McGuire of Wooler, a cousin of the groom. The bride was assisted by Miss Minnie Mulhearn, and Mr. Frank Pope of Peterborough did similar honours for the groom. Miss Marguerite Callaghan presided at the organ and during the nuptial mass the choir rendered appropriate selections in a highly creditable manner.

The bride looked charming in a dress of champagne silk voile trimmed with point lace, and a picture hat. The bride and bridesmaid each carried a shower bouquet of white lilies and asters.

After the service at the church a reception was held at the residence of Mr. Brian Mulhearn, (Mrs. Mulhearn being a cousin of the bride,) at which a limited number of guests were present, and a very enjoyable time was spent, during which a sumptuous repast was partaken of. A number of beautiful presents were greatly admired by the guests.

The young couple left on the 3.14 p.m. train for a trip to Kingston and the Thousand Islands, after which they will take up their residence in Peterborough.

T. A. S. LACROSSE TEAM ARE T. V. L. CHAMPIONS

Won R. R. Hall Trophy by an Unbroken String of Clean Victories.

How They Captured the Deciding Game at Havelock Yesterday —Splendid Record of Season's Work.

These are they who have carried the T. A. S. to victory this season:—

J. O'BRIEN
R. BOYLE
E. MAHONEY
J. McCABE

T. A. S. on top again! Still they win, and still they bring glory and, incidentally, championships to Peterborough. Yesterday the lacrosse team representing this Society won the R. R. Hall trophy, emblematic of the championship of the Trent Valley League, by defeating Havelock on their own grounds by a score of 3—2 in one of the fastest and best contested games played in the League this year. The winners won a well-earned victory, and are deserving of the showers of congratulations of which they are the recipients to-day. They played to win, and played well, with that same dash and effectiveness which has characterized the team's work throughout the year.

A record such as that of which the T.A.S. team is justly proud of, has seldom, if ever, been equalled by any lacrosse team. The team has gone through the season without a defeat, the best that their many opponents could do being to tie them. [illegible] highly a creditable record. [illegible] ing games were played:—

At Peterborough — T.A.S. 1; Port Hope, 1.
At Hastings — T.A.S., 3; Hastings, 3.
At Peterborough — T.A.S., 3; Hastings, 2.
At Port Hope — T.A.S., 4; Port Hope, 2.
At Hastings — T.A.S., 5; Hastings, 2.
At Peterborough — T.A.S., 8; Millbrook, 1.
At Millbrook — T.A.S., 2; Millbrook, 1.
At Peterborough — T.A.S., 7; Havelock, 1.
At Havelock — T.A.S., 3; Havelock, 2.

The team has been playing good fast steady lacrosse all season, and their victories have been well deserved. The players are all good athletes, who play for the love of the game, and whose work this season has been very favourably commented upon wherever the team has played. The most goals scored against the team in any one game was three, which speaks well of the work of the defence.

The game yesterday was the hardest of the season. The home team was considerably strengthened for the occasion, and gave the champions a stiff struggle. While the checking was close, and sometimes quite heavy, the game was not a rough one, and those who were penalised were disciplined for minor offences. The pace was fast from start to finish, the combination was accurate and the shooting hard.

The game was witnessed by several hundred spectators, who became wildly excited as the game progressed. It was anybody's game from start to finish and though the home team had no hope of winning the round they were very anxious to be the first and only team to defeat the champions; but fate would not have it so.

The T.A.S. team to a man put up a splendid game. O'Brien in goal, stopped everything and was frequently applauded for his good work. Boyle at point, was the "stone-wall" man, and was always around when there was danger in the atmosphere. He was well supported by Mahoney whose checking and general all-round work was fine. McCabe was in fine fettle and played a great game. Meagher was in the thick of the struggle from start to finish, checking and relieving very effectively. Crowley played one of the best games of the year, his checking and long runs being always in evidence. Parnell at centre was very effective, playing a beautiful game and shooting with deadly effect; two of the goals were scored from his stick. Gorham on the home played a fast and steady game, while the Donovan brothers did excellent work, passing and running in fine shape. Derocher as usual, put up a star game, dodging and shooting like a whirlwind. Judd was small but did great work, nevertheless, and was always conspicuous on the home. From goal to inside home, all played well.

The Hrvelock team was considerably strengthened and put up a strong argument. The defence was strong and the home fast and sure, giving the winners' defence plenty to do throughout.

The champion team has been changed from time to time during the season, owing to the inability of some players to leave their work for certain games, and owing also to the fact that there was so much material available that it was a difficult matter to pick the down. All of the twenty-one whose names appear above have taken part in one or more games this season.

This is the only championship in summer sports which has come to Peterborough this season so far, and the Total Abstainers are worthy of every congratulation upon their fine success.

The teams were as follows:

T.A.S.	Havelock.
Goal.
O'Brien	Dineen
Point.
Boyle	Mein
Cover point.
Mahoney	Ford
First defence.
McCabe	Dorricott
Second defence.
Meagher	Andrews
Third defence.
Crowley	Lancaster
Centre.
Parnell	McGuire
Third home.
Gorham	Esterbrooke
Second home.
H. Donovan	Stibbs
First home.
W. Donovan	Sullivan
Inside home.
Judd	Ferguson
Outside home.
Derocher	Powers
Field captain.
Morris	Henderson
Goal umpire.
E. Dillon	Rose
Time keeper.
Hickey	Johnston

W. Whitty of Stirling, refereed the first half, and Graydon of the Chippewas, of Toronto, officiated in the latter half. Both gave good satisfaction. Nine players were ruled off for minor offences—six Havelock and three T.A.S.

THE PLAY.

The play in the first quarter was evenly divided, both goals being attacked in turns, but all shots were turned aside and no scoring was done. In the second quarter the T. A.S. forged ahead and twice Parnell shot and scored, leaving the tally 2—0 at half time. In the next quarter the play became faster and the checking more severe. The T.A.S. were kept from scoring while Ferguson notched a point for Havelock. In the last quarter both teams played desperately for superiority and each added a point, Derocher scoring for the winners and Sullivan for the home team, leaving the final score 3—2, after one of the hardest contested games ever played in Havelock.

RAH! RAH! RAH!

3—2.
A close score.
Never been beaten.
Another championship.
The red and black have forgotten how to lose.

Havelock put up a plucky struggle but were up against a superior team.

The team did not get back to town until after two o'clock this morning. The train was late.

It was one of the best games of the year.

The winners were not in the best of condition, for it is nearly a month since they played their last game.

The first year of Trent Valley League existence has been a most successful one.

The T.A.S. have a partiality for Trent Valley trophies. They are champions of the T. V. Hockey and T. V. Lacrosse Leagues.

The team won the championship on its merits. Seven victories, two tied games and no defeats is pretty good work.

The team has had a long season and the boys have stuck to their practice well.

The officers of the club are as follows:

President—J. O'Brien.
1st Vice—E. Doherty.
2nd Vice—F. Whaley.
Sec.-Treasurer—Jas. Dorris.
Capt.—Fred Derocher.
Manager—Albert Dorris.
Executive Committee — A. Dorris, M. Hickey, J. McCabe, T. J. Begley.

KNITTING WORKS

GENERALLY SPEAKING

WHAT DID the Flower Show show? Did it show that love of the beautiful as represented by flowers was very sporadically existent? A glance at the published prize list reveals a discouraging reiteration of the same names. The numerous prizes seemed to be distributed amongst a very few people. It cannot be, and it is not, that the few exhibitors are the only ones in town that love and cultivate flowers. Full many a flower is born to blush unseen—by the all too small crowds that visit the annual exhibitions of the Horticultural Society. There are hundreds in town who care fondly for flowers and cultivate them as successfully as the successful exhibitors, but are shut out by circumstances of various kinds from becoming exhibitors. It is due to the Horticultural Society that the general taste for flower culture has increased. A score of years ago in town one florist could supply the demand for plants and flowers and have time to go fishing in the intervals of business. But now four or five houses thrive, like the flowers they grow, upon the public demand, which has often to be met by importing plants from outside towns.

* * *

THIS IS ENCOURAGING, for fondness for flowers is, speaking reverently "a means of grace," and a real moral force. Culture of flowers by operation of the law of association refines, purifies and elevates. One often, perhaps, invariably, finds associated with love of flowers, traits of character and disposition of the highest order. "Generally Speaking" knows a lady, not rich in this world's dross, but rich in the refined gold of Abou Ben Adam's love for her neighbour. With exacting household duties, she finds time, and by dint of much toil, to make an arid plot of ground blossom as the rose. The grateful flowers she tends reward her care with prodigal bloom; but her labour of love is not complete till her flowers, as they do, find their way to the chamber of the invalid or to humble homes without soil available for growth of any kind, and like the "quality of mercy" bless her that gives and them who take. It seems sad that flowers are left to fade and die, where they grow, when by a little thoughtful distribution, they can be made to cheer and refresh some bed-bound invalid, less, perhaps, by their sweet, fragrant presence than by the message of human sympathy and love they bring.

* * *

THE HORTICULTURAL Society do well in offering prizes for the best kept lawns. They do better in differentiating between lawns maintained by private care and lawns kept in order by professionals, but they would perhaps do better still by adding a provision to include the best kept boulevard fronting competing lawns. A shaggy, shabby boulevard and untidy street fronting a beautiful parterre is as much out of place as a soiled kitchen apron upon a beautiful woman in full dress. Apropros of boulevards, the town is doing better work in filling boulevards in connection with granolithic pavements. If the officer in the immediate charge of the work is not interfered with he will do work that will not only meet the approval of ratepayers but result in a splendid improvement of the streets affected.

SAID FAREWELL TO AN ESTEEMED MEMBER.

Eko Camp Honours Mr. W. Alf. Smith Who is Leaving Town.

Last evening the members of Eko Camp met to bid farewell to one of its most prominent members, Mr. W. Alf. Smith, who leaves this evening to accept a position in Chatham. During his stay of nearly three years in town, Mr. Smith has made many warm friends, who, while sincerely regretting his departure, will wish him every success in his future place of abode. While in town he has been employed in the Review office, being a member of the editorial staff there for the past four moinhs.

The following address was read by Mr. B. M. Glover, after which Mr. M. Comstock made the presentation of a beautiful gold locket bearing the inscriptions "Eko Camp, 1904," and "W.A.S."

Peterborough, September 8th, 1904.

Dear Alf.,—We, the members of Eko Camp, knowing of your intention of leaving Town have met this evening for the purpose of bidding you good-bye.

Occasions of this kind we feel we must face, but we will miss you particularly as our relations with you have been most pleasant and cordial. You have gone out of your way to be attentive and agreeable to everyone and in fact we looked to you a great deal to help make our club successful.

So as to bring to your remembrance the many pleasant times we have had together we ask you to accept this locket and to feel that you have warm friends in the members of Eko Camp. On your leaving Town you are made an honorary member of the club.

We wish you health and prosperity in your new home.

Members of Eko Camp, September, 1904.

TRENT VALLEY WATERSHED.

Three or four days ago the Examiner printed a short article to the effect that arrangements had been arrived at by the Ontario and Dominion Governments by which the waters in the northern part of this district, constituting, so to speak, the headwaters of the portion of the Trent Waterway to the south of them, previously controlled by the Provincial authorities, had been transferred to the control of the Dominion. This fact, on the face of it, may not be considered of much moment but a very little consideration will reveal its very great importance, in a national, local, industrial and even individual sense. These waters, remaining under the control of the local Government, could not, on account of constitutional restrictions, be dealt with in so effective a manner for the purposes desired as by the Federal Government, which has jurisdiction in respect of trade and navigation, whose interests will be especially subserved by proper conservation of the waters in question.

For navigation purposes the proper storage and care of these waters is a sine qua non of the usefulness of the Trent Waterway as a national transportation route. It is well known that an adequate supply of water exists, if it is properly husbanded. This will now be attended to, and with an abundant supply of water, of which many have been skeptical, the opposition to, and the probabilities of, the completion of the canal will take on a different complexion.

Mr. R. R. Hall, who has shown a great interest in bringing about the change of jurisdiction, has shown a characteristic persistence, which will acknowledge no defeat, short of success, has worked hard to gain the point, greatly assisted by the co-operation of Hon. Mr. Stratton, who, both as representative of West Peterborough, and a member of the Ontario Government, has in this, as in many other matters, not been indifferent to any enterprise that would advance the interests of his constituents and of the public at large.

Reference has been made to the importance of a sufficient and properly regulated supply of water as affecting national interests, represented by the completion and successful operation of the Trent Canal. But those promoting this object were not unmindful of the benefits, incidental, but still very great, which would be conferred. Those engaged in the lumbering business will appreciate the situation resulting from the construction of an increased number of dams, and the creation of larger reservoirs, for their interests, as well as those of the settlers, have been safeguarded by the Ontario Government, who consent to the transfer on condition that chutes and slides shall be made and maintained in the interests of both settlers and operating lumbermen.

Vessel owners, and the public they serve, will also appreciate the importance of the transfer. Jurisdiction, instead of being, as previously, divided, and, necessarily, resulting in unsatisfactory handling of the waters, will, with the authority concentred in the Dominion, assure steamers a steady and sufficient supply of water for navigation purposes.

Then those manufacturers, in Peterborough more especially, who are dependent upon electricity as a motive power, will find the conditions vastly improved, and see an end of interruptions to, and, at times, a complete cessation of, operations, will welcome the improved conditions certain to result from a constant and regular flow of water, adding to the profit of their enterprises, and to their capacity for giving employment.

The working classes, who depend upon our industrial establishments for employment, will stand to be great gainers. It will be remembered that not long ago, though deficient supply of water for motive purposes, several of our manufactories had to suspend operations, throwing large numbers into enforced and unprofitable idleness. The probability of a repetition of such conditions is greatly lessened, if not made impossible.

Through the interests mentioned being more efficiently promoted the whole community will be the gainer. Increased and continuous activity in navigation, lumbering and manufacturing will react upon the general prosperity, by conducing to the more active circulation of money and more general distribution of wealth. Looking at the matter broadly those who have been instrumental in bringing about the change of jurisdiction in respect of the watershed of the Trent Valley District, have conferred important national, local and individual benefits.

THE TEACHER AND PEACE.

Relation of Education of the Young to a Great Question.

"The teacher in relation to the peace of the world" was the subject of a paper by Andrew Stevenson of Stratford, Ont., at the recent Friends' Convention in Toronto. The present adult generation were not properly educated in their youth, he said, or there would not have been the recent outbreak of military fever in the British Empire and the United States. Little was being done now in the schools to educate our youth against such an outbreak in the future. The tendency was unfortunately rather the other way. The proper inculcation of peace principles required no new text-books or no special class periods for instruction. The only requirement was a teacher who knew the evil of war and was enthusiastic for reform. The classes in geography, history, literature and composition offer opportunities for incidental instruction in peace principles. Though such literature as the writings of Homer and Virgil and Caesar inspired warlike feelings and was so far evil, yet many of our standard works were from one point of view peace tracts of a powerful kind. The boy who had properly worked through the speech of Mark Antony in the play of "Julius Caesar" could never afterwards be stirred up to warlike fervor by the stirring flattery and falsehood of Hingo orators or journalists. Scott's "Lady of the Lake" was an exposure of the folly and wickedness which brought on war, and of the tragedy and pathos involved in it. In "The Courtship of Miles Standish" they have a description of the un-Christian spirit which set ageing the series of Indian wars in America. Kipling's "Recessional" was an effective antidote to the national self-conceit which made many wars inevitable, and it was as much needed in the United States as in Britain. Much good could be done in the teaching of English composition by occasionally assigning a subject which would involve in its treatment some application of peace principles. Some such subjects were "True national greatness," "What we owe to other nations," "Peace and War."

The Death of Belz.

Oliver Belz is dead. This boy was attracted to Toronto Island to see another Toronto lad leap the gap on a bicycle, and when the youth advertised to perform the feat was persuaded by his own tardy sense, or the expostulation of friends, to back out, young Belz, in a spirit of daring, volunteered. He succeeded so well that he was made much of, and went to Buffalo to repeat the performance there says The Toronto Star. His career, all told, did not cover a fortnight. Courage is a virtue entitled to encouragement, but the unnecessary risking of one's life does not so much denote courage as bad judgment. It shows one to be the victim of selfish and unsound advice. Those who urged this boy to risk this feat, those who applauded his fool-hardiness, contributed to his death. Poor young Belz was not old enough to know better, and he was slain by the public to afford them a spectacle.

Why should people crowd to witness a feat that has no merit except the risk to which it exposes the life of a fellow-creature? Why endorse with the payment of money and the tribute of applause a performance that induces men to risk and find violent deaths? Spectators are horrified when they witness a fatality, although it is their money that hired the man to assume the risk. They bought his life, and took it.

It has been found necessary to have the law interfere to prevent men jumping off bridges, and going over Niagara Falls in the canoe of coming out alive and notorious. There are other dangerous deeds that the law should no longer countenance.

The Friends and the Militarists.

The Friends are altogether right in their campaign in favor of a treaty between Britain and the United States, making the settlement of all disputes between these two nations a matter of arbitration for The Hague Tribunal, and not for the arbitrament of war. The militarists are altogether wrong in thinking that any dispute was ever justly and finally settled by military force. No war ever removed the real cause for which war was proclaimed, but more frequently than otherwise only complicated matters and aggravated the trouble, making the subsequent settlement on terms of reason and intelligence and justice unnecessarily difficult.—Toronto Globe.

ISRAEL ZANGWILL.

T. P. O'Connor Writes of the Great Author of the Ghetto.

Of Israel Zangwill, the famous author, Mr. T. P. O'Connor recently said in M.A.P.: Passing over some very juvenile efforts, you have Mr. Zangwill, at the age of sixteen, making his first appearance in print. That was in the now defunct Society, in which the young writer won a "£5 humorous story competition." A little later Mr. Zangwill, now a harassed pupil teacher at an elementary school and a student at University College, whence he took his B. A., projected with a friend a humorous weekly to be called Grimaldi. Funds were low, and the friend suggested that Mr. Zangwill should write a Jewish story to provide capital for the new venture. Mr. Zangwill did so, and the little book (price one penny) was printed at the joint expense of the author and his partner. It sold very well in the streets, and created great curiosity among the Jews as to the identity of its author. Other stories and squibs were written, and then one black day the headmaster of the school discovered what his assistant was up to. Mr. Zangwill was given the choice between resignation and publishing nothing which had not passed the censorship of the headmaster and the committee of the school. For a time Mr. Zangwill submitted to the latter indignity—he simply abstained from publishing—and then, having graduated, he and Mr. Lewis Cowen collaborated in the "Premier and the Painter," under the joint name of "J. Freeman Bell." Very young critics are apt, nowadays, to compare Mr. Zangwill with Mr. "J. Freeman Bell," generally to the disadvantage of the former. For two or three years after the "Premier and the Painter," Mr. Zangwill did little or nothing except edit Ariel, and then in 1891—he is only forty now—he stepped into success with the "Bachelor's Club." Since then—well, his books have spoken trumpet-tongued throughout the world.

IN MODERN DAYS.

The Ways of Doing Things have Greatly Changed.

No Branch of Science has Made Greater Advancement than that of Medicine Thousands of Lives Prolonged by Modern Discoveries.

"Few things have developed as rapidly during the last quarter of a century as the science of medicine," said a well known practitioner recently. "And undoubtedly the most striking phase in its progress is in the treatment of the blood. In the old days it was thought that opening a vein and letting the blood out was a cure for most diseases. The utter fallacy of that theory was discovered after a while. Then the symptoms of the disease were treated and the blood disregarded. That also has been shown to be a wrong practice, for, though driven away for a time, the symptoms always return if the cause is not removed, and the disease is worse than before. It is the root of the disease that must be attacked, and the most important development of modern medical science has been in discovering that, in most diseases, this lies in the condition of the blood. If the blood is thin and poor, the nerves and vital organs cannot receive their proper nourishment, the system becomes run down and in a condition to invite disease. Build up the blood, restore the worn out nerves and you remove the cause. When the cause is gone the disease will vanish."

An instance of the truth of this is given by Miss A. M. Tuckey, Oxdrift, Ont., who says:—"I do not know what would have become of me had it not been for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. My blood seemed to have turned to water, and I was troubled with dizziness, headaches, and general prostration. I tried several medicines out instead of getting better I was gradually but surely growing worse. I became so weak I could no longer work, and it was while in this condition I was advised to try Dr. William's Pink Pills. After using the pills for a few weeks I began to gain strength; my appetite returned, the headaches, and dizziness vanished, and before long I was enjoying as good health as ever I had done in my life. I cannot thank you enough for the good the pills have done me, and I hope they will long continue to help other sufferers."

Indigestion, neuralgia, heart trouble, anaemia, kidney and liver complaints, rheumatism, the functional ailments of women, and a host of other troubles are all a disease of the blood, and that is why they are always cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which actually make new rich red blood, thus reaching the root of the disease and driving it from the system. The great success of this medicine has induced many unscrupulous dealers to offer pink coloured imitations. You can protect yourself against these by seeing that the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" is printed on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers, or may be had direct from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50.

CAUSTIC CURVES.

Why a Napkin Ring Throws a Heart Shaped Reflection.

It is found that in concave spherical mirrors the reflected rays only come to a definite focus in the point, when the angular aperture of the mirror does not exceed eight or ten degrees. With a larger aperture the rays reflected near the edge cut the axis of the mirror at a point nearer its surface than those from points immediately around the center. This being so, and the curve of the mirror being continuous, a corresponding curve of successive focal points is formed in space, and can be rendered visible by the rays falling on a reflecting surface, such as a sheet of white paper or a tablecloth.

The napkin ring is a cylinder and possesses the properties of the spherical mirror along one diameter. The rays falling upon portions more remote from the center line are brought to a different focus from those falling near the center, and this produces the peculiar heart shaped reflection.

These figures are known as "caustics by reflection," and can be well observed by allowing the light of a candle to fall on the inside of a cup or tumbler partly filled with milk.

Col. H. T. Lukin, C.M.G., D.S.O.

A Reuter's telegram from Cape Town states that Colonel H. T. Lukin, C.M.G., D.S.O., will succeed Major-General Sir Edward Brabant as Commandant-General of the Cape Colonial Forces.

The new Commandant-General has had a most distinguished career, and has achieved his success at an age when the merits of most military men are only beginning to be recognized. Born on May 24, 1860, he first saw service in the South African war of 1879. During the Zulu campaign he was attached to the Cavalry Brigade, took part in the advance on Ulundi, and was present at the subsequent battle there, where he was severely wounded. He received the medal and clasp for the Zulu campaign, and in 1880-1 assisted in the operations in Basutoland. He was Field Adjutant in the Bechuanaland Field Force in the Lanberg campaign of 1896-7, and was several times mentioned in despatches, being afterwards promoted to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel in the Cape Mounted Rifles. He became attached to the Imperial forces in 1900, and commanded the artillery in the siege of Wepener in the same year. For some time during the late war he commanded a column of mounted troops in Cape Colony, and was appointed to the command of the First Colonial Division in November, 1901. He was awarded the D.S.O. for his gallantry in leading a night attack on a Boer laager, and in 1902 was created a C.M.G. In January of last year he was appointed colonel in command of the Cape Mounted Rifles. Colonel Lukin is not only a gallant and capable soldier, but a most popular man in colonial society, and his appointment will be heartily appreciated by the colony.

Student Stumped the Professor.

The clever Dr. Ritchie of Edinburgh met with his match while examining a student.

He said: "And you attended the class for mathematics?"

"Yes."

"How many sides has a circle?"

"Two," said the student.

"What are they?"

What a laugh in the class the student's answer produced when he said: "An inside and an outside."

But this was nothing compared with what followed. The doctor said to the student: "And you attend the moral philosophy class also?"

"Yes."

"Well, you would hear lectures on various subjects. Did you ever hear one on cause and effect?"

"Yes."

"Does an effect ever go before a cause?"

"Yes."

"Give me an instance."

"A man wheeling a barrow."

The doctor then sat down and proposed no more questions.

Lord Edward Cecil.

Of Lord Edward Cecil, who recently celebrated his 37th birthday, South Africa, says: The gallant soldier, who contributed so much to the success of the defence of Mafeking, conducted in such a "breezy" manner by Baden-Powell, especially by his foresight in regard to the provisioning of the township in view of the eventualities which actually occurred, is now a military secretary in Egypt. He is the fourth son of the late Lord Salisbury, and brother of the present Marquis. His wife was once Miss Violet Maxse, the daughter of the late Admiral Maxse. Lord Edward Cecil has had quite a romantic career since he joined the Grenadiers seventeen years ago. He served with the Dongola expeditionary force in 1896, accompanied the special mission to the Emperor Menelik of Abyssinia in 1897, and took part in the Egyptain campaign, including the battles on the Atbara and at Khartoum in 1898. Altogether he has crowded a good deal of fighting into his career since he left Eton.

His Bravery.

"Oh, George," sighed the romantic girl, "I wish you were like the old time knights. I wish you'd do something brave to show your love for me."

"Gracious," cried her fiance, "haven't I agreed to marry you, and me only getting $20 a week?"—Exchange.

THE CHILD.

My little son, who looked from wistful eyes,
And moved up and spoke in quiet and grown-up wise,
Having my law the seventh time disobey'd,
I struck him, and dismiss'd
With harsh words, and unkiss'd,
His mother, who was patient, being dead.
Then, fearing that his grief should hinder sleep,
I visited his bed,
But found him slumbering deep,
With darken'd eyelids, and their lashes yet
From his late sobbing wet;
And I, with moan,
Kissing away his tears, left others of my own;
For, on a table drawn beside his head,
He had put within his reach,
A box of counters and red-vein'd stone,
A piece of glass abraded by the beach,
And six or seven shells,
A bottle of bluebells,
And two French copper coins, ranged there with careful art,
To comfort his sad heart;
So when that night I prayed
To God, I wept, and said:
Ah, when at last we lie with traced breath,
Not vexing thee in death,
And Thou rememberest of what toys
We made our joys,
How weakly understood,
Thy great commanded good,
Then, fatherly not less
Than I whom thou hast molded from the clay,
Thou'lt leave thy wrath and say,
"I will be sorry for their childishness."

FIRST DOSE WENT RIGHT TO SPOT.

Commercial Traveller Talks of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Gives Valuable Advice to Those Who use the Railroad Train Frequently.

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 9. — (Special.) —Mr. J. H. Ireland, one of the oldest and best known commercial travellers on the road, has come out with a statement for the benefit of his fellow travellers.

"It is with pleasure," says Mr. Ireland, "that I endorse Dodd's Kidney Pills. While on a trip through the Maritime Provinces Dodd's Kidney Pills completely cured me of a severe pain in my back that had bothered me for some time. The first dose seemed to go right to the spot and removed the trouble so effectually that it has not and is not likely to return.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are just as advertised," Mr. Ireland concludes. They cure to stay cured."

Travellers, railroad men and others who ride on the railway a great deal, are subject to Kidney Troubles. They will find Mr. Ireland's statement valuable reading.

BRILLIANT SWORDPLAY.

Italy Is the Home of Fencing as a Refined Art.

Although the Germans were always redoubtable at the rougher games of swordsmanship, it is in Italy that we find the first development of that nimbler, more regulated, more cunning, better controlled play which we have learned to associate with the term fencing. It is from Italy that fencing as a refined art first spread over Europe, not from Spain, as it has been asserted by many writers.

It is in the Italian rapier play of the late sixteenth century that we find the foundations of fencing in the modern sense of the word. The Italians—if we take their early books as evidence and the fact that their phraseology of fence was adopted by all Europe—were the first to perceive, as soon as the problem of armor breaking ceased to be the most important one in a fight, the superior capabilities for elegant slaughter possessed by the point as compared with the edge. They accordingly reduced the breadth of their sword, modified the hilt portion thereof to admit of a readier thrust action and relegated the cut to quite a secondary position in their system. With this lighter weapon they devised in course of time that brilliant, cunning, catlike play known as rapier fence.

The rapier was ultimately adopted everywhere by men of courtly habit, but in England at least it was not accepted without muddlin and vituperation from the older fighting class of swordsmen.—Cornhill.

THE LEGEND OF JAPAN.

Origin of Dai Nippon, According to Shinto Mythology.

According to the Shinto mythology, in the beginning chaos reigned, and in it were contained the germs of all things. From chaos was evolved a race of heavenly beings termed "celestial kami," of whom Isanagi, a male, and Isanami, a female, were the last.

These two were instructed by the other deities to descend from heaven and beget islands, and to help them on their mission they were presented with a jeweled spear. Standing on a bridge floating in the ether, they reached down and stirred the brine and then drew up the spear. The brine that dripped from this weapon was heaped up and became the island of Onogoro, and on it the pair descended and begat several other islands.

The first of these was Hirugo, but as it did not meet with the approval of the deities it was put into a boat and allowed to float away. The next was the island of Awa, and so in succession were produced the remaining islands of the archipelago, now termed by Europeans "Japan," but by the Japanese themselves "Dai Nippon," "The Great Sunrise."

Weird Story From Ireland.

Quite recently, at Waterford, a pretty and fascinating young lady, who was very popular in the town, fell ill and died. Her death occasioned general regret. She had many friends, and a large number followed her remains to the cemetery. The last rites were said, and all returned to their homes, saddened at the loss of one who had been so dear to them.

An extraordinary sequel occurred. A peasant farmer, living in the vicinity of the cemetery, rose early next morning to go to his work. Happening to look over the wall of the cemetery, he was astonished to see a man on his knees beside the newly filled-in grave. The peasant watched and saw him feverishly scraping away the earth with his hands, not looking aside for one moment.

The onlooker remained with his eyes fixed on the strange sight. To his amazement, the mysterious visitor continued his gruesome task with unabated vigor until presently the coffin was laid bare. Then, with the aid of an iron implement, the man forcibly wrenched off the lid.

The climax in the weird drama had been reached. Bending down over the open shell, the stranger who had so wantonly disregarded the sacredness of the spot, gazed long and earnestly upon the face of the dead girl. Then, imprinting one passionate kiss upon her forehead, he raised himself and readjusted the lid, afterward proceeding to fill in the earth over the coffin again.

Meanwhile, however, the authorities had been informed of the occurrence, and the police arrived and arrested the extraordinary intruder. He was taken to the police station and formally charged.

In his possession was found a telegram, handed in at Waterford, and delivered to him at Bristol, telling him of the death of the young lady. It appeared that on receipt of the news he took his passage immediately for Waterford, and, on arriving, repaired to the graveside.

When arrested he said: "They thought they could prevent me seeing her, but they were mistaken." He was taken before the magistrate, who committed him to an asylum.—London Mirror.

Mr. Balfour's Birthday.

On July 25th The London Daily Chronicle said: "The Prime Minister enters on his 57th year to-day, and is still a bachelor, with every prospect of remaining in that free and independent condition of life, seeing that he has arrived at an age when tastes and habits are, as a rule, fixed. Although he has achieved the highest honor in public life, his inclinations originally did not tend in that direction at all. As he recently confessed, he would probably never have entered Parliament if he had not been persuaded by his uncle, the late Marquis of Salisbury. He has always had a strong dislike for the drudgery of politics and the mastering of administrative details. He is far happier with golf, philosophy and French novels, and, after the next general election, he will have more leisure for these favorite pursuits."

SINFUL HABITS IN YOUTH

MAKE NERVOUS, WEAK, DISEASED MEN.

THE RESULT of ignorance and folly in youth, overexertion of mind and body induced by lust and exposure are constantly wrecking the lives and future happiness of thousands of promising young men. Some fade and wither at an early age, at the blossom of manhood, while others are forced to drag out a weary, fruitless and melancholy existence. Others reach matrimony but find no solace or comfort there. The victims are found in all stations of life—the farm, the office, the workshop, the pulpit, the trades and the professions. Nervous Debility and Lost Manhood are guaranteed cured by our New Method Treatment or No Pay. You run no risk. 25 years in Detroit. Bank security.

CURES WHEN ALL ELSE FAILS. No cases used without written consent.

"I am 33 years of age and married. When young I led a gay life. Early indiscretions and later excesses made trouble for me. I became weak and nervous. My kidneys became affected and I feared Bright's Disease. Married Life was unsatisfactory and my home unhappy. I tried everything—all failed till I took treatment from Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. Their New Method built me up mentally, physically and sexually. I feel and act like a man in every respect. They treated me six years ago. An Encouraging Message

I have a message of hope and good cheer, of encouragement and inspiration to every suffering woman. I have endured the torture due to female troubles and the consequent despondency and mental agony amount to the point of despair, and I have been restored from this condition to a state of vigorous health, and to the happy, exhilerating frame of mind which accompanies physical well-being. This change has been brought about wholly by the use of ORANGE LILY.

In addition, I have had the privilege and pleasure of inducing multitudes of other suffering women to give ORANGE LILY a trial, and have received thousands of enthusiastic acknowledgements of the blessings it has brought to them. The following is a sample:

Truro, N. S., April 8, 1904.

Dear Mrs. Currah,—Your very kind letter was received yesterday. In reply to your question about my health, I am thankful to say that I am very well. As I have never given you a statement of my case you may be interested in it.

For several years I have suffered untold agony. The suffering was continuous, but I would have violent attacks every few weeks, each attack lasting several days. The first Sunday in November, I felt the pain increasing and so did not go to prayers. The next of the family did go and soon after the forcing down pains seized me and I had to remain on the floor until their return. I was in great pain all night, and was very sick for a whole week.

Then Mrs. L. came to see me and told me of your wonderful medicine. I got my husband to send for it right away, as I was too sick to write myself. My doctor could do nothing for me; I have used 6 boxes of ORANGE LILY, have had three months of good rest, and am now well. Never better in my life. I have not had the old pains since. I often ask my husband if it is myself that is going around and doing my own work. I can scarcely believe it. It brings tears of joy to my eyes. I could shout it to all the world. I cannot speak enough in its praise.

Your friend, MRS. E. H. P.

Receiving as I do, dozens of such reports each day, I feel impelled to make known to my suffering sisters the merits of ORANGE LILY. It differs from the other so-called remedies in that it is not taken internally. It is a strictly local treatment, and is applied directly to the affected organs. Its curative elements are absorbed into the congested tissues, expelling the stagnant foreign matter which has been irritating the membrane and oppressing the nerves, and a growing feeling of physical and mental relief is noticeable almost from the start. It is a positive, scientific remedy, and even if you use no more than the Free trial Treatment you will be very materially benefitted.

FREE TRIAL OFFER.

I want every reader of this who suffers in any way from painful monthly periods, irregularities (suppression), inflammation or congestion of the womb, pains in the back, etc., to send me their addresses, and I will forward at once, without charge, 10 days' treatment. If your case is not far advanced it may entirely cure you, and in any event it will do you much good. I am so earnest in making this statement, and so positive that it is true, that I trust every sufferer who reads this notice will take advantage of my offer and get cured at home, without a doctor's bill.

MRS. F. C. CURRAH, WINDSOR, ONT.

ORANGE LILY is recommended and sold in Peterborough by Mr W. H. Warne, Druggist, 345 George Street.

THE OGLESBY BRIDE

By KEITH GORDON

Copyright, 1904, by T. C. McClure

When the senior partner is young, handsome and unmarried and the woman in the office of a quiet elegance of face and form, subtly suggestive of drawing rooms, it is apparent that complications become possible.

Oglesby himself had a vague consciousness of the fact at the end of Miss Wentworth's first year there. It was not so much that, under the charm of her personality, a Turkish rug, not originally included in the plan of office furnishings, had found its way into her room—that was a small matter! But that he perceived a certain incongruity in the fact that her slender, well shod feet rested upon a polished floor, while he and Stanton walked on rugs, was more significant. When incongruities of this sort attract a business man's attention he should beware.

Miss Wentworth, to be sure, had an atmosphere all her own, which seemed to demand a proper setting for her. To this silent demand of her individuality Oglesby made a good many concessions from time to time, almost without knowing that he did so. He had a whimsical theory that she was like fine china and should be treated with the greatest delicacy.

She herself never seemed to suspect that there was anything unusual in the attention that was paid to her comfort. If a rug were put down in her room, well, surely it was no more than proper that there should be a rug there. If Mr. Oglesby showed a real anxiety to know whether the chair that she occupied was as comfortable a one as could be procured, Miss Wentworth supposed that it was but the usual kindliness displayed by employers for their employees.

It was not until the little room occupied by her contained every office convenience that Oglesby was brought to a consciousness of the fact that there might be some personal motive in his thoughtfulness.

"Um! Seems to me, old man, that you're daft on the subject of our fair assistant," observed his partner when for the third time in as many months he had suggested some improvement to be made in the stenographer's equipment.

Oglesby answered him somewhat tartly and in a manner meant to convey that an Oglesby could under no circumstances whatever become interested in a woman not of his own class.

Still the fact that Stanton had noticed anything unusual in his behavior irritated him. He remembered, with sharp discomfort, a number of times when he had worked hard—harder by far than he ever had with any woman of his own world—to win a smile from her. He even found relief in the thought that with a tact rare in a girl untrained to social life she had added zest to his efforts by her calm, well bred, but by no means encouraging manner.

"An Oglesby and daft on the subject of a stenographer!" he repeated to himself with scorn as Stanton's remark rankled in his mind. "I guess not!"

It was fortunate that he should have encountered Miss Wentworth on the street one day while this resentment was still warm in his mind. At the office, in spite of his resolutions, his manner was unchanged. Over and over again he forgot that the cold, serene young woman who looked at him very much as if he were a mere detail of the office furniture was simply his stenographer.

But when he met her on the street that day a sudden remembrance of Stanton's speech embarrassed him. After all, the Oglesby pride whispered, "Stanton was right." With this thought in his mind he checked the smile of greeting that rose to his lips and bowed with elaborate and somewhat patronizing gravity.

"Intends to be just as courteous to me as if I did not write his letters for so much per month," was the thought that flashed wickedly through Miss Wentworth's mind. Her acknowledgment of his greeting was reduced to a flicker of the eyelids that came perilously near to being imperceptible.

The effect was by no means lost upon Mr. Oglesby and produced in him a queer mixture of triumph and indignation.

"Jove," ran his thoughts appreciatively, "she has the air of a grande dame!"

Then a quick transition took place in his view of the matter, and he experienced a thrill of righteous indignation at her treatment. Had he not bowed to her precisely as he would have done to Miss Ten Eyck, with a mere trifling, impalpable difference of expression, which a person in her position could scarcely be expected to detect?

Just what was going to happen in the future can never be definitely known, for at that moment the vision of a tall, fair girl, whose eyes seemed to look into his with quiet mockery, terminated his train of thought. He felt almost as guilty as if the vision had been Miss Wentworth in the flesh, and somehow the dignified displeasure that he had meant to show when next they encountered each other at the office did not seem so possible as it had.

And, indeed, the "dignified displeasure" was not at all discernible in the reference that he afterward made to that meeting, which showed plainly his anxiety to efface any impression of patronage that Miss Wentworth might have absorbed—a reference that was received by her with an indifferent smile and a quick reference to business matters in hand that left him feeling neatly and beautifully snubbed.

Subsequently, in the stenographer's room, Miss Wentworth took a letter head from the drawer at her side with the air of a person in deep thought. Then, with a scornful smile playing about her lips, she dropped the paper into the machine, gave the roller a quick contemptuous turn and murmured to herself:

"A perfect cad!"

Fight the conviction as he would, Oglesby became more and more convinced as the days went by that a dire thing had happened to him. Why, otherwise, was he forever furtively watching her clear, pure outlines with satisfied delight?

Yet his very soul winced at the thought of an Oglesby in love with a typewriter girl—and one, moreover, who scarcely noticed him! With that thought the queer, unreasonable exultation that he had experienced before at being snubbed darted through him. He was proud of her—proud of her as if she had been himself.

For two generations the Oglesbys had married belles of their day. Indeed, to be born an Oglesby—and a man—was much the same thing as being born a prince of the blood.

And now the head of the Oglesby family was absolutely dependent upon a girl of the people—a young woman who earned her living by means of the skill by which her long, white fingers ticked off the letters that pertained to the vast Oglesby interests.

Admitting that the impossible could happen, he reflected, wouldn't it be sweet? Glaring headlines in the daily newspapers: "Oglesby Weds His Pretty Stenographer!" "Romance In a Wall Street Office!" The thought was too much. And he turned to the papers that lay on his desk with his lips shut in a cruel smile. She must go!

"She is a queen, all right," he was thinking as he held a portentous document before his eyes in the delusion that he was reading it. "She's a queen, but we Oglesbys cannot marry queens who have got lost from their queendoms!"

At that moment there was a tap at the door, and in response to his mumbled "Come in!" the lady of his thoughts entered. In less time than it takes to write it the Oglesby pride slunk out of sight. After all she need not go! The mere thought of some round cheeked girl with a belligerent pompadour filling her place made him feel murderous.

He rose to place a chair for her, dimly aware through the confusion of his thoughts that she had expressed a wish to speak to him upon a personal matter. Then a shiver of intuition caused him to look at her keenly.

"And I should like to get away as soon as I can, Mr. Oglesby, without inconveniencing the firm in any way," were the first words that Oglesby heard clearly as he recovered from his dazed surprise.

For a moment he did not speak. For the first time in all his elegant, arrogant life Hubert Oglesby felt forlorn, bereft! In that moment the Oglesby pride was forgotten.

"May I ask why you have decided to leave us?" he asked at last, very humbly and with a fear clutching at his heart as a very probable reason for her action suggested itself to his imagination.

"Of course," he went on soberly, not waiting for her to speak, "I do not need to tell you how much I—how much we have appreciated your presence here. We"—

She interrupted him by a little gesture at once imperious and girlish. Now that she was about to leave, the cold reserve of her manner had disappeared.

"You've all been so very kind to me here that"—

Something in the intense gaze that he bent upon her caused her to leave her sentence unfinished. Then slowly the color burned in her cheeks like the fire in an opal, and Mr. Oglesby was speaking, rapidly, eagerly and as a man rather than an Oglesby.

"Don't tell me that it is too late," he pleaded, "and that there is some one else. I think I have loved you from the first, but"—

He stopped in embarrassment. Miss Wentworth looked up at him with a quizzical smile.

"The Oglesby pride?" she queried, with gentle raillery.

It was a trying moment. Oglesby turned hot and red with shame. The Oglesby pride suddenly seemed to him a contemptible thing. Then he looked up and nodded with dull hopelessness. She would never forgive such an admission as that, he felt sure.

Miss Wentworth laughed delightfully—unaccountably.

"The Wentworths of Boston," she observed demurely, "are unused to being scorned!"

"But how in the world came you to be earning your living?"

"Family and fortune," she smiled back at him, "sometimes part company."

And in that smile Oglesby read that there really might be a chance for him—some time!

"WHIZ IT WALK A MILE"

Is a laconic definition of a toboggan ride. It's quick work going down the slide, but it's a long climb back to the starting point. It is very much that way with health; it is quickly lost and slowly regained. When the first symptoms of failing health appear, proper care may prevent the descent to utter weakness and debility. Usually the complication of disorders known as general debility has its origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. These diseases are perfectly cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures through the stomach disorders which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach.

There is no alcohol in the "Discovery," neither opium, cocaine nor other narcotic.

"I was all run down; had no strength; had sharp darting pains all through me; head and back ache every day," writes Mrs. Frank Caswell, of Salamanca, N. Y. "I was also troubled with a distressed feeling in the stomach and pain in front of the hip bones. I had a severe cough and it nearly killed me to draw a long breath. I was so sore through my lungs.

"I wrote to Dr. Pierce, telling my symptoms as near as I could. He sent Dr. I very kind letter, advising me to try his medicines, which I did, and found I had taken Death's worst. I was decidedly better. I took two bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two of 'Favorite Prescription,' and am sure I never felt better in my life than when I quit taking them."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a cure for biliousness.

The Society Woman

Though hurried and rushed in society's whirls,
Her complexion is rosy and fresh as a girl's:
What she knows, though she dances far into the night,
"Abbey's Salt" in the morning, will make her all right.

Society people recognize the value of ABBEY'S SALT as a health preserver and complexion beautifier. ABBEY'S SALT takes away the baneful effects of hasty, irregular eating—overcomes the ravages of late hours and bodily fatigue.

ABBEY'S SALT is a gentle, mild, yet perfect tonic laxative. It regulates the stomach and bowels—keeps the blood pure—the eyes bright—and the skin fresh and beautiful.

Abbey's Effervescent Salt
IS NATURE'S BEAUTY DOCTOR

MEASURE HIS FINGER.

If It Is Longer Than Yours, He Will Rule You When You're Wed.

It is rather late in the day for this bit of advice, but the girl who thinks of marriage should take the precaution of first measuring the forefinger of her lover with her own before she commits herself irrevocably. If his forefinger happens to be longer than her own she would best reject him, for she will never rule her own household, the rule being that whichever has the longer forefinger becomes the ruling power in this home. One engaged girl, upon being told of this test, carefully measured fingers at once, and, upon finding that her fiance's finger was much longer than her own, stoutly declared that she didn't care. "She didn't want to rule the house anyway!" The man breathed freely once more. It was this very same girl, however, who was observed to make special and strenuous efforts to set her own right foot upon the church step before the groom, and to place this same foot upon the carpet before his! It is a sure sign that whichever sets foot first upon the church step and upon the carpet at the altar will rule the house!

Which offers a solution of the "longest forefinger" problem! Avoid as you would the pestilence the tying of your shoe in a carriage upon your wedding day. It is "unlucky!"—Exchange.

London Doctors' Fees.

Discussion by London newspapers of doctors' fees has brought to light some curious information. "I know a man," one doctor is quoted as saying, "who has a guinea practice in Harley street, a five shilling practice in Kensington and a sixpenny practice in Seven Dials."

In Clapton, a poor quarter of London, fees of twopence (4 cents) are said to be not unknown. One newspaper remarks: "Of the twopence fee it might be said that it brings sickness within the reach of all. In Clapton, at any rate, there is no excuse or justification for any one being well."

This same newspaper says, "Now that flats are so fashionable the doctor's difficulty in guessing the paying ability of his patient is enormously increased, flats being alike the refuge of the wealthy and the indigent."

A Bit of a Blow.

"I suppose you have encountered worse gales than this?" asked an inquisitive passenger of the sailor man during a very moderate bit of a blow.

"This yere ain't a gale," responded the salt. "Why, I was onct in the bay o' Biscay when the wind blew all the paint off the bulwarks. It took four on us to 'old the captain's 'at on 'is 'ead, and even then all the ankers was blown off 'is buttons. That was a blow for yer. Why, even"—

But by this time the curious passenger realized that he was being guyed, and he did not give the imaginative tar the chance of finishing his interesting narrative.

Neighborly Talk.

Mrs. Woodby—Mrs. Van Astorbilt, the great society leader, called upon me this morning.

Mrs. Chellus—Yes? I heard she was interesting herself in charitable work, but I thought it was among the very poor.

Preference.

We dislike people who are cold—
The trait is only human.
We'd rather have our shoes half soled
By some good, whole souled shoe man

His Reason.

"Whew! It's hot!"

FAMOUS TATTERSALL'S.

World's Great Horse Mart Known to Turfmen in All Parts—Highest Bids for Equine Stars.

It seems a little strange that there are thousands of people the whole world over to whom "Tattersall's" is as a household word, and yet who probably could not give you the name of the present Prime Minister or the Archbishop of Canterbury, says a writer in Tit Bits. And so it has been for a long time more than a century, and seems likely to continue for centuries to come.

What interesting stories the generations of Tattersall's could have handed down to us if they had cared to, for they have had intimate relations with many of the greatest men of the last five generations. It was at Tattersall's that Lords Palmerston and Derby met one May day in 1859. The Derby Ministry had just received its death-blow in the Commons, and both statesmen had horses in the coming Derby.

"Well, Palmerston," said the Earl, "you don't expect to win the Derby, I hope? Two wins in one week would be too much." "I don't know," answered Palmerston. "Mainstone's a good horse." Palmerston became Prime Minister a few weeks later, but his horse did not win the Derby—neither did his rival's.

It was at Tattersall's that Lord Hastings paid his Derby losses in 1866, amounting to £103,000. "Hermit fairly broke my heart," he said, "but I did not show it, did I?" But it would fill a column merely to mention by name the men who have become historic for one reason or another whose faces have been familiar at Tattersall's. They range from George IV. to King Edward, from Lord Eglinton of tournament fame to Lord Rosebery and from Lord George Bentinck and the Earl of Glasgow to the Duke of Portland of to-day.

The original Tattersall was training groom to the last Duke of Kingston, and when his patron died he opened the auction mart, which was to become so famous, on the site on which St. George's Hospital now stands.

Richard, it is said, laid the foundation of his fortune when he bought Highflyer for the then enormous sum of £2,500, but he seems to have been a singularly shrewd man, and there is little doubt that he would have got on quite well even without Highflyer.

He quickly established a great reputation as a judge of a horse and as a man of strict probity and his mart was patronized by all the principal horse owners and soon became quite a fashionable resort—"a place where men of position and honor might congregate without breathing the pestilential vapor that too often surrounds the stables."

The original mart was approached through an arched passage, at the foot of which was a tap-room. The Turf, patronized by jockeys, grooms and horse dealers, and it comprised the subscription-room, where bets were recorded and settled, a "garden-like enclosure which formed a kind of open-air club for patrons of rank," a courtyard with rostrum where the auction sales were held, and a large number of stables for the horses. In the centre of the enclosure was a pump shrined under a pillared dome, which was crowned by a bust of George IV., Richard Tattersall's good friend and patron.

When the lease expired in 1865 the mart was moved to its present quarters in Knightsbridge, near to Albert Gate, where the king-crowned dome still holds its own in the new courtyard. It is interesting to note that the triangular piece of ground in front of Tattersall's was once part of a village green with a Maypole, as well as a watch-house and a pound, which survived until seventy years ago.

Auctions are held on Mondays throughout the year and on Thursdays during the height of the season. And what exciting scenes and what phenomenal bidding have been seen at Tattersall's.

In September, 1861, Sir Tatton Sykes had bidden 3,000 guineas for Fandango, and in his anxiety he immediately sprang another hundred. When he was reminded by the auctioneer that he had made the previous bid as well, he said, "Knock him down, Mr. Tattersall, knock him down. We want to go to the races." But 3,100 guineas is a very small figure compared with many in Tattersall's books. Blair Athol fetched 12,500 guineas and Meddler 2,000 guineas more; Isonomy was knocked down for 9,000 guineas and Baron Hirsch paid 5,500 guineas for La Fleche as a filly. But more wonderful than all these figures was the £30,000 which Tattersall's paid for Ormonde.

From Over Study at School.

This Girl Became Pale, Languid and Nervous — Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Made Her Well.

Mrs. R. Wareham, 267 Sherbrooke street, Peterborough, Ont., states:

"One of my children suffered a great deal with nervous headaches, dizziness and sleeplessness, and in fact was all run down, pale and languid. These troubles were attributed to over study, and confinement at school. She began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and I can say that we have found this treatment exceedingly helpful. It has relieved her of headache, steadied her nerves and built up her system wonderfully. We can see a great change in her as the colour is returning to her face and she is gaining in flesh and weight."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

100,000 Sample Boxes Given Away.

There are hundreds who are martyrs to Kidney Trouble, having tried everything else without relief. There are dozens in every town who may have Kidney Trouble without knowing it. If you are pale—lose flesh—can't sleep—no appetite—if you constantly desire to urinate—if the urine is scanty, burning or highly colored—if the feet and hands are swollen—if the eyesight is dimmed—if there are frequent pains in the back, through the hips and legs—then you have the most positive symptoms of Kidney Trouble.

These are the people, we hope, who will send us their names that Gin Pills may cure them.

What They Are

Each Gin Pill contains the medicinal properties of one and one-half ounces of best Holland Gin. The harmful substances—and the alcohol—are left out. These medicinal principles are combined with several other remedies of exceptional value—and the whole made up in the form of a small, pleasant pill. These are the famous Gin Pills that have the largest sale—and the greatest number of cures to their credit—of any Kidney and Bladder remedy, ever introduced in Canada.

What They Do

Gin Pills cure "Cold on the Kidneys," Inflammation of the Kidneys, Uric Acid, causing Gout and Rheumatism, Ulceration and Inflammation of the Bladder, Painful and Suppressed Urine, constant desire to urinate, Gravel or Stone in the Bladder, and all other troubles, caused by disordered Kidneys and Bladder. They never fail to relieve the dull, shooting pain, make urination easy, natural and regular, strengthen the organs, and effect a speedy and permanent cure.

Won't you try Gin Pills at our expense? It costs nothing. Simply a post card. Ask us to send a sample box free—say in what paper you saw this advertisement—and sign your name and address. Do it to-day—NOW.

RUGBY.

Another Rugby player has been unearthed in the person of D. Gilmour, formerly of Trenton and Brockville. Gilmour learned the game at the Brockville school and has played the game in that town. He has been transferred to the local branch of the Bank of Montreal. He has a promising physique and has expressed a willingness to get into the game.

• • • •

The rugby boys had a good workout at the Oval this afternoon. Several new men were out and showed up in good form.

• • • •

Every day makes the rugby situation look better. We're going to have a great team and don't you forget it.

Now is the thud of the pigskin heard in the land.

• • • •

The Burnside rules will again be used in the O.R.F.U. this season.

• • • •

If there are any players who have recently come to town and who have not as yet been asked to turn out to practice, they would confer a great favour on the management by making known the fact that they are willing to get into the game. The management is doing its best to unearth all the new players, but some may possibly have been overlooked. Every pigskinist is wanted.

The Post says:—The following conversation gleaned around Bast night amongst the anxious ones:—

"Hallo, how did the boys come out at Bowmanville?"

"I heard it was 11—4 for Bowmanville."

"11—4. Well isn't that too bad! Something wrong somewhere."

Well, the score was 11—4 all right, and Lindsay were the losers, but by no fault of the umpire—the boys say he was very square. Monday's hard game with the I.C.B.U. crippled our boys, especially "Curly." In Monday's game "Curly" pitched and won a very hard and stiff game, and as a result he was not in very good condition, his arm being sore, nevertheless he went into the box yesterday and worked very good till the 3rd innings, when Miller was put in, but as "Curly" was not in trim he had to give up, "Curly" again going in and finishing the game. Lindsay got their four runs in the 1st and 2nd innings and were hitting Hooper all over the lot. Cinnamon did not play his game, his throwing to the bases being very poor, and he has a number of errors down on the score book. He was evidently saving his arm for to-day's game with Rochester. The rest of the bunch played good ball, Mark making numerous good plays in the right garden. Lindsay have still a good lead in the Midland League, and "Curly" will be kept in the pink of condition for all the remaining games, so that we are going to keep the lead till we land the pennant.

A WOMAN'S SYMPATHY.

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too, but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need to do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so I shall be happy and you will be cured for it—the cost of a postage stamp. Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. Mrs. F. D. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont. BRITISH PRAISE FOR HON. CLIFFORD SIFTON.

His Good Immigration Work is Good "Empire Building."

London, Sept. 8. — For the year ending June 30th, 50,000 emigrants from Britain settled in Canada. The Morning Post says that but for the efforts of Hon. Mr. Sifton and his subordinates during the past few years the greater part of this army of empire builders would now be settled in the United States, and their help in time of war, and what is even more important, their purchasing power at all times, would have been lost to us.

Of Use Every Day.

Once you become acquainted with the merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment and the scores of ways in which it is useful in every home, you would not think of being without it. Eczema, salt rheum, scald head, tetter, chaffing, chilblains, burns, scalds and every form of skin irritation and eruption soon yield to its extraordinary soothing, healing influence.

HOW IT WORKS OUT.

The new duty on steel rails should afford, in course of time, says the Montreal Herald, a practical test of the sincerity of those of our high protectionists who profess to be admirers of Mr. Chamberlain's policy.

As the tax works out, the duty on British rails will be $4.66 a ton; on American $7.00 a ton; on German $9.33, a ton.

The questions to be answered in practice, are, therefore:—

First, will the duty of $4.66 a ton bring the receipts for Canadian makers against British competition.

Second, supposing it does, will British makers, who are asked by Mr. Chamberlain to reduce because in British colonies alone British trade steadily increases, be satisfied with the pleasure of having $2.33 perference over the United States and $4.66 over Germany, even though they themselves sell no rails in Canada?

Third, if the duty of $4.66 on British rails still lets British rails in, will the Canadian protectionists who cheer for Chamberlain, believing with the Montreal Gazette that a duty which will let British rails in is "folly," proceed to "add hyprocrisy to folly" by demanding a higher minimum duty on rails, as they already demand a higher duty on woollens in similar circumstances?

Sick Headache.

"For several years my wife was troubled with what physicians called sick headache of a very severe character. She doctored with several eminent physicians and at a great expense, only to grow worse until she was unable to do any kind of work. About a year ago she began taking Chamberlain's stomach and liver tablets and to-day weighs more than she ever did before and is real well," says Mr. Geo. E. Wright of New London, New York. For sale by all druggists.

FOR WOMEN

Much That Every Woman Desires to Know

About Sanative Antiseptic Cleansing

And about the Care of the Skin, Scalp, Hair and Hands

Too much stress cannot be placed on the great value of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent in the antiseptic cleansing of the mucous surfaces, and of the blood and circulating fluids, thus affording pure, sweet and economical local and constitutional treatment for weakening ulcerations, inflammations, itchings, irritations, relaxations, displacements, pains and irregularities peculiar to females. Hence the Cuticura remedies have a wonderful influence in restoring health, strength and beauty to weary women, who have been prematurely aged and invalided by these distressing ailments, as well as such sympathetic afflictions as anæmia, chlorosis, hysteria and nervousness.

Women from the very first have fully appreciated the purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy which have made the Cuticura remedies the standard humour remedies of the civilized world.

Millions of women use Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening and soothing red, rough and sore hands, for annoying irritations and ulcerative weaknesses, and for many sanative, antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves, as well as for all the purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery.

Cuticura Resolvent, Pills and in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, Cuticura Ointment, Soap and Cuticura Soap are sold throughout the world. "POSTING THE GLOVE."

Old World Custom of County Fair—Promised Immunity From Arrest.

One of those old-world customs, dating from time immemorial, which are still to be found flourishing in parts of rural England, was observed at Honiton recently, when in quaint phraseology the annual fair was formerly declared open.

Attired in a costume somewhat resembling that of the ancient parish beadles, with a three-cornered hat, blue coat and trousers, and red waistcoat, plentifully ornamented with gilt braid, the town crier of the ancient borough took up his stand at mid-day outside the market-house.

As the hour struck, this gorgeously attired official delivered himself of the following announcement:

"Oyes! oyes! oyes! The fair's begun. The glove is up. No man can be arrested till the glove is taken down. God save the King."

This proclamation, which was made in the presence of the borough officials and members of the council, annually attracts a large crowd of visitors and sightseers, and the assemblage repeats in chorus the words of the proclamation. The announcement is also made in other parts of the town, and at the conclusion of each stoppage nuts are thrown for the crowd to scramble for.

The fair dates back to the time of Henry III., when Isabella de Fortibus, then the lady of the manor, granted a charter to Honiton to hold a fair, the crier representing the authority of the Lord of the Manor.

The "glove" is a large gilt model of a glove or hand, affixed to the top of a long pole. It is displayed on the balcony of an ancient hostelry in the centre of the castle fair on the Wednesday, and on Thursday is removed to the other end of the town, where the horse fair is held.

The promised immunity from arrest is a relic of "the good old days" when the debtors' laws were in existence.

Jug Brought 1,100 Guineas.

A church warden of the West Malling (Kent) parish church discovered in a lumber room some time ago a peculiarly shaped jug, which was subsequently identified as a rare old Elizabethan stoup. An offer of £40 for it was refused, and the church authorities decided to send it to Christie's, where it was sold for 1,100 guineas. With the proceeds the authorities have just completed several important improvements to the fine old church. Parts of the fabric have been restored, a new porch has been erected, and the seating accommodation has been greatly improved.

The body has abeut five hundred muscles.

SIR GEORGE DIBBS.

Picturesque Career of the Former Premier of the Australian Colony of New South Wales.

Marquis de Fontenoy: Sir George Dibbs, former Premier of the Australian colony of New South Wales, has had an extraordinary career. He began life as an office boy in a wine merchant's firm in Sydney, after which he took to sea. During the Civil war here, and again during the trouble in South America some years later, he acquired considerable notoriety and wealth as a blockade runner, but after returning to Australia he quickly lost all his money and became a bankrupt. This led him to abandon business for politics. But being blessed with an ungovernable temper, it was not long before he got into trouble by assaulting a political opponent with such vigor that he half killed him, being sentenced to twelve months in the penitentiary for the offence.

While in prison he was forced to work in the same way as the other convicts and learned the trade of wood-carving. In the course of time his forceful methods landed him in the Premiership of New South Wales, and one of his first acts on becoming Prime Minister was to appoint the jailer who had had special charge of him while in prison to the governorship of the penitentiary where he had been incarcerated. On the occasion of his visit to England as Colonial Premier he was summoned to Windsor, and not only invited to dinner, but also knighted by Queen Victoria, to whom as a token of respect, he presented a beautifully carved walking stick, which he had carved while doing time in one of Her Majesty's jails in Australia. He was breezy in his conversation, his remarks being rendered refreshing by his lack of education, and I recall a funny incident in this connection, in the course of a political speech which he delivered. He had quoted a Biblical passage in support of his arguments, whereupon one of his political opponents rather maliciously inquired whether the verse was "in the Douay version," that being the name of the English translation of the Bible in use among Roman Catholics. Sir George haughtily retorted, "The honorable gentleman may go to the library and consult Mr. Dooley if he likes, I have no time to do so." The roar of laughter that ensued disconcerted Sir George and he subsequently had much difficulty to appease the wrath of his Catholic friends and political supporters, who naturally fancied that some slight to their religion was intended by the suggestion that their version of the Bible was the work of "Mr. Dooley."

A Big Corn Factory.

Birmingham, England, has a mint which in addition to turning out millions of English coins does more in the way of supplying foreign Governments with coin than any other money-making establishment in the world.

A few days ago it shipped the first instalment of a huge Egyptian order for 10,000,000 piasters. The consignment weighed five tons, was conveyed in sixty cases and valued at $15,000,000. For well over a century Birmingham has taken the lead in this literal kind of money making. As far back as 1797 one firm coined under contract for the British Government 4,000 tons of copper coin, valued at about $4,000,000. Among the countries and Governments which have gone time after time to Birmingham for their money are India, Tunis, Canada, Turkey, China, Hong Kong, Hayti, Sarawak, Tuscany, Venezuela and Chile.

In some instances, notably that of China, the coins were not made in Birmingham. As a matter of fact, no Chinese coin has, so far as is known, ever have been made outside of the Celestial Empire. The pride and prejudice of the Chinese have to be humored, so the firm sent out a complete plant with men to operate it, and the coins were struck in China. No fewer than eight separate plants have been sent out to China in this way.

For the new kingdom of Italy the same thing was done in 1862, 1,600 tons of "planks" being shipped to furnish the raw material. Again, in Marseilles, when the re-establishment of the Empire under Napoleon III. rendered necessary a new copper coinage, 750 tons of metal were in this way turned into money on French soil.

Legal Ties That Bind the Empire.

The principal legal ties between England and the colonies, says The Law Magazine and Review, may be summarized thus: The Governors are appointed by the Crown, and diplomatic intercourse, as regards foreign countries, is carried on by the Imperial Government, the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, and the Supreme Court of Appeal. The power of making treaties resides in the Crown, and unless the Imperial Government act the authorities of the colonial Government will do so. The will of the Imperial Parliament is supreme in all things. In spite, however, of this sovereign supremacy in letter, in practice it does not interfere in local affairs. The legislative liberty thus conferred on the colonies may at first sight seem incompatible with the sovereignty of the Imperial Parliament, but the absolute recognition of that supremacy is sufficient guarantee of its maintenance, whilst the power retained of reviewing colonial enactments prevents the legal impossibility of conflict between Imperial and colonial laws."

Gruesome British Enterprise.

Photography (London) says: The agent of a cinematograph company, it is reported, has come to an arrangement with the Governor of Canton by which all executions are to be saved up, as it were, for one month. The exact number of dollars required to insult the Pooh-Bah of Canton sufficiently to lead him to make such an arrangement is not stated, but the living picture man hopes thus to secure a charming and delightful film for the benefit of his patrons in London.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

The Amateur Philosopher.

You fret because you have to work
While others loll at rest.
But give your drooping soul a jerk.
It may be for the best
That you sweat here while, where the cool
Breeze cheers them, others float.
If you were there you might be fool
Enough to rock the boat.

A Source of Comfort.

"Do you believe in patent medicines?" said the man who is always complaining.

"Certainly," answered the portly man. "I owe my present comfortable condition to a patent medicine."

"Indeed!"

"Yes, one which I invented and put on the market myself."

Was never preserved,
For as fast as put up 'twas put down.

A GREAT FARMER'S PAPER.

That enterprising and up-to-date agricultural journal The Farming World has issued a most valuable special exhibition number. It is full of good things for the farmer. In fact everyone interested in the development of Canada's great agricultural resources will profit by reading it carefully. A particularly valuable feature is a series of articles by experts showing the condition and trend of agriculture in the various provinces of the Dominion. If the views expressed by these gentlemen are correct, and we believe they are, the future prosperity of Canada is assured for many years to come. Mr. A. Blue, Chief of the Census Commission, Ottawa, contributes a valuable paper showing the present status of the farming industry in Canada. He gives figures to show that agriculture is by all odds the most important of Canada's industries and that the future of this country depends in a most marked degree upon the progress and success of our farmers. The practical matter on live stock, dairying, poultry, etc., is of a high order.

The illustrations and other mechanical features are excellent. Intending subscribers are invited to send to the Farming World, Toronto, for a free sample copy of this number.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In the matter of the estate of Albert Talbot.

Notice is hereby given that Albert Talbot, of the Town of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, carrying on business as a Broker, at the said town of Peterborough, has made an assignment under R.S.O., 1897, Chapter 147 and amending Acts, of all his estate, credits and effects, to Daniel O'Connell, of the said Town of Peterborough, Barrister-at-law, for the general benefit of his creditors.

A meeting of his creditors will be held at the office of the said Daniel O'Connell, at 194½ Hunter street, in the said Town of Peterborough, on Monday the 19th day of September, 1904, at the hour of three o'clock in the afternoon, to receive a statement of affairs, to appoint Inspectors, and for the ordering of affairs of the estate generally.

Creditors are requested to file their claims with the Assignee with the proofs and particulars thereof, required by the said Act, on or before the date of such meeting.

And notice is further given that after the first day of October, 1904, the Assignee will proceed to distribute the assets of the debtor, amongst the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which notice shall then have been given and that he will not be liable for the assets, or any part thereof, so distributed, to any person or persons of whose claims he shall not then have notice.

Dated at Peterborough, this 6th day of September, 1904.

BALTIC FLEET OFF FOR ORIENT

The Emperor Saw the Fleet Sail Away Away for the Far East.

RUSSIA IS NO "QUITTER."

Five First Class Battleships, Three Second Class Battleships and Three Second Class Cruisers Compose the Outfit—Fighting at Port Arthur—Japs Preparing for Another Grand Assault on Fortress.

Kronstadt, Sept. 12.—The Baltic fleet sailed yesterday for the Far East.

The Baltic fleet is composed as follows:

Battleships—First-Class.

Souvaroff, launched 1902; 13,516 tons; 18 knots speed; crew, 740; main battery, 4.12 in., 12.6 in guns.

Borodino, sister ship to Souvaroff, launched 1901.

Orel, sister ship to Souvaroff, launched 1901.

Alexander III., sister ship of Souvaroff, launched 1901.

Osliaba, launched 1898; 12,674 tons; 18 knots speed; crew, 732; main battery, 4 10 in., 11 6 in. guns.

Battleships—Second-Class.

Navarin, launched 1891; 9,476 tons; 16 knots speed; crew, 630; main battery, 4 12 in., 8 6 in. guns.

Lissoi Nikky, launched 1894; 8,880 tons; 16 knots speed; crew, 590; main battery, 4 12 in., 6 6 in. guns.

Admiral Nakhimoff, launched 1885; 8,500 tons; 16½ knots speed; crew, 567; main battery, 8 8 in., 10 6 in. guns.

Second-Class Cruisers.

Dmitri Donskoi, launched 1883; 6,600 tons; 16 knots speed; crew, 510; main battery, 6 6 in., 10 47 in. guns.

Aurora, launched 1900; 6,630 tons; 20 knots speed; crew, 422; main battery, 8 6 in guns.

Almaz, 3,000 tons.

The fleet will merely touch at Libau, where it will be joined by twelve transports, colliers and supply ships, already waiting there, and will then proceed direct to the Orient.

The scene on the departure of the fleet was an imposing one. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the time set for the departure of the remainder of the fleet, the Imperial yacht with the Emperor, Grand Duke Alexis, the High Admiral, and other high naval officers on board put out from Peterhof, on the other side of the bay, with an escort of three torpedo boats.

Admirals Rojestvensky, Voelkersam and Enquist went on board the Imperial yacht and personally said farewell to the Emperor.

Then with destroyers ahead and abeam, the Souvaroff led the squadron down the Finnish Gulf. The waterfront and the piers and forts were crowded with spectators. From the signal masts above the forts fluttered a string of colored flags, reading: "Good luck to the Baltic fleet on its long voyage."

The Japs at Port Arthur.

Che Foo, Sept. 12.—A Chinese who left Port Arthur the night of Sept. 9 arrived here yesterday and reports that Japanese troops to the number of 5,000 control Louisa Bay to the northwest of Port Arthur. This Chinese was taken to Port Dalny, and on the way passed through five villages where detachments of Japanese are making use of a balloon, which he describes as a cigar-shaped affair, with a car suspended, and says that "a fat foreigner, wearing a moustache," runs the balloon. The Japanese intrenchments line the hills in every direction, and reinforcements are constantly arriving from Port Dalny. The Japanese hospitals at Port Dalny are filled with wounded and transports are engaged in removing the wounded men to Japan as fast as possible.

Race Now For Hun Bridge.

New York, Sept. 12.—The Herald's St. Petersburg correspondent wires: The race between Kuropatkin and Kuroki appears now to be to the Hun River bridge. According to the opinion of military experts, the fight is sure to take place there, its extent depending upon the progress made by Kuroki. Newspaper correspondents and foreign attaches at the front have gone to Harbin, where the consul also is.

Japs Loot Red Cross.

Liaoyang, Sept. 7.—(Via Tientsin, Sept. 12.)—The Japanese officers were unable to restrain their soldiers after six days of desperate fighting and looting became general. Last night the soldiers, in attempting to rob the missionary and Red Cross compound, stabbed Dr. A. M. Westwater, a well known medical missionary, in the neck and hand.

This is said to be the first instance that the Japanese soldiers have been known to be uncontrollable.

The Japanese were welcomed by the Chinese, but they abused the good name which they established in the Chino-Japanese war.

Quiet at Mukden.

Mukden, Sept. 12.—All is quiet in this region. It is understood that the main force of the Japanese has retired to Yentai. A solemn service was held here yesterday for the repose of the souls of those killed in action. It was attended by the entire staff and garrison.

Alexieff Would Quit.

London, Sept. 12.—A despatch to Reuter's Telegram Co. from St. Petersburg says it is understood that Vicaroy Alexieff, in view of the paramount military exigencies in the Far East, has placed his resignation in the hands of the Emperor, but no decision with regard to it has yet been taken.

MRS. BLODGETT'S ACCIDENT.

The Examiner has Received the Following for Publication.

Peterborough, September 11, '04.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—There is a certain rumor going around to the effect that my accident was caused by falling from the street car. It would seem that it is the general opinion that the accident was caused by the careless position I occupied on the car. But that is erroneous The real facts are these. When I held up the car I was loth to board seeing its crowded condition, but was assured by the conductor that there was plenty of room. However, when I boarded I realized that there was scarcely good standing room. But all went well until we came to the curve at Lake and George streets when the uncalled for swiftness with which they turned, took me off my feet and hurled me to the ground.

There were a number who witnessed the accident and who will verify these statements.

I write in justice to myself. Thanking you, I remain,

Respectfully,
MRS. S. BLODGETT.

NAT SCOTT'S HOLD-UP STORY

How Train Robbers Held Up C. P. R. Transcontinental Express.

NEAR MISSION JUNCTION, B.C.

Calm Coolness Distinguished the Nervy Robbers in Ordering Train Hands to Do Their Bidding at the Point of Revolvers and Rifles—$7,000 in Gold Dust Secured—Also Registered Letters.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 12.—The C.P.R. transcontinental express was held up five miles from Silverton, B. C., thirty miles from Vancouver, at 9 o'clock Saturday night. The hold-up was performed in a most masterly fashion, not a hitch taking place.

Here is the story told by Nat Scott, the engineer of the train: "A mile and a half from Mission Junction I felt some one pushing me aside from behind. I turned and saw a masked man, who said in a very quiet voice: 'I want you to stop the train.' I thought at first it was a joke. I said: 'Ah, get out,' and I made as if I would tear the handkerchief off his face. Again came the quiet voice, though this time with more firmness in it: 'I tell you I want you to stop the train.' Then I saw in the uncertain light a revolver pointing at me from above the cab. I said: 'You're not joshing.' 'No,' he said, 'I am not joshing.'

Rifles Pointed at Him.

"I pulled the lever and the train began to slow up. The man in the mask called out: "Don't stop her now, go on till I tell you to stop. Do as I tell you and not a hair of your head will be touched. Stop at Silverton, at the little bridge with the church to the left.' I said all right, I am at your service, and as I turned to speak I noticed two more rifles pointing at me from above.

"We went on for about three miles until we got to the bridge west of Silverton. Here he shouted to me to stop the train. I did so. Two highwaymen then got down with Creelman, the fireman, and got him to uncouple the part of the train containing the engine, express and mail car, while the third man covered me on the engine. I chatted with this man and he talked back. There was no swearing or bluster. When the three got back I was ordered to go ahead with the express and mail car. I went ahead for a mile and a half to Ruskin and was again ordered to stop. Here I was ordered back to call the expressman out of his car. I did so, and the highwayman ordered up his hands and took his revolver from him.

$7,000 in Gold Dust.

"They then told him to throw out the express parcels and the money and open the big safe. He threw them $7,000 in gold dust from Ashcroft, but said he had not the combination for the safe. The mail clerks were ordered in the same way to throw out all registered letters. The highwaymen asked where the package from Victoria was, but were told they had everything. The highwaymen then said to the mail and express clerks: "Get back boys and go to bed.'

"I was then ordered back to the engine, which was uncoupled, and I was told to drive them to the creek at Warnock station. Here they jumped off and said: 'Good night.' I replied: 'Good night, I hope you will have a pleasant journey.' The ringleader who did all the talking for the gang replied: 'I hope we will.' I then called out to them, 'You fellows have got your nerve with you.' The reply came back: 'And we got something else, too.'"

Last night the posse of police had traced the highwaymen across the Fraser River, and are now following the trail through the woods to the American border, ten miles distant. Nat Scott has given a fairly good description of the men. Conductor Ward was met by the highwaymen when coming forward to see what was up. He was ordered back into the passenger cars, where he warned the passengers to secrete their valuables. The passengers were not molested.

RUSSIANS STILL ON THE RUN.

Kiuopathins Forces at Mukden are Retiring Before the Japs.

(Special to the Examiner.)

St. Petersburg, September 12th.—General Kuropatkin's army is again in retreat. The forces which have been resting at Mukden for several days past are now retiring on Tie Ling, the pass forty miles to the north of Mukden, where, it has been stated on several occasions, a stand would probably be made against any advance which the Japanese might attempt.

MISLEADING INVENTION.

Sheet No. 8 of the Conservative campaign literature, which with other similar campaign stuff was franked through the mails at the Government expense, has been suppressed, and no wonder. It is in the form of an appeal to workingmen, telling them that by reference to "the last Auditor-General's report, p. w. 16p," they will see that the Government, "which is going to spend over $200,000,000 of your money on the Grand Trunk Pacific grafter scheme," is at the same time paying Intercolonial employees very low wages, a list of which is appended."

As a matter of fact, neither in the last Auditor-General's report nor in any previous report of his, nor in any other public report or document whatsoever, are any such figures to be found. The whole thing has been invented. Wages on the Intercolonial are higher to-day than ever before in the history of the road, as the heads o the various unions will bear witness. The Government felt that the men should participate in some measure in the general prosperity, yet when their wages were increased, notably, last year, professional Conservatives of the stamp of Mr. George Taylor hinted on the stump that they were being bribed. It is scarcely necessary to add that the Grand Trunk Pacific is not a "grafter" scheme and will not cost the country "over $200,000,000," or any such sum. The distances from Moncton to the Pacific Ocean are as follows:—

	Miles.
Moncton to Quebec	400
Quebec to Winnipeg	1475
Winnipeg to Mountains	1000
Mountains to Pacific	480
Total	3355

To cost $200,000,000 the price per mile would have to be over $60,000. The wildest estimate placed by Mr. Borden on the Mountain section is $60,000 per mile, on the Prairie section $22,000, and on the work east of Winnipeg $35,000, so that the flysheet figure is an exaggeration of an exaggration. Further, as everyone knows, the Government will build the Moncton-Winnipeg section only, and exact an adequate rental from the company which is to operate it, the sections west of Winnipeg being built by the company itself with the aid of Government guarantees, on which, if the enterprise be anything like so favourable for the company as the Conservatives say, the Government will not be out a cent. It is not surprising, then, that Sheet No. 8 should have been withdrawn from distribution. But it is still being circulated in the hope of influencing those who do not pay much attention to such matters, on the old theory that everything is fair in political warfare, even trumpet-tongued lying.

A GOVERNMENT THAT DOES THINGS.

Ross Government Practises What Others Preach.

How They Have Carried out the Motto Canada for Canadians.

The Brockville Recorder, of which that most versatile of men, Mr. G. P. Graham, M.P.P., is the proprietor, has issued a most attractive supplement dealing with the work being done on the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario railway, now being constructed by the Ontario Government. In presenting the special number to its readers the editor makes this forcible declaration:—

"If the people of Ontario could only realize the vastness of their heritage and the magnitude of its resources, the petty squabbles and bickerings of small bore politicians would rapidly be crushed out of sight in the one desire for the development of the wonderful wealth a beneficient Providence has entrusted to our keeping. The prosperity of older Ontario depends to a large extent on the vigour with which this development is carried out."

In this work, as in all cases where practicable, comments the Brantford Expositor, the Government has pursued a thoroughly Canadian policy.

The first outcropping of this policy was in connection with the purchase of the rails, when the Algoma Steel Company was asking $3 per ton more than European houses were quoting, the commission consulted the Premier, and received the following reply:—

Toronto, Dec. 11th, '03.

My Dear Sir,—In reply to your favour of the 6th inst., in which you state that the commissioners are "not indisposed if the government approves of that course, to award the contract to the Algoma Steel Company, even at a price higher than the lowest outside tender," I beg to say that in view of the policy of the Legislature in favour of the construction and equipment of the T. & N. O. railway with supplies manufactured in Canada, the government is of the opinion that the commission would be justified in awarding the contract to the Algoma Steel Company, even at prices in advance of outside tenders and more particularly in this case, since such advance price (as I understand from the papers submitted) amounts to the small sum of $3.05 per ton.

The Province of Ontario has made large appropriations for the development of its mineral resources, and while there is some advantage to the province in the simple operation of its iron mines by the sale of ore either in Canada or elsewhere, the most substantial advantage to the province is to be secured from the manufacture of these ores into such material as may be required in the other industries of the country. The Algoma Steel Co., has invested a large amount of money in a steel plant, which I believe is capable of producing rails of an approved pattern and design, and in the manufacture of these rails Canadian ore is largely required. The company therefore, serves a double purpose, (1) of utilizing our best ores and (2) of furnishing employment to a large number of people. Both of these objects the government has endeavoured to advance by legislation, as well as by substantial aid in the form of subsidies. You may, therefore, assure the commissioners that in the action they propose taking they will have the most cordial approval of the government.

Yours truly,

GEORGE W. ROSS,

P. E. Ryan, Esq., Secretary Temiskaming & Northern Railway Commission, Toronto.

The approval of the Government having thus been ogtained of the disposition of the commission to favour the home manufacturer, the of the order with the Algoma Steel Co., at $32 per ton was approved, $subject to the execution of a form of contract approved by the commission.

Accordingly an order for 8,200 tons of 80 lb. rails was given the Algoma Steel Co., at $32 per gross ton, but as is now well-known they were unable to fill the order, and it was given to Charles Gammell & Co., of Sheffield, England, at $28.85 per ton, f.o.b. North Bay. It is no secret that the last order to the European house was just to cover this year's delivery as it is hoped to accept an order in a short time.

A striking feature of the construction of this road, is the thorough Canadianism that surrounds it. The staff is thoroughly Canadian and except the rails just mentioned, every bit of material is of Canadian production.

The ties are being procured along the right of way.

The Hamilton Steel and Iron Company has the order for angle bars, while the Toronto Bolt and Forging Company, and Pillow & Hersey Company of Montreal, are furnishing the spikes.

The first named has also an order for 27,000 tie plates, and Holden & Company of Montreal an order for lock-nuts.

One hundred flat cars have been purchased from Rhodes, Curry & Company of Amherst, N. S., for $681.50 each, delivered at North Bay. This does not include the Westinghouse automatic air brake furnished by the commission with which the cars are equipped, but it does include the placing of such brakes on the cars. These cars are of the most modern design, and have a carrying capacity of 60,000 lbs. each.

The Rathbun Company of Deseronto, supplied 50 box cars, as handsome a lot as ever rol'ed on a track. The price was $330 each, delivered at North Bay, with the same terms concerning the air brakes on the cars. These cars are of contract. Each of these cars bears the name T. &N. O. Railway, and is capable of carrying 60,000 lbs.

Fifty flat cars have also recently been purchased from the Crossen Company of Cobourg, as well as three first-class cars, four second-class cars and two combination baggage, mail and express cars.

It is very gratifying, too, to know that this provincial railway did not have to go outside of Canada for locomotives, for they have been purchased from the Canadian Locomotive Works, Kingston, at a very small advance over the prices quoted by an American firm, laid down. These ten-wheeled locomotive engines have 19 x 24 inch cylinders; driving wheels 56 inches in diameter; weight of engine in working order, 132,000 lbs; weight of tender, 96,000 lbs; tank capacity, 4,000 imperial Gallons.

James Cooper of Montreal, got the contract for telegraph material.

Then there is the fencing, and nothan gbut the Frost wire fencing is being used, which is made in Welland, Ont.

And thus the story might be continued. To sum up, the Ross Government did a splendid piece of things when it decided to control, by means of a Government-constructed road, the trade of our North Land, and no better evidence need be asked of the spirit which has animated it throughout than the story of the building of the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario railroad.

CANADIAN CLIMATE AND SPORTS.

Canada is different from most other countries in respect of climate, and the peculiar conditions have already, in a young country, produced a race of men of various characteristics. They are versatile to a degree. The typical Canadian is one who can turn his hand to anything, an individual who amid the supreme difficulties of living will never starve.

That versatality of the Canadian is noticeable in his recreation. It is a reflex of what he can do in the sphere of bread winning when put to it.

The average Canadian perhaps does not realise that he participates in a greater number of different forms of sport or recreation than does he of any other nationality under the sun. And this is more especially true of the Montrealer. If we take a Canadian typical young business men, we find that whether he becomes an expert in each or not he takes part in some half dozen games. During the winter months he skates, he curls, he plays hockey, while with his lady friends he attends an occasional ice carnival. In spring he plays golf until the turf is ready for lacrosse, cricket and association football. He plays golf then, too, and rows as well. In the fall he plays golf again, and has a few weeks of Rugby football. After that the old order is renewed.

Compare this young Canadian with his fellow of other English-speaking countries. The Englishman, the South African and the Australian plays only football and cricket. Only a few go in for aquatics. The Scot skates and the Irishman plays football and golf. Very few play cricket and fewer still row. The Scot curls, but, admitting that the conditions are against him, he does not curl so well as the Canadian. All of them play better football and cricket than do the men of this country, but the reason is simply that they devote half of each year to each. In the other branches mentioned the Canadians are superior.

This participation in more varied forms of recreation is rearing athletes of different characteristics. See an English football team walk on the field, they are broader and thicker than the Rough Riders. The same is observed in cricket. The Canadians are longer and scarcely so heavy. They are taller on the average.

Climate has, of course, had much to do with these differences. It is the general experience of Old Country athletes that they lose weight in this country, but they become "lighter" and are less apt to lose their condition. When it takes an English football player of over twenty-two a couple of months to get really fit, the Canadian is practically fit all the time.—J. M.

WHAT ONE MAN HAS DONE.

The Remarkable Achievement of a Remarkable Man—A Splendid Example of What Untiring Devotion can do.

For years Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, of Lincoln, Neb., studied the problem of how best to prevent and cure disease. He was not stisfied with the methods and treatments in general use and after long study and much experiment he declared that:—

"The poisonous products of the fermentation and decomposition of undigested foods absorbed by the system are the first cause of almost every disease."

He knew that all the medicines prescribed for the stomach and bowels contained resinous properties which left behind them a dried up condition of the mucous membrane lining of the stomach and bowels—this after effect invariably resulting in Chronic Complaints.

Dr. Leonhardt therefore determined that to correct disorders of the stomach and bowels he must produce an effective medicine containing absolutely no resinous substances such as are found in the ordinary pill.

He succeeded and the result he called Anti-Pill.

Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill will cure permanently any case of Dyspepsia or other Stomach Trouble, Biliousness, or Constipation.

Germanic Goes Aground.

New York, Sept. 12.—The White Star Line Germanic, in the service of the American Line, which sailed from Southampton on Sept. 3, went aground in the main ship channel near Sandy Hook during a thick haze last night. The steamer does not appear to be in a bad position. She may possibly float clear at the next high water this morning.

Killed Thirteen Cattle.

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—Twenty-five cattle in the yards at Buckingham awaiting shipment got loose Saturday night and strayed along the track. The C.P.R. Montreal local express for Ottawa ran into them, killing thirteen. The loss is estiamted at $500. The cattle belonged to an Ottawa drover. The train was delayed for an hour.

Kept Poor by Doctor's Bills.

Many a family is kept poor by doctors' bills when just as good and oftentimes better results could be obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills which sell at 25 cents a box of twenty-five doses. As one pill a day is the most frequent dose under any circumstances there is no treatment obtainable which costs so little and at the same time none which brings about such excellent results in derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels.

GLORIOUS RECORD OF BLACK WATCH BAND.

The Battles of the Black Watch—The Band and the Pipers Have had Their Share.

The Black Watch has the finest band as well as the most splendid record of the Scottish regiments in the British army. The band now in Canada has served with the fighting man of the first battalion wherever they have gone, and its members are remarkable for their long service. The Black Watch Pipers have been heard on every continent and their skill has inspired not merely the grim warriors of their own corps, but the soldiers of every other regiment within hearing distance.

The history of the regiment begins in 1725 when a number of Highland gentlemen volunteered to help the Crown put down the Jacobite rebellion. So well did they accomplish this self-appointed task that in 1729 the Government decided that these gallant Loyalists might well serve as the nucleus of a permanent regiment. Its members, at this time, were not enrolled for service in foreign lands, and so the regiment attracted large numbers of the superior yeomen class of men of substance who had no desire to travel across the seas to fight. From the very first, therefore, the 42nd was conspicuous for the superior qualities of its members. In the six companies there were 525 men, and each officer was a Highland Chieftain. Their uniforms consisted of tartans of black colours, hence the name "Black Watch" to distinguish them from the regulars known as the "Red Soldiers". The arms of the men were distinctively Scottish, and consisted of claymore and dirk, in addition to the more common musket and bayonet. Their sergeants carried the Lochaber axe, famed in song and story.

In 1743 the regiment first went on foreign service, and in 1745 took part in the Battle of Fontenoy. Of its part in this famous conflict an historian has said: "The gallantry of Sir Robert Munro and his Highlanders was the theme of admiration throughout all Britain." The valor of the Scots, however, although it did not turn a defeat into a victory was sufficient to win an orderly retirement from the single great European battle where British arms suffered a reverse. It is comforting to know that the day was won for the French by Count Lally's Irish Brigade. In the same year Prestonpans was fought, and in the following year the regiment sailed for America, where it did garrison duty for a year before again retiring to Flanders. In 1756 the Black Watch came back again to the new continent, and in 1758 saw service at Ticonderoga. Two years later it was in the army which captured Montreal. For the next thirty years the regiment was fighting on American soil almost continually, being stationed in Nova Scotia from 1763 to 1739. The following year saw the band organized, and then came another campaign in Flanders.

It was in this campaign that the Forty-Second won the "Red Hackle", in other words the feather which is such a conspicuous part of the regimental headgear. The episode occurred on the banks of the Waal River, at the village of Gildermaison. The 11th Light Dragoons had been posted to cover the retreat of the British pickets, but in the face of a determined charge by the French it fell back in disorder, abandoning its guns. At this the Black Watch rushed forward dashed through the victorious French and recapured the field guns. The reward of the Highlanders for this feat was, unhappily, achieved at the expense of the Dragoons, for George III. ordered that the red feather of the 11th should be transferred to the Black Watch, and that the Dragoons should wear instead a white feather, with a yellow top.

The conduct of the Black Watch at Abukir Bay where the regiment landed on a bare beach in the face of a terrific fire, repulsed a charge of infantry, and a moment later mounted the French Cavalry, has been described as an event "Almost without parallel in the annals of war." Three weeks later the Battle of Alexandria Bay was fought and won, and then followed Corunna, where the retreating British Army turned on the French, and defeated them in a sanguinary engagement. Here, it has been said, "The bravery of the Black Watch brightened the last moments of Sir John Moore."

At Quatre Bras the 42nd won fresh laurels and the particular praise of Wellington. Most of our readers are no doubt familiar with the famous painting entitled "Quatre Bras" where the kilted men of the Black Watch are seen in the fete, sorghums, corn, fodder and pasture plants, turnips, mangels and sugar beets can be provided. By studying these plots farmers may learn just what crops and what varieties are best adapted to their farms, thus bringing home to particular conditions of soil and climate the general conclusions arrived at by the experimental farms. In all kinds of farm crops the yield per acre may be materially increased and the quality substantially improved by the use of seed which has been graded up by careful growing and systematic, intelligent selection, continued without interruption from year to year. This fact cannot be too soon brought home to the farmers of Canada, and one of the best ways of doing so would be to have on view at the fairs representative exhibits of the great work being done by members of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association.

INTERESTING THE WOMEN AND THE CHILDREN.

Demonstrationsms of agricultural processes are interesting to everyone, but the operation of a model kitchen and dining room, with exhibitions of cooking simple dishes and addresses on domestic science, will appeal especially to the farmers' wives and daughters. That the children may be led to take an intelligent interest in the fair, prizes might well be offered for exhibits by school children of cut flowers, grains, clovers, and grasses, roots and vegetables, fruits, pressed and mounted wild flowers, weeds and weed seeds, beneficial and injurious insects and native woods. These exhibits could be supplemented by essays for which prizes might be offered. Wherever tried this plan has proved effective in inducing children to begin the fascinating study of Nature. Every precaution should be taken to have a good clean fair, where all the boys and girls may go to spend a pleasant and instructive day without coming in contact with any injurious influence.

KEEPING GOOD SIRES.

Many agricultural societies, particularly in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces do not hold fairs, but in lieu thereof buy and maintain pure bred sires for the use of their members. This is a practice which might well be imitated more largely in Ontario, where the number of fairs seems excessive. By adhering to one breed of cattle, horses, sheep, or swine, as the case may be, the stock belonging to the members of a society may be graded up wonderfully at a small cost, but the habit of changing continually from one breed to another must prove fatal to all plans for building up a good, uniform herd or flock of pure bred stock, which is just what the average farmer needs.

Monkey Brand Soap makes copper like gold, tin like silver, crockery like marble, and windows like crystal.

GREAT VALUE OF AGRICULTURAL FAIRS.

The New Educational Features—A Substitute for the Fair.

It is a self-evident proposition that agricultural fairs which receive grants of public money should give the public something of value therefor. It is not the province of governments in these days to assist in providing amusement for the people. A good many agricultural societies are now making an earnest effort to improve their fairs by the introduction of educational features, and their example is being followed by the large exhibitions which do not ordinarily receive legislative grants. There are still some fairs, controlled largely by the business men of the towns, which seem to be held for the purpose of attracting visitors who will prove good customers but the number is fortunately becoming few. It is not generally recognized that shows exist primarily for the purpose of improving agricultural conditions.

TEACHING MARKET REQUIREMENTS.

The up-to-date fair secures the services of expert judges, who explain the reasons for their decisions in the ring and give addresses on the best types of horses, cattle, sheep and swine. In this way the judging may be made an educational feature instead of merely an allotment of premiums by men who are often incompetent or biased in their judgment. The awarding of prizes at a fair is a comparatively unimportant matter as compared with other considerations. What is really desirable is that fairs should be the means of disseminating information and for fixing correct ideas in the minds of those who are producing food-stuffs and on whom the prosperity of Canada depends. Desirable and undesirable types of fowls may be shown, with lectures on the fattening of chickens for the British and domestic markets and exhibitions of killing, plucking and packing for export. A model poultry house, with incubators, brooders, fattening crates and other appliances interested thousands of visitors at the Toronto fair this year. Practical demonstrations of the proper packing of fruit for export should be given in fruit districts by expert packers, and the most approved styles of fruit packages exhibited.

TO IMPROVE FARM CROPS.

Another feature worthy of adoption by all agricultural societies, but which only a few have yet taken up, is the growing of illustration plots on the fair grounds. At a small expense a very interesting and instructive exhibit of the best varieties of grasses, mixtures of Scheme to Rob the Farmer.

The following is the latest scheme to do the farmer, according to The Delhi Reporter: A well-dressed chap stops at a farm house and informs the occupants that he has lost a valuable diamond pin. He and the farmer make diligent search but fail to find the article. The well-dressed chap tells the farmer on going away that he will give $100 for the return of the jewel. A week or so afterwards a tramp comes in and tells the farmer he had found a diamond pin. The farmer, after some dickering, gets the pin for $25. After waiting some time the pin is taken to the jeweler, when it is found that 15c. is a big price for the diamond.

PEACE MOVEMENTS.

Inter-Parliamentary Union Ask Second Session of the Hague Convention—Riotous and Bitter Discussion.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 12.—The powers of the world, signatory to The Hague convention, will be asked by the Inter-Parliamentary Union, at its twelfth conference, to intervene in the Russo-Japanese war; President Roosevelt will be requested to call a second session of The Hague convention; the use of submarines in time of war will be deplored, and many kindred resolutions will be presented during the deliberations of this week.

The decision to undertake to bring about intervention in the Far Eastern War was not reached until after a heated discussion, at times, bitter. When the proposition was brought forward Saturday, M. Cochery, a French Deputy, was on his feet in an instant. He objected vigorously to any attempt whatever to inject the matter into the conference. He was supported by the president of the Italian group.

Then the suggestion was made that President Roosevelt should be the proper one to tender mediation. This proposition was left with the understanding that no further steps in the direction be taken without information as to the President's personal wishes in the matter.

International Peace Union.

The 38th annual session of the International Peace Union was resumed in the Hall of Congress at the World's Fair Saturday. Officers selected include: President, Alfred H. Love, Philadelphia, and a number of vice-presidents, among them being Clara Barton, Washington, D. C.; Wm. M. Cremer, M.P., London; Baron d'Estournelles, member of the Chamber of Deputies, Paris; Archbishop Ireland, St. Paul, Minn.; Cardinal Gibbons, Baltimore, Md.; Rabbi Joseph Levy, Pittsburg, Pa.; Archbishop Ryan, Philadelphia, Pa.; Lady Henry Somerset, London, and Baroness B. von Suttuer, Vienna, Austria. Resolutions were adopted setting forth the convictions of the union on international questions.

WITHOUT SAYING A GOOD-BY.

Editor Fawcett Tells Foreman He Was Going Away Never to Return.

Toronto Junction, Sept. 12.—A. R. Fawcett, editor of The Leader and Recorder, left town on Friday afternoon, not intending to return, and giving no one a clue to his future whereabouts. He gave no reason for his sudden departure, and did not even say good-bye to his wife and family.

The reason given for his shaking the dust of Toronto Junction off his feet is said to be looming financial difficulties. Before departing he left a letter with his foreman, in which he gave his wife power of attorney and a statement of his liabilities. The condition of the business, however, did not warrant his leaving it so suddenly. There was nothing very pressing, and his wife looks upon it as uncalled for. He has made frequent appeals to his subscribers of late, but these appeals had become chronic and there is nothing to indicate that his financial condition is worse now than it has been for some time past.

To his foreman, Mr. Fawcett said he was going away never to return, and to his family he did not tell them this much. Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Fawcett and the family.

He had of late told his children that they would have to get out into the world and shift for themselves.

Mr. Fawcett is a well known newspaper man and was the founder of The Flesherton Advance and The Toronto Junction Leader.

Lord Minto Off at a Gallop.

Edmonton, N.W.T., Sept. 12.—After a day of ceremony in the city, His Excellency the Earl of Minto Saturday afternoon began his 500-mile ride across country. Mounted on a fine-looking police broncho, riding an English saddle and wearing khaki and the wide-brimmed Stetson hat, without which westerners count themselves but partially dressed, he made a decided impression in this particular on those who watched his departure. The party moved off smartly eastward to overtake the transport which had started some hours earlier and to partake of luncheon, which had been prepared some 12 miles on the way. The route is from Edmonton to Vegreville, Burtch Lake, Lloydminster and Battleford, thence to Saskatoon, which is to be reached on the 21st inst. Fifty miles a day must be covered.

Anti-Semitic Riots.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 12.—Anti-Semitic rioting took place at Rovno, in the Government of Volhynia, Sept. 4, during which many persons were injured and shops pillaged. A similar outbreak occurred at Smela, in the Government of Kieff, where the troops were called. Ninety-eight houses and 145 shops were pillaged and several persons were seriously and many slightly wounded by the troops. Many of the rioters were arrested. The affair lasted two days, Sept. 4 and Sept. 5.

King Telegraphs Congratulations.

London, Sept. 12.—King Edward has telegraphed his congratulations to the officers of the British Antarctic expedition steamer Discovery, which arrived at Plymouth Saturday. His Majesty has ordered that a new medal be instituted for Polar service, and granted to all the officers and members of the crew. Captain R. S. Scott, commander of the Discovery, has been promoted to the rank of captain in the royal navy.

Of Use Every Day.

Once you become acquainted with the merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment and the scores of ways in which it is useful in every home, you would not think of being without it. Eczema, salt rheum, scald head, tetter, chaffing, chilblains, burns, scalds and every form of skin irritation and eruption soon yield to its extraordinary soothing, healing influence.

AN UNSEEMLY SCENE

Spectators Struggle For View of Hanging at Kentville.

RADCLIFFE MAKES A THREAT

That He Would Postpone Execution, But He Hurried It Instead, Not Waiting For the Usual Procession to the Gallows—Robinson Made No Confession, But Protested His Innocence.

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 12.—W. S. Robinson, the old man convicted of the murder of his wife near Berwick, suffered the full penalty of his crime at Kentville this morning. He went to the scaffold stoutly protesting his innocence. His last words to his spiritual adviser were: "I have no confession to make. I committed no crime. I am, so help me God, an innocent man." At midnight a large crowd hung around the jail, but there was no demonstration, although trouble had been looked for. Radcliffe arrived at 12.35 and went for Robinson at 1.25. While waiting he noticed that some of the spectators were making a disturbance. He threatened to postpone the execution. Seeing that matters were not improving a few minutes later, without forming the usual procession, he handcuffed the prisoner's hands and rushed him to the room adjoining the scaffold. As the door opened to admit them into the later several of the spectators, supposedly respectable men, were in a clinch on the floor, and others were trying to part them. The noose was quickly adjusted and within five minutes the trap was sprung, and in less than four minutes he was dead. The unseemly scene was caused through having too many spectators and some were fighting for good places. Even the scaffold was crowded.

INJURY FROM FROST.

Weather Now Fine, With No Rain and Harvesting Goes On.

Winnipeg, Sept. 12.—The cold spell which began Friday night ended in frost in some districts Saturday night. Fortunately high winds generally prevailed, thus minimizing the damage to wheat.

It is probable that a certain amount of damage was done in some sections to green grain.

Brandon district reports light frost doing considerable damage to garden stuff, though wheat does not appear to have suffered to any material extent.

The weather generally continues fine, with no rain, and harvest operations are consequently progressing rapidly.

Grain now is beginning to come in a little more freely, four cars of this season's wheat being inspected Saturday, two grading No 1 northern, one No. 2 northern and one No. 3 northern. But of course these receipts are very unfavorable compared with the situation a year ago.

LOST LIFE FOR THRESHER.

Fletcher McCartney Tried to Save Machine But Flame Enveloped Him.

Clinton, Sept. 12.—While engaged in threshing grain on the farm of Alex. Badour, in Goderich township, Fletcher McCartney was burned to death.

The fire was noticed in an old stack near the barn and it spread rapidly.

McCartney was the owner of the machine and was bravely trying to haul it out of the barn when the flames enveloped him and the machine.

The barn was completely destroyed.

McCartney was married and had a large family.

Thresher's Fatal Hurt.

Ripley, Sept. 12.—While threshing at the barn of George Emmerson, Purple Creek, Garner Stanley, son of William Stanley, 12th concession Kinloss, in attempting to replace the fanning mill belt while the machine was in full motion was thrown with his left arm against the cylinder sheaf pulley. It was taken off below the elbow. He received a deep cut on the shoulder, one on the temple, one on the back of his head, which affected the brain, and is considered by the medical men the most dangerous. Two hours after the accident four doctors were present and found it necessary to amputate the arm above the elbow. Mr. Stanley is 31 years of age, is married and has three small children. He has never gained consciousness, and the doctors entertain little hope of his recovery.

Fined For Selling Tickets.

Winnipeg, Sept. 10.—William Immell, a farmer, near Souris, and his wife, were charged before the court Thursday by the Canadian Pacific Railway with offering for sale and subsequently selling the return portion of a reduced rate ticket from Pontiac, Ill., to Souris, Man. They were each fined $20 and costs, and had to refund the amount obtained for the tickets.

Decision Will Stand.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—The Ontario Government have announced that the decision of Justice McMahon regarding the status of the Christian Brothers as teachers in the separate schools will stand unless reversed, and the Government will bear the total expense of an appeal if it is taken, in order to clear up a most important issue.

Redmond For Ottawa.

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—The local branch of the Irish National League has arranged for a demonstration on the 28th inst., to be addressed by John Redmond, M.P., the leader of the Irish Parliamentary party.

Turns Gas On and Dies.

Toronto, Sept. 12.—Despondency induced by the use of liquor caused Fred Thompson, bookkeeper for G. N. Reynolds & Co., Wellington street, to commit suicide in the firm's premises during Saturday night. When Mr. Reynolds went down to the office yesterday afternoon he found the gas jets turned on, but no light. Investigation resulted in discovering Thompson's body on the top floor. Deceased was a widower, 35 years of age.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, but by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Killed By a Train.

Moosejaw, N.W.T., Sept. 12.—Neil Smith of Winnipeg, was instantly killed at Moosejaw Friday night. Mr. Smith, his wife and two small children were passengers on No. 76, en route to Winnipeg. Just how the accident happened no one seems to know. Smith was in the yard where trains were switching and in some way he fell across the track, his head striking on the rail. A passenger train, which was making up, ran over him.

THE FRIENDS' BELIEF.

Interesting Statement of the "Thinkers". Four Cardinal Principles of Life—They Are Not Agnostics.

The Friends' General Conference, which recently was held in Massey Hall, Toronto, calls special attention to a people who have exercised a marked influence on religious thought, George Fox, the founder of the society, emphasized the idea of the soul being illuminated by the spirit of God, and of its being an unerring and sufficient guide to itself. Man was called from listening to external authority to listening to the voice within. "Mind the light" was his admonition. But while man was taught to be a rule unto himself, the Friends have sought for education and enlightenment so as to make the man a better light and guide. The Philadelphia yearly meeting of Friends has 48 colleges and schools under its care, from the kindergarten to the degree-conferring college. The Friends insist on the value of a secular training under good religious influence. Swarthmore and Haverford Colleges in Pennsylvania, and Bryn Mawr, the celebrated women's school, are all institutions identified with the body of Friends. Cornell, Johns Hopkins and Brown Universities were all founded by Quakers.

The Friends' Belief.

At the Sunday evening meeting of the conference, Dr. O. Edward Janney, of Baltimore, said: Recognizing that there are present this evening those who represent many shades of religious belief, and also because a statement has appeared in the daily press that the belief of the Society of Friends holding this conference borders closely upon agnosticism, it seems right that we should at this time make a statement of our belief.

While we have no written creed, and while there are among us different degrees of belief, still, from long acquaintance with members of the Society of Friends, and from a study of their writings, I think I have a clear idea of what the body which we represent here believes. It can be stated very briefly, as I will endeavor to do.

Four Cardinal Principles.

There are four cardinal principles upon which we are all substantially agreed. The first of these is a belief in God as the Creator of the universe and He who directs its destinies; as one who not only created the universe and made this world a fit habitation for the human race, and who still is in the world, but one who also has developed the human race so that through all the ages of time that it has existed there has been a gradual development from a lower to a higher stage of civilization and religious thought. We believe that God is not only the Creator, but that He is our Father, so that we are His children and have a bond of union with Him.

Secondly, we believe in the Bible; in the Old Testament, which contains the record of the dealings of God with the Hebrew people, working with them to develop their religious instinct, so that in the course of time there was born on their stem the wonderful flower, Jesus of Nazareth. We believe in the New Testament, valuing higly the record which is there given of the life of the Master and of His teachings and of those of His disciples.

Messiahship of Jesus Christ.

Thirdly, we believe in the Messiahship of Jesus Christ as being the messenger of God sent to the human race to re-establish the relationship which should exist between God and man, that of Father and child; that a part of His mission was to establish on earth the Kingdom of God which should reign in our hearts, and also to be the founder of the Christian Church. We believe also in the Divinity of Christ in the heartiest possible way; that the spirit, which was in him was divine, and as He depended upon His Father for inspiration and guidance, so must we. He said of Himself He could do nothing; as He heard He judged; and that spirit which was in Him which was the spirit of God, is the same spirit that is in us, guiding and enlightening.

The fourth principle is that of direct inspiration—that there needs to be no obstacle existing between God and man, between the Creator and His creature. At the coming of Jesus the veil of the temple was swept aside, that nothing should stand between the soul and its Creator; and we have assured and direct access to the divine source of life and light; we believe that God is able and does speak directly to the human soul.

Claim Title of "Christian."

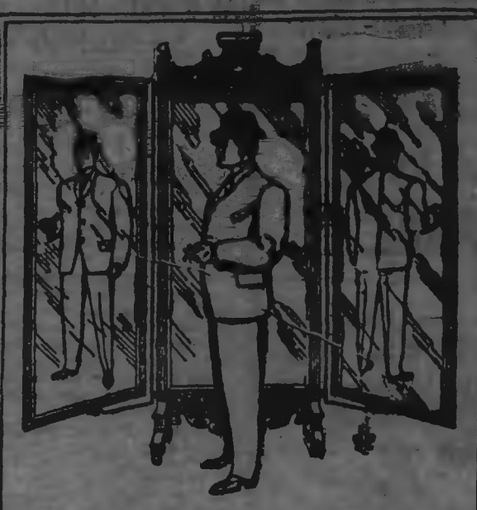
Believing thus it seems right that we should claim the title of "Christian." The Christian is not to be defined as one who belongs to any particular church or religious organization, or who believes in a special set of doctrines, but simply one who tries to follow Christ. He may follow Him far off or with a feeble and uncertain gait, but if he strives to follow in the footsteps of the Master one has a right to the title of Christian.

If our branch of the Society of Friends were to make a written Creed, the Sermon of the Mount would come as near an expression of our faith as it would be possible to write. We as Friends endeavor to follow these precepts of the Master.

Guided as we endeavor to be by the Holy Spirit, it follows necessarily that the life so directed must be a moral and religious one. If we are filled with the Spirit of God we must be peaceable in nature, for if we love our brother we can do him no harm. If so directed, our lives must be honest and virtuous in all respects, and we highly value simplicity of life. Such a belief is as free as possible from agnosticism, a faith deep and earnest.

The Sacred White Elephant.

In Siam when a sacred white elephant dies it is given a funeral grander than that accorded to princes of the royal blood. Buddhist priests officiate, and thousands of devout Siamese men and women follow the deceased animal to the grave. Jewels representing much wealth are buried with the elephant.



You Prejudge Effect!

"Made to order" clothing may fit your form after a fashion when it has been altered out of shape.

Custom tailoring makes you "guess" at the effect of a color or pattern in the piece—a process which may prove disastrous when the suit's made up and you have to pay for it.

Semi-ready is tried on at the basting stage—you can tell at a glance the effect.

Semi-ready conserves the characteristics of your individuality—you prejudge not only the effect of color, pattern, style, etc., you can see the fit—note any alterations required.

As the suit is tailored with the inner parts basted only and the seams left with outlets your form can be fitted to perfection.

Your money back for any cause whatever.

Lecture on the "Waterbabies".

To-night Professor Clark will give his famous lecture on Chas. Kingley's "Waterbabies," which every lover of literature should hear. The lecture will be at the Y.M.C.A. Hall under the auspices of St. Luke's church, and will begin at 8 o'clock. Admission 15 cents.

Royal Templars' Rally.

The Royal Templars of Temperance intend holding a rally to-morrow (Tuesday) night, Sept. 13th, in their rooms, George street, over Dr. Brown's dentistry office. A good programme of refreshments will be provided. All members are requested to bear this in mind.

Local Improvements.

Several of the merchants in town have been improving the appearance of their stores by having the woodwork painted and grained in dark oak finish. The effect has been very pleasing. Grafton & Co. are remodelling the front of their store, while Harry Adams and Lang & Maher have been improving the appearance of their store fronts in the same manner.

The Steamer Sovereign Trips.

The steamer Sovereign continues her daily trips between Peterborough and Rice Lake, with this change. On Fridays, instead of leaving at 9 o'clock in the morning, she now leaves at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, from her landing place below the locks, where she connects with the street railway.

AS BARRIE SEES VISITING 57TH.

The Visit of the Boys Appreciated and Enjoyed.

"On all Sides is Heard Expressed the Hope That They May Come Again".

The last lines of the above constitute the key note of the reports by Barrie papers of the visit of the Fifty-Seventh to Barrie.

In view of what are declared extravagant and over-drawn reports printed in a certain journal, not at all complimentary to the Rangers boys, the following report from the Barrie Gazette is reproduced:

They have come and gone, and the town once more pursues the even tenor of its way.

For three days, commencing with Saturday, our streets have been resplendent with the brilliantly coloured uniforms which characterize the volunteer force of the Dominion, and the town given over to "the dogs of war." In a peaceful sense, however, as none of the usual warlike accoutrements of the soldier were in evidence until the last day, when rifles were carried by the men on parade and during the ceremony of trooping the colours.

From the moment when the visitors were granted the freedom of the town on their arrival until the last red coat had boarded the train for his eastern home, there was always somethin' doin', and the best dence that their visit was appreciated lies in the fact that ON ALL SIDES IS HEARD EXPRESSED THE HOPE THAT THEY MAY COME AGAIN.

As a community Barrie has always been imbued with the spirit militant, and the welcome extended to the visitors, and their treatment while here, were such as might be expected from a town which furnished rather more than its quota in the late South African unpleasantness.

The regiment detrained about two o'clock on Sunday morning and at once made its way to the Queen's Park, where tents had been pitched, and everything done which might contribute to the comfort of the men while under canvas. The commissariat department was dispensed with, the men being billeted at the various hotels, which were taxed to their utmost to provide creature comforts for their temporary guests.

On Saturday the boys from the east literally took possession of the town and every expedient that human ingenuity could suggest to banish dull care was brought into play. The usual tenets respecting law and order were brushed aside for the nonce and the established notions regarding the right of the individual to his own property were relagated to the background. THE FUN-MAKING WAS OF AN INNOCENT NATURE, HOWEVER, AND WAS CARRIED OUT WITHOUT A SUSPICION OF MALICIOUSNESS.

In the evening the splendid band of the 57th under the capable direction of Bandmaster Gliddon, rendered a delightful concert in the Opera House, which, owing to the fact that business men and their employees found it impossible to attend, did not receive the patronage which its excellence deserved. Coming, as they did, so soon after after the appearance here of the Highlanders' Band, it was not unnatural that comparisons were drawn between the two organizations, and the consensus of opinion appeared to be that the Kilties had none the better of the harmony dispensers from Strattonville. The programme was admirably conceived and effectively rendered, the various numbers being given with a precision and graceful ease which speak volumes for the ability of the instructor. Perhaps the number which was most appreciated was "My Old Kentucky Home," the theme and variations of which allowed for the introduction of solos for various instruments, that of Mr. Ed. Cronk, the euphonium being particularly fine. Should this band again visit Barrie we bespeak for it a bumper house.

On Sunday the visitors headed by their band and accompanied by the 35th Regiment and band, attended Divine worship at Christ church, where Rev. Dr. Witten delivered a most impressive and appropriate sermon.

In the afternoon a sacred concert was held in the Queen's Park, where hundreds assembled to hear a programme of religious numbers which fully sustained the reputation which the band of the 57th had already made for itself.

On Monday—Labour Day—the Agricultural Park was occupied by a crowd which could not have numbered less than 2,000, the majority of those present being attracted by the "Trooping of the Colours" by the 57th Regt. This ceremony has been seen here only once previously, and was then witnessed by but a few. On Monday the trooping was most impressively performed and the various evolutions of the troops were gone through with a promptitude and accuracy which called forth much favourable comment from those familiar with this branch of military manoeuvres. After the main attraction a programme of athletic sports engaged the attention of the crowd during the remainder of the afternoon, chief among which were bicycle and horse races. In a tug of war between teams representing the 57th and the 35th Regts., the latter demonstrated that when it comes to brawn and sinew Simcoe may always be depended on to give a good account of herself. The adipose tissue of the home pullers proved too much for the visitors, and they were reluctantly forced to concede the victory to Col. McPhee's representatives.

But if the stay of the Rangers had been fraught with excitement, the culminating point was reached on Monday evening when our principal thoroughfare became a perfect saturnalia. The "cook's parade" was the lodestone which drew thousands to the scene of festivities, and with huge bonfires to light up the surroundings a unique impromptu programme of nonsense and fun was carried through with a vim and heartiness which left no doubt as to the thorough enjoyment of the participants. A pandemonium of sound and Babel of confusion was only brought to a close by the departure of the special train which bore the visitors away.

The following is from the Barrie Examiner:

Instead of going to the annual camp with the other regiments, the Fifty-Seventh do their twelve days drill during the summer, and put their pay into a fund for a trip such as they made to Barrie. Among the towns they have visited are Perth, Ottawa, Picton and Belleville. Perth wanted them again this year, and so did Stratford but they preferred Barrie. Both officers and men agree that they never had a more enjoyable outing than this year..... At times the soldiers carried their fun a little too far but no very serious damage was done. The officers promised to make good any damages caused by their men. That scarcely a soldier was seen the worse of liquor during their visit was a matter of general and favourable comment.....Saturday night a very enjoyable dance for the officers was given in the town hall from 8.30 to 11.30, music being furnished by the Barrie orchestra.....The concert that was given by the 57th Regiment in the opera house did not draw a very large attendance but those who did attend were delighted with the programme, which was one of exceptional merit. Bandmaster Gliddon has good reason to be proud of his excellent musical organization. His band has good balance, a full tone, and plays with fine expression and precision. Undoubtedly it is one of the best bands ever heard here.

CATHEDRAL WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Lottie M. Reed and Mr. W. J. Koster Last Week.

The ceremony that united for life Mr. W. J. Koster of Peterborough, and Miss Lottie M. Reed of Grand Rapids, Mich., was solemnized at St. Peter's cathedral by Rev. Father McColl, on Monday, September 5th.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white albatross and chiffon with a large white lace hat and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas and maiden hair fern. She was attended by Miss Lizzie Koster, sister of the groom, who was becomingly attired in a mode voile with large black black picture hat, and carried a bouquet of yellow asters. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. J. W. Koster.

After the ceremony a sumptuous breakfast was served at the home of Mrs. Lewis Major, 341 Rubidge street.

Many handsome and useful presents were received by the bridal couple. Mr. and Mrs. Koster will reside at 737 Water street, where they will be at home to their friends after September 15th.

A Millinery Message From Miss Delaney.

In anticipation of our formal opening event for the fall and season, next week, we desire to inform the ladies that we are fully ready now to show our new novelties and advanced styles. We are satisfied you will not hesitate to recognize in our autumn millinery the qualities of exclusiveness and distinction. The most popular dressy hats in vogue are all here, and a comparison of values will show how successful we have been. Will be pleased to wait upon those who require early orders rushed through this week. Reproductions of American and German models show refinement and good taste. Pattern hats and our own are here together. Come and judge between them. Miss Delaney.

Miss Irene MacFarlane's exhibition of Oil Paintings will be opened in the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday, Sept. 13th, from 3 p.m., for one week. Tickets, including catalogue, may be procured at Ormand & Walsh's drug store, "The Framery," 428 George-st., and from the Secretary Y. M. C. A. Price One Dollar, good for whole term of exhibit. 2d60

REACHED 250 MARK.

Record Attendance at Collegiate Over Crowds the Forms.

The need for a new Collegiate Institute was never more felt than at the present time. Last week's attendance at the Collegiate Institute was a record breaker, but this week the number of pupils attending is still larger, and the 250 mark was reached to-day. The lower forms are much over-crowded, there being 54 pupils in the first division of the first form. The attendance will likely reach the limit this week, and if the increase continues it is hard to say just where the new ones will be seated. It is certainly a record year, as far as attendance is concerned and the teachers hope to break another record or two when the pupils go up for examination next summer.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—Good evening.

—The regular meeting of the Board of Education will be held this evening.

—The attendance at the churches yesterday was larger than during the summer months.

—The attractions for this year's exhibition are ahead of those offered in any previous year.

—Piano tuning promptly attended to. Satisfaction guaranteed. A. E. Hoover. 'Phone 199.

—Stealing dogs is the latest fad. Several persons have complained that their puppies are missing.

—The new street car will be put on service in a day or two. Another car arrived from Ottawa on Saturday.

—Anyone who lost the little black dog which is at the police station may have their puppy by calling for it.

—The work of laying the new car tracks upon Park and McDonel streets is showing good progress.

—The street car did a great business on Saturday night and could not accommodate all those desirous of a ride.

—A more complete list of the oil painting to be exhibited at the Y. M. C. A. will be in Saturday's Examiner. 2d

—The Fair Directors are delighted with the prospects for the Exhibition. A record attendance is looked for.

—The barbers' trade will be slack for a couple of months. The Rugby season and the "chrysanthemum head" are now in order.

—Everybody has been on good behaviour since Saturday, consequently there was "nothin' doin'" at the Police Coort this morning.

—The stone layers began work today on the foundation for the Canadian Machine Telephone Company's new office, Charlotte street.

—The Toronto Exhibition closed on Saturday. The next great event in the line of exhibitions is the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition.

—The Japanese dead are cremated on the field of battle, which is Japan's gentle way of intimating to Russia that she has men to burn.

—An overcoat was picked up recently on Bethune street and is now at the police station. The person who dropped it will kindly take notice.

—Rev. J. C. Davidson, of St. John's and Rev. Wm. Major, of All Saint's, will take the Harvest Festival services for Rev. J. H. Teeney, of Emily, to-night.

—The Mission Band of St. Andrew's church meets on Tuesday evening in the church. This is the opening meeting of the season of 1904-5 and all the members are asked to be present.

—An exhibit of fine oil paintings will be opened in the Endeavour Room of the Y.M.C.A. on Tuesday next by Miss MacFarlane, of Toronto. tf

—Our weather is as beautifully capricious as a beautiful woman. Yesterday was the pleasantest day of the year, redolent of the balmy summer, and to-day, even with bright sunshine, the Americans are shivery, suggestive of coming winter.

—On Friday a young man named Shannon was arrested in Toronto on a charge of stealing a quantity of liquor from A. Elliott's warehouse, in town, some time last June. He appeared before the aMgistrate on Saturday and was remanded until Wednesday. He pleaded not guilty.

—Charlotte street Methodist church Ladies' Aid Society will hold a regular meeting, to-morrow (Tuesday) afternoon, at 3.30 o'clock, sharp, in the Ladies' Parlours. All members are urgently requested to attend, as business of importance will come before the meeting.

—Prof. Falla presided at the organ at both services at the George street church yesterday and gave splendid satisfaction. In the morning the choir sang, "God of My Life," and in the evening the anthem was "Seek ye the Lord," with tenor solo and obligato by Mr. A. L. Davis.

—The Examiner is always pleased to receive news items sent by correspondents, by the clergymen or otherwise, but would prefer to have the news written on a clean sheet of paper instead of the back of a calendar or a private letter, or even a piece of wrapping paper or a sale bill. When any such contributions are received, there is always the danger of the compositor setting up the matter on the wrong side of the sheet and if this appeared in print the effects might be rather confusing and even distressing, inasmuch as it might make public private affairs. Will correspondents kindly bear this in mind and write only on one side of the paper, and also to write, names especially, plain.

By the Way, Ladies.

ELOQUENT SERMONS AT ST. LUKES CHURCH.

Rev. Prof. Clarke of Toronto, Preached to Large Congregations Yesterday.

At both services yesterday the Rev. Professor W. Clark, D.C.L., of Trinity College, preached eloquent and practical sermons. The services were bright and hearty and the congregations were large, especially at the evening service, when all seats were taken. Prof. Clark is an eloquent preacher, a great scholar and considered an authority on English literature. His diction is perfect and his delivery fluent and of great fascinating power. At the morning service Mr. Lawrence sang "The Holy City," and at the evening service Mrs. K. Eardley Wilmot delighted the congregation with an excellent rendering of "Send Forth Thy Light." Prof. Clark chose for his text at the morning service St. Matt. vi, 28, "Consider the lillies," from the Gospel of the day.

At the evening service the preacher took his text from the Epistle for the day, Galatians vi, 17, "From henceforth let no man trouble me, for I bear branded on my body the marks of Jesus." The reference in the text was to the custom of marking, or branding the bodies of slaves as a sign of their being the property of a certain master. As St. Paul on various occasions, eg. Romans i, 1, had declared himself to be a bondservant of Christ, he here declares that he bears the brand of that Master, partly perhaps with reference to scourging and other afflictions which he had endured for Christ. Christ Himself had assumed the form of a bondservant and He required that His disciples should herein be like Him. St. Paul reckoned it his chief glory to be thus conformed to the pattern of his Master. He had many conflicts with the men who were rejecting or depraving the Gospel. He had reasoned with and remonstrated with them, sometimes in vain, and now he seems to say, he has done with this. He belongs to Christ; he has to please God, and not men, and all the opposition of men, to all their demands, he has this answer, "I am the bondservant of Christ." The preacher pointed out the application of these principles first to the minister of Christ and then to Christians in general. They had to choose whether they would serve God or man, and they must make the choice that Paul made. All men knew how faithful he had been. God grant that they might follow his example.

STREET CAR RAPID TRANSIT.

Is the Speed Dangerously Rapid at Times?

Co-operation of the Public Needed to Prevent Probability of Accident.

The Examiner's attention has been called to the fact as asserted that the rate at which the street cars travel is dangerous to the general public. It is particularly asserted that the cars ran at altogether to rapid a rate on George street between Brock and Charlotte streets. Of course, going south the grade would account for a pretty brisk speed. Whether or not the rate is too high, may be left to the proper authorities, but there is a feeling among many that there is danger to the public. At any rate the motermen would do well to exercise some care in the running of cars, especially till restive horses become more accustomed to them. On the other hand the public have also a part to take with a little better judgment than is sometimes displayed. They break both the law of prudence and a bylaw of the town. Bylaw 395, section 9, reads:—"No person shall * * * leave any horse or horses in any street, lane or alley, or other public place, untied." In spite of this and in defiance of the danger of the act, a horse was left untied on George street the other day at the dull part of the noon hour. The driver (a lady in this case) was not to be seen, having gone into some adjacent shop. The street car came from the north, the horse turned south, and had it been a spirited animal, or had it not been for a gentleman stopping it, a serious runaway would have taken place. The street cars would probably have been blamed, which would have been unjust because no horse worth the bulls on his oats would stand still under such provocation, and besides in this case the moterman the moment he saw the horse starting to run away, brought his car to a standstill. If car motermen will run their cars carefully and the public on their part exercise reasonable care, and not invite trouble by leaving horses untied, there will be little, or, at least, much less, cause for complaint.

For Boys and Girls.

The girls and boys of to-day will be the women and men of the future, and to give them a right start it is necessary to begin at the top—the head—the brain region. The schools do this to a certain extent, but Clarke's hat and cap store comes in to assist. Its proprietor is prepared to cover these bright, brainy little heads with hats and caps, stylish and of a low price. He is surprised at the large number of boys and girls who do their own shopping at Clarke's. Their parents must feel that the youngsters will be as well served as if they had watched the transaction in person. To encourage the boys and girls, Mr. Clarke has had prepared a souvenir school book which will be presented free with every tam or cap purchased by or for a girl or boy. The book is adorned with a picture of the Lift Lock, an item in history, and it matches another item in the history of the hat and cap trade represented by the splendid bargains in hats and caps for boys now in evidence at Clarke's hat and cap store, 374 George street. A bargain and a free book to boot, await every boy and girl. It

GARRISON FINISH WON A GREAT GAME.

Peterborough Defeated Port Hope in an Exciting Contest on Saturday.

Score was 9—8—Port Hope's Great Rally in the Ninth—How it Happened.

In the most exciting finish of any baseball game played here this season, the Peterboroughs defeated Port Hope on the Murray street grounds on Saturday afternoon by 9—8, in a Midland League game. The locals pulled the game out of the fire, after Port Hope had seemingly won it, by a garrison finish in their half of the ninth. Such excitement has rarely been experienced on a local ball field. The homesters took an easy lead and were ahead by 5—0 at one stage, but the visitors kept pegging away until they led by 8—7, when the locals went to bat in the ninth. Some nice base running and heavy batting, however, gave the locals two runs in the ninth with one man gone.

It is apparent that these two teams are very evenly matched. A couple of weeks ago they played a ten innings tie game, and Saturday's game was very closely contested. The game was an interesting one to witness though there was nothing very sensational. Boney's home run in the ninth, with a man on second, and which put the visitors ahead, was a rather lucky drive, the ball being about a foot above Whitcroft's reach but which should have been stopped by McDonald. Grady's three bagger to right centre was the prettiest hit of the day. Lamont gathered in some nice flies at short, while Graham's work behind the bat was splendid and his throwing to second was up to major League style. Chris has been putting up good ball all season.

McCorry won his third consecutive victory by effective pitching. He was hit rather hard in the ninth, but otherwise kept the bingles well scattered, and struck out some of the visitors' best batters. His control was good. Pethick was touched up pretty lively at times, but nevertheless twirled a steady game.

THE PLAY.

In the first, Henderson got to first on Sheridan's error, but got caught at the plate. Walters flew to McDonald,, and Marvin flew to Pilling. For the locals, Sheridan got a hit, and stole second; Lamont singled, and Graham sacrificed, scoring Sheridan. Whitcroft got to first on an error and McDonald did likewise, Lamont scoring. Long flew to Pethick, and Pilling grounded to the same player.

In the second Fogarty and Pethick fanned and Hudson flew to McCorry. For Peterborough, Grady flew to right, McDonald got to first on an error but was forced at second on Sheridan's grounder. Lamont cracked out a single but Graham flew to Boney.

In the next, Hudson flew to Pilling, Brown got to first on an error. Henderson flew to Sheridan and Walters grounded to McCorry. The homesters got three in their half. Whitcroft led off with a single. McDonald beat out a slow one to third. Long hit to short, forcing Whitcroft at second, Pilling fanned and Grady hit to left, scoring McDonald and Long on an over-throw. McCorry hit to third and Boney threw wild. Sheridan's single scored Grady and Lamont fanned.

In the fourth, Marvin flew to Lamont, Boney hit a safe one to Grady. Bellegbem hit to McCorry, forcing Boney at second; Bellegbem was caught stealing second by Graham's fine throw. For the locals Graham flew to Pethick; Whitcroft fanned, and McDonald fouled to Boney.

Fogarty grounded to third in the next. Pethick got a dig in the slats. Hudson missed three and Brown hit one to Sheridan. For Peterborough, Long flew to Brown; Pilling beat out a grounder to third. Grady fanned, McCorry grounded to first, Sheridan beat out a grounder to pitcher and Lamont flew to Walters.

Port Hope got their first run in the fifth. Henderson hit a sizzler, which McCorry could not handle; Walters singled to right, and Marvin did likewise scoring Henderson. Boney flew to Whitcroft, who threw the ball over Pilling's head in an attempt to catch Marvin. The ball went to the stand and Henderson scored. McCorry then steadied down and fanned Bellegbem and Fogarty. For the locals Graham grounded to second, Whitcroft hit to first and beat it out; McDonald hit out a two sacker; Brown made a fine one-handed catch of Long's fly and Pilling hit to third and died.

In the second Pethick fanned; Hudson hit to Sheridan, who threw fully 'steen feet over Pilling's cranium. Brown hit the atmosphere; Henderson got hit on the spine; Graham threw to catch him at second, and Hudson went over the fan. Henderson was nipped going to third. For Peterborough, Grady hit a beautiful 3-bagger to right centre, scoring on McCorry's sacrifice. Sheridan beat out a slow one to pitcher, Lamont sacrificed and Sheridan scored on a wild throw to catch him at third. Graham hit to Pethick, but Marvin dropped the spheroid. Whitcroft flew to second.

In the next, Walters flew to Lamont, who made a nice catch. Marvin hit to Whitcroft who dropped a hard chance. Boney singled to right, Bellegbem grounded to Sheridan and Fogarty fanned again. For Peterborough, McDonald flew to centre, Long hit to Boney, who threw high and the runner landed on third cushion. Pilling flew to Walters and Grady struck out.

There was all kinds of fun in the ninth, the fans had the cold shivers creep up their backs for a while. Pethick started the doings by hitting one to Sheridan; the runner fell on the way and "Dooley" had a week to catch him, but he threw the ball fully fifteen feet over Pilling's head and Mr. Pethick forgot to stop until he had reached Sheridan's station, and thanked him for his kindness. Hudson flew to Lamont. Brown's clean single to left sent Pethick walking home. Henderson fanned.

"Its all off," remarked a rooter.

"No it ain't" said another who used to live in Port Hope, and who looked wise.

Walters saumtered up to the plate and cracked the first ball pitched for a single and Brown returned home. Score 7—5.

"They can't make two more," murmured a fan, "Marvin won't hit it."

But Marvin did hit one which Sheridan allowed to glide through his legs in a graceful manner and Lamont, who was behind him could not grasp the sphere in time to catch the runner., Walters scored on this bad play.

Score 7—6.

A nervous and anxious look was visible on certain countenances.

Was Port Hope going to win after all?

"Nit," said the youth who climbed through a knot-hole in the fence.

Then Boney, who plays hockey came up to do things.

McCorry sent over a nice little drop which Boney said suited him. There was a dull thud and the ball was seen soaring over Whitcroft's head and passed McDonald. Would it ever stop?

When our centre-fielder had at last caught up to the thing, Boney was home safe and Marvin had preceded him.

Then the Port Hopers patted themselves on the back and said,—"Guess we're about all right."

Score 8—7.

Groans and wails were appropriate to the occasion.

"Would somebody kindly stop the slaughter?" wondered the crowd.

Bellegbem then came up to bat and hit a grounder to Whitcroft and the side was out.

Peterborough needed two runs to win.

"They'll never get it in a week," howled a Port Hope supporter.

"Wait," said a local man who was in no mood for conversation.

McCorry who was first up was implored to make a hit. He biffed one at Brown and beat out the throw.

Then the small boy began to get in his work. The noise was terrible.

Sheridan hit to Pethick, forcing McCorry.

One gone and still no runs.

By daring base stealing "Dooley" got to third and it looked better.

Lamont was the next up. "Lambast it, 'Reddy,'" said the kids. But "Reddy" simply laid down a beautiful bunt and Sheridan came prancing in.

Score 8—8.

The air was full of hats, yells and small boys.

Graham hit to Marvin who foolishly threw to second, when he had no chance to catch Lamont.

It was up to Manager Whitcroft to win the game. Whittie poked a slow one towards third and Lamont reached home with the winning run and the most exciting game of the season was terminated.

OBITUARY.

Death of Henry D. Coombes at Nicholls Hospital Yesterday.

At the Nicholls Hospital yesterday the death occurred of Henry Daniel Coombes. The deceased was taken to the Hospital recently suffering from dropsy, which finally caused his death. He was born in England, and has lived for many years in Otonabee, where he was engaged in farming. He was 53 years of age, and was unmarried. He leaves a brother, Harry, and two sisters.

The funeral will take place from the residence of his sister, Mrs. Edward Cooney, 294 Sherbrooke street, on Tuesday afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock, and proceed to the Little Lake Cemetery.

DEPUTATION TO OTTAWA.

The Ottawa correspondent to the Globe writes as follows:—

"Hon. Chas. Hyman, acting Minister of Public Works, will receive a deputation on Tuesday in regard to the Peterborough Drill Hall."

At to-night's meeting of the School Board it will be decided what member of this body will accompany His Worship the Mayor and Mr. R. R. Hall to Ottawa.

The Examiner job rooms have just received a new series of type for Wedding Invitations, Announcements, At Home Cards, Visiting Cards etc., of the latest metropolitan creation for work of this kind, and you are invited to call and see samples.

The Cost of "Discipleship".

There was a large attendance at the opening Men's Meeting at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday. Rev. Prof. Clarke was present, but owing to a cold was unable to give the address announced, although he gave a few words of appreciation of the work of the association. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, of St. Luke's, very kindly took Prof. Clarke's place and gave a forceful, practical address to the men on "Discipleship." The speaker next Sunday will be Rev. Dr. Stewart, of the Bible Training School, Toronto.

KING HAS 500 CLOCKS.

Half of Them Are in Windsor Castle and the Others Well Distributed—Many of Them Are Historical.

King Edward VII. has 250 timepieces in Windsor Castle and over 170 in Buckingham Palace, says The London Mirror. In St. James' Palace and Hampton Court are many more, making in all a kingly portion of 500.

King Henry VIII.'s clocks, which were a source of great delight to him at the palace, numbered only ten.

On the morning of her wedding Henry VIII. gave Anne Boleyn a clock ten inches high as a present. It is now in the chapel retiring-room at Windsor Castle. The lead weights are partly covered in copper gilt and are engraved with "H. A." and true lovers' knot on one and "H. A" alone on the other. Round the bottom of each are the words "The Most Happye." Poor Anne Boleyn was beheaded four years after. Queen Victoria bought this clock at the sale of Horace Walpole's effects at Strawberry Hill for 110 pounds 5 shillings.

This clock should surely have stopped when Anne Boleyn did, but it is evidently not a sympathetic timepiece, like one in Hampton Court. This is an old astronomical clock, originally made in 1540 for Henry VIII. It was restored in 1880 and set up in Clock Court, after lying for fifty years in a shed, says the authors of "Royal Clocks"—a book published by Mr. John Walker, the King's clockmaker, to further the interest of artistic clockmaking.

It was first erected on the ove of Henry VIII.'s marriage to Catherine Howard. Before the year was out the great dial saw her taken from palace to prison.

At Hampton Court also lived Anne of Denmark, James I.'s Queen. At the moment of her death, in 1619, the clock suddenly stopped, the story goes. Since then it has always stopped, the story goes, when any one dies who has lived for a long while in the palace.

The dial of the clock consists of three copper disks of different sizes, revolving at different rates. In the centre of the smallest, which is 3 feet 3½ inches in diameter, is a globe representing the earth. A smaller disk traveling in a circular hole behind shows the phases of the moon. A second disk, 4 feet 1½ inches in diameter, projects from behind and gives the moon's age in days, while the largest disk, of 7 feet 10 inches, exhibits the day of the month and the position of the sun in the elliptic. Nicholas Crazer, the designer of the clock, was not only a watchmaker but a diplomatist, who went to Germany on a secret mission for the King.

One of the few clocks known which go for a year without winding has stood in the same spot for two hundred years in William III.'s state-room at Hampton Court. Daniel Quare made it—a celebrated artificer, who in 1676 invented the minute wheel and gave two hands to watches. Before then they had only hour hands.

The finest clock at Windsor from a connoisseur's point of view lifts a perfect and elegant shape to a height of seven feet two and a quarter inches in the Van Dyke Room. It is of Louis XIV. buhl in red shell and gilt metal, from the design of the Marots. The present movement is by Vulliamy, whose name appears frequently on royal clocks. He made the large clock at the general postoffice, St. Martin's-le-Grand.

The Windsor Castle turret clock, placed over the state entrance in the quadrangle, goes for eight days and strikes the quarters as well as the hours. The great wheels of the striking parts are twenty-four inches in diameter, and the hours are struck on a bell weighing thirty-two hundredweight. It is wound by a double multiplying jack and requires one thousand revolutions to raise the weights.

In Windsor Castle, too, in the footman's room is an "Act of Parliament clock." It has a large dial of wood painted black, with gilt figures, not covered by a glass, and a trunk long enough to allow of a second pendulum. Pitt had imposed a tax on all timepieces, so these clocks were designed for taverns, where they might stand out boldly and tell the time to unfortunate members of the public unable on account of the tax to afford a watch.

In the King's room at Buckingham Palace is a sympathetic clock. Over it is a watch worn once by George IV., which is set to time by a small piece of steel that shoots up at twelve, and, entering a hole in the rim, operates on the minute hand and makes it correspond with the clock, provided the difference is not more than twenty minutes. It was made by Breguet, of Paris (1746-1823), who invented a winding motion, which was done by the movement of the wearer's body; a watch with projecting hours for the use of the blind, and the Breguet, or tipsy key, by which the winding of a watch the wrong way is rendered harmless.

On the mantel shelf in the state dining-room a fine design by Thomire is seen of Apollo in his chariot urging his steed over a space representing the vault of heaven. The wheel of the chariot is the dial. This beautiful clock was once covered by a glass case, but the King, thinking that these cases were inartistic, removed it and many others that had previously covered the royal clocks.

In the blue drawing-room is an astronomical clock by Lepine, who lived in the latter half of the eighteenth century, which forms a perpetual calendar. It is two feet, six inches high and has three dials. Its inner and upper dial is surmounted by a celestial globe, on each side of which is a bronzed gilt Cupid, who, by the mathematical instruments around them, seem to have laid aside for the time being the light pursuit of love. Its two outside dials are encircled with the signs of the Zodiac. The central dial denotes the time and has a seconds hand; the dial on the right of the spectator denotes the days of the week and the phases of the moon, and the dial on the left denotes the month and the day of the month.

THE DUTY OF PARENTS.

Prof. Goldwin Smith Expresses His Views Before the Friends.

Prof. Goldwin Smith took part in the discussion on the paper on "Parental Responsibility in Education," read by Miss Stover, before the Friends' convention in Massey Hall, Toronto, recently.

"The question of parental influence over children," said Mr. Smith, "is to my mind one of the first magnitude. I suppose it must be over fifty years ago that the British Parliament, after several tentative efforts, took up in earnest the question of national education, and appointed a commission to make inquiries and propound a scheme. Of that commission I was a member. I had the privilege of having as my colleagues several men of first-rate eminence and excellent representatives of the opinions they were sent to represent. I heard the question then discussed by every able man seated round a table without reporters, and I carried away from this discussion a lingering feeling in favor of home education, at all events the retaining to the home of that which seems to be primarily its duty. I fully recognize the necessity of securing the education of the people in free institutions, and I have always been loyal to the existing system, but I have always had some misgiving as to the effect of taking children so much away from their parents. Dr. Rice in his work on the American schools, which he had carefully surveyed, complains again and again of the indifference of the parents; he says he found them sometimes so indifferent that they would not take care to see that the schoolhouses were in a sanitary condition. One reads in the papers frequently complaints respecting the character of boys. I read a plaintive letter in The New York Journal on that subject, and the conclusion of it was that the boys were no longer under home influence.

"I hardly see how you can expect the mass of the children to be under home influence when the State takes them away from the home and makes itself responsible for their education. Something is wanting somewhere in the training of character. I have grown up to believe that in character is the main source of usefulness and happiness, and if that is neglected education will be a failure. There is certainly tendency here in Toronto to revert to voluntary schools—schools chosen by the parents, in which they take an interest, and which are more or less under their influence. I believe that points to a real want, and what will be the issue of it would be premature to say. I think before long the question will come up again, whether the State system is perfect and whether something more ought not to be done to bring the children under home influence." Mr. Smith closed by expressing the hope that the Society of Friends would be successful in "robbing the world of the scourge of war which we now see in its most hideous form."

Miss Stover, in her paper on parental responsibility, referred to the general tendency of parents to shift the training of their children to teachers. This was greatly to be deplored, as no school could supply the influences of the poorest homes.

"The Death of Wolfe."

Benjamin West's famous picture of the "Death of Wolfe," which will be exhibited at the Canadian National Exhibition by the gracious permission of His Majesty the King, was painted by West in 1771. It is a picture of much artistic significance, as it was the first in which a modern battle was represented in modern costumes instead of that of Greeks and Romans. The feeling against such a daring innovation was very strong. Sir Joshua Reynolds called upon West with the Archbishop of York, and tried to dissuade him from his project. But West was firm. They came again when the picture was finished, when Reynolds said to his companion: "West has conquered, he has treated the subject as it ought to be treated. I retract my objections. I foresee that this picture will not only become one of the most popular, but will occasion a revolution in art." All, however, were not convinced, and James Barry, in protest against such an indignity to historical art, painted the same pictures with the figures in the nude. Reynolds' prophecies were nevertheless verified, and the "Death of Wolfe" was the most successful and best of all West's pictures.

The picture was exhibited at the Royal Academy in 1771, and was purchased by Lord Grosvenor for the modest sum of £28. Woollets' plate after this picture had the largest sale of any engraving in England.

Benjamin West was born in 1728 at Springfield, Pennsylvania, of Quaker parents. He early showed a talent for art, and at nine years of age declared his intention of being a painter. In 1760 he went to Italy to study and remained there for three years. He then went to England, with two pictures painted in Rome. His works rapidly grew in popularity, and in 1772 he was appointed historical painter to King George III. by whom he was employed to decorate St. George's Hall, Windsor, with eight pictures from the life of Edward III. He also painted a number of royal portraits. He was most industrious, and produced altogether over 400 works, the "Death of Wolfe" being one of the early ones. He always had a profound belief in his own genius, and Leigh Hunt has left a charming picture of the kind, vain old man, in his stately house, surrounded by his own pictures.

Water and the Human Body.

Comparatively few people know what a large amount of water the human body consists of. A man weighing 200 pounds is made up of 120 pounds of water and 80 pounds of solids. The latter includes bone, muscle, etc. Even the fat of the body contains 15 per cent. of water, the liver is made up of 69 per cent. and the blood of 88. The skin contains 72 per cent., the brain 75 and the muscle 75.

It may be naturally supposed that a fluid so universally distributed throughout the body must constitute a very important article of its existence. Experiments have shown that on water alone life may be sustained as long as fifty-five days, whereas if dry food only were given death would ensue in a quarter of that time, and this in a most agonizing way. The terrible agony that shipwrecked mariners sometimes suffer in this way will induce them to drink sea water, and this adds a hundredfold to the uncontrollable thirst that induces delirium and death.

Women Make Poor Detectives.

The manager of a detective agency, who had warned women not to reply to his advertisement said the other day:

"Outside of special lines in department store work women do not make good detectives. They look at facts as they want them to be, not as they are, and work on those lines. They jump at conclusions quickly and cling to them beyond all reason. They work for spectacular effect and not for landing the goods.

"A woman detective is sometimes successful in entrapping a man, but there must always be an element of personal passion or revenge in it. If this is the case you are not sure of her.

"With their own sex women sleuths are not good at all. Clever women criminals can always play on their credulity and vanity. Women detectives in fiction, except in the field of high diplomatic circles, are untrue to those we find in real life."—New York Press.

Rebuked the Duke.

When commanding the warship Galatea some years ago the Duke of Edinburgh called in plain clothes on an admiral, who rebuked him with the stiff greeting, "I should have been very happy to receive your Royal Highness on any other occasion, but unhappily at this moment I am expecting a visit from the captain of the Galatea." The Duke went back to his ship and put on his uniform.

World Splendid Record.

Sir Jenkin Coles, Speaker of the South Australian Parliament, has just established what is probably a world's record. He has completed fourteen years of uninterrupted service in the chair without ever once being absent during working hours, from illness or any other cause. Sir Jenkin first entered at Christ's Hospital, and has lived for close on half a century in South Australia. He was in early manhood a member of the mounted police force, in which he had as a friend and contemporary the late Adam Lindsay Gordon, one of the greatest of colonial poets.

ASTONISHING OLD WOMEN.

London Ladies of Seventy Dress Like Girls of Twenty.

An observant American lady who has been among us taking notes has come to the conclusion that London's old women are the most astonishing in the world, says the London Express. Neither France nor America contains their like.

"Every time I have been in London," she said, "I have been struck with amazement by the number of old women who are dressed as if they were still in their rosy teens."

Growing old gracefully has become an obsolete art in London. West End shops have ceased to show styles for aged ladies. Lace caps, lavender gowns, and middle-aged mantles, like white hair, are out of vogue. Grandmothers nowadays cycle, golf, row, and dance with their grandchildren.

In the West End yesterday an Express representative observed some of the old ladies who had provoked the amazement of the American critic—the wonderful old ladies who will not confess to age. Electricity and massage has smoothed out the worst of their wrinkles, "transformations" covered their bald heads. Seventy had donned the muslin of seventeen, and the chiffon and flowers of girlhood crowned the head of old age.

A dress of flowered muslin, gauged and gathered and frilled, a low-necked transparent yoke showing a wrinkled throat, transparent sleeves accentuating the angular outlines of arms that have lost the curves of youth, a hat crowned with roses and tied with tulle strings—such is the garb of the season of many of London's old women.

White muslin and ribbon sashes of early girlhood were worn by many old ladies at a fashionable church yesterday. Aged faces were surmounted by picture hats; transparent effects were as eagerly sought after by the old as the young.

No color is too light, no garment too youthful, no style too pronounced, for London's astonishing old women.

"Astonishing old women!" "Yes, indeed, the old ladies of London are astonishing, wonderful." So spoke the London manageress of a world-famed French house to an Express representative on Saturday.

"There are none like them in Paris. No; not in all France. I know not what English ladies think they look like," Madame added. "But I know in Paris age does not masquerade as youth.

"But the old ladies in London, in society, they dress like girls of twenty. Their hats, their bebe hats all flowers and lace—in France an old lady would be ashamed to wear them. She would think it not proper to copy her grandchildren. Not that old ladies in Paris are dowdy," proceeded madame; "their dress is very elegant, very smart, even, but they do not ape the demoselle."

To Ascertain the Time.

To ascertain the length of the day and night, any time of the year, double the time of the sun's rising, which gives the length of the night, and double the time of the sun's setting, which gives very nearly the length of the day.

Constipation, Pains in the Back

Caused Keen Distress at Times —Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Made Thorough Cure.

Mr. Jas. H. Harvey, baker, 641 George street, Peterborough, Ont., states: "I was troubled very much with constipation and pains in the back. At times the pains were sharp like a stab in the back with a knife and caused me great suffering.

"I heard of many being cured by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and decided to try them. I am pleased to say that they soon helped me, and I used them right along until cured. I never have pains in my back now and only occasionally take a pill in order to keep my bowels regular."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto.

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

THE TIME I'VE LOST IN WOOING.

The time I've lost in wooing,
In watching and pursuing
The light that lies
In woman's eyes,
Has been my heart's undoing.
Though Wisdom oft has sought me,
I scorned the lore she brought me:
My only books
Were woman's looks,
And folly's all they've taught me.

Her smile when Beauty granted,
I hung with gaze enchanted,
Like him, the sprite,
Whom maids by night
Oft meet in glen that's haunted.
Like him, too, Beauty won me,
But while her eyes were on me
If once their ray
Was turned away,
Oh! winds could not outrun me.

And are those follies going?
And is my proud heart growing
Too cold or wise
For brilliant eyes
Again to set it glowing?
No—vain, alas! the endeavor
From bonds so sweet to sever;
Poor Wisdom's chance
Against a glance
Is now as weak as ever.

—Thomas Moore.

Affability of Queen Victoria.

The Queen is perfectly idolized by the people; she mixes among them familiarly, but while she pats the heads of the children whom she meets in her early walks, she takes care to mingle a graceful dignity with her condescension. The royal children after they have worked in their gardens go out to walk, and they are especially instructed to be courteous to whoever may fall in their way. Sometimes Her Majesty enters a cottage—perhaps at the dinner time of the occupants—and, sitting down at the table, partakes of the food.—London Atlas, of August, 1834, reprinted in Toronto Globe of that date.

Going for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Don't put yourself in this man's place, but keep a bottle of this remedy in your home. There is nothing so good for Colic, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery and Diarrhoea. It is equally valuable for Summer Complaint and Cholera Infantum and has saved the lives of more children than any other medicine in use. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

You, or some one of your family, are sure to need this remedy sooner or later and when that time comes you will need it badly; you will need it quickly. Why not buy it now and be prepared for such an emergency? Price, 35 cents.

ABOUT RUSKIN COLLEGE

ROUGH DIAMOND STUDENTS IN OXFORD'S WORKINGMAN'S COLLEGE.

Graduates Are Traders and Antipodes of Conventional Oxford Men—How Silly Snobbery Is Amply Proved—A Collier's Student's Troubles—Scheme for Rebuilding the College—Students Supported by Their Fellow-Workmen.

Ruskin College, the famous workingman's college at Oxford, appeals for funds to enable it to extend its accommodation.

Nearly two hundred students have passed through the college since it was opened five years ago. They are the antipodes of the conventional Oxford man.

Last year the trades of those in residence and the societies they represented were as follows: 1 and 2, trades union officials, organizing secretaries of the Steel Smelters' Association; 3, miner, member of the executive council of the Wigan Trades Council; 4 brushmaker, member of the Brushmakers' Union and Birmingham Trades Council; 5, joiner, member of the Carpenters and Joiners' Union and Birmingham Trades Council; 6, engineer, member of district executive Amalgamated Society of Engineers; 7, warpdresser, member of executive committee of Warpdressers' Union; 8 and 9, miners, members of Miners' Union, South Wales; 10, docker, member of Weavers' Union; 11, weaver, members of Weavers' Association; 12, compositor, member of Typographical Association; 13, billposter; 14, clerk; 15, tailor; 16, shop-assistant, vice-president of branch of Shop Assistants' Union; 17, Postoffice employe; 18, farmer, 19, compositor, member of the Hull Trades Council; 20, miner, member of the Miners' Union, Yorkshire.

The young steel smelter or pitman who "goes up to Oxford" to enter Ruskin College pays one pound a week. That covers everything—board, lodging, and tuition. He does all his own work, except his cooking. "Each student, by washing up or scrubbing floors, learns how silly a thing is snobbery, and how exacting are the claims of household drudgery unless relieved by a simple life," say the authorities.

"In addition to this, each student has the daily discipline of social life. His opinions are criticized, his eccentricities are a subject for banter. He has to learn the noble art of give and take. This learning to live with men in a common social life is one of the greatest things the college does for the students."

Ruskin College, writes a correspondent, is for the young and intelligent artisan who is prepared to devote his energies to the good of his fellows; to help them in their social and educational work—for the young man who will accept office in his trade union or co-operative society. The college is "for the training of those who will be leaders of working class opinion, whether in their trade union or on local governing bodies, or even Parliament itself. The college affords such young men who come to it for one or two years an opportunity to study scientifically those problems which they are called upon by virtue of their inherited citizenship to solve."

The effect of a year or two's training at Ruskin College on a young Briton who leaves it to earn his bread and cheese by the sweat of his brow may be gathered from the following letter written to Mr. Dennis Hird, the principal, by a former student, a collier in Wales:

"I think I have learned a great deal in so short a time. But, alas! I am afraid that I shan't be able to follow it as I should like to. You will see the difficulty at once when I tell you that my house consists of one room downstairs and two bedrooms. This room serves the purpose of kitchen, dining room, parlor, study, nursery, washhouse, and collier's bathroom. A beautiful combination, is it not?

"I am doing my best to get a better house, then I shall be able to follow my studies. I am working in the colliery again. The seam of coal where I am now is only twenty-three inches thick. We lie on our side to work all day; my bones are sore from the effects of it now, but I will get used to it.

"Before I came to Ruskin College I used to sit among my fellow-workmen in the pit and join in their dirty language and vulgar jokes, but since I am back I cannot tolerate them. I am not a saint, but my short stay with you has helped to polish my language and culture my feelings."

The college council appeal to the public to help build it a new and more adequate home, and ask The Express to give publicity to their appeal. The present premises, chiefly through the generosity of private individuals, have been purchased, and two alternate schemes are presented for their adaptation to the requirements of the students who desire entrance.

The first scheme, say the council, is for the rebuilding of the present premises to accommodate a hundred students. Two friends have given £1,000 each. The Amalgamated Society of Engineers—a society 95,000 strong—have made two levies of one penny per member to help the fund for the new buildings; the members of the London Society of Compositors, by levy, have contributed £30; the Scottish Co-operative Wholesale Society have sent £50.

The council have every reason to believe that if adequate buildings can be erected they may look forward to having within the next four years about one hundred students supported by their fellow-working men.—London Express.

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

The proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"If women would study the laws of health and use a little more common sense there would not be such a large number to-day suffering with the ills peculiar to our sex," writes Mrs. Sallie Martins (President Mutual Social Science Club), of 250 South Halsted Street, Chicago, Ill. "Then when medicine is needed if they would take the 'Favorite Prescription,' they would have a chance to get well. I used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription three years ago and it cured me of female weakness of several years' standing, so I know what I am talking about when I praise it and always know what the result will be where it is used."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

TIRED OF HIS THRONE.

Sir Charles Brooke, Sultan of Sarawak, Over 70 Years of Age, Retiring to England.

Sir Charles Brooke, the only Englishman who can boast of being an Asiatic Monarch, and whose sovereignty over the Sultanate of Sarawak, in the Island of Borneo, with its population of nearly a million, is recognized as subject to British suzerainty, has just issued a proclamation appointing his eldest son and heir, Vyner Brooke, to act as Regent of Sarawak. Sir Charles, who expressly declares that he does not abdicate his throne, explains that age and growing infirmities have led him to transfer the task of administering the Government of his Sultanate to his eldest son, who bears the title of Rajah Muda, and who will from henceforth be "entitled to use the swallow-tail flag of the Sovereign on shore and on land, and likewise the yellow umbrella," which is in Sarawak the emblem of rulership.

Sir Charles, who was formerly in the British navy, is now over seventy years old, and will very soon retire to England to spend the remainder of his days in the land of his birth. He has been on the throne of Sarawak since 1868, and is entitled, not only in the Orient, but likewise when he visits England, to the same honors in the shape of gun salutes, sentinels, etc., as the great vassal rulers of British India. Sir Charles, whose English title is due to his Grand Cross of the English Order of St. Michael and St. George, served in the navy as Charles A. Johnson, and assumed the name of Brooke on succeeding his uncle, Sir Jas. Brooke, the first ruler of Sarawak.

The latter's story has often been told. He was associated with the late Sir Harry Keppel in the expedition fitted out by Baroness Burdett-Coutts for the suppression of piracy in the Far East. Sixty or seventy years ago, when steam navigation was in its infancy, piracy played a far more serious role in maritime intercourse with the remote Orient than to-day. In fact every vessel that had occasion to traverse the Straits of Malacca was compelled to carry guns to repel those fierce Malay, Chinese and Tonkinese pirates who were the scourge of those seas. Lady Burdett-Coutts, at a considerable cost, fitted out an armed naval expedition for hunting the pirates to their lairs and exterminating them, and placed it under the command of Harry Keppel and James Brooke, two young naval officers. The expedition proved eminently successful, and while Keppel returned to civilization, Brooke remained in the Orient, and, having become associated with the Sultan of Borneo, eventually became possessed of Sarawak, which occupies a considerable portion of the Island of Borneo.

Lady Burdett-Coutts played a considerable role in this strange venture of Brooke, supporting him with money, and especially with political influence in England. Sir Charles is married to a Miss de Windt, whose brother, Harry de Windt, is well known as an explorer and a lecturer.

Lord Kelvin's Discovery.

Some interesting tales are told of Lord Kelvin's discoveries, and how the ideas of them have come to his quick mind. For instance, this is said to have been the way in which he found the mirror galvanometer. He was puzzling over the difficulty of perfecting the ordinary telegraphic apparatus used on overhead wires, which was not suited for the varying current passing along cables. The lagging of the electric currents had the effect of making them run together into one bottom current, with surface ripples, which correspond to the separate signals of the message. The problem was how to invent a means of interpreting clearly and easily all the delicate fluctuations. One day Lord Kelvin's eyeglass fell off and swung in front of the magnet, reflecting its movements, and instantly the idea of the mirror suggested itself. So a monocle has had a direct effect on science!

THE KING'S PRINTER.

Dr. S. E. Dawson Is Neither Dead Nor Moribund, and Does Not Yet Seek Rest From Labor.

The King's Printer at Ottawa, Dr. Samuel Edward Dawson, is in his 72nd year. He does not look it. Inquiry a few days ago as to the rumor that he had asked for superannuation and that it was about to be granted met a frank, unqualified and cheerful denial. His declaration on that occasion that he was "neither dead nor moribund" has already gone the rounds of the Canadian press. Dr. Dawson, though of slender build, has an eye and a complexion which any man of twenty years younger would envy. His physical powers have shown no signs of impairment. In and out of season he has since 1891 filled to the satisfaction of both Conservative and Liberal Governments the post he now holds. He has at his back a staff with a capable superintendent whose duty it is to order the purely technical requirements of the Printing Bureau. But the King's Printer has a larger task. He must play practically the part of a Deputy Minister on the one hand—and by the way he bears this title—but, on the other hand, the post of headship is an institution which calls for a combination of a large measure of technical knowledge, tact and firmness. Dr. Dawson has to handle the affairs of what is largely a department, but he is constantly within telephone range, so to say, of every other department in the public service.

And his recreation is his annual attendance on the sittings of the Royal Society of Canada, of which for literary merit he is a fellow, and presently honorary secretary. Samuel Edward Dawson was born in Halifax in 1833. He was son to Benjamin Dawson, who after coming to Montreal became a Protestant Episcopal clergyman. The present King's Printer had something to do with the forming of the Dominion Bank Note Company and the Montreal News Company. He was a member of the Protestant School Commission of Montreal. His affiliation with the historic Dawson book firm in Montreal seems to have given his mind that literary bent which was rewarded in 1890 by his decoration by the University of Laval with the degree of Doctor of Literature. He was made Queen's Printer in 1891. In the same year he was delegate to the International Copyright Conference in Washington. In 1893 he was made fellow of the Royal Society of Canada of which he is now secretary.

Eighteen Hundred Farewells.

The Rev. Stephen Gladstone, who is retiring from the rectorship of Hawarden, has a farewell letter in his parish magazine. He says that he has visited every one of the 1,800 homes of his parishioners to say good-bye, but after thirty-two years the parting is very hard. He thanks the Nonconformists for much kindness, and all for the sympathy shown him and his family on the break-up of their home. Mr. Gladstone will for a few weeks take charge of the poor London parish where, under the present Dean of St. Paul's, he was for four years curate. Thus the eldest surviving son of the great Prime Minister passes from the ken of the Cheshire village which his father's zeal made famous through the English-speaking, church-going world. Keen and earnest in his work, he was content with his little parish as his working place, where he will long be remembered and sorely missed.

RUGBY BOYS' FIRST PRACTICE.

About Twenty Players Kicked the Pigskin on Saturday.

Good Form was Shown by all Those Who Were in Uniform.

The pigskin was set in motion on Saturday afternoon at Nicholls Oval when about twenty enthusiasts were out for the first practice. Only light work was indulged in, but the men showed up in good form and it was plainly evident that there will be material galore from which to choose a team this season. Sides were chosen and a rather good workout was held under the direction of Capt. Crowley. Several of last year's team were out and the rest of the bunch will be in uniform this week. Shaw, the new player, showed up in good form. He is a strong punt and a sure tackle and should easily catch the team. The Canadian rules are as yet somewhat strange to him, but a few practices will remedy this. The juniors worked with a will and were in the game all the time. The management was quite pleased with the turnout and the willing spirit showed by the boys and are quite optimistic as to the team's chances. The regular session will be opened in about three weeks' time, so fix up to the boys to get right down to work and win the initial contest.

Among those who were out on Saturday were, Crowley, Shaw, A. Gillespie, J. O'Brien, S. Caniff, R. O'Brien, B. Cameron, R. Craig, Hurtubise, Deanard, Mulhern, Noble, F. Burnham, H. Roger, Gilbert, A. Laing, Walkey, J. O'Brien, R. Cameron, B. Laing. Several of the old-time players watched the practice from the lines and gave the younger players coaching.

The night practices will begin as soon as accommodation is secured and all the players are requested to fall in line and get into shape as early as possible. The senior teams will be found to be in the very best of shape when the season opens and the locals must not be caught napping.

RUGBY.

Seldom has such widespread interest in rugby been manifest at so early a stage in the game as is the case this year. The fact that the team is to play senior may be partially responsible for this, but at any rate the young men of the town are talking of rugby in a more interested manner than in former years. Last year the game was new to the players and public because of the change in the rules, but this year both public and players will be more familiar with the style of play and better results should follow.

• • • •

The reason why rugby is not more popular with the citizens generally, is because the game is not understood. It must be admitted that the old style of game with the endless scrimmages was somewhat monotonous at times, especially when one did not understand the method of scoring, but the new game is not so complicated and is replete with kicking, running and other interesting features. If those who are not in touch with the game would simply read up how the scores are made and what each play counts the game would be found highly interesting. Rugby is a great game and develops manly qualities and the boys who are playing it to bring honours to the town should receive public support.

• • • •

"Bill" Crowley, the popular captain is more enthusiastic than ever over the game this year. He has played with the Peterboroughs for the past five years during which time he has never missed a match. Though a veteran in his ability and knowledge of the game, he is still as lively as the juniors and will be seen shining on the gridiron for sometime yet.

• • • •

Peterborough will have a wing line this year which will bother any seven in the business. See if they don't.

• • • •

A meeting will be held this evening at 8.45 o'clock in the Grasshopper Club rooms on Simcoe street, to discuss the advisability of entering a team in the Junior series of the O. R.F.U. It is thought that a team could be picked from the three City League teams of last year, Rough Riders, All Saint's and Britannias, which could make a good showing in the Junior series. All interested are asked to be present this evening.

• • • •

There's plenty of material in town for a Junior O.R.F.U. team and the only question is that of finances. The secretary of the Union is anxious to form a district comprising Lindsay, Peterborough, T.A.S., Port Hope and Oshawa. The travelling expenses in such a district would not be heavy.

SPRINTING

As the time of the Burns-Bayne road race approaches the interest is deepening in the contest. Both men have been making fast time in their trials and record time is looked for. The race comes off next Saturday afternoon.

BASEBALL.

According to schedule Peterborough has four games to play before the season closes. Bowmanville and Lindsay each have protested games to play here, and Cobourg has to meet the locals twice. Victories for the locals in all these games would put the team in second place.

• • • •

Bowmanville has still a fighting chance to tie Lindsay for first place. The team has won six and lost three and has a game to play here.

• • • •

If Bowmanville wins here against Lindsay and the locals beat Lindsay here, these teams will be tied for first place.

The Bobcaygeon Independent says:—"The game played here Labour Day with a Lindsay team was witnessed by a fairly large crowd. After the eighth innings Lindsay seeing they had no chance of winning, kicked on the umpiring, and the game ceased, as a score of 7-1 in favour of the local team. This Lindsay team is not what they might be, and any more propositions by this team will not be noticed, till they learn the game and the art of acting the true sportsman. The game is rather to be regretted, for there were two teams from Peterborough that were anxious to play here that day, but unfortunately the Lindsay team was accommodated."

That's Lindsay every time. When you want true sportsmen come to Peterborough for them.

LACROSSE.

The Brantford-Tecumseh game in which Quarrie and Lambe figured so prominently has been ordered to be replayed as White of the Brantfords was not eligible.

In the senior C. L. A. on Saturday, the Tecumsehs, minus Quarrie and Lambe won from the Chippewas by a score of 8-0, while Brantford played a tie game with St. Catharines. The standing of the teams is now:—

	Won	Lost.	Dr.
Tecumsehs	8	3	1
Brantford	7	4	3
Chippewas	6	7	0
St. Catharines	6	8	2
Fergus	1	6	3

Game next Saturday, Fergus at Chippewas.

TO-DAY'S NEWS ON STOCK MARKET

Features of Market as Told by Special Wires.

The following review of to-day's stock market was received by Messrs. W. F. Dever & Co. ('Phone 416):—

New York, Sept. 10.—The stock market last week was strong from the opening to the close. There were occasional reactions and several attempts at short selling, but the level of prices was always lifted beyond the previous high points. Developments were generally favourable, the most important being the successful consummation of harmonious relations in the iron and steel industry. The reductions made in the selling basis of various commodities was a tardy recognition of actual business conditions, and the adjustments made have been followed by the most optimistic sentiment exxperienced within the past year or 15 months. This settlement of the conflicting influences that have characterized the iron and steel trade has been the real basis of the prevailing bullish enthusiasm in the stock market. The estimate of $15,000,000 earnings for the current quarter has also contributed to the changed situation. The feeling is now general that business will expand and the announcement made during the week by the Penna. R.R. Co. that 20,00 men had been ordered to work full time reflected the expectations for a greatly increased traffic movement this fall and winter. St. Pfd. advanced to 66 1-8 (the highest price of the year) on enormous transactions, and shared with Reading in the leadership of the market. Reading reached 70 (the price predicted for the stock several weeks ago) while So. Railway, Erie Common and Rock Island were also conspicuous features in the upward movement. The favourable report of the American Locomotive Co. showing nearly 15 p. c., earned on the Common, was responsible for an upturn of 3½ p. c. yesterday. Sentiment at the close was more bullish than at any time since the movement began.

New York, September 12. — I am waiting the proper time to sell the market, and don't think that time is many days off. It would not surprise me if the highest prices for most issues were made Monday morning. We should see nearly a million and a half shares Monday. The general list will be a sale Monday morning on a strong opening, or better still, if after a fractional reaction they advance up to about 11.30. There need be no rush to sell, prices will be maintained strong up to 11.30 probably, but I do firmly believe that Monday will mark the wind up. This does not refer to specialties like BR., BRT. should get near 60. I would not sell the above short, nor Reading nor SP. These two last are my stories; all the other active issues in my judgment are a good style though it is proper to wait until the market has actually turned. Beyond question banks and insiders are unloading stocks as fast as they are able. —Ridgeley.

Liverpool. — Wheat opened 3-8 higher. Corn unchanged. 1.30 p. m.—Wheat 1 1-8 higher; corn 1-4 higher.

Strangers' Fellowship Club.

The Strangers' Fellowship Club of the Y.M.C.A., held their regular meeting on Saturday evening at 6 o'clock.

All the ministers of the town and the directors of the Association were invited to take tea with the club, both being well represented.

After tea Mr. R. E. Harding, the club's president, took charge, and briefly outlined the aims of the club, and the importance of its work as an auxiliary to that of the pastors of the churches. He traced the history of the work done since 1900, when the club was organized. During the past six months 308 visitors tickets had been issued, and of these boarding houses were found for 230. Mr. Harding emphasized the need of dormitories in connection with the building and expressed confidence that they would shortly be erected.

Mr. H. McNellis, a member of the club, read a thoughtful paper on "The boarding house problem."

Short addresses, appreciative of the club's work, were given by Rev. Messrs. Dr. Crothers, Brace, Lewis, Wilson, and Messrs. Shook and Bennet. The meeting closed with the club's hymn and benediction by Rev. J. G. Potter.

THE CHURCHES.

MURRAY STREET BAPTIST.

Rev. John R. Webb of Montreal, occupied the pulpit of the Murray street Baptist church very acceptably yesterday. He delivered two very earnest and forceful discourses to large congregations.

CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCH.

Rev. H. T. Lewis, B.A., of Cobourg, preached two very acceptable sermons at the Charlotte street church yesterday in the absence of the pastor. Large congregations attended both services. In the morning the text was Hebrews vii, 25, "Wherefore He is able to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by Him, seeing He ever liveth to make intercession for them." In the evening the text was Proverbs xxix. 18, "Where there is no vision the people perish."

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH.

Both services were well attended yesterday. In the morning the Rector took for his text, St. Mark, 11; 13.—"Nothing but Leaves." Miss M. Rush, at the morning service sang very sweetly, "The Home Land." At the evening service the text of the sermon was from II Corinthians, 3; 3. The anthem by the choir was entitled "Where Are They?" which was rendered with excellent effect. The choir is now in a very efficient condition, and the holidays being over, renewed interest and activity are apparent. The choir under the leadership of the Rector is expected to steadily improve.

Harvest Thanksgiving service will be held on Friday evening, Sept. 23, at 8 o'clock.

Senior Girl's Guild will re-organise on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

PARK STREET BAPTIST.

Rally Day was duly observed at the Park street Sunday School yesterday, according to the arrangements made for the Schools of Ontario and Quebec. The programme embraced responsive readings, recitations, special music, roll call of classes, special selections by the primary class, addresses by the Superintendent and Pastor. Under "Encouraging Features of the Year," was the report of thirty members of the school baptized and received into the fellowship of the church; the Mission Band growing and a considerable sum sent to Home and Foreign Missions. The Superintendent Miss Mann, laid special emphasis upon the last two items of the programme and they were repeated three times by the whole school:—

1. Our Motto.—I am only one, but I am one. I cannot do everything, but I can do something. That I can do, I ought to do, and by God's grace I will do.

2. Our Aim.—Every member present every Sunday on time, with his own Bible, a liberal offering, a studied lesson and a mind to learn.

REPORTED CAPTURE OF 3,000 RUSSIANS

General Zassalitch Wounded and Among the Jap Prisoners.

HARD CRACK FOR RUSSIANS

General Kuroai Had a Hard Fight, and the Russians, Under General Linevitch, Cut His Communications With Fengwangcheng—Arrival of Russian Transport Lena in San Francisco Causes a Protest.

London, Sept. 13.—The Morning Post states that official Russian despatches received in London announce that Lieut.-Gen. Zassalitch, who commanded the portion of the Russian rear guard south of the Hun River, has been severely wounded and captured with 3,000 out of his 5,000 men.

It is added by The Morning Post that Generals Zaroubaieff, Kondratovitch and Billerling have checked Gen. Kuroki's advance.

Cut Kuroki's Communications.

London, Sept. 13.—The Daily Mail's correspondent with the Japanese repeats from Tientsin the report that Lieut.-Gen. Linevitch, with 50,000 men, invaded Northeastern Corea and cut Gen. Kuroki's communications with Fengwangcheng.

Japs Grow Stronger.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 13.—The Birzheviya Viedmosti's correspondent at Tie Pass, telegraphs to his paper as follows: "The Japanese who had been accused of moving forward slowly, are now advancing very rapidly. Little avails the Russian increase of troops, for the Japanese are receiving reinforcements from Newchwang. The initiative will remain in the hands of the Japanese, and their tactics will always be repeated."

Russians About Yentai.

Tokio, Sept. 13.—A telegram received here from Field Marshal Oyama at midnight Sunday night gives the disposition of the Russian troops about Yentai and Mukden. He says that a large force of Russian cavalry is posted at Pingtaitze, and that another force of cavalry occupies Heilingchai. Other bodies of cavalry, with artillery, are located at Huangshanlin, on the western road out of Mukden, as well as in the neighborhood of Yumentzsushan, which is occupied by the Japanese. Some detachments of Russian cavalry are posted at Fanchi, Kushutui and Menhukutun, along the railroad between Yentai and Mukden, and are apparently keeping in touch with and watching the Japanese.

Japan Protests.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Japan has formally protested to the United States against allowing the Russian auxiliary cruiser Lena to remain in port longer than 24 hours. Through her consul at San Francisco, the complaint was filed with the collector of the port, who, late yesterday, wired for instructions.

Japs Barred Out.

San Francisco, Sept. 13.—At the conclusion of a conference between Collector Stratton and the Japanese consul, Collector Stratton gave out a statement, in which he said. "I have decided not to allow the Japanese to go aboard the Russian transport Lena, which arrived here to make an examination. This matter is between the United States and the Russian Government, and the United States will attend to it without asking assistance from anybody. I know the law thoroughly, and will enforce it. The neutrality of the United States will be maintained without regard to any request or act of the Japanese consul."

First Part Lost.

Paris, Sept. 13.—The Journal's Linoyang correspondent, having ridden to Tientsin, sends thence the following uncensored despatch, under date of Sept. 12, at 6 p.m.: "The first part of the campaign may be considered lost. The Russian army has retreated northward in the direction of Tie Pass, or farther. The Russian army's inferiority in men, guns and enthusiasm prevented Gen. Kuropatkin's resisting longer at Liaoyang, or achieving at Yentai a victory which would have obliged the Japanese to fall back. The Japanese will shortly triumph and enter Mukden. The Russian general staff now estimates the Japanese forces at from 450,000 to 500,000. The Russian army will reconcentrate in the north, but it needs several months in order to fill up the losses in a number of corps, which must be doubled, and to replace reservists by active troops. Above all, it is essential to restore the morale, affected by almost unprecedented trials and difficulties. A Russian offensive movement will be impossible for a long time."

Squall Causes Three Deaths.

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 13.—A drowning accident occurred at Fox Island, near Canso on Sunday afternoon, by which two sons of James Rhynold, George and Thomas, lost their lives, and a third son lies in an unconscious condition, not likely to recover. Two other boys were rescued in an exhausted condition. The five boys were sailing when a squall upset the boat.

Fatally Hurt in a Wreck.

Kingston, Sept. 13.—Wm. Donaldson, living at Joyceville, ten miles from here, was dangerously injured in a railway accident at Princeton, Illinois. His back was broken and his arms and legs crushed, so that there is little hope of his recovery. His friends here were advised of his condition on Sunday. He is married and about 40 years of age.

Jumped Out of Window.

Port Dalhousie, Sept. 13.—About 7.30 yesterday morning a fire broke out in the house occupied by Michael Hart, owned by Mrs. William Mossop of Buffalo. Mrs. Hart and children were asleep when the house seemed to be all on fire. The children had to jump out of the window, and Mrs. Hart also had a narrow escape.

Hereros Broke Through.

Berlin, Sept. 13.—Advices received here from German Southwest Africa show that the main body of the Hereros, several thousand strong, have broken through the ring of German troops disposed for the purpose of encircling them, and have escaped towards the southwest with the loss of fifty men killed.

RUSSIANS DENY REPORTED LOSSES

Say that 3,000 Men Were Not Captured as Reported.

Japs are Hot After the Russian Rear Guard—Russians in Danger of Starvation.

(Special G. N. W. Dispatch to the Examiner.)

St. Petersburg, Sept. 13, 1.15 p.m.—No change is reported in the situation at the front, and no confirmation is obtainable here of the reports that Gen. Kuroki is moving north-east of Mukden, but the authorities are noticeably more reticent than usual.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 13, 1.10 p.m.—The war office denies the report circulated by the Morning Post of London to the effect that 3,000 men of Lieut. Gen. Sessalitch's corps have been captured. Also the report from the same source that the General has been wounded and also deny the statement from Tokio that dum-dum bullets were used by the Russians at Liao Yang.

London, Sept. 13.—Despatches to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Gen Kuroki's headquarters state that skirmishes between the Russians and the Japanese advance guards are taking place with increasing frequency. Although the troops are stale, a general battle is expected.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 13.—Reports from Mukden this morning state that the rain continues. The reports say that the Russians quartered about Mukden are in danger of starvation.

BIG ROBBERY AT MARMORA.

Vault Broken Into Early This Morning.

A. W. Carscallen Loses Bonds to the Value of $150,000—Also Money and Gold Nuggets.

The Chief was informed by telephone this morning that a robbery was committed at Marmora early this morning, between the hours of 4 and 5 o'clock, when a vault in the bank of Mr. A. W. Carscallen, was broken into and $100 in money, a gold nugget valued at $250, and $150,000 in bonds stolen.

No trace of the thieves has been discovered, and the Chief was asked to be on the look-out for suspicious characters.

ELOPING COUPLE SAID TO BE HERE.

Sensational Despatch From Ottawa Concerning an Elopement.

Man with Wife and Five Children Said to be Here Without His Family.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 13. — Clement Dodd, Ottawa, who deserted his wife and five children, has been located. The police believe he is in Peterborough. He was seen there by an Ottawa detective. It is alleged he has been living there with Mrs. Mary Lachance, former cook at Ottawa Isolation Hospital. Detective Robilliard went to Peterborough, located the woman and subpoenaed her to give evidence in the hospital investigation now being held. She shipped her furniture out of the Capital under an assumed name and the detective only located her through a carter who moved her household effects to a prominent Peterborough street. Dodd's wife said to-day: "I have neither heard nor seen him since June 11th, but I think he should be made to support his family. I don't know if he is living with Mrs. Lachance, but I do know he kept company with her." The Lachance woman gave sensational evidence at the investigation yesterday. Ottawa papers recently referred to her and Dodds' disappearance, but they could not be located until lately.

A further despatch adds that Dodds is working for an electrical firm in Peterborough, and asserts that the facts are correct as stated.

Inquiry at the offices of the electrical wiring concerns to-day gave the information that no one by the name of Dodds was employed by them. It may be, however, if the facts are as asserted in the despatch that he is at the C.G.E. Works.

COLD STORAGE SHAREHOLDERS MEET

Large Number of Gentleman in Town To-day.

New Directors May be Elected at To-day's Meeting—Change in Plans Suggested.

A meeting of the shareholders of the Peterborough Cold Storage and Provision Company was held this afternoon, and was attended by a large number of those financially interested in the company, shareholders being present from all over Peterborough County, as well as from other parts.

A shareholder informed the Examiner this morning that the principal business would be the election of a new Board of Directors, as it was understood that the Board had resigned their positions on the directorate, although for what reason, the Examiner's informant did not know. The meeting is expected to be a somewhat lengthy one and some changes are said to be imminent in the management of the company. Mr. Fowler, who has taken an active part in the promotion of the company, and its proposed enlargement of powers, is in town for the meeting, and may submit a new plan to the shareholders.

This morning the street corners were occupied by knots of men discussing matters pertaining to the company and the business of the afternoon.

Mrs. Anderson, Jacksonville, Fla., daughter of Recorder of Deeds, West, who witnessed her signature to the following letter, praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—There are but few wives and mothers who have not at times endured agonies and such pain as only women know. I wish such women knew the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a remarkable medicine, different in action from any I ever knew and thoroughly reliable.

"I have seen many cases where women doctored for years without permanent benefit, who were cured in less than three months after taking your Vegetable Compound, while others who were chronic and incurable came out cured, happy, and in perfect health after a thorough treatment with this medicine. I have never used it myself without gaining great benefit. A few doses restores my strength and appetite, and tones up the entire system. Your medicine has been tried and found true, hence I fully endorse it." —MRS. R. A. ANDERSON, 225 Washington St., Jacksonville, Fla. — $5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

No other medicine for women has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. Refuse to buy any substitute.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1904.

TWO SCHEMES CONTRASTED.

The chief points of contrast between the Grand Trunk Pacific project and the Canadian Pacific project which the Conservatives launched are these:—

1. The Canadian Pacific is from end to end the property of the company which was chartered and subsidized to build it. The Dominion will own one-half of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and will be part proprietor of the other half through a lien held as security for guarantee of interest.

2. The Dominion Government constructed two costly sections of the Canadian Pacific—from Lake Superior to Winnipeg and from Kamloops to the Pacific Ocean—and made a present of these completed portions to the company. The Grand Trunk Pacific from Winnipeg to near the Atlantic Ocean will be built by the Government, but will remain the property of the people of Canada in perpetuity, the company after seven years paying a rental of 3 per cent. per annum, the rate likely to be paid by the Government for the money borrowed to pay for construction.

3. Parliament granted to the Canadian Pacific a cash subsidy of $25,000,000. The only financial aid given to the Grand Trunk Pacific, other than that just mentioned, is a guarantee of interest—which will not cost the country anything save for the first seven years of the Mountain section—to the capitalists who furnish the means of construction west of Winnipeg.

4. Parliament gave the Canadian Pacific 25,000,000 acres of land, including the privilege of establishing town sites. Not an acre of land, except for right of way and station facilities, is given to the Grand Trunk Pacific. To enhance this discrimination, the Canadian Pacific lands were made free of taxation for 20 years unless "sold or occupied." This has so far been held to mean twenty years from the actual special conveyance of the lands to the corporation, not from the date of the agreement—a difference which means many additional millions of dollars to the Canadian Pacific.

5. As far as it was possible to do so the Dominion Parliament gave the Canadian Pacific Company a monopoly of the traffic of the Dominion west of Lake Superior, by prohibiting the building of other lines, except such as would of necessity become feeders of the Canadian Pacific. The Grand Trunk Pacific Company must take its chances in competition with existing trunk lines and with any others that may hereafter be chartered and constructed.

6. Parliament granted to the Canadian Pacific virtually absolute control of transportation charges west of Lake Superior. The absolute control of such charges on the Grand Trunk Pacific is vested in the Dominion. The difference is made clearly apparent by the fact that, so far as its main line is concerned, the Canadian Pacific cannot be brought under the control of the Railway Commission recently created by Parliament, whereas the Grand Trunk Pacific is placed under that control by the terms of its charter.

7. No attempt was made by Parliament to grant running powers to other companies over the portions of the Canadian Pacific constructed by the Dominion Government. Running powers over the portion of the Grand Trunk Pacific constructed by the Government may be obtained by any other company, subject to the operative control of the Grand Trunk Pacific Company so far as that is necessary to the safety of passengers and property.

8. The Canadian Pacific was allowed to import construction material free of duty. The Grand Trunk Pacific enjoys no such privilege. As far as possible its material must be made or purchased in Canada. Where it imports material that cannot be procured here it must pay duty.

When the Canadian Pacific was finished it possessed little more in the older provinces than its main line from Rat Portage to Montreal. A system of feeders had to be laboriously built up. The Grand Trunk Pacific on the other hand, will commence operations with all the lines lines and equipment of the Grand Trunk proper behind it in the older provinces, which means that the Eastern manufacturer will at once be placed in direct communication with his customers in the west, and ensured lower rates.

10. The Canadian Pacific, though built as a national undertaking, was semi-americanised from the first. Its Soo Line to-day carries wheat from Minneapolis to the seaboard for less than the main line charges from Winnipeg; in other words, treats the farmers of Dakota and Minnesota better than the main line treats those of Manitoba. Further, although St. John, N.B., is the winter port of the Canadian Pacific, its line thither runs for 200 miles through the State of Maine. The Grand Trunk Pacific will traverse Canadian soil from start to finish, will send all unrouted freight to Canadian ports, is under obligation not to discriminate in rates against those ports, and will run too far north to be tied up as the Canadian Pacific is with the rival interests of Minnesota and Dakota.

11. The Canadian Pacific did comparatively little for the older provinces in the way of opening up new territory. Its main line west hugs the Lake Superior shore which is sterile and unfit for settlement. The Grand Trunk Pacific will open a vast back country between Moncton and Winnipeg, containing over 180,000,000 acres of well timbered land, much of it fit for agriculture, with deposits of mica, copper, nickel and iron, and with water powers of enormous capacity. It stands to reason that the development of this region must add to the wealth and importance of Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick. That part of Canada will no longer be a mere fringe. The older provinces have done much for the West; they are now helping the West again and at the same time doing something for themselves.

"LEARN FRENCH".

An Appeal From an English Speaker to Englishmen.

The recent number of the laying of the corner stone of the arts building of the University of Ottawa contains the address delivered by Mr. Justice Curran on behalf of the alumni, in which His Lordship treated the important question of the French language.

After stating that it requires years to bind together firmly men of different sections, eradicate prejudices and make men of different races, languages and creeds feel that under the aegis of the constitution there is security for all, and that in concentration of interests there must be the overshadowing of mere local or race aspirations, the learned judge went on to say that the great field for national unity must of necessity be the school, the college, the university. There our youth will meet and learn to appreciate the virtues of the different races of which our community is composed; learn to respect each other and form friendships that resist the vicissitudes of life. We must depend upon our educational institutions for the development of the highest type of patriotism.

After referring to the two grand universities, McGill and Laval, one English and the other French, the speaker mentioned the advisability of having at Ottawa, the boundary line between Ontario and Quebec, a dual language university, and having quoted the advice given by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to the students of L'Assomption, his alma mater, to learn English he added: "In the same spirit I say to my young friends here "Perfect yourselves in French"; it is not only the language of Bossuet and Fenelon, of Boileau, Corneille and Racine, and Moliere, but it is that of Lafontaine and Papineau, of Crumazie, Frechette and Garneau, and a host of others whose talents have given literary and political fame to Canada. French is equally with English the official language here. It is spoken not only in the legislature at Quebec, but its sweet accents are heard in elegant and eloquent strains in the Senate and House of Commons of our Dominion. Learn French for your own sakes, for your own interests; it will help you at home; it is a passport to polite circles the world over."

In Praise of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"Allow me to give you a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and diarrhoea remedy," says Mr. John Hamlett, of Eagle Pass, Texas. "I suffered one week with bowel trouble and took all kinds of medicine without getting any relief, when my friend, Mr. C. Johnson, a merchant here, advised me to take this remedy. After taking one dose I felt greatly relieved and when I had taken the third dose was entirely cured. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for putting this great remedy in the hands of mankind." BIG ATTRACTION FOR PETERBORO' FAIR.

Famous String of Hackneys Will be at Local Exhibition.

Mr. Robert Beith, M. P. Will Bring His Champion Horses Here—Big Demonstration in Bowmanville.

The management of the Peterborough Industrial Fair made a good stroke of enterprise when they secured as an attraction the string of horses owned by Mr. Robert Beith, M. P., Bowmanville, fresh from their triumphs at St. Louis World's Fair. These horses, with their popular owner have just returned to Bowmanville, and that the people of that town, as well as the County of Durham, of which that town is one of the most important towns, appreciate the great honour of having as a citizen the fortunate owner of the winners of the first prizes for Hackney horses in the World's Fair was amply proven on Monday when a great demonstration was held in Mr. Beith's honour to which the whole county subscribed, and which was one of the greatest events in the history of the County, which has had an illustrious record. Mr. Beith returned on Saturday accompanied by his string of prize winners from St. Louis and Toronto, in both of which cities he won practically all the prizes offered for horses in the classes exhibited by him, and in an endeavour to do their townsman honour the business men of the town arranged the demonstration referred to and the success of which is remarkable, and one which must have impressed the recepient of the honours that the saying generally accepted as truth that "A prophet is not without honour save in his own country" is not always the truth.

The town of Bowmanville has perhaps never in recent years, if indeed, in the whole history of the town, seen such a demonstration as that of Monday, and the unanimous opinion of the people of the town and county is that there has never been an occasion when there was greater reason for such a demonstration. From early morning all the roads leading to the town were filled with carriages containing residents from all over the country on the way to Bowmanville to attend the demonstration, and by afternoon there was probably the largest number of persons in the town that there has been for a number of years.

Shortly after two o'clock a procession was formed, headed by a squad of young men mounted on horseback, and following these came the brass band of the Durham Rubber Co., and a large number of citizens in carriages, in the last of which were Mayor James, the members of the reception committee and the guest of honour, Mr. Robert Beith, M.P., and following were the beautiful animals with which Mr. Beith has won such distinction, and in the possession of which he has brought honour not only to his native town and county, but to the province and the Dominion as well. This string of victorious horses, which will be seen at the Peterborough Fair, was headed by Saxon, the "dandy of them all" the horse which won the sweepstakes and championship prizes at Madison Square, New York, the World's Fair, St. Louis, and the Toronto Exhibition and comprised perhaps the most valuable string of horses for their number ever seen together at one time before.

The procession passed through crowds of cheering spectators and went to the agricultural grounds, where an immense crowd had gathered, and Mr. Beith was presented with a handsome solid gold locket, accompanied by the address which follows:—

Robt. Beith, Esq., M. P.,

DEAR SIR,—On behalf of the residents of West Durham, we extend to you a hearty welcome on your return from the great Exposition at St. Louis. We desire to congratulate you upon the splendid, most phenomenal success which you achieved at the Madison Square Horse Show in New York City in two consecutive years, and this year at the World's Fair at St. Louis, Mo., and later at our own Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto.

That you should obtain a prize on every horse exhibited at the World's Fair, and that so many should be first prizes and in addition that you should win the two Grand Championships and the Gold Medal with two Canadian-bred horses, is something of which both you and we and all Canadians may well feel proud.

We assure you that we were delighted to him that your exhibit outstripped all competitors. Those of us who can look back on the past two or three decades realize that a vast improvement has taken place in both Draught and Hackney horses in Canada, and we believe that this has been accomplished largely, if not mainly, by the very superior class of horses which you have from time to time imported and bred. That so many prizes should come to Canada, must, we feel sure, bring honour, and eventually profit to the farmers and horsemen of our Dominion. Such results will prove to the world, and particularly to those living in the Great Republic to the South, that Canada can and does produce other things besides snow and ice and does and will aspire to hold first place among the leaders of Nations in natural products as well as in manufactures.

So great was the satisfaction felt by this community in the results which crowned your latest efforts, that it appeared to be the unanimous opinion that you should receive some fitting recognition upon your return, and that the stamp of approval should be placed upon your efforts by those with whom you have laboured and been brought up thinking with confidence that you would consider approbation from and interest shown by them as satisfying and praise indeed. The great number who have come here to do you honour sufficiently proves, and emphasizes more strongly than anything we can say, the intense interest and satisfaction which is so generally felt in your great and unprecedented success.

It was thought, too, that not only should we extend to you our warmest congratulations on this, which must be one of the proudest periods of your life, but that it should be accompanied by some tangible, if slight, token for remembrance.

We ask you, therefore, to accept the accompanying memento. Knowing you as we do, we feel that you will value it very highly because it is the gift of no particular party, but is intended as be a recognition on the part of the people of the very great honour which you have brought, not only to the people of West Durham, but to the whole Dominion of Canada.

In conclusion, we desire to express the hope that you may derive all the profit which you may reasonably expect from your recent successes, and that your efforts in the future may be crowned, if it be possible, with still greater glories.

Signed on behalf of the people of West Durham.

Reception Committee.

Bowmanville, Sept. 12, 1904.

In acknowledging the address and presentation Mr. Beith gave an address which was full of good advice to the farmers and stock-breeders, who listened to him, and indeed the advice given by this king of horsemen might well be followed by stockmen all over the country. Mr. Beith said that in winning the victories which he had with his horses he had looked upon it more from a national than a personal standpoint, and that he had been proud that Canadian-bred horses had won such honours.

Short addresses were then given by a number of persons, including Hon. Senator Kerr, of Cobourg.

The patrons of the Peterborough Exhibition will doubtless appreciate the enterprise of the directors in securing for the fair this year the horses which have brought such honour to this country.

A SUCCESSFUL PICNIC.

Annual Event in Galway was a Great Success as Usual.

The annual picnic held in Galway on September 6th, was as usual, a success. The weather was cool, yet pleasant and suitable for the enjoyment of the younger class. The long list of sports were carried out in every particular where entries could be secured. The following is a partial list:

Game of quoits — Thos. Byrne, C. Graney.

Boys race—Geo. Doherty, John Collins.

Girls' race—Mary Curtain, Clara Byrne.

Fat man's race — Chas. Smith, Sam Pearson.

Throwing heavy weight — John Byrne, 25 feet 10 inches; M. Foley, 24 feet.

Boot race — John Collins, John Bartley.

Potato race, men—Frank Foley, Samuel Pearson.

Potato race, boys — John Collins, Geo. Doherty.

Shooting Contest — Thos. McNamara, Bruce Mulnean.

In the evening many speeches were delivered by local orators and some from a distance, including Mr. R. R. Hall of Peterborough. Mr. Hall spoke at some length upon our country, Canada. He compared this land with other nations to show how we prospered more during the last seven years. We were in a prosperous state at present and there was a great future in store for Canada. Much of the prosperity at present enjoyed was owing to the splendid shipping facilities we enjoyed with other countries. He showed that no other country could equal this in cheese making owing to the close attention being paid to secure the highest grade.

The chairman, Mr. M. Mansfield, brought the proceedings to a close by a comical illustration which held the people spell-bound for many minutes.

FIRST DOSE WENT RIGHT TO SPOT.

Commercial Traveller Talks of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Gives Valuable Advice to Those Who use the Railroad Train Frequently.

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 12 — (Special.) —Mr. J. H. Ireland, one of the oldest and best known commercial travelers on the road, has come out with a statement for the benefit of his fellow travellers.

"It is with pleasure," says Mr. Ireland, "that I endorse Dodd's Kidney Pills. While on a trip through the Maritime Provinces Dodd's Kidney Pills completely cured me of a severe pain in my back that had bothered me for some time. The first dose seemed to go right to the spot and removed the trouble so effectually that it has not and is not likely to return.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are just as advertised," Mr. Ireland concludes. They cure to stay cured."

GENERAL ELECTION

Signs Point to Its Probability Before November Ends.

BRIGHT LIBERAL PROSPECTS

Preparing For the Fray—Less Risk to Liberals in Province of Quebec Than Was the Fact in 1900—Not Enough Will Be Absent Present Standing —Outlook in West Good.

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—(Globe Special.)—Most of the Ministers are back once more in the capital, including Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir William Mulock, Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. Wm. Paterson, Hon. Clifford Sifton, Hon. Chas. Fitzpatrick, Hon. R. W. Scott and Hon. Chas. Hyman. Sir Frederick Borden and Messrs. Fielding and Emmerson are expected here to-day. There has been no call issued for a Cabinet meeting as yet, and perhaps none will be held until Wednesday. Public curiosity as to whether there will or will not be a general election this fall is very keen. Little doubt exists in the minds of those who carefully watch the trend of events that an early dissolution is impending, and that an appeal to the country will not be delayed beyond November.

The Quebec Situation.

Montreal, Sept. 13.—Just now it looks as if a general election this fall would cause very little change in the standing of the two parties in the Province of Quebec. Of course the percentage of chance is largely in favor of the Conservatives. All they could possibly lose out of the 65 seats is eight, the number they now hold, counting the vacancy at Sherbrooke. The Liberals, on the other hand, have fifty-seven counties to defend, and all they could possibly gain is eight. Therefore, they are liable to attack in seven times as many places as their opponents. However, those who will take a large hand in the fighting are convinced that the risk now is less than it was in 1900.

Not Much Hope There.

Even the Conservatives are far from confident, for one of the most prominent among them told your correspondent yesterday that, while their might be a few gains and a few losses on both sides, he expected to see the net result stand about as it now stands, provided that the elections be held this fall.

Outlook in the West.

Winnipeg, Sept. 13.—The political situation in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories is, on the whole, decidedly favorable to the Laurier Government. The Liberals feel absolutely certain of carrying thirteen out of the twenty seats. The Conservatives can only point with anything like certainty to one seat out of the score. In every other the odds are overwhelmingly against them, or, at the best, no better than even. In Manitoba alone have the Conservatives any signs for hopefulness. If the lists upon which the elections will be fought were clean, the popular verdict against Conservatism would be as emphatic there as in other parts of Canada. But the Tory Local Government, though there was no prospect of a Provincial fight for another three years at least, issued orders to revise the Provincial lists in order to keep them alive for Dominion elections. The dodge was so transparent that every Liberal felt that such action would be disapproved by the Dominion authorities and that a new list would be compiled by the Federal Government to supersede that which expired in June. Hence the Liberals did nothing when the revision took place, and the Conservatives put on hundreds of names without let or hindrance from supporters of the Dominion Government.

DESTROYING SAN JOSE SCALE.

Judgment Reserved in Matter of Great Interest to Fruit Growers.

St. Catharines, Sept. 13.—In the police court yesterday morning Magistrate Comfort reserved decision in several cases of vital interest to farmers and fruit growers. The prosecutions were the result of the widespread havoc the San Jose scale is making among the fruit trees of the Niagara Peninsula.

Two citizens of St. Catharines, John J. Fee and John Simington, were accused of disobeying San Jose Scale Inspector Beatty's orders to destroy or properly treat scale infected trees on their premises.

The magistrate said he would give his decision to-day. There are several more cases to hear.

Women For Preference.

London, Sept. 13.—(C. A. P.)—The Birmingham and Midlands Women's Imperial Tariff Reform League has issued a leaflet, demanding the granting of a preference to the colonies. Another leaflet states that if the colonies gave Britain a reasonable preference on manufactured goods, 26,000,000 pounds a year of trade, now done with foreign countries, would come to Britain instead. It is also pointed out that if the colonies were given a preference, it would be necessary to put a tax on food, for a tax on raw material would injure British industries.

FROST IN THE WEST

Most Severe In Estevan, Emerson and Pierson.

RAINS DELAY HARVESTING

Edmonton District Only Place in the Territories Yet Struck By Frost Ring—A Cheerful Factor in the Situation —Details of Damage Districts in Manitoba—If Wet Weather Continues Damage Over.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 13.—Frost, in varying degree, was pretty well universal in Manitoba Sunday night. Yesterday cold and drizzling rains make all harvesting operations impossible. Curiously enough the Territories seem to have entirely escaped, with the exception of the Edmonton district, where the thermometer touched 30. At Calgary it registered 32, but throughout the main territorial wheat area, from Moose Jaw to Moosomin considerably higher temperatures were recorded, due to the prevailing southwest winds.

This is the cheerful factor of the situation, for in this area there is much green wheat, while in Manitoba the grain is mostly in shock and past damage from frost. The most severe frost was experienced in Southern Manitoba—Estavan, Emerson and Pierson registering 28 degrees and Morden 30. Wheat, however, in these parts is almost all cut. Central Manitoba, including Portage and Brandon districts, though not heavily touched, may suffer more, as harvesting is not so far advanced. The northern parts of Birtle and Minnedosa were badly hit, and the crops being late, wheat will lose heavily in grade. But in Birtle, especially the bulk of the crop is oats, which is not so susceptible to frost.

If wet weather continued last night, as seems very probable, there will be no further danger of frost damage.

THAT TRAIN HOLD-UP.

C.P.R. Making Strenuous Efforts to Nab Highwaymen.

Montreal, Sept. 13.—The announcement was made yesterday at the head offices of the C.P.R. that a reward of $1,000 had been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the bandits concerned in the daring hold-up in British Columbia on Saturday night. As this is the first hold-up in the history of the C.P.R., nothing will be left undone towards the capture of the highwaymen.

They already have one man arrested at Westminster Junction, B.C., on a charge of criminal knowledge of the affair.

The latest report is that $6,000 worth of gold dust, $1,000 in currency and about $4,000 from registered letters, was the haul secured by the robbers. None of the passengers was molested.

The officials state that as far as is known this is the second train robbery that ever occurred in Canada. The only previous one was a robbery on the G.T.R., near Toronto, twelve years ago.

The North Renfrew Case.

Toronto, Sept. 13.—The legal question created by the death of Jean Baptiste Le Blanc, one of the petitioners against the return of E. A. Dunlop, M.P.P., for North Renfrew, will be settled by Mr. Justice Garrow of the Court of Appeal this morning. Neither party to the protest and cross-petition is ready with the particulars, and it has been agreed that they may be filed two days after the examination of the member and the defeated candidate, which will probably be held toward the end of the week.

FOOTPADS IN QUEEN CITY.

One Toronto Victim Has His Arm Broken in Struggle.

Toronto, Sept. 13.—Highwaymen were active early this morning, and three cases were reported, one in the west end and two in the east. Two men were arrested for one of the offences, the victim of which is not known.

In one case the highwayman used violence, and James Martin of 24 Golden avenue is in the hospital. He was walking along the railway tracks near the Roncesvalles avenue crossing in Parkdale, when he was accosted by two men. They grabbed him and started to go through his pockets. He struggled viciously and raised an outcry, which finally frightened his assailants off. They secured no booty. In the fighting Martins' arm was fractured, and he was otherwise ill-used. Dr. McConnell was sent for, and later the police ambulance removed him.

About 1 o'clock Patrolmen Guthrie (177) and Allen (184), while on their beats near Queen and Sherbourne streets, saw two men running and gave chase. They overhauled their prey, and found them to be William Yates, no home, a well-known thief, and Fred Cavanagh. When searched, a gold watch and other trinkets were found. They are said to have held up a man near the corner.

M. O'Reilly of Montreal, told P. C. Martin that he had been relieved of a gold watch and $52 in cash at Church and Front streets last night. He was intoxicated. He had $18 on him when searched by the police.

Yesterday afternoon a young man named Thomas Harrison was arrested by P. C. Young at King and Porter streets for robbing a drunken man in full view of several pedestrians.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

Brantford Council Decides to Go In For City Telephone System.

Brantford, Sept. 13.—Notwithstanding that two amendments were brought against the special telephone committee's report recommending municipal ownership of the phone system at last night's meeting of the City Council, the report was adopted by a majority of five, four voting against it. Much spirited discussion took place.

The special committee recommended that a bylaw be introduced to raise $40,000 for the establishment of a municipal telephone system in this city. Ald. Brewster and Andrews spoke in favor of the report, while Ald. Montgomery and Leitch, also of the telephone committee, opposed the arguments.

It is not unlikely that the bylaw will be read to the Council twice and then finally submitted to the people for their consent.

Only Did His Duty as He Saw It

"I deem it my duty to add a word of praise for Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy," says J. Wiley Park, the well known merchant and post master at Wiley, Ky. "I have been selling it for three or four years, and it gives complete satisfaction. Several of my customers tell me they would not be without it for anything. ANOTHER FACTORY FOR PETERBORO'.

Peterborough Rubber Company With Half a Million Capital.

Will Operate a big Concern Here—A Large Employer of Labour.

Announcements of new industries for Peterborough have come to be of almost daily occurrence recently, and the fact that the town is in the midst of an era of unprecedented business development is one apparent to all.

The latest of these announcements is that of the formation and incorporation of a rubber company to be known as the Peterborough Rubber Company, with a capital of $500,000, composed of prominent Canadian and American capitalists, formed for the purpose of erecting in Peterborough a mammoth rubber factory, in which will be manufactured all descriptions of rubber goods, for which there is in Canada a rapidly increasing demand.

Upon good authority the Examiner learns that the company will proceed almost at once with the erection of a plant capable of giving employment to 200 hands, and the intention is to increase the capacity gradually, the ultimate plan being to employ 700 hands. It will thus be seen that the concern is a large one, and one which will be a welcome addition to the industrial forces of the town.

An evidence of the fact that the rubber industry is one which flourishes well in Canada, is found in Bowmanville, where the plant of the Durham Rubber Company is located, and which from a small beginning has grown to be one of the most important industries in the town. Interest is added to this evidence by the fact that one of the promoters of the new Peterborough Company was one of the founders of the Bowmanville concern, and who was, until ill-health made his retirement necessary, one of the leading spirits in its management. Mr. Dayling is a wealthy Canadian who is thoroughly familiar with the rubber industry, and his experience and capital will be given to the new Peterborough company.

As yet the Council has made no announcement as to the terms upon which the new factory has been secured for the town, and the information as given above has been learned from an outside source.

PRESENTATION TO MR. J. B. CUNCANNON.

His Fellow Employes at the C. G. E. Co. Honour Him Prior to His Departure.

At the Y.M.C.A. recently an address and presentation was made to Mr. J. B. Cuncannon prior to his severing his connection with the C.G.E Works where he has been employed for a number of years as foreman of the machine shop. The following address was read by Mr. J. G. M. Wilson, after which a presentation of a beautiful gold watch was made:—

Mr. J. B. Cuncannon:—

It is with the deepest feelings of regret that we assemble here to-night to bid you farewell. After having been among us for so many years we feel that we cannot let you depart without giving some token of the respect and esteem in which you are held by us.

During your engagement with the C.G.E. Co., we have always found you courteous and obliging to your fellow workmen, and your ability combined with your kind nature have instilled in us a lasting regard for you.

We earnestly hope that in your new undertaking you will meet with every success, and while bidding you good-bye, we request your acceptance of this small gift as an emblem of our good will toward you, and trust that the feelings we entertain for you will ever remain the same.

Signed on behalf of your fellow employees in the C. G. E.,

JOHN G. M. WILSON,
ROBT. H. SHEPHERD,
WM. BRUNDRITT,
CHAS. BAKER.

Mr. Cuncannon made a fitting reply, thanking his former fellow-employees for their kindness and wishing them every success in future.

REV. PROF. CLARKE ON "WATERBABIES".

A Most Interesting Lecture in the Y. M. C. A. Last Evening.

Kingsley's Well Known Book the Subject of the Address—Large Audience Present.

"Waterbabies" was the subject of a most interesting and profitable address by Rev. Prof. Clarke, of Trinity College, Toronto, to a large audience in the Y.M.C.A. Assembly Hall, last evening. The room was crowded which may be accounted for because of the fact that it was not this noted speaker's first appearance before a Peterborough audience and because the subject was one which would attract the interest of those who had not read the book which was the subject of the address, and would also interest those who had read it, but who desired to have a clear conception of the many passages which provide food for much deep thought. Prof. Clarke's synopsis of the book was a very clever exposition and was intensely interesting throughout. The reverend gentleman is a delightful speaker, and has a vein of Scotch humour which keeps the audience in the best of spirits throughout the address. The lecturer read several of the most interesting passages from this famous book of Charles Kingsley.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt was chairman of the meeting. It was not necessary for him to introduce the speaker who was well known to Peterborough audiences. Dr. Clarke in opening his remarks said that he would explain a few things in connection with the book, which formed the subject of his remarks. It was prepared about forty years ago in separate chapters and afterwards appeared in volumes. During the period of time in which it appeared in chapters, the speaker became deeply concerned in it, and thought it was not merely what Kingsley called it, "A Fairy Tale for Landbabies," but in reality it was an allegory setting forth the various phases of man's spiritual life. Several of his friends took an interest in the chapters and asked him to give his interpretation of certain portions. He had his own exposition which some believed and others did not, many being of the opinion that his views were purely imaginary. He was challenged to publish his exposition which he considered a rather serious undertaking considering the fact that the author was still living, but he was finally persuaded to do so, as it was the only way to settle the difficulty and he afterwards received a letter from the author which he afterwards referred to as his justification for publishing his exposition. The author said: "From the beginning to the end, I desire not one word more or less in regard to my meaning." The speaker said it was one of the most interesting of all Christian allegories though it was not on the same level with Bunyan's Pilgram's Progress. It was very instructive to compare the spirit of one with the spirit of the other. In the Pilgrim's Progress the spiritual mind of the time of Charles II was presented, while Kingsley showed the religious spirit of the present age in which we live. The former sets forth the depth of feeling and conversion from sin, which were characteristics of that age and those to follow. The speaker thought we had changed since and rather vastly improved in some ways. There was a great depth about the Puritanic theology but there was not a clear and strong conception of the Fatherhood of God and the fulness of Divine love. There was not in the days in which Bunyan wrote his Pilgrim's Progress, a clear conception of the law of Jesus Christ, as it is known today. Dr. Clarke mentioned another allegory in this particular, Dante's Divine Comedy, which is of its kind the greatest poem which is possessed by any language.

Dr. Clarke outlined the two parts of the book, "Waterbabies." The first had reference to the chimney sweep and the second to the Waterbaby. The speaker had no doubt in his mind but that the chimney sweep referred to a life of sin, not merely alienation from God, but sin in actual operation.

The hero of the story was Tom, who, when quite young, was one day engaged in cleaning a chimney with his master, Grimes, at Harthover Hall. By some mistake Tom, after having finished his work of cleaning the chimney, came down the wrong passageway and found himself in a room where was sleeping on a bed of spotless white and in a room where everything was bright and clean, a beautiful child, named Eilie, the daughter of Lord Harthorn. The contrast between the spotless beauty of othe child and the dirty appearance of himself set him thinking, and the thought of bettering his condition thrilled him. He left the house in haste, so rapidly in fact, that it was thought he had been stealing, and he was chased from the vicinity. He stopped at a house where Grime's wife, whom Grimes had deserted, was living. She knew Tom, and gave him a meal and a place in the barn, where he might sleep in his dirty condition. The words of an old Irishwoman, "What is filthy is filthy, what is clean is clean," kept ringing in Tom's ears during the night, and in the morning he rose early with the thought "I must be clean. He ran down to a stream flowing near by and threw himself into the water. All that was found of him afterwards was a shell which he had been before, and Tom had become a "Waterbaby."

This change in Tom was to illustrate the conversion from sin, that being brought about by the conviction of evil and a desire for that which is good. The life of Tom in the river represented the life of worldliness; often a second conversion was necessary—a man might be converted from sin and yet not be converted from worldliness. Tom was represented as dashing about in the river, amusing himself in an aimless and thoughtless way. He is a sample of the many in life who are living in just such a manner, with no cares about their soul's salvation, but living a free and easy, careless sort of a life. A worldly life may be just as mischievous as a sinful one, although not so offensive. We may be just as far from God, with our lives all absorbed with worldly affairs and pleasures, as though we lived the life of the drunkard and sensual, and, in fact, sometimes those in the latter classes are not so dangerous to mankind as the worldly.

It is told in the story that Tom, as a waterbaby did not recognize others of his kind, and so it is with the worldly in life, who do not recognize the rights and privileges of their fellow brothers and sisters, but when their eyes are opened they will see that we are all children in the great family of God. Tom soon became established in right relations to God and man and saw things differently afterwards. But after a man is converted from either sin or worldliness, he still has to battle with his old faults and failings, which will be constantly creeping up and causing trouble, if care is not taken to subdue them.

After Tom's conversion came his education, which was conducted by two ladies, representing law and grace. Law was beautiful if it were understood, and if people wished to abide by it, but to those who were wont to conduct themselves in a manner offensive to law, then the law became offensive to them. Unless the law were obeyed Grace could not be obeyed. This was really a description of the spiritual life. Some people were of the opinion that one could get all good things without toil or self-denial, but this is an erroneous idea. Work is essential to success. The Great Captain of our salvation was made perfect by suffering, as just as He endured trials and hardships, so there is a discipline through which we all must pass to become perfect.

Tom's journey to the end of Nowhere, with its many was described by the speaker who read interesting passages from the book.

The speaker dwelt upon certain passages in connection with the trip to the end of Nowhere which illustrated the principle believed by a certain class of religious teachers in all countries, that people could not be led to become good unless through fear. Kingsley did not believe in this. The writer tells of an instance in Tom's travels where the latter saw a heathen child sitting on the road crying bitterly. Tom asked what was the matter and the child replied that he was crying because he was not frightened as badly as he would like. Tom tried to satisfy the child's desire, but his efforts to frighten him were of no avail. Presently his parents appeared with the person especially fitted to frighten children, and he succeeded in frightening the child so badly that he lapsed into an unconscious state, much to the delight of the parents, who thought the child would greatly profit by his fright.

Before his journey was concluded Tom again saw Grimes, who was in suffering because of his own evil deeds. The last scene of the narrative is the meeting of Tom and Eilie. Tom had at last reached a state of perfection; there was no short way to this state, but the change had to be brought about by a long pilgrimage. And when we come to experience the full grace and knowledge of Christ it will be found that nature, grace, law, providence and conscience are all one in working for the good of mankind.

At the conclusion of the lecture a hearty vote of thanks, moved by Mr. D. W. Dumble, seconded by Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, was tendered the speaker for his very able address.

WILL BE THE BEST IN ITS HISTORY.

Directors of the Peterborough Exhibition met Last Night and Came to this Conclusion.

A meeting of the Directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition was held in the Bank of Commerce building last evening. There were present, Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, President, and the following Directors,—Messrs. G. Fitzgerald, E. M.. Elliott, J. Garbutt, R. Fair, R. Manroe.

Each director represents some branch of the work in connection with the Exhibition and reports were received from each, indicating the greatest enthusiasm not only in reference to the exhibitors, but also on the part of the public generally. Final arrangements were made for the judging of the different events and also for the grand concert of the famous Black Watch Band in the Brock street Rink, on the evening of Tuesday, September 27th. The date of the opening of the plan which will be at Madill's drug store, will be announced shortly.

Other important business was taken up and disposed of in a satisfactory manner. The President congratulated each director personally upon the exertions made, and felt that a large measure of the success of the exhibition would be due to the earnest and labourous efforts which each director was making. A grant of $250.00 from the Town Council was acknowledged, and the directors expressed themselves as greatly appreciating the liberality of the Council in aiding the Exhibition so materially.

The meeting adjourned, all the Directors expressing themselves as greatly pleased with the prospects for a most successful Exhibition.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE CONGESTED ATTENDANCE.

Urgent Need of Increased Institute and Public School Accommodation.

The need of a larger Collegiate Institute building is emphasized by the fact that the several rooms at the present building serving the purpose of a Collegiate Institute, are crowded to an excess that makes good work next to impossible. Some of the rooms have as high as 53 pupils, and in one room pupils were yesterday compelled to use the window ledges as desks. It is well known that 53 pupils in a room is too many to admit of satisfactory, or even passable, educational work being done. The best teaching in a school of this kind is, to a large extent, individual — the master should educate — draw out — not merely instruct — should develop, not cram. The present congestion, moreover, is likely to increase, for there are other pupils in prospect. If our Collegiate Institute is to be made, as can be done, the leading educational institution in Eastern Ontario, means must be adopted to accommodate all comers. None must be turned away, if the town is to become as important an educational, as it is an industrial and commercial, centre.

The growth of the town is further illustrated by the influx of pupils producing crowding in the public school rooms. In the primary department of the South Central, for instance, Miss Aldridge's room has an attendance of 51, and pupils wishing to be admitted, increase the number wanting accommodation, to 81. A mother who has one or two stirring boys to keep in order will sympathise with a teacher who has four score of restless youngsters to keep not only in order, but to teach.

DEATH OF FORMER PETERBOROUGH MAN.

Mr. Thomas Gilmour, Grandson of Late Rev. Thos. Gilmour, died in Montreal.

The many acquaintances here of Mr. Thomas Gilmour, son of the late John W. Gilmour, and a grandson of the late Rev. Thomas Gilmour, will learn with regret of his death, which is chronicled by the Montreal papers of recent date. The family is one well known in Peterborough, Mr. John W. Gilmour having been in the drug business here in the store now occupied by Mr. H. S. Macdonald. The deceased's grandfather was a Baptist minister here, and to his efforts is largely due the present excellent standing of the churches of that denomination in this district. The Gilmour Memorial Church, Smith, is named after this gentleman.

A Millinery Message From Miss Delaney.

In anticipation of our formal opening event for the fall season next week, we desire to inform the ladies that we are fully ready now to show our new novelties and advanced styles. We are satisfied you will not hesitate to recognize in our autumn millinery the qualities of exclusiveness and distinction. The most popular dressy hats in vogue are all here, and a comparison of values will show how successful we have been. Will be pleased to wait upon those who require early orders rushed through this week. Reproductions of American and Parisian models show refinement and good taste. Pattern hats and our own are here together. Come and judge between them, Miss Delaney.

LIFT LOCK LITERATURE.

The Lift Lock the Subject of Many Articles in United States Journals and Magazines.

We in Peterborough are becoming accustomed to the Lift Lock, which to our citizens is becoming no novelty. But still its fame is spreading, and Canadians loyal to the town though far distant, are helping in the work by compiling Lift Lock literature. Mr. C. H. Allison, formerly of the Examiner staff, has an article, one of a series he has contributed to several leading United States publications, in the September number of "World's Events," of New York.

Lifebuoy Soap—disinfectant—is strongly recommended by the medical profession as a safeguard against infectious diseases.

DON'T FREEZE along another winter with that old stove. Get a Hot Air Furnace, and when you are getting one get the Best. That's the kind we sell. Easy on the fuel and hard on the cold. The "Improved Garnet" Furnace, for coal or wood, beats them all.

INSTANTLY KILLED BY A LIVE WIRE.

John Herod, of Lakefield, Met Death at Noon To-day.

Was Sweeping the Tower of Lakefield Cement Co. Works and Touched a Live Wire—An Inquest will be held.

A fatal accident occurred at Lakefield to-day about noon, whereby John Herod, of that village, lost his life. The deceased man was sweeping off the tower of the Lakefield Cement Company's power house. There was an electric wire carrying 10,000 volts passing over the building a few feet above the roof. Herod was sweeping beneath the wire in a stooping position and unthinkingly raised himself and came in contact with the wire, which was supposed to be insulated, but which was not. Herod's clothes caught fire and he was instantly killed by the terrible shock.

The late Mr. Herod had been for years in the employ of the company. He was about 50 years of age and was married.

Dr. Gray went out to Lakefield this afternoon to investigate the case and an inquest will likely be held.

RINK DIRECTORS HELD A MEETING.

Plans for Coming Winter Season Were Discussed.

A meeting of the Directors of the Peterborough Hockey Rink Company, Limited, was held last night in the office of Mr. W. H. Hill, Hunter street, and presided over by Mr. A. H. Stratton, President, when the prospects for the coming season were discussed. The record of last season was found to be thoroughly satisfactory and that for the coming season was believed to be of the best.

That there will be a good hockey team here this season in the Intermediate O.H.A., series, is assured, although it is possible that some of the players of last year may not be seen on the team during the coming season.

Mr. Jas. Hamilton, the indefatigable Secretary-Treasurer, resigned from that position on account of lack of time in consequence of the duties of his business, and M. J. Hutchinson, was appointed to the position in succession to Mr. Hamilton.

A meeting will be held in the near future when definite plans for the coming season will be adopted.

A MATTER OF INTEREST TO HANDLERS OF FREIGHT.

After September 15th, Storage Charges on Freight Consignments will be Collected.

The Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways in Peterborough, will inaugurate new regulations in regard to freight storage charges, shortly. On and after Sept. 15th inst, freight storage charges will be made at the rate of 2 cents per hundred pounds, for a week or portion of a week, the minimum storage charge for any consignment being 5 cents.

On domestic freight 72 hours free storage is allowed, and on bonded freight six working days, before storage charges begin.

This matter is under the jurisdiction of the Canadian Freight Association of Canada, of which all Canadian railways are members, and the new regulations regarding storage charges, which come into force on the 15th inst., are of course effective on all the railways of the company.

Rose Chains

By IZOLA L. FORRESTER.

Copyright, 1904, by Izola L. Forrester

It was late when Rosemary arrived. The other guests were rising, and dinner had been announced. She had barely time to toss aside her furs and exchange a few hurried words with Mrs. Creighton.

There was one thing certain, she decided, after a glance at Helen and the rest. They had not heard yet, and she was glad of an hour's respite. After the scene with Dean last night, followed by the soleman one in the morning with her mother, and finally the reproaches and condolences of four younger sisters, each with her individual opinion on the fitness of the engagement, it was a relief to breathe freely without fear of conversational dissection of her case.

"Who is to take me in?" she asked at the foot of the stairs, but Helen was already bowing and smiling to another guest as she answered:

"You're always late, dear, aren't you? No excuse, though, please. Don't you see the senator looking helpless and alone over there? He's to take me in and thinks I'm lost."

"But"— Rosemary stopped short and went upstairs to the dressing room with a little sudden heartache. For a whole month one only had had the right and privilege of claiming her, and now she was free again. She hoped Helen would not give her to any one brilliant and strenuous tonight, who would bother her by trying to make an impression. She didn't want to be impressed. In a measure she blamed impressionism for her engagement to Dean. He was a royal comrade, clever and responsive, but not too clever or too responsive. There was a difference. Looking back on the joyous days of the month, she decided that it had been this element of chumship, of mindful affinity, which had been responsible for the whole thing.

As a comrade Dean was splendid, but as a lover in the role of prospective husband to be wedded to for life she had suddenly discovered that he was exacting—most exacting.

Any man who was engaged to a girl and positively forbade any other man falling in love with her was exacting. Moreover, it was foolish, because, really, it was in the abstract a compliment to his own good taste.

She could not help Jack Stowell telling her that he loved her. Of course he loved her. He had told her so on an average of twice a month for over a year. And he was a dear, dear boy.

She smiled contentedly at the mirrored image of herself in the dressing room as she paused to tuck in a few refractory hairpins. Who could help loving her? Even Dean had called her the dearest girl in the world. It was sweet to remember that. Of course he had behaved intolerably about Jack, but when a man is in love—

She laughed softly and buried her lips caressingly in the heart of a single long stemmed La France rose that lay lightly on her breast.

The last trailing gown was vanishing beyond the heavy velvet portieres of the dining room as she came down stairs. Only one lone figure awaited her coming in the wide hall, and she wondered who it could be. Not Jack. Mrs. Creighton did not approve of Jack. In fact, she had once called him a cub. Mild, but irritating—to Jack. The figure turned suddenly at the sound of her coming. It was Dean himself. Half unconsciously she hesitated, her head lifted a trifle higher than usual, her lashes drooping obstinately over telltale eyes.

He was terribly grave and dignified.

"I am to have the pleasure of taking you in, Mrs. Creighton said. She evidently does not know."

"I had no idea that you would be here." She spoke indignantly. It was almost impertinent of him, when only last night she had told him she never wished to even look at him again.

"I could hardly help myself, after accepting the invitation a week ago. We will probably meet in the same places for some time, until the breaking of the engagement is announced. At present people consider us indispensable to each other's happiness."

His quiet, courteous sarcasm was maddening under the circumstances. She resolved not to even speak to him again. Old Mr. Rathburn sat at her other hand, and she devoted herself to him with earnest fervor. He was interested in a plan for the irrigation of the great American desert by means of huge spinning hose nozzles to be operated from balloons.

"But you'll have to get the water up there before you can get it down," objected Rosemary anxiously for the seventh time. She knew that Dean was smiling amusedly. "Unless you attach it to the clouds."

Mr. Rathburn was silent, and she felt withered by a sense of his displeasure, and she hated the theory of irrigation by balloons or any other way.

Dean was talking across the table to Eleanor Lee, and she suddenly classed Eleanor with irrigation and other unpleasant topics. Next to Dean was Mrs. Chadwick. Her gray curls were just visible beyond his brown ones. She was congratulating him, Rosemary knew. She had been in Europe all summer and had only heard of the betrothal a few days ago. It seemed to Rosemary that she was unnecessarily rapturous and voluble on the subject.

"It is the sweetest time of your life," she was saying. "The betrothal hour when we laugh and love and let Cupid bind us in rose chains and drive us at his dear, capricious will, span or tandem"—

"It's generally tandem, Mrs. Chadwick," said Dean, with merry scorn. "There must be a leader, you know, and Cupid's law is ladies first."

"Ah, but they are only rose chains, Dean." The gray curls were shaken at him rebukingly. "And they break so easily. Once married, they are rose chains still, but some wise fate has slipped links of steel beneath the petals."

"And if we break them now"— Dean paused.

"Then there are only scattered roses in the dust and Cupid weeping and Rosemary—for remembrance. May it never come to you." She smiled at both young faces. "Memory is dear, but not when all it brings to mind are the broken rose chains."

There was a momentary hush. The sweetly modulated old voice had carried to the far ends of the table, and all were listening. Rosemary's gaze rested on her plate. She dared not meet Dean's eyes. The hush passed, and there was the low, light babel of voices again. She heard him speaking to her and held her breath to listen.

"Isn't she an old darling to say that?"

"She doesn't know they are already broken." He could hardly catch the half whisper.

"But are they? Only last night, and no one knows, and it was all a mistake." He bent, with pleasing eyes, toward her. "Rosemary, my Rosemary."

"For remembrance?" She laughed, a low, tremulous little laugh that was the first sign of surrender.

"For life. Roses are sweet, but they need the steel."

She hesitated, her eyes full of questioning doubt.

"Jack didn't mean anything," she said hurriedly. "He didn't really propose. He knew that I was engaged, of course. He only said that he had always loved me, and, after all, he's only a boy. It couldn't matter in the least his loving me when"—

"When what?"

His tone was full of the old imperative, proprietary command, and she met his glance for one swift, losing instant.

"When I loved you."

Mrs. Creighton was rising. As he drew back Rosemary's chair he whispered:

"Broken rose chains can be rewoven, can't they, dear? Forgive me."

He caught a fleeting glimpse of her face as she passed on in the wake of Mrs. Chadwick. She was tall and sweet as a young lily in her white lace dinner gown, and he felt a wild, sudden longing to crush her to his heart before them all and win the world of forgiveness.

She was gone, and he was unanswered, but the La France rose lay in his hand, and Rosemary was smiling as she, too, accepted Mrs. Chadwick's congratulations in the drawing room.

LORD KNOLLYS.

Sketch of His Majesty the King's Private Secretary.

His Majesty has no time for the cultivation of the statelier style of letter writing which characterized the early decades of the last century. But he never finishes a word with an unintelligible syllable, and does not observe the practice of referring to people and places by their initial letters, except in family notes, when he would not hesitate to write of "G." or "V." To his relatives in Denmark, he refers to Her Majesty as "alix;" to all others as "the Queen," only in exceptional cases as "Queen Alexandra." There are, however, some little time-saving idiosyncrasies which were adopted long ago, and have been perpetuated. Thus a favorite form of subscription consists of the syncopated words, "Yrs. v. sincerely."

Of course, much of the King's letter-writing is delegated to Lord Knollys, his private secretary. His Lordship is a remarkable combination of the old-world aristocrat and the keen and modern man of business. He is a spare man with crisp, curling white hair, surmounting a refined and thoughtful face. He has a certain picturesque dignity and reserve about him. In his frock overcoat and silk hat he might be taken for a beau of a hundred years ago, spick and span, and bearing the marks of an inborn courtliness and grace. Those who meet Lord Knollys outside his work know him as a man immaculate in dress, precise in manner and deportment. They should see him in his rooms at Buckingham Palace. He sits there in shirt-sleeves, cuffs tucked up, dealing with His Majesty's correspondence and other work with a celerity and an astuteness that would do credit to the keenest man of business in London.

The King's secretary says little, but when he speaks he goes straight to the point. He is a master of the snub in its various phases, as bores and cranks have found to their cost. And yet he has a wonderful fund of considerate kindliness. Some little while ago a London press man who happened to be the only one of his craft at a meeting where the King made a little speech, went to Lord Knollys with his transcript, and asked His Lordship to glance over the copy. Lord Knollys dashed the reporter's hopes by saying he was not present at the meeting. The press man was disappointed, for he feared he had made some mistake. "Come back in two hours," said Lord Knollys, taking the copy. He returned at the appointed time, and found his copy corrected in a strange hand. Lord Knollys had gone to the King himself, and His Majesty had made the correction.

Lord Anglesey's Clothes.

No fewer than nine hundred lots were offered at the sale of Lord Anglesey's personal clothing.

The footwear included boots made with suede, white crocodile leather, chamois leather, and white washleather, and snow boots, skating boots, and patent leather jack boots.

Among the innumerable overcoats were a "handsome and costly brown sable overcoat, with twenty tails and ten head fronts, satin lining," a costly silver-grey moleskin coat, with mink fur collar, and "a satin-lined green Melton cloth coat, with Persian lamb collar and cuffs."

Some of the finely-worked silk night-shirts were fitted with chest protectors. There were waistcoats of silk, leather, wool, and "expensive fur," suits of heliotrope tweed and green boxcloth, and two evening dress coats of pale blue and grey cloth, with velvet facings and cuffs.

Other lots included "one beautiful white cloth kilt, complete with fox-in flowers, and ermine lounge suit, and head sporran," "smoking suits worked a Persian lamb smoking jacket." Dressing jackets in heliotrope, pink, and pale blue, some lined with different colors, and one blue silk dressing jacket, with flowers worked in silk and lined with yellow silk.

The bath gowns numbered thirty, and the dressing gowns, which were of steel grey moire silk, pink moire silk, heliotrope moire silk, and blue silk, and decorated with tassels and silver braid, were innumerable. The prices received were not very high.

Vastness of London.

There are about 6,000 miles of railway in Greater London, and it is estimated that something like 600,000,000 separate journeys are made by passengers annually. The number of journeys on an average week day is over 1,500,000. An idea of the vehicular traffic in the streets may be gathered from the statement that in twelve hours 16,054 vehicles of all kinds passed a particular spot in Piccadilly, and a full service of 690 buses pass the Bank of England in an hour. The number of passengers carried by the London trams in a year is over 360,000,000. A census taken of the number of pedestrians who crossed London Bridge on a certain day showed that they totaled 116,902, and in nineteen and a half hours during a day in April last year 248,015 people crossed the roadways at the bank. It is always a source of amusement for American children visiting London to look for the cab with the highest number. Quite frequently one is seen above the 20,000 mark.

Two Injuries.

Perhaps the man who maltreats a book, even by accident, deserves to pay for it twice over, and logically he may sometimes be justly called upon to do it. A daily newspaper says that a borrower recently handed in a book at a public lending library, and the attendant thereupon discovered a hole in one of the leaves.

It was necessary to enter a description of the damage in a book kept on the counter. A clerk entered the title and number of the book, and the attendant described the damage thus:

"Page 215, a hole." Then he turned the leaf and added, "Page 216, another hole."

KING AND ARTIST.

An Australian Picture Presented to His Majesty King Edward.

There was an interesting ceremony at the Royal Academy, Burlington Gardens, on July 4, when the picture painted by Mr. Tom Roberts, of Melbourne, was presented to the King. His Majesty and Queen Alexandra, on arriving at the Academy, were joined by the Prince and Princess of Wales and the Royal party were then formally received by the president and council of the Royal Academy, and conducted over the exhibition. Then followed the presentation, the distinguished company surrounding their Majesties including the Colonial Secretary, the Marquis of Linlithgow, and the Agents-General for New South Wales, Victoria, Queensland, Tasmania, and Western Australia.

The picture represents the opening of Australia's first Parliament by the Prince of Wales in 1901, and the artist spent two years in Melbourne, obtaining sittings from the men who figure on his big canvas, which is 16 feet, 8 inches by 10 feet. Last year Mr. Roberts brought it to the Imperial Institute, and during six months sittings were granted by the Prince and Princess of Wales and members of the suite who accompanied them on the famous Colonial tour. Altogether there are 250 figures in this massive and imposing picture, a feature that is historical.

In presenting the picture King Edward referred to it as "a souvenir of a most important event in the history of the Empire," and he paid a high compliment to Mr. Roberts on the excellence of his work.

Celebrated 100th Birthday.

The hundredth birthday of the Rev. James Way, father of Sir Samuel Way, Chief Justice and Lieut.-Governor of South Australia, has just been celebrated in Adelaide. The aged Methodist minister, says the Melbourne correspondent of a London newspaper, was born in 1804, while the war had broken out afresh between France and England. One of Mr. Way's uncles was killed at Trafalgar, and other relatives served under Nelson off Toulon. As itinerant minister in the early days of South Australia, Mr. Way carried his whole wardrobe and library in a small bag, the library consisting of a pocket-book, hymn book and Gurney's "Educational Bible." His first salary was £8 a year, and a small allowance for fire and candles. One of his earliest exploits was a walk from Brighton to Tenterden in order to secure a second-hand copy of Clark's "Commentary."

Our Flag Far North.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 12.—Inspector Pelletier and ten of the men of the Northwest Mounted Police left Regina on Saturday to take the steamer Arctic for Hudson Bay. Superintendent Moody, who goes in command of the party, will meet them at Quebec. The crew of the Arctic has been chosen from men who are engaged in the sealing industry of Newfoundland, and who are thoroughly familiar with ice work. They are going up to plant the Canadian ensign on all the northern-most points of British North America, and will spend the winter in the farthest north.

Bangor, Me., Sept. 12.—It is announced on good authority that a powerful steamer will be built immediately at the McKay & Dix shipyard at Verona, on the Penobscot, for Commander Peary's next expedition in search of the North Pole. The steamer will be equipped with powerful engines. She will cost between $300,000 and $400,000.

Constipation, Pains in the Back

Mr. Jas. H. Harvey, baker, 641 George street, Peterborough, Ont., states: "I was troubled very much with constipation and pains in the back. At times the pains were sharp like a stab in the back with a knife and caused me great suffering.

"I heard of many being cured by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and decided to try them. I am pleased to say that they soon helped me, and I used them right along until cured. I never have pains in my back now and only occasionally take a pill in order to keep my bowels regular."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto.

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

STEPHENSON'S ROCKET

STORY OF FIRST LOCOMOTIVE TO DRAW A PASSENGER TRAIN.

Man Who Acted as Fireman on That Epoch-Making Trip 72 Years Ago Lives at Des Moines, Ia., and Grieves That He Cannot Go and See the Model at St. Louis of the Engine Here Pictured.

A model of the famous Rocket of George Stephenson, the first engine to draw a passenger train, stands in the Transportation Building of the St. Louis Exposition, and the man who acted as fireman on the epoch-marking day, seventy-three years ago, lives in a humble cottage in East Des Moines, Ia., and when he thinks of his inability to visit the Exposition and see the Rocket model tears come into his eyes and course down his cheeks.

"I'd give anything I possess just to see and handle it again," he said recently, as he told the story of that memorable trip. "But I'm old now and feeble. I'm not the lad I was when Stephenson gave me a word of cheer and I climbed into the Rocket and we started on our trip."

Edward Entwistle was a lad of sixteen when the trip was made. He was recommended to Stephenson by the Duke of Bridgewater, whose steward declared that Entwistle was the best mechanic in his shops.

It was in September, 1831, that the Rocket made its trip. Stephenson had triumphed over many difficulties and the test was to be made. He had completed his plans, obtained a charter for the railroad between Liverpool and Manchester and laid his track.

Stephenson had one strong friend, the Duke of Newcastle. When he heard that Stephenson was to appear before the committee he saw Stephenson and bade him be careful of his answers, lest the committee refuse the charter. Mr. Entwistle, in telling the story of the Rocket, says:

"George heeded well the instructions of the Duke. The committee asked him all sorts of questions, but the answers were always cautious and hard headed. In particular they tried to find out what the capacity of the train was to be in the way of speed and the handling of freight.

"'It will travel fast enough and pull freight enough,' answered Stephenson, 'to pay the interest on the money invested.' That was all they got out of him, but the charter was granted. Work was begun on the road at once, but there were ten miles that were a bog, and gravel and dirt had to be hauled in, so that it was four years before the rails could be laid.

"The Liverpool and Manchester road was the first road to be built with flat, smooth rails, to act in conjunction with flanges on the wheels. In the north of England a short road had been built a year or two before Stephenson completed his line, but it was used only for hauling coal cars, and there were flanges on the track and the wheels fitted into these.

"Well, there were engines run on the road before the Rocket, but they were of a different type. They were construction engines for the most part. The Rocket was built to enter a competition for a prize of $2,500, offered by the Government for a high speed engine for passenger service."

When the track was completed and Stephenson was ready to enter the competition he was without a fireman. He applied to the Duke of Bridgewater and was sent by the latter to his machine shops. Here Stephenson repeated his request to the foreman of the shop. The latter replied:

"I haven't a man to send, but that lad will serve your purpose if you care to take him and get an order from the steward."

Stephenson was in need of a helper. The order from the steward was not long in coming and Edward Entwistle, a machinist's apprentice, went on the Rocket.

Stephenson took Entwistle out the following Sunday to let him try his hand at the throttle. They ran the engine down to the bog, a distance of fifteen miles, and return. Stephenson was more than pleased. The next day was the day for the competition. Entwistle, speaking of the trip, says:

"I don't remember much about the weather. All the days in England are pretty much the same and along the seacoast there is always more or less of a fog. The thirty-one miles were what might be called level country. Where the bog had been filled in, of course, was level. It was slightly down hill between Manchester and Liverpool. The country was not rough.

"I don't remember the time we made on the trip, but it didn't mean much, as the trip was marred by a fatal accident. We were about half way down when a stop was made. The Duke of Wellington was talking to Mr. Huskisson and they were standing on the second track. Suddenly a construction engine came around the corner and bore down on them. Wellington jumped and escaped safely, but Mr. Huskisson was struck down and the wheels passed over his legs above the knee. He was taken to Liverpool, where he lived about ten hours.

"Strange as it may seem, this accident did not prejudice the people against the railroad. They understood that it was an accident and did not blame the road. The Rocket pulled on that trip five coaches. They were small affairs and looked much like stage coaches on wheels.

"Each coach contained three seats, each accommodating three people, making nine to a coach. People rode on the tops, however, and hung on the sides of the coaches, so that in all 75 persons rode that day. Thousands of persons were lined up along the railroad track on both sides to witness the strange performance."

After operating the Rocket thirty months Entwistle found himself a nervous wreck and refused to serve any longer. He was sent to Liverpool and put in charge of an engine on the Duke of Bridgewater's steamship line. Here he remained four years and then went to the United States. He obtained a position as engineer on the Troy, a Hudson River steamer.

Going West he ran a steamboat engine on the Great Lakes several seasons, living in Chicago. He went to Des Moines forty-seven years ago, and established a mill on the banks of the river. He retired many years ago and to-day lives a quiet life, most of the time being spent in dreams of the old Rocket and the months in its service.

Jolly Jack Tar.

"Jolly" is the word generally associated with the jack tar. He is the picture of health, and the health bubbles over in mirth and merriment. When people are sick, especially when sickness attacks the lungs the doctor often advises a sea voyage. But in the large majority of cases the sea voyage is impossible.

It is to the men and women of the workaday world to whom sea voyages or change of climate are impossible, that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery comes as the greatest earthly boon. The effect of this medicine upon those whose lungs are "weak" is remarkable. Even where there is bronchitis, spitting of blood, emaciation, weakness, conditions which if unchecked or unskillfully treated lead to consumption, "Golden Medical Discovery" in ninety-eight cases out of a hundred works a perfect and permanent cure. It strengthens the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, so that the body in all its parts is not merely fed but nourished. And it is by nourishment that Nature builds up the body to resist or throw off disease.

"I had a terrible cough something over a year ago and could find nothing to stop it, or even to do me a particle of good," writes J. M. Flirt, Esq., of Cameron, Screven Co., Ga. "I chanced to see an advertisement of yours, and forthwith bought a bottle of your invaluable 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Before I had taken half a bottle I was entirely well."

MAIDEN BRIDGE.

Odd Reminder of Chartist and Fenian Days in Britain.

A picturesque, old-fashioned structure is Maiden Bridge, Enfield, England. To add the local habitation to the name, it is situated near Forty Hill, and it carries the rustic road known as Goat lane over a little brook. It is by no means an out of the way spot; indeed, the road is well frequented, and many people pass over the bridge every hour of the day, but few stop to notice the iron tablets let into the parapet, one on each side, with a deep black border on one of them that lends it a funereal appearance. One of these notifies the public that this is a county bridge, and insufficient to carry weights beyond the ordinary traffic of the district. Traction engines are warned off, lest they incur the fate of one of their number in the provinces a few weeks ago, when it crashed through a bridge like this and blocked up the road beneath. There is nothing extraordinary about that notice. It is the customary warning, signed by the clerk of the peace both in Middlesex and other counties.

The second iron tablet, however, invites a closer inspection, and its resemblance to a funeral card seems to deepen as the wayfarer reads the inscription, drawn up many a long year ago, and still suffered to remain. Here it is: "Notice. Middlesex. Any person wilfully injuring any part of this county bridge will be guilty of felony, and upon conviction liable to be transported for life. —By the Court, Selby." It is rather startling to be confronted with such words as these in the 20th century. They had a grim significance once; to-day they are an anachronism, since the law in regard to malicious damage to property was amended by 24 and 25 Vict. C. 97. By this statute it is a felony punishable with penal servitude for life to break or destroy looms or machinery, or damage the goods on the loom. A life sentence may be inflicted for the felony of demolishing or destroying a public building by persons riotously assembling together, while for damaging the structure the maximum punishment is seven years' penal servitude.

The particular section referring to bridges, which abolished the penalty of transportation, enacted that to destroy or render impassable any bridge, viaduct, aqueduct, under or over which any highway, railway, or canal passes, is a felony punishable with penal servitude for life. But even the later law was brought into existence for a time and a temper that happily passed away with the Chartists and the Fenians, of whom this old bridge and its out-of-date inscription serve as an odd reminder.

Armada Relics at Auction.

When the Armada was scattered, one of the unfortunate galleons was cast away and sunk in the Tobermory Bay, Island of Mull. The ship was reputed to hold enormous treasure, and as far back as 1641 the rights of salvage were granted to Archibald Marquis of Argyll. The many attempts since then to discover the millions of money in the sands of the sea have not been successful, but from time to time portions of the ship and of its munitions have been fetched up.

Not long ago a few of these relics were submitted to the inspection and bidding of the curious. These cumbrous spoils of the deep did not, however, fascinate the market. Collectors nowadays draw a sharp line between objects of art and curios, whatever the historical interest of the latter may be.

The chief memento was, unquestionably, a bronze breech-loading cannon, 4½ feet long with separate powder chamber. The shot and wad still remain in the gun, and there are traces of powder in the chamber. A nearly-undecipherable date is probably 1568. For this the comparatively good price of £55 was paid, and it is understood that the gun will find a home in the museum of the Charter-House School at Godalming.

A piece of the planking of the ship's side, with treenail-holes, made £2, an apothecary's metal mortar £4 10s., and two pairs of antique compasses £4. Six stone cannon balls of 6½ inch diameter brought £7, and two iron balls £1 10s.—Grim reminders of the tragedy were several human bones, for which £1 15s. was given. Lastly, a gold double-headed serpent finger-ring realized £6 10s., and 33 large Spanish silver coins, apparently pesos, £25.

Why Change?

"Do you think women ought to have the right to propose?"

"No. Women generally manage to get the fellows they want as it is, so why not let the men go on innocently thinking they're the ones who are to blame?"

The Millennium.

Each summer, when we go away,
How happy we would be
If our bald head could only say,
"There are no flies on me!"

HISTORY SIDE OF WAR

PROF. M'CURDY, OF TORONTO UNIVERSITY, GIVES MUCH DATA.

Asks His Audience to Choose Between Pagan God of War and Christian Prince of Peace—Contrast Between Israel and Moab—The Prophet's Ideal Was Distinctly One of Peace—The Present Day Application.

At the great peace meeting of the recent Friends' Conference in Toronto, Prof. McCurdy of Toronto University stated that he wished to deal with the historical side of his subject, "Religion and War." The Song of Miriam, he said, in which the line occurs, "The Lord is a man of war, the Lord of Hosts is His name," was paralleled in the great hymn of the first Tiglath-Pileser, the Bible monarch being the third of the name. Tiglath-Pileser had lived 1200 B.C., and erected a monument to Asshur, the king of gods and men; Shamash, judge of Heaven and earth; Raman, the hero who overwhelms his enemies; Adar, and Ishtar, the queen of war. The inscription showed that the spirit of the time in this respect was distinctly pagan, and the "Books of the Wars of Jehovah," of which a part remained, were in the same spirit. The Old Testament historians thought Jah a stronger God than Chemosh of Moab, but they knew by the Moabite stone that the Moabites thought their God stronger than Jah of Israel. A change came with the advent of the prophets. In Isaiah X, the great King of Assyria, claimed his conquests, "By my might and by my wisdom," and presented an early type of aggressive Imperialism. Habakkuk had a picture of a great king of Babylon, but addressed a God "of purer eyes" than did the pagan monarch.

The prophets had introduced a new set of terms. Peace, truth, righteousness, justice, loving kindness, were new words, or had different meanings than of old. Prof. McCurdy traced the development of the idea of peace, which was the salaam of the present east, and at first meant completeness, then contentment, and came to express the completeness of one's relations with some one else, and finally in a noble way came to mean satisfactory relations with outside communities. In the second chapter of Isaiah they had the splendid conception that "nation shall not lift sword against nation, and the earth shall learn war no more." The war god in contrast to this ideal was a pagan Moloch, to whom deluded Christian parents still sacrificed their children. The soldiers' oath was but the Roman sacramentum, and all wars now were undertaken to spread righteousness. The first Emperor William of Germany had been "pious beyond the verge of unctuousness" in undertaking the Franco-Prussian war, though Bismarck had schemed for nine years to bring it about, and was absolutely pagan in his international policy.

Prof. McCurdy regretted that the soldiers could not receive the gospel without furbishing up their accoutrements for a Sunday parade and having a special minister set apart to preach to them. Theirs was the only trade honored by a Sunday celebration. The Spartans of old, when they wanted to slaughter the defenceless helots, formally declared war against them; and Prof. McCurdy found a parallel in this for the killing of 600 Thibetans who were reported to have been "slain like sheep."

Great Britain had been the greatest sinner, but not the worst in "removing the boundaries of the nations," against which the prophet inveighed. He thought the United States would be the greatest moral power in the world if without delay she took steps to set free the Philippines.

Three factors were making for the ending of war; the progress of the arbitration idea; the fact that nations, armed to the teeth, were afraid of the result; and the fact that shame was beginning to creep into the heart of the militarist. No true patriot and no true Christian could be a militarist. He joined with the poet who sought the God of Peace:

"I found Him in the shining of the stars;
I marked Him in the flowering of the field;
But in the ways of man I found Him not."

Useless Buttons.

Why are there two buttons, or even one, on the sleeve of a coat? The writer took a census of his buttons and found that sixty of them were unnecessary. He is particularly anxious as to the two buttons behind on a frock coat. Taking a survey of the whole human family, he finds that there are 800,000,000 buttons worn, all of them useless. No one has discovered the necessity for fourteen or sixteen pockets concealed in men's clothes. This is the limit of superfluity.

REGULAR MEETING BOARD OF EDUCATION

Problem of Incresed School Accommodation Made Prominent.

Board Adverse to Reducing Number of Members, at Least at Present.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Education held last night there were present Messrs. J. J. Hartley, chairman, McBain, Fair, Jameson, Hayes, Ferguson, Crane, Pringle, Dr. Burnham, Kennedy, Eastwood, Hill and Stevenson.

COMMUNICATIONS.

After routine communications were received and dealt with as follows:

From S. R. Armstrong, Town Clerk, stating that the Finance Committee of the Town Council had reported that with reference to the Board's request, that the Council issue debentures for $3,000 to pay for the heating apparatus in the Central School, the committee referred the request to the Town Solicitor, and he advised the council had not authority to do so.—Received.

From Alfred B. Owen of the Barnardo Home, asking the Board's cooperation in securing sewer connection with the Home.—Property Committee.

From Miss Ames and Miss Perrin, asking that their re-appointment on last year's schedule be reconsidered. —Received.

From D. Walker, reporting that at the Entrance Examinations Miss Gladys Crane took the highest standing among the girls, and William Harper, among the boys, and are entitled to the scholarships.—Received.

The chairman was requested to present the scholarship prizes mentioned in the Inspector's report, to the successful pupils.

From John Miller, Deputy Minister, reporting re cadet corps, in terms already published. — Received.

From C. W. Whitley, who lives outside the town limits, asking permission to send his children to the Barnardo avenue school on free terms. —Referred to the Supervision Committee, and Inspector, with power to act.

A statement of MONEYS RECEIVED. was submitted as follows:

—Referred to the Property Committee.

Mr. Pringle for the Supervision Committee, presented a requisition for two typewriters and suitable desks for the commercial form of the Collegiate Institute.

A motion to purchase two Underwood typewriters and suitable desks for them, was adopted.

Mr. Eastwood presented the report of the Property Committee as follows:—

Moved by Mr. Hill, seconded by Mr. Kennedy:

"That in the opinion of this Board it is deemed inadvisable that any action changing the composition of the Board, should be taken at the present time, as very important matters have recently been taken up and are now well under way, and which this Board believes can best be carried out by the Board as at present constituted, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the town council."

Mr McBain, in Mr. Fair's absence, presented the report of the Finance Committee, recommending the payment of a number of accounts, which was adopted.

A motion was adopted appointing Miss Ellison, of Brantford, on the staff of the Public school in place of Miss Budson, who was appointed but did not accept.

A motion was passed conferring the patment of certain accounts.

On motion Miss Harding was appointed second assistant in the South Central Kindergarten.

Mr. Walker, Inspector, reported, drawing attention to the crowded condition of many of the rooms in the public school buildings. In the primary department of the South Central, Miss Aldridge, teacher, he stated that there were sixty seven pupils, and there were prospective pupils to increase the number to 81—an impossible number for any teacher to deal with. The matter was referred to the Supervision Committee.

Mr. Pringle brought up the matter of the congested condition at the Collegiate Institute. There were 250 pupils now and Mr. Fessenden had informed him that more were coming. Many of the forms were impracticably unwieldy. Mr. Hill referring to the necessity of providing a remedy pointed but that there were only two or three schools in the Province with a larger attendance than our institute.—Referred to the Supervision Committee.

SAVING THEIR HEADS.

Mr. Hill suggested that the Board should express some opinion in regard to the proposed action of the Town Council to consider the advisability of acting upon the legislation permitting the Council to reduce the number of members of the Board to eight. He and others did not think it was wise, in view of several important matters the Board had under consideration to make the change for another year at least.

In the matter of the $3,000 for heating apparatus for the Central School, it was decided to re-submit the question of the town's power to issue the debentures to the solicitor of the Board.

The Board then adjourned.

SECOND ANNUAL FIELD DAY OF C.G.E.

Will be Held Next Saturday Afternoon at Exhibition Grounds.

Mutual Benefit Society Has Plans for Future Which Promise to Work Well.

The amusement committee of the Can-General Electric Company Mutual Benefit Society met last night, when it was decided to hold a field day of sports similar to that held last year, and a programme of the different events to be pulled off with the prizes for each, was arranged as follows:—

Boys' race, 14 years and under, 100 yards, $1.50, 1.00, 50c.

100 yards dash (shop), $3.00, $2.00, 1.00.

Ladies' race, 50 yards, $3.00, 2.00, $1.00.

1-2 mile, (shop) handicap, $3.00, 2.00, 1.00

Fat man's race, 180 lbs., and over, $2.00, $1.00.

100 yards handicap, (shop) $3.00, 2.00.

Obstacle race, $1.50, $1.00, 75c.

100 yards open, $3.00, 2.00, 1.00.

Boys' boot race, 100 yards and back, $1.00, 75c., 50c., 25c.

1-2 mile, open, $3.00, $2.00.

Putting 16 lb. shot, $2.00, 1.00.

Tug of war, open to all, $5.00.

Entries for handicap events close at Y.M.C.A. at 9 p. m. Friday 16th, and other entries on the grounds at time of race.

Cash value of prizes are given in above list. Orders will be given winners and these orders can be exchanged at any mercantile establishment in town for goods, but not for cash. Any order that is cashed will not be paid for.

All races are under Standard Amateur rules of Canada.

Arrangements have been made for good street car service to and from the grounds.

The Burns-Payne 5 mile road race will finish by running 1-2 mile on the track.

The officials will be as follows:—Starters, R. P. McEwan, T. F. Manley. Judges, John O'Brien, R. E. Layfield. Timer, B. R. Stone.

The success of the first field-day held last year was so great that it stimulated the society to repeat it this year, and make it an annual event. The field-day will be held next Saturday afternoon at the Turf Club grounds.

A sub-committee was appointed to secure rooms for the use of the society during the coming winter, for the purpose of holding social entertainments, lectures on popular and scientific subjects and for general amusement and instruction purposes. It is probable, also, that a dancing master will be engaged to instruct the young people in this art. A minstrel troop is also one of the probabilities of the near future, and a professor will be engaged to instruct the young men, many of whom have already given evidence of pronounced ability along this line.

JERUSALEM AND THE HOLY LAND.

A Lecture by the Rev. John Potts, D. D. —A Rich Treat for September 29th.

It will, no doubt, be remembered by all, more especially by Bible teachers and students, that in the spring of the present year some 800 Americans and Canadians left New York, by a steamer chartered for the occasion, on a long trip to Jerusalem, to attend the World's Sunday School Convention. Among this large company of enthusiasts no one received more honour than did the chairman of the Committee on the International Series of S. S. Lessons, the Rev. John Potts, D.D., of whom every Canadian feels justly proud. He it was who was chosen to preach the sermon Easter morning on board ship, and, according to the published reports, it was a sermon worthy of the man, the day and the place. A little later he again was honoured by being chosen to deliver an oration on Mars' Hill, the spot endeared and immortalized by St. Paul's famous address to the Athenian philosophers. It will, therefore, be with great pleasure that all Bible readers will hear that Dr. Potts, though a very busy man, has accepted an invitation to give a lecture in Peterborough on his trip and the impressions he received of the historic old city of Jerusalem and of the Holy Land. It is not the intention to make the occasion a money-making one, but one that will permit the largest possible number to hear this gifted orator on a subject so replete with interest. The admission has been placed at 15c, or two tickets for 25c., and the George street Methodist church has been secured for the lecture. This should enable at least 1,000 people to attend. The date is Thursday evening, Sept. 29th.

Of Use Every Day.

Once you become acquainted with the merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment and the scores of ways in which it is useful in every home, you would not think of being without it. Eczema, salt rheum, scald head, tetter, chaffing, chilblains, burns, scalds and every form of skin irritation and eruption soon yield to its extraordinary soothing, healing influence.

LATEST SPORT

BASEBALL.

The following are the averages of the Peterborough ball team, including those who have taken part in four or more games. These include all the home games and two of those out of town, in Bowmanville and Port Hope. Lamont and Graham played in all these games. Sheridan leads the batting with a percentage of .473, while Long leads the field with a perfect average. Seven of the players hitting over the .300 mark is pretty good work.

SPRINTING

It is possible that a five mile handicap foot race will be run at the exhibition. Several of those interested in this line of sport are looking into the matter and an announcement will be made later regarding it. It is thought that the entry list for a handicap race would be large, as there are several long distance runners in town who would enter.

• • • •

An agreement was made between the runners Burns and Payne this afternoon to have the finish of their five mile road race which comes off on Saturday, take place at the Driving Park. The C. G. E. Mutual Benefit Society will be running off a programme of sports on that afternoon and the runners have agreed to finish at the Park. The start will be made at 2.30o' clock at the corner of George and Hunter streets. The racers will run about two miles on the Lakefield road and finish with a half-mile sprint on the track, making about a six mile run. Both runners will be in fine shape for the event.

The medal for the Burns-Payne race will be on exhibition to-morrow in Sanderson's window.

RUGBY.

RUGBY

There was no quorum at the meeting called for last evening for the purpose of discussing the advisability of entering a team in the junior O.R.F.U. series. A meeting was called on very short notice and owing to some misunderstanding as to the hour of meeting, no business was done. A meeting will be called later in the week to discuss the question.

• • • •

It is hardly likely that there will be a City League this fall as there would be difficulty in placing teams on the field which would be able to give the Rough Riders a hard struggle. This team has already signed most of the stars in junior circles and are anxious to enter the O.R.F.U. series. There is no doubt but that a team could be placed in the junior series which would give any team in the O.R.F.U. a hard game.

• • • •

Arrangements for the nightly practices for the rugby boys will be completed this week.

• • • •

The Kingston Limestones junior O. R. F.U. champions have decided to remain in the junior ranks for another year.

• • • •

Cough, a deaf mute, who played in the Peterborough intermediates last year, will be given a trial by the Hamilton Rugby senior team. He was tried out Saturday and showed up well. A code of signs will be arranged for him.—Toronto News.

Kept Poor by Doctor's Bills.

Many a family is kept poor by doctors' bills when just as good and oftentimes better results could be obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills which sell at 25 cents a box of twenty-five doses. As one pill a day is the most frequent dose under any circumstances there is no treatment obtainable which costs so little and at the same time none which brings about such excellent results in derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels.

JAPANESE TROOPS NEARING MUKDEN

Denials of Disasters to Russian Forces in the Far East.

WHOLESALE CONTRADICTION

General Zassalitch Was Not Wounded, Nor were 3,000 of His Men Captured With Him—Chinese Troops Along the Line—Close Watch on the Lena, Which May Have to Intern.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 14.—No change is reported in the situation at the front and no confirmation is obtainable here of the reports that Gen. Kuroki is moving northeast of Mukden, but the authorities are noticeably more reticent than usual.

War Office Denials.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 14.—The War Office authorizes the Associated Press to deny the reports circulated by The Morning Post of London to the effect that three thousand men of Lieut.-Gen. Zassalitch's corps have been captured; to deny the report from the same source that he has been wounded; and to also deny the statement from Tokio that dum-dum bullets were used by the Russians at Liaoyang.

Kuroki's Communications Safe.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 14.—The general staff denies that General Linovitch marched into northeastern Corea from Vladivostock and cut General Kuroki's communications with Fengwangcheng, as reported in a despatch from Tientsin to The London Daily Mail.

Prince Ouktomsky Not Shot.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 14.—The report published in Paris yesterday that Rear-Admiral Prince Ouktomsky had been tried by court-martial, sentenced to death and shot for disobeying the order not to return to Port Arthur after the sortie of the Russian squadron, August 10, is untrue. He has not been tried by court-martial, but will be recalled.

Japs Southeast of Mukden.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 14.—The Emperor has received a despatch from Gen. Kuropatkin announcing that a considerable force of Japanese has been seen about 25 miles southeast of Mukden. No further engagements are reported.

Chinese Troops Along the Line.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 14.—The reports that Chinese troops are concentrating in the valley of the Liao River are causing considerable concern here. The Bourse Gazette thinks it is probable that the Chinese Government will propose to guard and administer the territory actually occupied by the Japanese, adding: "To this Japan will readily acquiesce, as it will relieve Japan of guarding her lines of communication. In other words regular Chinese troops will become auxiliaries of the Japanese, and the Japanese army, thus relieved of the necessity of protecting its lines, stores and land transport, will set free all the strength of the Japanese forces to operate against Russia. China thus would become actually the ally of Japan. If the reports are confirmed not only Russia but other powers must intervene to show China what the limits of 'strict neutrality' means."

May Have to Intern.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The development of the day in the case of the Russian cruiser Lena at San Francisco was the decision by the president that the State and Navy Departments should treat the case acting jointly.

Over night came a telegram from Admiral Goodrich at San Francisco, showing that he had caused one of his expert officers to make a preliminary examination of the Lena, and that temporary repairs would occupy six weeks' time and new boilers would involve eight months' delay. The president approved the admiral's action and decided that he should continue to handle the case in San Francisco under instructions. This involved a further expert examination of the ship.

The Russian Government did not object, and within a day or two, with the assistance of experts, Admiral Goodrich can report more closely. The admiral also adopted the precaution of guarding the Lena with his own vessels, a course also approved by the department.

It is believed here that the vessel will be obliged to intern, for it is altogether likely that by the time she could be made ready to go to sea one or more Japanese cruisers will be off the Golden Gate ready to sink or capture her.

WARSHIPS TO PROTECT FISHERMEN.

Colonials and French Clash Along the Newfoundland Shore.

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 14.—The difficulties between French and colonial fishermen on the French shore are daily growing more acute.

On Saturday a British warship, on the demand of the French commodore, stopped a party of colonial lobster catchers there.

On Friday on the fishing banks fourteen men, armed with knives, from a French fishing vessel, which had previously disguised her name with a piece of sail cloth, boarded a colonial vessel and carried off her whole stock of bait.

A few days previous another French crew did the same thing, the French captain being armed with a revolver.

In another section a French vessel deliberately ran down and nearly sank a colonial fishing smack.

Grave apprehension is felt respecting these outrages. British warships will be asked to punish the offenders.

Sir William Macdonald in Guelph.

Guelph, Sept. 14.—Guelph had a distinguished visitor yesterday in the person of Sir William Macdonald, of Montreal. In company with Professor Robertson, Canadian Commissioner of Agriculture, he arrived in the city, yesterday morning via the Grand Trunk, and was driven to the O.A.C., where he was entertained by President Creelman. Some time was spent in looking over the Macdonald Institute, Macdonald Hall and the Consolidated School, the new buildings that have been donated to the educational system of the province by Sir William Macdonald. He was apparently well pleased with their appearance. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon a conference was held between Sir William Macdonald, Prof. Robertson and the trustees of the Consolidated School.

Laborers' Strike Off.

Toronto, Sept. 14.—This morning will see the builders laborers and bricklayers at work again. After a fight that lasted four weeks, the laborers have decided that, even though they might gain the demanded 28 cents per hour by staying out a few weeks longer, it would not pay them in the long run. Last night they met, and after a discussion lasting nearly an hour, voted to go back to work.

$00 STEEL RAILS.

C.P.R. Places a Big Order With Consolidated Company.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 13.—The Canadian Pacific Railway has placed an order with the Consolidated Lake Superior Company for 40,000 tons of steel rails. The company wishes to see for itself what standard of work can be turned out at the steel rail mill at the Soo. The delivery is to be at the rate of 10,000 tons a month, beginning February, 1905. The Consolidated Company has notified the railway company that it is prepared to accept the contract at once, and of its willingness to comply with all the specifications required by the railway.

To Distribute $31,000,000.

Montreal, Sept. 14.—The sum of $31,000,000 is to be distributed to Cuban war veterans by means of the Royal Bank of Canada, through its various branches in Cuba. This money is due in connection with the war of 1898 between Spain and the United States. This payment, which, upon the formation of the republic, became one of its first obligations, was met by a loan of $35,000,000, the same being placed in New York and other cities. The Royal Bank will pay the sum in instalments of $10,000,000 per month. The work entailed in disbursing $31,000,000 in so short a time, will naturally be a strain upon the various staffs of the Royal Bank now located in Cuba, and to meet the emergency a number of Canadian officers will be detailed to assist.

$500 For Each Conviction.

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 14.—The British Columbia Government decided yesterday to offer a reward of $500 for each conviction in the case of the Canadian Pacific Railway train robbery of Saturday, Sept. 10. These rewards will go to the person upon whose information the convictions shall be secured.

Asked to Call Meeting.

St. Louis, Sept. 14.—At the Inter-Parliamentary conference yesterday, by resolution, President Roosevelt was asked to call a second session of The Hague conference. The real labors of the conference were thus ended. There will be a final session to-day.

OTTAWA DETECTIVE'S PETERBOROUGH TRIP.

Officer Robillard Located Mrs. Lachance who is Wanted

Said to Have Came Here With a Man who Left his Wife—A Strange Case.

The Ottawa Citizen throws some additional light on the alleged elopment case reported in yesterday's Examiner. The Citizen says:—

"Detective Nos Robillard is enjoying a well earned vacation."

Hidden behind this innocent-looking "personal", which was given to a Citizen reporter yesterday, there lies an interesting story of a detective's cunning, in which the officer mentioned played the principal role. "Where is Mr. Robillard?" All last week friends of the sleuth, newspaperr men and citizens with "cases", asked the question of his superiors. "Oh, he's working around somewhere," was the usual reply, and the inquisitive ones had to content themselves with that. Where was Robillard? While the energetic officer was supposedly enjoying a well-earned vacation in reality, and on the side he was supoenaing witnesses for the Isolation hospital investigation and while doing so Mr. Robillard accidentally stumbled upon and unravelled a mystery over which residents of the capital have been bothering themselves since July. Clement Dodd, an Ottawa East man, unexpectedly left his home in that month, and disappeared almost at the same time that Mrs. Lachance, the woman who acted in the role of cook at the Isolation hospital, made her shy exit. To all appearances Mrs. Lachance left because she disliked the manner in which affairs were managed at the institution. When detective Robillard was detailed by Chief Powell to secure the witnesses, Mrs. Lachance was on the list.

Mayor Ellis and Chief Powell knew what he was working on and Robillard silently handed summonses to all those needed with the exception of the woman who dished up the spring lamb and chicken.

Where was Mrs. Lachance? The detective learned that her furniture had been shipped to Peterborough, also that she had sent it there under an assumed name. Going to Peterborough Mr. Robillard located the expressman who had driven her stuff from the station to her new home. After much hard work he ascertained where she had been staying, visited her and was more than surprised to find the Ottawa East Romeo in her company. Both had changed their names and were living as husband and wife. Dodd had a position in the General Electric Company at Peterborough and was known as a respectable man and the husband of the woman who figures prominently in the hospital enquiry. Detective Robillard is back in the city with all his witnesses including Mrs. Lachance, and as a matter of fact, if she had not returned Mr. Robillard was prepared to bring her back. It is understood that she has signed certain statements concerning happenings at the hospital which will interest certain aldermen.

As far as Mrs. Dodd cares her runaway husband can stay in Peterborough and enjoy the company of Mrs. Lachance just as long as he pleases. Mrs. Dodd has several energetic sons who can look after her and is not worrying over his conduct. Mrs. Lachance will return to the lift-lock 'burg when her evidence is all in and Dodd gave no intimation of coming back to Ottawa.

Mrs. Lachance also figured prominently in the Isolation Hospital investigation, being conducted in Ottawa, in the course of which investigation she gave some some sensational evidence.

SUGAR INDUSTRY TO BE REVIVED.

Peterborough Cold Storage and Provision Company's Meeting

Shareholders may withdraw if they Desire—The Company Will Enter Into Manufacture of Beet Sugar.

Mr. Jas. Middleton, the Secretary-Treasurer of the Peterborough Cold Storage and Provision Company, was interviewed by the Examiner this afternoon on the results of the meeting held yesterday afternoon of the shareholders of the Company, and he authorized the statement that the remarks made in a morning paper to the effect that a claim for commission was being made on the Company by Mr. Geo. Girton was entirely unfounded. The meeting was called yesterday for the purpose of electing new directors, the members of the old Board having tendered their resignations.

A stormy session was held for about four hours, at the close of which the directors decided to withdraw their resignation, the shareholders refusing to accept them.

It was finally arranged that those of the shareholders who wished to withdraw from the Company might do so, and the secretary was given authority to pay all such the amount paid by them less their proportion of the expenses to date.

The Company will then go on and an application will be made to the Legislature to amend the charter, giving the company larger powers, and this having been done, the manufacture of beet sugar will be entered into.

It is probable that but very few of the shareholders will embrace the opportunity afforded of withdrawing, the great majority preferring to remain in the company and enter into the sugar manufacture.

The company will not go out of business as suggested by the article in the morning paper, but will not only continue in the Cold Storage business, but additional capital will be added, and the company will branch out into the manufacture of sugar.

So that the prospects are that Peterborough will yet have a sugar factory.

"PE-RU-NA SAVED MY LIFE,"

Writes Mrs. W. McRoberts.

"I Do All My Housework and Take Care of My Baby and I Feel So Good."

MRS. L. M. GRIFFITH, Arco, Idaho, writes: "I am thirty years old and never had any children; but since beginning your medicine I gave birth to a 10-pound baby girl. I am stronger than I have been since I was quite young. God bless you and your medicine forever."

MRS. L. M. GRIFFITH.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

A YOUNG MOTHER'S LETTER.

Mrs. W. McRoberts, writes to Dr. Hartman from Delano, Miss., the following:

Delano, Miss.

Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio:

Dear Sir:—"I feel perfectly well of catarrh. I did as you directed me to and took Peruna and Manalin. The third of March I gave birth to a ten pound baby girl and we are both well and happy. I am very thankful to you and Peruna saved my life. I recommend it to everyone and can't praise it enough.

"I send you my own and my baby's picture. She is so sweet and good,—she is a Peruna baby. I have such good health now. I do all my housework and take care of my baby and feel so good.

"There are three or four of my neighbors using Peruna now since it did me so much good. They were just run down, and they think it is fine, it is so good to give strength."—Mrs. W. McRoberts.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

AIDING AGIRCULTURE.

Just about the time an election is possible or probable our Conservative politicians develop a surprising interest in the farmers. This interest is not exhibited by a recital of anything particular any Conservative Government has done for the farmers, but rather in distorting and belittling the efforts of the Liberal Government to promote the interests of agriculture. In one of the irresponsible campaign sheets which have been circulated throughout the country it is stated that "Hon. Sidney Fisher went off on a pleasure jaunt at the public expense to see the Geisha girls of Japan." This is a pure invention. As a matter of fact Mr. Fisher was attending the exhibition in Japan. It is important that Canada should obtain a share of the Oriental commerce of to-day and of the vaster Oriental commerce that is to be. The United States is making a powerful bid for those markets. The main object of constructing the Panama Canal, a work on which the Americans have just embarked, is to supply them with a shorter water route to China and Japan. Their Transcontinental railways are establishing steamship lines for the trade and American capital is being invested in railways, electric lines and other public works in those countries.

Canada cannot afford to remain idle. Our people in British Columbia have lost a market in Hawaii owing to the annexation of those islands by the United States; Nova Scotia has lost one in Porto Rico, which has also been annexed, and as good as lost another in Cuba, where a tariff specially favourable to the United States has just been established. The Canadian exhibit in Japan consisted mainly of flour and grain, articles in which the farmer is a good deal interested. On the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific those commodities can be carried from the Peace River country and elsewhere in the North-west to the Pacific coast at rates which will permit of their profitable shipment to China and Japan in competition with like products from the Pacific States. Without doubt the Government would have been charged with culpable neglect of our agricultural interests if it had not taken a hand in the great Japanese fair. Put because it was alive to the occasion the farmer is asked to believe that Mr. Fisher merely "went off on a pleasure jaunt at the public expense to see the Geisha girls," a sorry view of a good stroke of enterprise.

MR. ROBERT BEITH ON HORSE BREEDING.

On the Occasion of His Return From His Continent Beating Trip to St. Louis.

The Day of the Horse is not yet Over on This Continent—It has Just Dawned.

Below is a more extended report than appeared in yesterday's issue of the reply of Robert Beith, Esq., M. P., to a complimentary address presented on the occasion of his return from the St. Louis Exposition, where he beat the continent with his peerless hackney horses, by his fellow-oltizens of Bowmanville, and the people of Durham County.

MR. BEITH'S REPLY.

Mr. Beith, in reply, accepted the gift in gracious terms, and thanked those present for the consideration which he had always received at their hands. He esteemed very highly the good will and the good opinion of his neighbours, whose fathers and grandfathers had with his forbears reduced the country from the dense forest to its present high position in the banner province of Ontario. Referring to his victories in the United States, Mr. Beith said that the contests were keenly waged, and the victories not easily won. The land to the south is a wealthy land, in which the resources of accumulated wealth and its influence have to be met in the open, and strenuously encountered until overcome. He had laid the foundation of his success in the home county of Durham, and what he had attained, was open to others to do. He saw in our sturdy Canadianism the power to excel in their varied vocations, and, while sharing in the results of success themselves, bring the trophies of industrial triumph to their country from distant centres, aye, and distant countries.

FARMER THE KING OF MEN.

Looking backwards, Mr. Beith observed that our fathers and mothers did their part nobly and well, and left us a heritage, not only in houses and lands, but in sterling character and national sentiment as well. "Let us have imperishable faith in our great land," declared Mr. Beith. "Let our hearts be set upon it, and upon it alone, and it needs no prophet to tell that prosperity and success await us as a result. The agricultural wealth of our country in the early days satisfied the needs of the community, and at times the products of the fields brought coveted comforts to the old homes and money to the industrious farmer. Now, in every line the farm has advanced; wheat, dairy produce, cattle, sheep, swine, poultry and fruits, yield to the tiller of the soil a comfortable reward which will grow still greater in the future. The farmer is the king of men, his country's hope and pride, and on the fair and fertile plains of our own country we see him at his best." (Applause.)

ORIGIN OF GOOD STOCK.

Mr. Beith glanced over the names of some of the pioneers of this district, such as the Grahams, Millers, Drydens and Magillivrays, or, to come nearer home, Senator Simpson, Robert Collscott, Christopher Courtice, Matthew Jonas, Richard Allen, Duncan Macconochie, Samuel Wilmott, George Shaw, John Bellwood, and others who had laid the foundations of their agricultural development under almost insurmountable difficulties, by introducing scientific farming and pure blooded stock to the country. When importing high-bred stock in those days it took from ten to twelve weeks to cross the Atlantic, with greater risks and heavier losses, by the way, than now; but they persevered, knowing that good blood would tell in the end, and so it has with us, as it does always and everywhere. They availed themselves of every legitimate effort to promote the common welfare. They stood by the local fairs, where friendly rivalry stimulated them to improvements. In those days were laid, as I have said, the foundations of our agricultural and live stock edifice."

Mr. Beith referred to his own beginnings as a horse breeder, when he was initiated by his uncle, Robt. Beith. He was determined to be at the front of his calling, and he cherished the ardent desire that the young men of the county would similarly apply themselves. He continued:

"There are very few pursuits more fascinating than horse raising — one in which the anxiety of business may be relieved by the pleasures of actual contact with the noblest and finest of our dumb, intelligent animal friends; in which the mind can find exhilaration on one hand, and on the other scope for business of a high order. The young farmer should love a good horse for its own sake, and also for the sake of the business. The horse breeding industry is a great one; it is a growing one, and will continue to grow. Machinery will not supersede the horse, nor will electricity, whether applied on the farm or on the automobile. The day of the horse is not over, on this continent it has but dawned, and I venture to predict that money will be made in horses throughout our time."

The results of improved breeding in Ontario was shown by the statistics. In 1893 there were 685,187 horses, valued at $50,527,472, while in 1902, there were 626,106 horses, valued at $55,173,837 — fewer horses at a greater value. In Durham there were in 1902, 14,199 horses, valued at $1,283,438. The development of the country meant the development of the live stock trade. The great West would import horses for many years, and it would be our duty to supply part of the demand.

"Radial railways will soon run along our main roads, joining village to town, and farm to village; electricity will multiply our home comforts and our farm conveniences, yet the horse will live and flourish through it all as a necessary beast of burden and as a luxury to the rich. It will be good business to cultivate the best and highest breeds. The farmer will fine the good horse a safe and sure source of revenue, and young farmers in Ontario should make a specialty of horse breeding. I do not by any means place the horse in rivalry with other farm interests. The farmer needs every avenue open to him for producing revenue and no good line should be neglected. I am a firm believer in the dairy and in the orchard, and in developing the trade in cattle, sheep, etc. But this is an age of specialization, and I wish to impress on the young farmers of this country that profitable careers are awaiting them in horse breeding, if they determine to work on right lines."

The farmer should study conditions at home and abroad. Canada should raise thousands of horses for cavalry purposes, which would yield good profit, and would furnish a source of supply on which the Imperial Government could rely. It was worth while getting into line and making an effort to secure this trade. The heavy draught horse is coming to the front for farm and marketing purposes, as it gives the best service. Similarly the development of our resources was creating wealth and a taste for the luxuries of horse-flesh, beautiful to the eye, smart and graceful, which was being met by the hackneys.

Mr. Beith closed his speech in the following effective words: "Canada within the Empire! May it always be so! In the spirit of British freedom and justice may we pursue our royal journey on the highways of peace and honour. In the spirit in which the free Briton receives the laurels at the hands of his fellows — humbly and gratefully — I accept your welcome and your gift, and pray for Canada in the words of Israel's crowned minstrel for his capital city, Let them that love thee and thy peace have still prosperity.'"

THE LATEST NEWS FROM HAVELOCK.

Interesting Happenings at the Busy Railway Town.

Havelock, Sept. 13, 1904.

Mr. R .E. White and Fred. Barlow spent Sunday in Norwood.
